FALL RIVER HORROR.

The Police Actively Engaged In the Search For the Murderer.

NOW WORKING ON A CLUE.

Autopsy Proves That No In-cent Assault Was Made.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 1.—Bertha Manchester has succeeded thus far in keeping herself at a respectful distance from the police authorities of Fall River.

With a good six, and possibly seven, hours start of his pursuers he had ample opportunity to make himself as scarce as he desired and to bid a not regretful adieu to the "city of spindles," or, as it is now facetiously termed, the "city of axes."

In the meantime the police are exerting themselves to the utmost.

The case is in charge of Marshal Hilliard and Assistant Marshal Fleet, and they are ably seconded by Captains Harrington, Doherty, Desmond and Connors.

BERTHA MAY MANCHESTER.

Inspectors Feeney, Medley and any number of active policemen.

Bands of officers organized into searching parties are scouring the woods in all directions, and every possible clue is hunted with a persistency worthy of "Old Sleuth" himself.

The most noteworthy clue that has come to the attention of the police is relative to an ill-favored man, who, for some unknown reason, was classified as a Portuguese.

The police got on to his track yesterday, and followed his movements, with more or less success, until night, when they lost him on the Somerset side of the Taunton river. All day the search for the alleged

STEPHEN MANCHESTER.

Father of the murdered girl.

Portuguese has been kept up, and at the time of writing nothing definite character has been ascertained regarding his whereabouts.

The police have endeavored to track him with as much vigor as if they were convinced that

He was the Real Murderer, and they have displayed the same zeal regarding every other suspect.

It is generally supposed by the authorities that the assassin is one of the small army of "Old Steve" Manchester's ex-livered men.

When the news of the tragedy was first circulated the theory of indecent assault was spread broadcast, but this fell to the ground after the autopsy by Medical Examiner Dolan.

This official, who has worked industriously on the case from the outset, gave it as his opinion that there had been not even an attempt at an indecent assault.

If the robbery theory is accepted as the most plausible one, the theory of resistance on the part of Bertha Manchester must also be accepted, for the nature of the bloody marks in the space between the kitchen stove and the window where the body lay justifies the idea that a violent struggle had occurred.

STATE PRISON INVESTIGATION.

Chaplain Atwood Thinks the Prisoners Were Well Treated.

HARTFORD, June 1.—At the state prison hearing yesterday Senator Root of the committee explained the part he took in a little demonstration with Senator Jones last week, by saying that whatever he did then was prompted by a desire to get at all the facts. Director Murphy told of the case of a life prisoner being refused permission to visit his dying mother. A local Republican politician, Alderman McGivern, was quite incensed at this, and appealed to the governor, who allowed the man to go.

Chaplain Atwood told of the condition of the insane and apparently insane prisoners, and said that he had charge of the spiritual and moral instruction of the inmates. He frequently visited prisoners in the dungeons and knew of their condition. He was sure they were as well treated as their condition would permit.

TROUBLE BREWING.

Iron Workers of Pittsburg Marching Their Forces.

CARNEGIE SHOWS HIS HAND

A Steel Company Builds a Fence Around Its Works.

PITTSBURG, June 1.—A second Home-stand hostility, probably without its record of bloodshed, seems to be an inevitable result of the forces which are working in the iron industry of Pittsburg in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys. Next Tuesday the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers begin their annual wage conference in this city. Whatever conclusion may be reached in that convention, the big iron men have determined that wages shall come down.

Carnegie's Opinion.
Andrew Carnegie is helping the trouble along by declaring that trade will get no better until production is greatly restricted, but predicts no further trouble in the mills. Last year's fight drove the 15,000 employees of the six Carnegie plants out of the Amalgamated association. Other mills also became non-union.

Competition With the Carnegies.
is declared to be impossible, except with cheaper labor. Some of the firms are known to have positively determined upon non-union labor unless the Amalgamated association consents to a reduction. At the Amalgamated meeting the retention of the present puddlers' scale and a restoration of 10 per cent taken from the finishers last year will be demanded. A long shutdown is anticipated.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Doings of the Lawmakers in Senate and House Concisely Stated.

BOSTON, June 1.—The senate spent the greater part of the morning on the bill to abolish the office of superintendent of prisons for the bill of the committee, which provides for an unpaid board of commissioners. Mr. Read had offered a substitute providing for a paid commission of men, with women joined as inspectors. This substitute was adopted by a vote of 18 to 16 and went to the treasury committee under the rules.

After a protracted discussion the bill for a canal across Cape Cod passed to a second reading. The house suspended its rule and admitted the bill to prevent discrimination in barber shops on account of race or color. The finance committee reported an appropriation of $13,300 for finishing the extension of the north wing of the state prison. They reported an appropriation of $50 for preparing for sale certain useless schedules in the bureau of statistics of labor.

Mr. Rivers reported in a new draft the resolutions asking our members in congress to use their influence to modify the Geary law so as not to be injurious to citizens of China who are residents of this country. By a unanimous vote, with one exception, the resolution was adopted. On the rollcall the house vote stood 78 in favor to 132 against sending the rapid transit bill to the next general court. The bill now goes to a third reading by a vote of 93 to 79.

List was removed to the city hospital in the police ambulance, and the doctors state he cannot recover.

The police are investigating the case, and have learned that List was assaulted near the place where he was found by an unknown person who struck him over the head with a cane.

PARLOR SUITS.

How those "ifs" smash plans. If there had been more sunshine in the months just gone, the parlor furniture manufacturers would not have been overladen with stock. But the other thing happened, and today they offer suits at just what they cost, to reduce their surplus. One of these we are now selling at $45.00; six pieces, upholstered in the best of Mohair Sultan Plush, colors to suit your own ideas. Every piece made with a spring edge and solid walnut frame. This suit would be cheap at $60.00. Other suits in great variety.

REFRIGERATORS.

No house is fully equipped without one. This is a world of worry and waiting, but notwithstanding the backward season we have been doing a rattling business in Refrigerators. On the side of the building opposite the counter on a frame are displayed the latest styles in gentlemen's clothes. Back of the counter in on the shelves are furnishings used in the manufacture of gentlemen's clothing. The show window he has also arranged very tastefully with handsome cloths for summer wear. The counter in the main store Mr. Bamford uses to cut his cloths upon and the small room back of the show room is used for the making of clothes.

A Granite Cutter Falls.

Simon Hanley, a granite cutter, while at work on a staging at the Amesbury National bank at Amesbury Wednesday, met with a probably fatal accident. Making a misstep, he fell to the basement, striking on a piece of granite, breaking his collar bone and fracturing his skull.

The Squantum Cases.

The evidence in the cases of H. W. Hunt, Paul Butler, Stephen Ellis and Ellen L. Hunt, all against the city of Boston, on trial at Dedham for the past week, was concluded Wednesday afternoon, and the arguments and charge will be given today. The actions are brought as partitions to recover damages for land taken in 1889 by the city of Boston for the improvement and extension of its Moon Island sewerage system.

Granite Lockouts Continue.

A special meeting of the Boston branch of the New England Granite Cutters' union was held Monday night in Evans' Hall, Boston. General Secretary Dyer delivered his quarterly report, which showed lockouts to be existing in the following places: Fitzwilliam and Concord, N. H.; Red Beach, Me.; Roxbury, Stony Creek, St. Johnsbury and West Dunsmuir, Vt.; Whitinsville, Monson and Milford, Mass.

—Lynn has refused to make an appropriation for the Fourth of July.

A Model Office.

is not complete today without a roll top desk—it is simply surprising the amount of comfort a business man can enjoy with this addition to his office—improvements are continually being made. One of the handsomest desks ever manufactured of beautifully polished quartered oak, paneled ends and front, carved handles on all drawers, dust proof roll of newest design, all drawers furnished inside, length four feet and complete in every detail well worth $49, offered at the wonderfully low price of $30 others $22 and $25. Flat top desks and library tables all sizes. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

MANY CANDIDATES.

Four or More Who Would Like to be Postmaster.

MESSRS. BURKE, GREEN, KEITH

A Good Word for the Present Incumbent Warren W. Adams.

The Journal correspondent has found out that the fight for the Postmastership of Quincy is on, and from present indications the contest bids fair to be of a very exciting nature.

Warren W. Adams (the present incumbent). Ex-Representative James F. Burke F. F. Green, editor of the Quincy Advertiser, and Harrison A. Keith are the gentlemen who would like to have P. M. appended to their names for the next four years.

"Mr. Adams is a Republican, but he has added so many facilities and increased the financial importance of the office to such an extent that the many people want to see him reinstated at the expiration of his term, which will occur in a few months. Mr. Adams has been instrumental in procuring free delivery for the city also extra mails, both daily and Sunday.

"He has also increased the Financial Standing of the office, until it is now a $2,400 position. So enthusiastic have his friends grown that they have circulated a petition which, it is said, is receiving many signatures.

"Ex-Representative Burke, who has expressed a preference for handling Uncle Sam's mails, is one of West Quincy's popular young men. For three years he was a member of Quincy's City Council, and for a space of two years he represented the Granite City in the lower house of the Legislature. Last year he was a candidate for State Senator, but was defeated by a small majority by John E. Merrill of Quincy. Mr. Burke's friends are working hard in his interests, and they claim that ex-Senator W. N. Eaton is with them.

"Fred F. Green the candidate who would prefer the mail pouch to the editorial quill, is the young editor of the Quincy Advertiser, and he has performed service in the interests of his party. Among others Mr. Green's paper bears the signature of Wm. G. A. Pattee, who is recognized as a Samson among the hosts of Quincy's Democracy.

The Other Candidate is Harrison A. Keith, who for many years was Principal of the Quincy High School. Mr. Keith's candidacy is favored by many Republicans.

"A prominent Democrat in conversation with the Journal correspondent about the situation said:

"I think that the contest will be likely to create some feelings among the different candidates. These candidates may obtain countless signatures to their petitions, but the man whom Josiah Quincy recommends will receive the plum.

"Several of the candidates have endeavored to obtain Hon. Wm. A. Hodge's Signature.

Mr. Hodge has determined to hold aloof and not sign any of the petitions. "As it would be impossible to choose any one of the present candidates without creating some hard feelings, I think that, in all probability, before Mr. Adams' term expires some dark horse will step in and capture the coveted prize.

"Do you think that Mr. McEtrick will have any influence with regard to the appointment of the Postmaster?" asked the Journal man.

"No," was the prompt reply, "Mr. McEtrick booted the regular nomination, and the present government is not in favor of such proceedings. Mr. McEtrick will have nothing to do in regard to such matters. The man that Josiah Quincy names will be our next Postmaster."

May Basket Worth Having.

Wednesday was the last day of May and the ladies and gentlemen who reside in the vicinity of Merrymount were realizing that Mr. C. B. Tilton had not received a May basket, determined to give him one. They prepared a large one in which was placed two quarts of peanuts also a quantity of oranges and bananas. Armed with this and numerous musical(?) instruments in the shape of tin pans and the like, they journeyed down this pleasant street, which is not lined on either side with majestic shade trees, past the imposing stable of Mr. Rogers to the residence of the aforesaid Tilton. While one coaxed the dog away, the others hung the basket.

It would not be just the thing to say which of the party it was who fell over into the bushes while Tilton climbed a tree to get a better view of the surroundings, or the figure the parties cut as they scampered across the lot, where some future day, the new High school building will be located, but let it suffice that after a little music, upon the above-mentioned musical instruments, an adjournment was made to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tilton where the contents of the basket was taken out and the party entertained with some vocal selections by Sir Charles, whose voice must be heard to be appreciated.

Boston Branch Fish Market. As will be noticed by an advertisement in our columns, Mr. Bevin has sold the Temple street fish market to Mr. C. L. Prescott, who has restocked the same. Live lobsters will be boiled every day by Mr. Prescott.

DYSPEPSIA CONQUERED

Female Troubles Cured and Youth Renewed By Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17, 1892.

I feel so grateful for the great benefit I received by the use of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, I deem it a duty to write this letter of thanks.

I have been a constant sufferer eight years with dyspepsia, a bad female trouble, and have been doctored by the best physicians in the city of New York. A friend of mine recommended your Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. I have used five bottles, and now have no trouble with my stomach and my other troubles have entirely disappeared. In fact, I feel like a young girl of twenty.

I never can repay you for the great good you have done me. I recommend Kickapoo Indian Remedies to all my friends, and I hope to put many on their way to good health.

MANET BEACH.

The First Regatta of the Season to be Held Saturday,

BY THE QUINCY YACHT CLUB

Many Little Items of Interest Picked up by Ledger Reporters.

"Lo! from the fair May's death We gain this boon:— Born on every breath, The balm of June."—Godey's.

The Quincy Yacht club book for '93 has just been circulated. It is as usual a very neat little programme of what we may expect in the way of events from this well known club.

The opening race is to take place Saturday next at 2 p. m. This will give the skippers a chance to take advantage of the strong ebb tide on the way out, but the boats will be obliged to buck it on the home stretch. The courses are the same in the three classes as they have been for years past.

Many of the builders of new boats will be obliged to sail in higher classes because of the new over-hang rule of measurement. This rule was made to prevent these large, powerful boats, with long overhangs fore and aft, from entering classes, and taking the prizes away from boats they really outclassed.

The crushed stone on the roads going to the beach proves a great hindrance to visiting wheelmen. Many who are not expert enough to ride in a rut are obliged to walk over the road in some places.

Mr. Ross of Dedham, a civil engineer on the Old Colony railroad, and Mr. O'Brien of South Boston, will occupy the Dearing cottage this year.

Messrs. Jenks and Thomas of Campello, are in the Belle View cottage for the season.

The Hawes and Packard cottage, as it is called, will be occupied this summer by Captain McCormick of Brockton.

Mr. J. O. Holden has sold his cottage at Cedar Bluffs to Mr. M. M. Packard of Grove Hall.

Mr. Danielson of Sunny Side terrace, Roxbury, is repainting and improving his place. Mr. Danielson is the gentleman whose barn was burned last year.

Mr. Hoyt's cottage, the Moondyne, is receiving a new coat of paint.

Among the recent purchasers of lots from the Manet Land Associates are, Mr. W. H. Jordan, B. F. Kenerson and E. A. Jones, of Boston; George Dunham, Emil Lagergren and C. H. Spencer, of Brockton.

Harvard sets the fashion every year for the walk of the gilded youth. It changes constantly in some slight degree, enough to stamp it to the knowing ones. This season the young swells stick their heads forward and jerk along, with one hand in the pocket, in faithful imitation of their Cambridge leaders. You've seen him probably at Houghs Neck, although the season is young.

Mr. W. H. Ferris, formerly of "Bird's Nest" fame, has removed to French's cottage, almost directly opposite. He has built a photographing establishment and made additions and improvements about the house. A part of the building near the street is to be used as an ice cream and waiting room. Mr. Ferris claims to have the best ice cream on the beach.

Houghs Neck has at present two mails daily to and from Quincy as follows: Leave Houghs Neck for Quincy at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. Leave Quincy for Houghs Neck at 9 A. M. and 6 P. M. Capt. Boyd, the postmaster, advises all expecting registered letters to direct them to Houghs Neck, Mass., that they may come direct.

Bicycle Club Formed.

About twenty-five young men gathered at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, Wednesday evening, for the purpose of completing the organization of a bicycle club. Mr. John J. Frazier presided. By-laws were adopted and a committee appointed to prepare a list of names for officers.

While this was being done a recess was taken during which young ladies served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

After recess the following officers were elected: President, Walter B. Holden. Secretary and Treasurer, H. E. Crane. Captain, James J. Frazier. Executive Committee, The above officers.

The subject of a name for the club was postponed until the next meeting.

—At the art show—"Why do they call it the 'sky line,' papa?" "Because one must view the picture from a ha'loon."

FLIES AND MOSQUITOES. A lady who sent a dollar in answer to an advertisement "How to get rid of flies," received instructions to procure two bricks, put the fly on one and squeeze it with the other. But there is a better way than that—don't have them, keep them out of the house. They are beginning to come along two or three at a time now. Do the same as you would with a burglar. Keep them out, not try to catch them after they get in—you'll spend as much in fly paper and salves for bites, as would pay for a whole set of screens. That is at our prices—an A 1 article to fit any window 35, 40, or 45 cents according to size. Henry L. Kincaide &amp; Co.

Memorial Day Shoot.

The Wollaston Trap club held its first shoot of the season on Third hill, Tuesday forenoon. There was some pretty fair shooting and some that was inclined to be wild. That veteran sportsman, Al. Williams, through some unaccountable manner came out at the little end of the horn. The club will hold shoots every Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

The score out of a possible twenty-five was as follows: H. W. Marsden, 6; Daniel B. Lincoln, 13; J. G. Merrill, 18; Lewis E. Prince, 4; A. G. Olney, 6; A. A. Lincoln, 16; Al. Williams, 4; H. T. Whitman, 16; F. H. Russell, 4; J. C. Morse, 10.

A Side Show.

There was something less than a hundred people gathered on the corner of Hancock street and Merrymount road, Tuesday morning, to witness the setting of the new post, which is to hold a letter box. Part of the programme was carried out. Messrs. Tilton and Wilson did their part to perfection, and even if they did set it wrong in the first place and had to dig it up again, it only served to keep the crowd of interested spectators a little longer. While these two gentlemen were hard at work, a street band, which happened along, was busy filling the air with the familiar tunes of "The Bowery," "The Man in the Moon," and "Push dem clouds away." The only part of the programme that was lacking was the collation and the noticeable absence of Mr. Rogers.

A Prediction.

A Boston letter writer in an exchange says: "Did you notice that Dr. William Everett of Quincy declares under oath that he did not spend a cent to secure his nomination and election to congress, and did not receive or contribute a cent for those purposes. That being so, and there is no reason to doubt it, Republicans must be inquiring quite vigorously what caused a strong Republican district to elect a Democratic congressman. If you are short for conundrums you can study it for a while and see what conclusion you reach. I predict that the member who never wears an overcoat like the member minus the socks will create a sensation at Washington."

Monumental News.

There is an agitation in Syracuse, N. Y., for a soldiers' monument. It is almost the only city in the state without a monument.

A memorial chapel of granite is to be built at Greenlawn cemetery at Salem, Mass. The base will be of dark selected granite, and the building of iron-stained block stone with corner trimmings of olive sandstone.

The Manchester, N. H., Union says, Lancaster people just now are interested in a movement that is on foot for the erection of a soldiers' monument in that town. The project appears to meet with popular favor, and one resident of the place has headed the subscription list with the neat little sum of $200.

The Odd Fellows' monument at Lebanon, Penn., was dedicated May 22. It is a beautiful block of granite in the neighborhood of 6 by 3 feet square, and 5 feet high, bearing the mystic symbol of the order on one side and the inscription on the other.

Gen. Crook's monument at Arlington, D. C., was in position Memorial day, but there were no dedicatory exercises.

The soldiers' monument, which was erected in the cemetery at Egg Harbor City, Penn., and which was presented by the G. A. R. of that place, was unveiled last week with appropriate ceremonies.

WEYMOUTH.

Dr. Charles C. Tower, the oldest physician of Weymouth, died Monday night of Bright's disease. He had practised in that village about 30 years and has been for many years a medical examiner. At the last state election he was a candidate for Representative in the Quincy-Weymouth district.

Dr. Tower was born in Cohasset and was a Harvard graduate. He was for ten years on the school board of Weymouth, and a prominent member of several societies. A widow and four daughters survive him. The funeral took place this afternoon.

Manchester Murder Mystery No Nearer a Solution.

BLOODY CLOTHING FOUND,

And a Strangely Acting Negro Arrested.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 2.—The only developments in the Manchester murder have been the discovery in the orchard of two pieces of a man's underclothing, covered with blood, and the arrest of a queer-acting negro on suspicion. The first, though slight, is an encouraging clue, but not much importance is attached to the latter. The drift of official opinion favors the aged farmer, and the mystery, if not deepening, seems no nearer a solution.

While Officer Charles F. Hoar was wandering about the orchard at the rear of the Manchester farm house his eye caught sight of a piece of cloth. He picked it up and his heart gave a throb as he saw blood upon it. A short distance beyond he found a second piece of the same cloth, which proved to be woolen and part of a man's pair of drawers.

The pieces had evidently been torn off the top of the pair, for part of the stay of glazed cloth was found attached. There is not the slightest doubt but what the stains thereon

Are Those of Blood.
How fresh the blood is has not yet been determined. This seems to be an important clue, fragmentary as it is, for it is hardly likely that an attempt would be made to lead the police astray in such a farsighted way.

The blood stains seem to be more smeared than spots, as if the top of the drawers had been used to wipe bloodstained hands upon, and then the tell-tale cloth torn out by the roots and dropped in mad haste.
The place where the cloth was found was about 40 yards directly behind the barn, but the spot has not much importance bearing upon the case other than confirming the belief that the murderer escaped through the orchard, for the wind had doubtless blown the cloth a considerable distance.

The find was speedily carried to Marshal
Hilliard, who has the tell-tale fragments safely treasured. Both pieces of cloth bear evidence of having been twisted and pulled, as if they had been wrenched, which bears out the reasonable theory that the murderer wiped his fingers on this part of his underclothing and threw them aside as he started.

There has been a growing belief that outrage was one purpose of the fiend, although there is nothing new to prove it. The result of the autopsy Wednesday was looked upon as settling the matter, but without this factor the crime is exceedingly difficult to account for. Certain it is that if the tragedy is ever solved, it will be believed that the villainess that was attempted was not accomplished.

A Negro Arrested.
The other interesting if not especially important incident was the arrest of a strange-acting negro about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It may be said at the outset, whatever the outcome of this precaution may be, that there is no great probability that this suspect was connected with the crime. Nevertheless, he bears the trademarks of a rascal and is too peculiar an individual to have at large.

Marshal Hilliard said he believed that the man, who gave his name as Lewis Quarry, had either escaped from some institution, or was an out and out "nigger tramp." Quarry is only 23 years old, but uncommonly shrewd and reticent. He was immediately locked up out of sight and no one was allowed to catch even a glimpse of him.

Quarry said he had just come from Boston, and that he had been working three months for a farmer named Harry Wilson. He made very singular statements concerning farm work, and was not able to recollect a single man in Boston. Quarry was seen hanging about the woods on the Lancaster yesterday morning, and was finally captured on Pleasant street.

The Father Not Suspected.
It may be stated here that Stephen C.
Manchester, the father of the murdered girl, has not from the first been looked upon by the authorities as the author of the crime. At the same time, it has been thought that he knew more of the circumstances and probabilities of the case than he had told, and yesterday afternoon Marshal Hilliard and Inspector Medley drove out to the field where the old man was planting and had a long talk with him.

They previously "held up" Freddy, aged 19 years, under the lee of a henhouse and found him to be a fragment of the old trunk. Whatever they found out was of course kept to themselves, but it is safe to say that in both cases they did not gain much.

People most intimately acquainted with the circumstances say the old man and both boys should be locked up a few days to force from them more definite information than they have yet vouchsafed.
This, however, seems out of the question.
All that the boys can be made to admit is that "We three left here together on the milk team early in the morning."

Looking For a Former Employee.
Every crumb in the way of circumstance seems to point unmistakably to the fact that the real agent of the crime was one of the many men who have worked on the Manchester farm. Not the smallest detail so far as can be remembered, leads away from this theory. Naturally, the next thing is to recall the ethnological congress that has appeared in line before
"Steve" Manchester. Of these first suspicious attaches to a Portuguese.

His last name was Carreiro or Cirris according to authorities. He is known to have been possessed of the disposition characteristic of his race, and that, although he has relatives in this city with whom he usually stays, nothing has been seen of him for several days.

Detective Peasey spent yesterday at Tiverton among many Portuguese employed at Church Bros. and Brightman & Co.'s fish works, but he met with little success.
He passed through part of the town near the river, making inquiries regarding any foreigners recently employed by the farmers, but when he returned last night, he had received little encouragement to continue his search.

This clue, in the absence of any better,
is being diligently followed, but the officers admit that the prospect in this direction are not very hopeful.

Stock Watering—Prison Commissioners.

Treasury Reports—Voting Machine Bill.

BOSTON, June 2.—The three house bills to prevent watering of water, gas and railroad stock were referred to a special committee.

Mr. Butler moved to reconsider the substitution for the committee's bill of the bill for a paid board of prison commissioners. Reconsideration failed, 13 to 16.

The treasury committee reported an amendment to the bill fixing the salary of the warden of the state prison, reducing it from $5000 to $4000.

The same committee reported an amendment to the bill as to the province lands at Provincetown, so that the exemption provided in section 11, chapter 186, public statutes, shall only apply provided the inhabitants shall annually for 30 years pay the state $500 toward the expense of the superintendent of these lands.

The same committee sent to the next general court the house bill requiring specifications of their work to be furnished weavers and the house bill providing for an open air space on the east side of the state house extension.

After considerable debate, the order for a joint special recess committee taxation, with three members on the part of the senate, was adopted, 16 to 12.

The rule was suspended to admit the house resolutions against the Chinese exclusion act.

The house bill to amend the law as to laying out of parks by towns and cities was passed in its several stages under a suspension of the rules.

In the house all the rules were suspended and the bill to prevent discrimination in barbers' shops and other public places on account of color was passed to be engrossed under suspension of the rules.

The bill for the appointment of advisory medical inspectors throughout the state was rejected—35 to 36.

On motion of Mr. Moriarty, without debate, the house non-concurred with the senate amendments to the McTammany voting machine bill, 29 to 55.

Mr. W. W. Wainwright explained the bill to authorize the Malden aldermen to grant locations to the West End company, and it was ordered to a third reading.

The gas bill was laid aside for to enable the chair to rule on a point of order.
The committee on rules on the governor's message, Messrs. Thompson, Higgins and French dissenting, and Mr. Bennett dissenting as to the exemption of the Boston and Maine consolidation with the concord and Montreal, reported a bill for bidding any railroad or street railway consolidation, except with the approval of the railroad commissioners. Existing contracts of those authorized by existing laws are not to be affected.

At the senate evening session the motion to reconsider reference to the next general assembly of the bill to impose a penalty for violation of the interchangeable mileage ticket law was defeated, 10 to 16.

The bill to regulate the width of tires on draught wagons was refused enactment, 12 to 18.

The senate refused by a vote of 13 to 12 to concur in the house amendment providing for minority representation on a board of aldermen for Boston, chosen at large.

Messrs. Milton, Salisbury, Dee, Monk and Horton were appointed the joint special committee to consider the house bills to prevent watering of gas, railroad and water corporation stock.

No Action on the Geary Law.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Attorney General Olney says that he has issued special instructions to two instances only for the enforcement of the law against Chinese.
The instructions followed in the line of the instructions issued by the treasury department and applied to Chinese who were illegally in this country and not the violation of what is called the "Geary law."

Presbyterian Assembly Adopts a Report
So Recommending.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The Presbyterian general assembly yesterday afternoon convened as a court to hear the report of the committee appointed to prepare the explanatory minute in the Briggs case.

PROFESSOR BRIGGS.

Rev. Mr. Hoyt, the chairman of the committee, then presented its report, which says: "This judicatory finds that the final judgment of the presbytery of New York is erroneous, and it is hereby reversed; and this general assembly finds the appellee, Charles A. Briggs, has uttered and propagated views, doctrines and teachings contrary to the essential doctrines of Holy Scripture and the standards of the Presbyterian church, and in violation of his ordination vow, which erroneous views and doctrines strike at the vitals of religion, and have been industriously spread; wherefore this general assembly does hereby suspend Charles A.
Briggs from the office of a minister in the Presbyterian church until such time as he shall give satisfactory evidence of repen-

The report was adopted.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 2.—Surro-decision in which he refuses to admit to probate the will of the late Jane Nevins of Yonkers, on the ground that the instru-to the will testified to signing it but could not swear as to the date they placed their names to the instrument.

were approximately 150,000 francs. More than 14,000 persons were present. All the bulls were from the Duke of Veragua, who breeds the fiercest fighters in Spain. La Gartiño is a millionaire.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

Mr. James D. Ellsworth and Miss Mabel S. Morrison United at Braintree.
The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. Elmer Morrison of Middle street, Braintree, was brilliantly illuminated Thursday evening, and it was a joyful occasion for a large circle of relatives and friends, the elder daughter, Miss Mabel Silsby Morrison and Mr. James D. Ellsworth being united in marriage.

The ceremony, which was private, was performed by Rev. A. A. Ellsworth, the father of the groom. The bride who was gowned in corded silk, was escorted by her father, and the groom was escorted by his father. They were followed by little Bessie Hillard and Master Joseph Morrison, and a little maid of honor, Miss Morrison.

The house was very prettily decorated with wild flowers, white lilacs and white lilies. Music was furnished during the evening by J. Howard Richardson's orchestra.

The reception which followed the ceremony was very largely attended by the many friends of the popular young couple, who received in the drawing room. They were assisted by Rev. and Mrs. Ellsworth, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, parents of the bride; Mrs. Gray, Miss Bessie Morrison and the Misses Ellsworth. The ushers were Mr. Henry M. Faxon, Mr. Alden A. Thorndike, Mr. Robert Perry, Mr. Alfred J. Ellsworth, Mr. James B. Noyes, Mr. Samuel W. Ellsworth and Mr. Herbert Stone.

The Newburyport Water Bill.
The Newburyport water bill was amended in the Senate Thursday by striking out the proviso that the commissioners shall not take into account in determining the value of the property the worth of the franchise and similar factors.

Senator Merrill of this city believed the bill should be rejected because the city's rights are already protected, and the bill would be very unfair to the company. The bill was ordered to a third reading.

AT THE SEASHORE.
Many Sides to the Much Agitated Turnout Question.

THE PLAIN FACTS OF THE CASE.
The Population of Manet Beach Increasing Daily—Considerable Building.

The mosquito has been so long absent from Manet Beach, that some men who always want something to swear at will hail him as a prodigal.

Some of the old cars of the beach railroad have received a coat of paint and will be used as summer houses and ice cream pavilions. It is expected that many will use them as lodging houses.

Mr. Taylor is to begin a new house for Mr. Franklin G. Morse, of Holbrook. The house is to be built on a lot on the bluffs overlooking G. W. Morton's cottage, the "Red Lion."

Mr. A. F. Hall has moved his palatial residence, the Mammoth house, from Bell street to a lot near Mr. Taylor's new house on Parkhurst street.

Mrs. C. M. Lapham has improved her establishment at the corner of Centre road and Sea street with a fresh coat of paint and has changed the name from the "The Clamsell," to "The Manet Lunch room." Mr. George Sanborn, of Quincy, is in charge, and will dispense refreshing beverages to the public.

Wagon loads of furniture en route to the beach are now frequently seen.

Mr. Samuel Rantlin of Roxbury has purchased from the Land company lot 134, Section 1, at the corner of Manet avenue and Babcock street, near the "Willows." Mr. Rantlin is an architect and has been preparing plans for some of the new cottages in this vicinity.

The newly painted cars of the Manet Street Railway company were put on the line Memorial day for the first time, and they are beautiful.

Among recent purchasers of lots from the Manet Land Associates are Charles J. Bleiler, of Watertown; John E. Gately, of Brighton.

Mrs. R. M. Brown of Quincy has purchased from the Land company the large lot at the corner of Manet avenue and Sea street. The lot contains about ten thousand feet, and has a frontage on both streets. Mrs. Brown has commenced building a substantial cottage on the Sea street front of the lot.

Mr. Henry W. French is the local correspondent of the paper, and will take up his residence at the beach in a couple of weeks. Every one at the beach, however, is invited to send news directly to the publishers at Quincy, always accompanying it with the name of the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith. Paper and addressed envelopes may always be obtained at the Houghs Neck post office free of charge.

The Turnout Question.
There are many sides to the much agitated question of the turnout on the electric road near the beach terminus. It is a well known fact, that cars which are loaded, and heavily loaded near the car-house, are greatly injured by being forced up the double curve, and comparatively steep grade just below Mr. Harvey's store. When a tow car is attached, it is a question of some few minutes to climb this hill. Not only is time wasted but power as well. Some action will soon be taken by the superintendent to obviate this difficulty. Now this question may be analyzed into a few direct questions; first, would it be a paying investment for the company to purchase enough land to straighten this curve. Land could be bought on which rails could be laid which would form an air line from the brow of the hill to the car-house. Would this be practical? Second; if there is a turnout to be built where is the land on which to locate it?

As Superintendent Weeks says: The road is through experimenting. If any one wishes to donate the land, the company will build the turnout on this land, provided of course, that the location is such as will accommodate the public there the turnout will be located. This brings us down to the last and most important question, leaving all personal and business matters out of the discussion, how can the public be served to the best advantage?

No candid man will question that Josiah Quincy would make an exceedingly creditable candidate for Governor. Quincy and Adams are strongly representative Massachusetts names, yet we have never had either of them in the governorship.—Herald.
Will the Herald glance over the list again. It may find a Samuel Adams in 1797. Mr. Quincy would make more than a creditable candidate; he would make a distinguished governor.

TENNYSON'S POEMS.
Tableaux from Several Given with Success at Faxon Hall.

The tableaux given under the auspices of the Episcopal church choir and guild at Faxon hall, Thursday evening were greatly appreciated by the largest audience that ever filled this hall.

Long before the time for the curtain to rise the hall was crowded to the doors.

The subject was Tennyson's Poems. The scenes were laid in and about "Merry England."

Enough cannot be said in the praise of the stage settings and general arrangements of the scenes. Mr. George Holden showed himself to be a thoroughly experienced stage manager and property man.

A very serious accident was avoided by the prompt action and presence of mind of the stage manager. In using the flash torch the draperies which were used as part of the stage settings caught fire. The fire was speedily extinguished without the knowledge of the audience.

The tableaux were very much enjoyed and all the credit due should be given to Messrs. Cotton and Hadaway and Miss Flint, who had charge of entertainment.

The costumes were all works of art and were made by the participants in the scenes.

The tempest scene was the master-piece of all. Mr. W. W. Osborne as Merlin, and Miss Lizzie Sheppard as Vivien, could hardly have been improved upon. It was in this scene that the curtain caught fire.

Mr. Justin Emery of Wollaston, as Lancelot, looked every inch a knight of the olden times.

Miss Cynthia Souther's Cleopatra was a finished picture of the beautiful Queen of Egypt.

A better selection could not have been made for Elaine. Miss Margie Souther fulfilled the description of Tennyson to the letter.

In the waits between the acts, Mr. and Miss Holden rendered some very pleasing vocal selections.

Miss Mabel Oxford, as usual, held the complete attention of her listeners during her reading.

If space would allow, a word would be said in the praise of all who helped to make the evening an enjoyable one.

After the last scene, dancing was announced and continued until midnight.

Rev. Mr. Cotton took this opportunity to bid many of his parishioners good bye. He leaves soon to fill a position in the south. Our only fear is that his services will not be valued as highly as they should. The Quincy parish will always welcome Mr. Cotton with open arms.

It is the intention of the street railway people to pave all of the principal street crossings, and this has been done this week on several on the Quincy Point line. Other improvements are being made on the road.

A dog belonging to Mrs. Turley of Water street had his jaw broken Thursday afternoon while engaged in a fight with another dog. Officer Nicol was called at seven p. m. and soon put the poor canine out of misery by a well aimed shot from his revolver.

Mr. F. Spencer Baldwin, now studying in the University of Munich, Bavaria, son of Rev. W. W. Baldwin, pastor of the West Quincy M. E. church, has recently declined a professorship in an American College, preferring to remain abroad for another year's study. He is to spend the summer vacation in Switzerland.

Mr. Williamson delivered his illustrated lecture "From Calhoun in the Senate to Grant at Appomattox," at Concord, Mass., Memorial day evening to an immense audience which filled the Town hall to its utmost capacity. The lecture was given under the auspices of the G. A. R. post of Concord, was received with great applause throughout.

At the West Quincy Methodist Episcopal church, on Sunday, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Baldwin will preach at 10.30 A. M. from Rom. 8: 24, "For we are saved by hope." All are invited. At the close of the evening service the Epworth League will be called together to elect delegates to the annual district convention, to be held in Winthrop street church, June 8. A full attendance of officers and members is desired.

For the past two years there has been working for Fallon & Sons of this city as a teamster, a young man who turns out to be Harry Manchester a brother of the murdered Fall River girl. He does not know much about the family at home as he left there at 12 years of age. This morning he learned for the first time of his sister's murder and immediately left for Fall River.

The interior of the Methodist parsonage at West Quincy, has been greatly improved by the Ladies' Social Union, to make it more comfortable for the new pastor's family. It is the intention in the future to paint the outside in some pleasant combination of tints and give the whole a more neat look. By and by as confidence increases the church building inside and outside will be renovated and become more pleasing to the eye. A forward movement is to be pushed on every line of interest.

—Walter Emerson, the cornetist, who has delighted many at Nantasket and elsewhere, died suddenly in Boston, Thursday evening.

DOCTORED COIN.

The Police Think They Have Made an Important Discovery.

For the past two months the storekeepers of West Quincy and the conductors on the Quincy & Boston street railway have been complaining to the police that counterfeit and mutilated money has been passed upon them. The money received were silver dollars, halves and quarters and bore the light weight stamp of the banks. Besides this the coin had been drilled and the holes plugged up with lead but the job had been so poorly done that the deception was immediately apparent upon a casual glance. The police under Chief Langley went to work upon the case in a quiet manner, and soon became convinced that a Portuguese named Joseph Silva, aged about 45 years was the man wanted. A search warrant was obtained and Thursday night Officers Furguson, Canavan, Garbarino and McAlon searched Silva's place on Cross street, West Quincy, where they found six silver dollars, two half dollars and two Canada dollars, also a lot of pieces of lead used in filling the coin. The officers secured the coin which was in a bag and placed Silva under arrest.

Silva is a tailor and has been about Quincy for a number of years, and as he is not known to have any money and did not do much at his trade, it is supposed that he has been working his little game for a long time and passing the coin outside of Quincy. The officers claim that Silva has been in the habit of buying the worthless coin of Boston pawnbrokers, and then filling up the holes and passing it as good money upon unsuspecting persons.

WEYMOUTH.

The funeral of Dr. Charles C. Tower was held from the South Congregational church Thursday afternoon. Rev. W. H. Bolster officiated and was assisted by Rev. George M. Stanton and Rev. Joseph O. Good of Cohasset. The pastor of the church, Rev. Henry C. Alvord, was unable to be present, but an eulogy which he had prepared was read by Rev. Mr. Bolster. The Temple quartette sang "Come unto me," "Gathering Home" and "Rock of Ages."

Among the many floral tributes were those from Wilsey lodge, I. O. O. F., Golden Cross, Norfolk South District Medical society, and the Wednesday night club.

Wilsey lodge and Orin Commandry, U. O. G. C., escorted the remains to the Highland cemetery, when the Old Fellow burial services were rendered. The pallbearers were Dr. John C. Frazer of East Weymouth, Dr. Willet of Rockland, Mr. Francis H. Fearing, Mr. Gordan Willis, Mr. Louis A. Cook, Dr. Edwin N. Maybury.

The places of business and schools closed during the hours of the service.

Verdict in Squantum Cases.

A verdict was reached Thursday evening by the second jury at the Norfolk County Superior court at Dedham in the cases of W. H. Reed, Paul Butler, Ellen L. Hunt and Stephen Ellis, all against the city of Boston, actions brought on petitions for land damages for land taken by the city in 1889 for the extension and improvement of its Moon Island sewerage system. The jury found for the petitioners and assessed Butler's damages in the sum of $42,498, and those of Reed, Ellis and Hunt were given nominal damages in the sum of $1. The court then adjourned sine die.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The first game of basket-ball will be played at Merrymount Park at 3 o'clock Saturday. Members should not forget that the men's meetings are held every Sunday afternoon at 3.30 rain or shine. The total receipts from Living Representations of the Old Masters were $105.20. The expenses were $50.05, leaving $145.15 to be equally divided between the Hospital Aid Association and the Association. Both organizations have good reason to be thankful for such an organization as the King's Daughters.

FLIES AND MOSQUITOES. A lady who sent a dollar in answer to an advertisement "How to get rid of flies," received instructions to procure two bricks, put the fly on one and squeeze it with the other. But there is a better way than that—don't have them, keep them out of the house. They are beginning to come along two or three at a time now. Do the same as you would with a burglar. Keep them out, not try to catch them after they get in—you'll spend as much in fly paper and salves for bites, as would pay for a whole set of screens. That is at our prices—An A 1 article to fit any window 35, 40, or 45 cents according to size. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

TODAY'S COURT.

William J. Carroll of Randolph for being a common drunkard was sent to the House of Correction for 4 months.

Joseph Silva of Quincy, was arraigned for passing worthless coin. Case continued until Saturday.

Monumental News.

The monument erected by the state of New York at Gettysburg, to the memory of her heroic sons who participated in the great and significant victory won there on the 3d of July, 1863, will be dedicated on the 3d of July next.

The monument is seventy-six feet high, with a heroic statue of a young girl sixteen feet, nine inches in height, holding in her outstretched hand a wreath of laurel. The base of the monument is twenty-seven feet high, with a polished shaft. On the plinth is a bronze trophy surmounted by a New York state eagle in bronze over the state escutcheon. Beneath the escutcheon and on the base itself in solid block letters stand out in bold relief the words "New York." Along the upper line of the base are the badges of the different corps which participated in the battle—the first, second, third, fifth, sixth, eleventh, twelfth, cavalry, engineer and signal corps and artillery. On the four sides of the base are left places for tablets, one of which will bear a complete list of all the officers from the state of New York who were killed or mortally wounded in the battle.

A monument in honor of the Union soldiers of Scotch birth who fell in the civil war in this country has been erected in Edinburgh, Scotland. It will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies in a few weeks. The monument is of polished granite, surmounted by a bronze statue of Lincoln. Near by there is a negro who looks up at him, and by whose side are the American and Scotch battle flags, the floral emblems of the two countries, the shield of the United States and a Scotch war bonnet. Several Scotch-American veterans who fought in our war, are buried under the monument, which was designed by a Union veteran. The word "Emancipation" is the inscription in front of the figure of Lincoln. Nearly all of the fund of $6000 needed for the work was raised in this country by Mr. Wallace Bruce, the American Consul at Edinburgh, who resigned recently.

June Magazines.

The symposium of western authors is the name for the June New Peterson. Many of the best-known writers from Chicago to the Pacific Coast are represented, together with the most promising new poets, romancers, and essayists have a place. "Pacific Coast Writers," with their portraits, by Ella Higginson, makes one of the attractions.

The fourth volume of the Californian Magazine begins with the June number, which comes to hand with its usual variety of good things. Few writers excel Charles F. Lummis in descriptive ability, and his article on the "Grand Canon of the Colorado" will appeal to every lover of the grand and beautiful in nature. The article is superbly illustrated. The July magazine will be the Columbian number.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

better known locally perhaps as

HOUGH'S NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly hot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can yet be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

Murderer Sacco Thought to Be Making For Boston.

THE OFFICERS ON HIS TRAIL.

Fugitive Said to Be Disguised as a Negro.

LYNN, Mass., June 2.—Hounded like a fox Antonio Sacco, the murderer of James Squires, is doubling on his tracks for Boston. There were two Boston inspectors in this city last evening. They are positive that the murderer has been in this vicinity ever since last Sunday evening, when the deed was committed in the North end, Boston. They have proofs of Sacco's presence in Lynn within the past 24 hours, and last night they were startled to learn that he is making his way from this city towards Boston.

He Has Blackened His Face to appear like a negro so that he may have a better chance to get to the Hub unseen and unnoticed. There he will be able to meet some of his friends, who will find means to secrete him until they secure a chance to get him out of the country. The sharp eye of the law, however, is on the lookout for him.

In Boston the patrolmen on the bridge leading to this city have been notified to look out for him. The officers of Revere and Malden are trying to head him off and his capture may take place tonight. Sacco had dinner yesterday at 1 o'clock at 44 Collins street. Mrs. Owen Kenney who resides there saw him come into the yard, and she thought that Sacco wanted to hire a room, as she has rooms to let. She noticed his makeup with an eye to business, and before he spoke she had made up her mind not to let a room to him. He Asked For Something to Eat and Mrs. Kenney gave him some food. Instead of sitting down on the settle which was close to the side of the house he removed it behind the dwelling, so those passing along the street could not see him.

Once he finds his friends it will be hard to find him again. The inspectors claim that Sacco is so much of a coward that he would not dare to fire at them if pursued. They are in hopes of capturing him tonight.

SURPRISES IN STORE.

Entirely New Evidence to Be Presented in the Borden Case.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 2.—District Attorney William H. Moody, of Essex county, who has been engaged as assistant attorney in the Borden murder trial, is in the city and is working incessantly on the evidence. The amount of evidence to be submitted by the prosecution is very great and it is of a different character from what the people generally suppose.

It would be a breach of confidence to say in what particular the evidence will be a surprise to the public, but it is safe to say that evidence which was not put in at all in the preliminary hearings will be the main evidence in the trial which will begin at New Bedford next Monday. Mr. Moody said that he was quite sure that the story recently published to the effect that Miss Borden's mind was giving way under her long confinement was utterly false.

The close resemblance of the Manchester and Borden murder cases, which undoubtedly have a tendency to aid the counsel for the defense in the latter. District Attorney W. H. Moody, when asked to give an opinion of the probable effect, if he apprehended any, of the Manchester case upon the one to be tried next week said: "I do not think that it would be proper for me to say a word about it at this time. I must ask to be excused from making any comment on publication. Of course, I have read all that has been printed about the matter and have my own thoughts about it." What Mr. Moody said signifies nothing, but the way that he said it shows that he really considered the matter of a great deal of import to his case.

BAY STATE FAIR BUILDING.

Statement by the Board of Managers in Connection Therewith.

BOSTON, June 2.—The Massachusetts board of world's fair managers appeared before the governor and the executive council yesterday afternoon, at which time the board made a statement through its executive commissioner, E. C. Hovey, in connection with the Bay State building at the fair.

They made mention of the fact that while the building was paid for by the state, the furnishings were contributed through the public spirit and generosity of her citizens. After describing the interior and dwelling upon the costly and historical nature of the contents, and mentioning the fact that in several of the state buildings notices may be seen stating that eating is strictly prohibited, the report concludes as follows:

"Massachusetts board of world's fair managers take this occasion to publicly announce that the rule prohibiting eating within the state building or on the grounds immediately surrounding it is still in force and will remain so until the end of the exposition."

The report was accepted and placed on file.

Pardoned From Prison.

BOSTON, June 2.—B. T. Stewart was pardoned by the governor and council yesterday afternoon, and was released last evening from state prison. It was proved beyond doubt that the prisoner was not guilty of the crime of which he was convicted. The crime was that of having in his possession tools used by burglars in effecting an entrance to a building. He was sentenced the last day of September, 1889, and was sentenced to five years in the state prison.

His Services Appreciated.
BOSTON, June 2.—At a regular meeting of the Massachusetts state board of education yesterday it was unanimously voted that on the retirement of Dr. A. A. Miner from the state board of education, after 24 years of active service—the longest term ever held by any one member of the board—the board desires to put on record its appreciation of the valuable aid Dr. Miner has rendered to the cause of education.

The Rhode Island Muddle.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 2.—The house of representatives met again yesterday afternoon. The resolution sent down by the senate calling for adjournment to the last of January, thus forcing a hold over government, was called for. A motion was at once made to refer it to a special committee, which should report back today. Upon a party vote it was finally referred to a committee of seven.

Charged With Embezzlement.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 2.—John W. Amazeen, a well-known citizen of New-castle, is under a cloud. He has always been regarded as a devout Christian, an honest man and an upright citizen, yet he is charged with the embezzlement of something like $1500. Amazeen was elected tax collector of Newcastle in 1881, and held the office until 1891, when a successor was chosen. The town is protected by bondsmen.

Arrested on Two Charges.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 2.—Orrin Cheney, in the Biddeford court yesterday, charged with not suitably providing for his cattle. He pleaded not guilty, and a date was assigned for the hearing. He was then taken to Alfred to answer to an indictment of the supreme court charging him with maintaining a liquor nuisance.

Agitators Have Resigned.

LYNN, Mass., June 2.—Agitators of a strike at the Thomson-Houston works have resigned their several positions in the factories. It is claimed that they were discharged for antagonizing the company, but it is claimed that this is not true. The electric works will commence next Monday to work 36 hours for 58 hours' pay.

A Fatal Drunk.

BOSTON, June 2.—Daniel McCashin, a sailor, while in an intoxicated condition, fell down a flight of stairs yesterday at the house 246 Commercial street. He was rendered unconscious, and the police took him to the station house. Upon his arrival Dr. Dunn was sent for, but before the latter's arrival McCashin died.

Called a Meeting of Creditors.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 2.—Alfred G. Prentiss of Saco, grocer, miller and ship-owner, has called a meeting of his creditors to be held at Portland today. His liabilities are about $50,000; assets about $10,000. Portland wholesalers are his heaviest creditors.

A Lowell Elopement.

LOWELL, Mass., June 2.—Fred H. Badger and Mrs. Mary Bruce, employees in the Troy Lumber laundry, have eloped. Badger leaves a wife and a 7-week-old baby, and Mrs. Bruce's husband is said to be in jail. She also leaves two children.

Charged With Murder.

BOSTON, June 2.—In the municipal criminal court yesterday Charles Luke was arraigned on the charge of murdering Harry Keniston of Chelsea. The case was continued until June 10, and Luke was held without bail until that date.

Killed by a Fall.

BOSTON, June 2.—Michael Lyons, a teamster, fell from his team at the corner of Atlantic avenue and India street last evening, and his neck was broken by the force of his fall. Lyons was 30 years of age and married.

BOSTON BATTED HARD.

The Colonels Come to Grief Once More at the Hands of the Beaneaters.

BOSTON, June 2.—The Cincinnati league team had a pitcher in former years who was able to puzzle the opposing nines a great deal, and he was presented to the Boston public by Manager Barnie yesterday, in the hope that he might change the unfortunate streak of hard luck that has been with the Colonels so long. But it was all to no purpose, and the batters from Boston pounded him all over the lot.

Eighteen hits and 23 totals, 15 runs and 9 earned, was the tune, while Harry Staley allowed the Louisville just 6 hits and 4 runs. The trouble with the Louisville is the pitching department, which is weak.

SABBATH QUESTION.

Expectation That the Final Decision Will Be Reached Today.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES.

Current Gossip Regarding the Great Show.

CHICAGO, June 3.—In the argument on the Sunday closing injunction Attorney James L. High for the government produced a report of the dedication exercises for the exposition and read a portion of President Higginbotham's address, in which he formally transferred the enterprise to the national commission. There is much speculation now that the case is finally in the judges' hands. Not a few expect that the decision will be announced today, but such quick action is not generally looked for.

Receipts and Expenditures.
Director Charles H. Schwab of the World's fair says that the exposition has cleared $250,000 on the month of May, and as a result of the dedication exercises for the exposition and read a portion of President Higginbotham's address, in which he formally transferred the enterprise to the national commission. There is much speculation now that the case is finally in the judges' hands. Not a few expect that the decision will be announced today, but such quick action is not generally looked for.

UNVEILING THE DANIEL BOONE MONUMENT BEFORE KENTUCKY BUILDING. will be but $100,000 a week for the present, and this will be cut down when the working forces are reduced, as has now been ordered by the officials. Mr. Schwab says the receipts for the month of May have averaged $24,000 daily.

Olds and Ends.
It is now positively known that the far famed Oriental monarch, the Sultan of Johore, is coming to the World's fair. His majesty called the fact of his intended visit to Deputy Commissioner V. W. Lake, and directed Mr. Lake to meet him in Carlsbad, Germany, to accompany him to Chicago. Mr. Lake at once left for New York, whence he will sail for Europe on the Campania, and expects to get back to Chicago before the end of the present month. "The White City" is now practically completed. The railway tracks, which were laid inside the grounds to facilitate the bringing in of exhibits, were taken up yesterday, and with very few exceptions the exhibits are all in place, and by the first of next week the fair will undoubtedly be finished and ready for the inspection of the public from one end to the other.

Secretary Culp of the colonies committee has about completed the arrangements for the international Welsh festival, which is to take place Sept. 5 to 8, inclusive. Five mixed choruses of 200 voices each will compete for a $5000 prize. Two of these choruses will come from Scranton, Pa., one from Wilkesbarre, Pa., one from Youngstown, O., and one from Salt Lake City. Two male choruses from Wales and eight from America will compete for a $1000 prize. One female chorus from Wales and six from America will compete for a $1000 prize.

Dr. Briggs Non-Committal.
NEW YORK, June 3.—Dr. Briggs visited the Union seminary at Seventy-eighth street and Park avenue yesterday. During his visit he saw a number of friends, but had nothing to say except that he was very tired, and expected to be out of town tomorrow. He left the college early and visited Scribner's offices. Mrs. Briggs was at the house, 120 West Ninety-third street, but said that she did not know what her husband's intentions were for the immediate future.

Settling With the Indians.
WASHINGTON, June 3.—The accounting officers of the treasury yesterday audited the accounts of the payment to the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians for the Cheyenne and Arapaho lands ceded to the government, and acquisitions on the United States treasury were provided by the secretary of the interior, which concludes all of the formalities necessary for the payment of the money.

Thinks He is Bewitched.
NEWBURGH, N. Y., June 3.—Adam Heidel, tried last August with his son for the murder of George Markel, and acquitted, has just been committed to the insane asylum at Middletown. Since his trial his delusion, a belief in witchcraft and that certain neighbors of his possess a mysterious power which they exercise to his injury, has increased so that he has become a constant menace to those around him. His son was sentenced for life for the killing of Markel.

THE BORDEN CASE.

Making Preparations For the Trial—Poor Press Accommodations.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 3.—With the opening of the coming week, the eyes of New England, and in fact all the country, will turn with a common interest and a single thought to the little court house in New Bedford, where the fate of Lizzie Borden is to be decided.

The interest which the public has always shown in the Borden mystery will, it is safe to say, be not less at this time than at the previous stages of the case. Rather will it increase a hundred fold. The poor accommodations for the press, however, arouse much unfavorable comment. But 25 places are provided. These are all taken by the county and Boston papers. The press of the rest of the country and the illustrated weeklies are all barred out.

The only hope of these outcasts is to arise early and participate in the grand struggle at the door with the spectators. Sheriff Wright disclaims all responsibility for this state of affairs, and says that he is acting under instructions of the court in making arrangements for but 25 seats. No concessions to the newspapers will be made.

Miss Borden is now at Taunton. Just when she will be brought here is uncertain, though there is a strong possibility that she may be brought today secretly, as before. On the other hand, it is a fact that Sheriff Wright is strongly in favor of bringing her on Monday.

RHODE ISLAND LEGISLATURE.

Governor Brown Adjourns the General Assembly Until January, 1894.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 3.—Yesterday afternoon Governor D. Russell Brown prorogued the legislature, the senate by a party vote, having first refused to concur with the house in the passage of the resolution requiring the governor to lay the difficulties standing in the way of the two houses meeting in grand committee before the supreme court for decision.

The declaration was upon the ground that the house had acted fraudulently in unseating members, and if they went into grand committee with them they became a party to the fraud, and, further, they have no assurance that the house would abide by the court's decision.

Then came the reading of the governor's proclamation announcing that as the senate and house were unable to agree upon the question of adjournment, he declared the general assembly adjourned until the last Tuesday in January, 1894.

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

William J. Bradley's Body Found in a Cellar at Attleboro.

ATTLEBORO, Mass., June 3.—Early yesterday morning a domestic in the employ of Randolph Pierce of Attleboro Falls went down stairs and at the bottom of the stairs put her foot on the body of a man. The house was alarmed and the police sent for. The body was identified as that of William J. Bradley, who lived on Horton street and has a wife and two children.

Attempt to Resurrect the Iron rail.
MANCHESTER, N. H., June 3.—A desperate attempt was made to resurrect the Iron rail in this section last night. J. O. H. Woodman of Worcester, Mass., supreme prelate of the order in its reorganized form, and J. R. Davis of Cambridgeport, Mass., supreme vice president, were both present and made impassioned speeches. The meeting failed to satisfy those present, however, many of whom have had certificates expire since December and were led to believe that they would be paid off last night.

This action was decided upon at a meeting of the selectmen this week and Chief of Police Phillips has received his orders to see that the old blue laws are strictly carried out.

MURDERER AT LARGE

A Strange Story Told by a Boston Business Man.

A LUNATIC IS SUSPECTED.

Theory Advanced that He Committed the Borden Murder.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 3.—The theory which has for some time existed in many minds that there is lurking somewhere in the woods about Fall River, a lunatic who perpetrated both the Borden and Manchester murders, has gained a certain degree of confirmation.

A well-known Boston business man who has lived here and still continues to live part of the year in Fall River said yesterday:

"My story is not calculated to allay the feelings of anxiety and apprehension which now fill the hearts of those who live in lonely farmhouses on the outskirts of Fall River, particularly in the direction of the new Boston roads, but 10 days previous to the Commission of the Borden Murder I and my wife took a pleasure drive from Fall River to Assonet and return. We came back by the upper or Bell road, which finally leads to the New Boston road, whereon stands the Manchester house.

"It is a desolate and lonely way, houses are few and far between and the woods and swamps on either side are almost impenetrable. Passing one of the dilapidated structures we were startled to see the figure of a man from around a corner. His face was pale and pinched, with a wolfish expression about the eyes. His clothing was in rags and apparently filthy. This uncanny object looked at us steadfastly and then vanished within the ruins.

"We did not stop to investigate, for it was growing dark, and as the place had an uncomfortable appearance I whipped the horses, with the object of getting to civilization as soon as possible. The abandoned house is not far distant from the branch line reaching to Dr. Durfee's charcoal and acid factory, and is less than two miles from the Manchester place. I do not see why this theory of the insane man has not been thought of earlier in regard to the Borden case."

Louis Quarry,
the negro suspected of being implicated in the murder of Bertha M. Manchester, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of vagrancy, and was held in bond of $500 for his appearance on Tuesday.

The so-called suspicious articles found on him have no connection with the Manchesters, but is held to give an opportunity for further investigation.

Twenty policemen went yesterday afternoon to the scene of the murder to search through the woods west of the farm and to investigate the matter of the piece of stained woolen underwear found hanging on a bush in the orchard back of the barn. It is stated that the girl's stomach had been removed for expert examination to determine what time the murder was committed.

Land For the New Postoffice.

LYNN, Mass., June 3.—E. T. Bubier, who owns the land on which the new postoffice is to be erected, has been notified that his property was wanted. He received a letter from the assistant United States district attorney, inviting him to a conference to be held in Boston today regarding the purchase. It has been said that Mr. Bubier has been holding off for a large price. He states, however, that he is willing to sell to the government for a reasonable sum.

No Change in His Plea.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 3.—It was expected yesterday that Richard Powell, charged with the murder of George Brown of Somerville, would retract his plea of "not guilty" and plead guilty in the second degree. District Attorney Weir and Judge Richardson of the Middlesex county court were on hand to have this plea entered, but Powell's counsel desired to consider the case further, and therefore it will go over to the June term.

Burke Held in $1000 Bonds.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 3.—Luke Burke, the man who is alleged pushed Henry Walsh of New Bedford from a window, was arraigned in the district court yesterday on a nominal charge of assault. He pleaded not guilty and was held in bonds of $1000. Walsh, his victim, is still under the influence of opiates and an operation was performed on him at the hospital yesterday. It is quite possible that he may recover.

A NEW VILLAGE.

Real Estate Active in the Vicinity of Independence Avenue.

Should a person who had been absent from Quincy for a year or two, walk up Franklin street and Independence avenue, he would scarcely recognize the place so great has been the change, for where there was once but a few houses and waving fields of green grass on the land owned by Mr. George H. Field and the Adams Real Estate trust company, there are now many pretty modern houses with neatly graded lawns and in fact, a little village has sprung into existence.

Among the houses that have been built on land of Mr. Field and the Adams Real Estate and Trust company within a year are those of James McIntosh, William Spargo, John L. Miller, Charles C. Rich,
A. I. Dixon, two houses by Joseph Adams on what was known as the Kendrick farm.

Beside those already built there are a number under way some of which are nearly completed and ready for occupancy.
Among those who are building are Mr.
Sherman, Isaac Wright, E. E. Miller,
Peter J. Williams, Otis Leamen, John Robbins, Carl Person, John Roberts and Charles Glines.

Dr. R. McLennan has also commenced work this week on a $3000 residence.

There are also a number of lots that have been sold and upon which houses will soon be built. Mr. Field informs us that there is a growing demand for land in this city and that every lot on Franklin street has been sold. This being the case it will not be long before this section will be one of the prettiest residential portions of our city.

ADAMS ACADEMY TEACHER.

Selected by Governor Russell As His Private Secretary.

Mr. Charles Warren of Dedham, a son of Mr. Winslow Warren, has been selected by Gov. Russell, as his private secretary, to succeed Hon. Samuel Roads.

Mr. Warren was born in Boston in 1868, but has lived the greater part of his life in Dedham. His preliminary education was received in the Dedham public schools and in a private academy. After graduating with honors from his academic course, he accepted a position as teacher in the Adams Academy at Quincy, and while there perfected himself in his preparatory course for entrance to Harvard College.
He graduated from that institution in the class of '89, and then entered the law school. In June, 1892, he was admitted to the bar, and soon afterward entered the law office of Moorfield Storey, where he has remained up to the present time.

Mr. Warren has always taken a warm interest in the political affairs of nation and state, and is a member of the Young Men's Democratic Club and treasurer of the Dedham Democratic town committee.

Newsy Items Personal and Otherwise.

The number of entries in the opening race of the Quincy Yacht club this afternoon was fully as large as expected. Of course many of the boats are not in commission as yet, as the season is not fairly opened. This morning had rather a suspicious look, and the race might have been a failure if the members of the Yacht club were fair-weather sailors, but the boats began to gather at the rendezvous before noon and were off about 2.30 over the usual courses. Reporters are taking the news in oil skins and sou' wester.

The DAILY LEDGER of Monday will have a good report of the race, the summary, etc.

Loads of lumber and domestic goods still stream down to the beach in a determined procession.

Miss Sarah C. Meehan, of Roxbury is to build an attractive cottage on her lot on Babcock street.

Mr. John V. Scott's house on Parkhurst street is nearing completion rapidly. Mr.
Scott is to rent it for the summer. First come first served.

Mr. John Day moved his furniture down on Friday. His cottage is the Little Jack.
The Savin Hill Yacht club has its first championship regatta today, the Winthrop club a penant race, and the Lynn Expert club a regatta. The Massachusetts club has opened its Harrison Square station, and at the end of its floats, is one of the best anchorages in the bay.

The two five alarm boxes which are to be located on the Neck, will be numbered 12 and 14, the former being located near the street railway turnout at the corner of Sea and Palmer streets for the protection of Germantown, and the latter on the chemical engine house at Manet beach. These with a telephone services will provide means of giving an alarm of fire and preventing a serious conflagration.

Mr. Geo. Bass, of Quincy, has moved down to his cottage on Great Hill for the summer. Mr. Bass says, "No place like
Manet Beach."

Mr. Will Shaw, of firm of Shaw Bros., Boston, has moved the Don at her moorings off the club float, and established his family at his pretty summer residence on Great Hill.

Mr. Downey, superintendent of the Globe office, has made his house present a very pleasing appearance by adding a new coat of paint.

If the right arrangements can be made with the rain maker, Manet Beach will be independent of the Quincy Water Commissioners.

A box for the collection of new items is located at the Post office. Residents of the beach are invited to drop in items of general interest, always giving the name of the writer.

The drizzling rain will put the roads in first class condition, and many wheelmen will be sure to visit the beach tomorrow.
The "Monitor," not the Merrimac, which is to surmount Tabet's new amusement pavilion, is nearly completed.
Painting will begin early next week.
Many are trying the new revolving platform in this establishment and declare it a very pleasant ride.

THE SQUANTUM DAMAGES.

What the Law Department of Boston Says About the Butler Case.

The land damages of $42,493.02 awarded
Mr. Paul Butler by the second jury before Judge Dunbar in the Norfolk superior civil court at Dedham, in the case of William H. Reed, Paul Butler, Ellen L. Hunt and Stephen Ellis against the city of Boston for land taken by it in 1889 for the extension and improvement of its Moon island sewerage system, occasioned considerable surprise in Boston, says the Herald.

A reporter visited the law department of Boston to find out the character of the testimony that influenced the jury in rendering the verdict, and was informed that an act was passed by the Legislature in 1885 allowing the city to take in fee land in Quincy for sewerage improvement purposes.

In November of 1889 the city took this estate of Paul Butler et al. comprising about 15 acres of upland and bluff and 38 acres of beach and flats.

Several committees have from time to time reported in favor of settling the claim of the parties for the total sum of $47,000.

The city's testimony tended to show that the land, with the sewer there and subject to the easements that were on it, was worth only from $10,000 to $15,000.

The testimony of the petitioners tended to show that it was worth from $50,000 to $90,000 for seashore lots, and from $90,000 to $150,000 for quarry purposes, etc.

The city's evidence, however, proved that the property was worth practically nothing for quarry purposes, and the jury finally dismissed the matter by awarding to Mr. Butler $42,493.02, which is about $37,000 and the interest since the land was taken by the city.

Mr. Butler, when interviewed, said the amount of land in question at Squantum was large, but just how many acres it contained he could not remember.

The land was purchased in 1881, and held in trust by Mr. Butler for three others who were associated with him in the venture. It was intended to make the place a popular summer resort, but the old Squantum House had not been opened long enough to become well known before the city began the extension of its Moon island sewerage system. This, Mr.
Butler says, killed the venture, for instead of being an improvement, as expected, it made the place unpleasant and totally unfit for a pleasure resort.

children's lawn party. Let's all go!

The Monarchs under the auspices of W. R. Frampton and Eric Goulland have as strong a ball team as any of their age, and would like to play any team, any Saturday afternoon, after June 3.

Thursday evening Miss Minnie Emery of Mayflower Park, and Harry Bates of Weymouth, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents.

The recognition of Rev. L. B. Hatch, pastor of the Baptist church, will be made on Wednesday evening June 7, in Town Hall, Whitman, at 7.30 Rev. F. Bakeman, of Chelsea, preaching the sermon; Rev.
Mr. House, of Boston, charge to pastor;
Rev. Mr. Smith, of Weymouth, hands of fellowship; Rev. W. H. Eaton D. D., charge to church.

Officer J. R. Qualey having been ordered by the selectmen to patrol the street adjacent to the Square, and keep it clear of rowdies who have been in the habit of obstructing the sidewalks and annoying passers by with vulgar remarks, proceeded to business, and after two Sunday's spent in warnings, arrested two of the principal ones and brought them before the District court Monday. They were each fined five dollars, and warned that the next time they would not get off so easy.

Tuesday morning, William Orr, engineer at the For River Engine Works met with a severe accident by the breaking of a driving belt, one end of which striking an eye, seriously injured it. But now we are happy to learn that through the skillful treatment of Dr. H. L. Dearing William is fast getting out of his trouble.

A complete new feature and as satisfactory as it was new, in the observance of Memorial day, was the arrangement made by the Superintendent of Schools with Commander W. L. Gage of Gen. Sylvanus Thayer Post, to have members of the post detached to speak the previous day to the children of the various public schools about the war and what came under their observation while engaged in it. The new arrangement cannot be too highly commended. All the school rooms were gaily decorated and the children and teachers alike entered into the spirit of the occasion with glee and enthusiasm. The exercises began in the afternoon in all the schools.

There is some talk of forming a ladies' bicycle club in this city. There are a number of lady riders of the wheel and should a club be formed they would compare favorably with any club in the state.

The City Council will meet next Monday evening and there will be two hearings for change of street railway location, one on petition of the company through School

T. F. Burke, who has charge of the Quincy granite exhibit at the World's Fair, forwards a copy of the daily Tribune.
We looked it over in vain to find anything relative to the exhibit, but there was much of interest relative to the exposition.

H. P. Kittredge, who is on a business

Principal Suckling of the Willard school says that the report that a little girl fell into the vault at the school on Thursday is untrue, as it would be impossible for anyone to do so. The story started from the fact that on that day some gentlemen were inspecting the system.

Thayer Monument, Braintree.

Mr. E. F. E. Thayer has lately had erected a very handsome family memorial, cut from extra dark blue Quincy granite, beautifully polished and lettered in a first class manner. The second base beside having the family name has three separate pieces of tracery on the pediment and at each end of name, which is cut relieved by a seam less panel. The die beside the inscriptions has also several panels in which ivy vines are raised and polished, the whole surmounted with a cap projecting over the die and running to an apex with a pediment on front, which has a tastefully arranged, oak vine and letter T, raised above the surface and finished in the highest style of art from an original design.
furnished by the well known firm of E.
J. Qualey & Co., who also were the builders.

THE TRADE REPORT.

No Uneasiness in Money Circles in New England.

THE DRY GOODS MOVEMENT.

General Condition of Trade Throughout the Country.

NEW YORK, June 3.—"Bradstreet's" today says: There are no panicky feelings expressed by merchants or leading banks at the larger New England and midland state cities. Boston banks are very conservative, making loans only on most preferred security, with "ample funds to supply needs of merchants." Large disbursements by banks at the close of the month had a tendency to advance discount rates. Wool is duller, the outlook for lower prices being more pronounced and manufacturers buying for immediate wants.

The Dry Goods Movement is unsatisfactory, cold weather resulting in a smaller number of orders. Shoe factories busy last week are now only fairly so.

Baltimore banks claim they can supply all legitimate business needs, but are not extending time loans. The grain trade there feels the effect. In general lines merchants are hopeful.

Cloze money and slow collections at Pittsburgh have a similar effect and the banks are acting with caution. The near approach of the closing down season among iron and steel industries is expected to influence prices.

Hardford banks take local paper freely, although business is quiet and money close.

Buffalo dry goods jobbers are not pushing trade, although hardware and lumber merchants are in demand and fairly active. Bankers claim to be able to supply trade wants.

Some Improvement

In the volume of general trade is reported from St. Louis and St. Paul, which are exceptions in this respect. Money is close, even stringent, at all centers, and banks are making loans only to regular customers, and then only for actual needs. Cleveland admits this has resulted in a smaller volume of trade, as does Cincinnati, where anxiety is manifested as to the outlook, only carriage and machinery manufacturers reporting a fair volume of business.

At Chicago business has not improved and in some lines is light. Bankers declare they are stronger in cash.

At St. Louis money is not very stringent but trade has been affected and bankers are holding customers down to needs. There is general activity in general trade at Kansas City also and orders received are smaller.

REVOLUTIONISTS DISPERSING.

Government Forces Driving Them Into the Mountains.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The department of state has been informed by the consul at Tegucigalpa that the leaders of the revolutionists have left the country with the exception of General Sirr, who, with a band of about 150 men, is still in the department of Paraiso, near the Nicaraguan border. He changes his position almost daily and hides himself in the mountain fastnesses, so that it is very difficult for the government forces to attack him. However, it is looked upon as only a matter of a few days until his men also will be dispersed as have the men of the other leaders.

Both Policarpo and Manuel Bonilla have been wounded, the former having had his arm amputated, and is reported to have gangrene.

Some of the leaders are in Nicaragua and others in Guatemala. Unless some new and unexpected development shall happen the present revolution in Honduras is at an end. All the departments are now in the hands of the government, and mail and telegraphic communications are being re-established as rapidly as possible. The constitution of the government at the capital has not changed.

IRON AND STEEL WORKERS.

Much Uneasiness Felt as to the Result of Today's Conference.

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—The wage committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers met in session to formulate a scale for beginning July 1. President Hartland refuses to talk on the probable outcome. When the wage committee completes its task and its report is made to the convention, which assembles here Tuesday, the manufacturers will be notified and a conference will be held. The manufacturers' committee will consist of 12 representative men. The manufacturer are insisting that a reduction in the price for boiler iron must be made to a $4 basis. It is not at all probable that the workers will consent to a reduction of this scale below a $5 rate. There is much uneasiness as to the outcome of the conference, which is to be held at Youngstown today.

An Ohio Bank Closes Its Doors.

PATLUX, O., June 3.—Potter's bank, the oldest bank in Paulding county, and heretofore considered one of the safest, closed its doors yesterday. The bank was established in 1874 and has always done a large banking business. Information as to the cause of the assignment seems to get, as the president and vice president have nothing to say and the cashier is not to be found.

A Lumber Company in Trouble.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The sheriff is on guard at the office of the Fisher & Burdett Lumber company. Two attachments have been obtained against it, one for $9919 and the other for $700. The trouble of the lumber company is attributed to all losses in Chicago, which are reported to amount to $62,000.

Victory For the Strikers.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 3.—The street car strike is settled. The union men won and took their old places yesterday.

One of these we are now selling at $45.00; six pieces, upholstered in the best of Mohair Sultan Plush, colors to suit your own ideas. Every piece made with a spring edge and solid walnut frame. ## Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can yet be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Gist of Yesterday's Transactions in Both the Senate and House.

Boston, June 3.—The senate insisted on its amendments to the McTammany machine voting bill and called for a committee of conference.

Mr. Fitzgerald withdrew his motion for a recess committee to investigate the business of industrial and other life insurance, and substituted a new one referring the matter to the insurance commissioner. This was laid over.

The house bill relative to complaints against registered pharmacists was ordered to a third reading—28 to 7.

The house bill limiting hours of labor for minors and women in manufacturing and mechanical establishments was referred to the next general court, 17 to 13.

The house failed to withdraw the order for a recess committee on taxation laws, but concurred in the senate order for a joint committee, eight members on the part of the house. The first order will probably be reconsidered.

A motion by Mr. Rosinsky for evening sessions next week was postponed.

After some discussion the rapid transit bill was postponed to Monday afternoon.

When the house reached the bill to prevent the consolidation of gas companies without the consent of the gas commissioners, and to require the records of the commission to be open to the public, Mr. Moriarty spoke against the point of order.

Mr. Moriarty specifically mentioned electric light companies. Therefore the bill, applying to such companies was in order. Mr. Mellen followed on the same side; there is no commission which deals only with gas; some companies deal with gas and electric light; the two cannot be divorced. The bill was necessary.

Mr. Bennett, on broad, healthy and reasonable interpretation of the duties of the committee, thought the point of order was not well taken. Messrs. McLaughlin, Moriarty and Mellen followed against the point of order. Mr. Myers thought the point well taken in that the bill should not apply to companies doing a purely electric light business.

Speaker Barrett adopted the view of Mr. Myers and ruled the point well taken in applying to companies which do a gas and electric light business both. He said the committee could not include companies doing a purely electric light business.

LAND GRANTS.
Decisions of Secretary Smith in Two Important Cases.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—In the case of Thomas A. Holden, Secretary Hoke Smith yesterday held that all lands within the limit of the Oregon Central and Northern Railroad company were reduced to $1.25 per acre by the forfeiture act of Jan. 31, 1885, and that this act did not except lands falling within the conflicting limits of the Oregon Central and the Northern Pacific roads.

In the case of Thomas R. Grindley et al. the secretary held that the act of March 3, 1875, providing for entries of desert lands in Lassen county, California, was repealed by the act of March 3, 1877, which was general over the entire state of California and the other states named in the act.

BOSTON IN SECOND PLACE.

Heavy Batting and Perfect Fielding by the Reds Defeat the Colonels.

Boston, June 3.—The last game of the present series with the Colonels took place yesterday, and was marked by heavy hitting and perfect fielding on the part of the Bostonians. Stratton and Stivett's twirled the sphere for their respective sides.

Tom Brown made a "homer" over right field fence, and Duffy hit it out for a triple, while the only one of the Reds who failed to get a hit was Cliff Carroll, yet he made two beautiful sacrifices.

Long, Lowe and Pinckney fielded elegantly, especially the former, whose phenomenal stops and throws were electrifying. Tom Brown made a wonderful throw from center field to the plate, catching Lowe on a double play. Five of the latter plays were executed in the game, three by Boston.

This victory and the defeat of Brooklyn brings Boston into second place. A big crowd will greet the Clevelanders today if the weather is pleasant.

THE BORDEN CASE

Is at Last Brought Up For Trial at New Bedford.

BOTH SIDES ARE ACTIVE

And a Notable Legal Contest
Will Be the Result.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 5.—This morning Lizzie A. Borden stood in the dock of the court here and was then and there told what she was charged with and what the officers of the law proposed to do about it. Of course she already knew, but this was a perfunctory duty and had to be done. Then occurred the most tedious performance of the whole trial. It was the selection of 12 men from a list of about 150, who can hear the evidence to the satisfaction of both the prosecution and the defense. The work of selection, it is estimated, will take the better part of three days.

Then comes the presentation of the case by the government, followed by the introduction of evidence. Some say it will take two weeks to put that all in; others think that a week will be plenty of time. It is probable that somewhere between those extremes will come the actual period it will take to hear all the evidence.

Then come the arguments, probably for two days, and after they are finished the jury will be given an opportunity to deliberate, and it is not likely that they will be in any hurry to finish their work.

That is the program for the trial, and when the 12 men finally file into the courtroom and declare that they have, or have not, agreed on a verdict, the whole United States will be waiting to hear from them. As for the evidence in the case—only the lawyers can tell about that, and they will not.

What the government had to offer at the preliminary hearing is well known to the public; what they have besides that is rigorously kept secret.

Then the defense has not been idle. Lizzie's attorneys have found a number of witnesses whose testimony has been carefully put down and they will be called at the trial. But as to the relative merits of the defense and the prosecution, no one can tell until all the evidence has been put in.

One thing is known—the government relies almost Solely on Circumstantial Evidence. That, however, is not remarkable. Nearly every mysterious murder case is solved simply by circumstantial evidence, except in regard to the killing itself. That is invariably direct evidence.

District Attorney Knowlton promises great things with his circumstantial evidence, however. He says he can show exclusive opportunity on the part of Lizzie. That is a very simple statement, but it is a very weighty one. Exclusive opportunity means that Lizzie Borden is the only person who could possibly have committed the crime, and, if proven, can leave no doubt as to the guilt of the accused.

It is the strongest case that the prosecution could have, but at the same time it is the hardest thing in the world to prove. Not a link in the chain of circumstantial evidence must be missing in order to show "exclusive opportunity," and there are very few chains of circumstantial evidence which do not have some links missing that should fit in and

Make the Chain Complete. The defense has no theory, so far as the attorneys of the young woman will admit. They say their client is innocent, and claim that the government cannot show "exclusive opportunity."

That is where the struggle will come—on the part of the prosecution to show that no one but Lizzie could have committed the crime; on the part of the defense to determine that it would have been practically an easy matter for some mysterious assassin to have stolen in and killed the unsuspecting old folks while Lizzie was in the barn and Bridget was up stairs in her room.

As for the motive, the prosecution bases it not only on money, but revenge as well.

The contention is that Lizzie Borden hated her step-mother and feared that her father would leave the bulk of his money to her, so that Lizzie would have a comparatively small amount. It will be claimed by the prosecution that she did not originally intend to do away with her father, but decided that it would be best to do so, when she noticed his concern at the absence of his wife on his return from his visit down town on that fatal Thursday morning.

To all this the defense answers simply: Lizzie Borden is innocent; prove your allegations if you can.

Everywhere people can be found who will watch closely the events and read carefully the evidence connected with the remarkable case. The interest is not confined to class, creed or race, and it embraces nearly every age. Rich and poor alike await the outcome of the trial with varied emotions. Some hope for an acquittal; others demand a conviction; while many look for a disagreement.

DEATH MAY RESULT.

Violent Assault With a Knife During a Street Fight at Boston.

BOSTON, June 5.—A stabbing affair, which may result fatally, occurred on Leverett street, West End, at 10:40 o'clock last night. The victim, William Dunlay, a resident of East Cambridge, is at the Massachusetts general hospital with a severe wound under his lower right rib, and his assailant, John Costiglione, alias Costello, is under arrest.

Patrolman Carbee was standing in the shadow at the corner of Leverett and Auburn streets, when he saw four young men coming toward him. As the quartet neared him he saw the two in the rear dash across the street and both fell together on the opposite sidewalk. The officer separated them and upon getting to their feet Dunlay said, "I'm cut," and again fell to the sidewalk.

Dunlay was removed to the hospital, where it was found that the knife had made a deep wound over the liver. Dunlay refused to allow an operation, so that it is impossible to tell whether the liver was penetrated. The wound is a very serious one and fatal results are possible.

Dunlay is 21 years of age and resides in East Cambridge. Costiglione is also 21, and resides at the North End.

The cause leading up to the affray is not known. When the officer first saw the young men they were walking quietly along.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY.

Natick Folks Would Like to Know Who Caused Little's Death.

NATICK, Mass., June 5.—There are a great many hints thrown out to the effect that some sensational evidence will be forthcoming at the inquest to be held on the murder of Jacob Little, who was found dead on River street, South Natick, on Saturday morning. Thus far there is not the slightest clue to follow.

The autopsy was held yesterday, but the full bill of particulars is not yet ready for the public. It is learned, however, that the skull of the dead laster was not broken, as at first stated, but that death was the result of concussion of the brain, caused by some blunt instrument in the hands of parties unknown to the police. Further than this nothing can be learned, but it is just possible that the police know something more than they care to talk about.

The autopsy was held in the barn of Ernest Wignot, the nearest building to the cemetery, and it was conducted by Medical Examiners Adams of Framingham and Hodgson of Dedham. There were also present Dr. Bancroft of South Natick, Detective Bean and Messrs. Foster and Kennedy of the local police.

Little, the murdered man, was found in two counties—Norfolk and Middlesex—which fact accounted for the presence of the two medical examiners. The head and part of the body were in Wellesley and the feet were in Natick.

This was a curious incident, and at first it was thought it would complicate matters, but it has been decided that the crime was committed in Norfolk county.

The deed was brutal and cowardly, and all things point to the conclusion that the perpetrator laid in wait for his victim, and that it was done for revenge alone, as nothing is known to have been stolen from the body.

The Saturday and Sunday papers state that his purse was gone, and that it had $7 in it at the time he was last seen. The purse was found in his pocket empty, but no one can say positively that there was money in it when he left the house of Mr. Fritz Butchmann on River street, not 50 yards from where he was found murdered.

Three "Snaps" at Nahant.

NAHANT, Mass., June 5.—Though the weather was not favorable for pleasure seeking yesterday, yet there were thousands of visitors to this quaint summer resort. The town is the only licensed place between Boston and Gloucester on the north shore and the three licensed hotels did a thriving business.

A Stranger's Misfortune.

BOSTON, June 5.—Bingio De Ingo, 30 years old, an Italian just arrived in this country, while boarding an electric car on Charlestown street, mist in foot and fell backward, striking his head on the pavement. He received a severe scalp wound and was taken to the city hospital.

LIGHT ATTENDANCE.

Elements Keep Visitors Away
From the World's Fair.

SUNDAY CLOSING MOVEMENT

Appears to Be Fast Gaining Many Adherents.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The second open Sunday of the fair dawned bright and clear, and it was uncomfortably warm. The railways and the steamboat lines brought out their entire service in anticipation of an immense business. But they were disappointed.

Up to 1 o'clock in the afternoon they did a fair business and carried upward of 35,000 people to the "White City." About that hour a black cloud arose in the west, and in less than an hour the rain was falling in torrents, accompanied by thunder and lightning, and the wind blew a perfect gale.

It was after 4 o'clock when the rain ceased and the sun came out again, but it was so late that the people did not come out in crowds, and late last evening the bureau of admissions estimated the total paid attendance.

Would Be Less Than 60,000.

The New England states buildings remained locked yesterday, cards on the doors announcing the fact, much to the disappointment of visitors. Pennsylvania, New York, Missouri, North Dakota, Utah, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia joined in the Sunday closing movement, and it is now to be a permanent matter with them if the gates of the fair remain open the next five months.

AT THE HAND STAND.

Many of the finest exhibits in the manufactures and other departmental buildings were hidden from view because the exhibitors or their agents did not propose to work seven days in the week.

Not Even a Flag

was to be seen on the buildings of Great Britain, Canada, New South Wales and India, and the doors were locked. Visitors were denied access to the great display of the United States government. Machinery hall was silent.

Krupp's big pavilion was formally opened today. Many people saw the handling and movement of the big guns just as in active service, except that there was no firing.

According to the register found in every state building, western people are coming to the fair in much greater numbers, as a general thing, than those living in the eastern commonwealths. The number of people registered at the New England buildings is as follows: Connecticut, 200; Maine, 130; Rhode Island, 80; New Hampshire, 40; Vermont, 90; Massachusetts, 240.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The Examiner issued yesterday a Columbian edition of 120 pages, which exceeds by 20 pages any previous record in the way of a "mammoth newspaper." The edition had been a year in course of preparation.

Maine Banks Will Test the Case.

LEWISTON, Me., June 5.—The Maine Saving Bank association has decided to test the constitutionality of the recent act of the legislature, which places a tax of 5-8 of 1 per cent on state investments and 7-8 of 1 per cent on investments outside the state.

Skipper Dropped Dead.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 5.—The schooner Triton of this port reports that her skipper, Captain Mordock McGinnis, dropped dead as the vessel was crossing Nantucket shoals. He was about 33 years of age, and a well known master.

Likely to Result Fatally.

BOSTON, June 5.—George W. Boynton, aged 35, connected with the dry goods house of Bradford, Thomas & Co., was thrown from his horse yesterday and received injuries so severe that his recovery is very doubtful.

Charged With Larceny.

LYNN, Mass., June 5.—Russell Hibbs, Abraham Currier and William Howell were arrested yesterday afternoon for larceny. It is alleged that these young men stole some $50 worth of property from a wagon.

With the only complete bicycle plant in the world, where every part of the machine is made from A to Z, is it any wonder that Victor Bicycles are acknowledged leaders? There's no bicycle like a Victor, and no plant so grandly complete as the one devoted exclusively to the manufacture of this kind of wheels.

A DRIFTING MATCH.

The Opening Race of the Quincy Yacht Club.

WHITE FAWN, AURISA and IMP.

The Winners in Their Respective Classes—Appearance of the Boats.The first race of the Quincy Yacht Club developed into a first-class drifting match.
The rain, which began to come down in a fine mist, about nine o'clock, killed the good easterly breeze which was ruffling the bay.The race was scheduled for 2:30 p. m., high water at 2 o'clock, but the preparatory gun was not fired until 2:50.The boats began to collect at 2 o'clock, and the crews spent most of their time setting up on halyards, stretching out sails, and getting everything ship-shape.The White Fawn came bowling over from North Weymouth under all sail. She has a new main-sail which fits like a board and presented a picture of marine beauty as she neared the judges' stand.The Beatrice stayed at her moorings until nearly time for the first gun. She is looking just as well and just as capable as last year.The Gipsy hove in sight up the river and soon was tied up to the float. She was in rather poor condition. She had been put into the water so recently that she had not swelled enough to make her tight. What little she had swelled had forced the putty from her seams, giving her anything but her accustomed neat look.The Magpie used her skill to stow most of her ballast. She, as usual, looked as well as a boat can look. Her usual crew were aboard, all except her mascot.What is said of the Magpie must also be said of the Opeechee, for these boats look so nearly alike, it is almost impossible to distinguish one from the other.The Aurisa, the latest built boat of Mr. Ambrose Leloi, is said by all to be his best. She showed great ability in a drift but the question is will she work as well in a breeze and a sea way.The Imp, Don and Dandelion of the little ones, seemed in better condition for the race.After the preparatory gun was fired the wind flattened into a provokingly light air and the boats of the first class drifted toward the starting line. The White Fawn crossed with a lead of two minutes over the Beatrice, and four minutes ahead of the Gipsy. The Beatrice picked up this lead before the Fawn rounded the bushy off Bunkin's, and she and the White Fawn clung close together all the way around Seal Rock's buoy until they reached Jack Knife ledge. Here the Fawn had a cat's paw and rounded the buoy and the Beatrice drifted back with the tide. This decided the race. Although there was a race on, the Beatrice wasn't in it.In the second class the boats started bunched, going across the line in quick succession, Magpie first, Aurisa second, and Opeechee third. The Opeechee soon drew ahead and kept the lead all the way round until within about one hundred yards of the finishing line. Here a puff of air enabled the Aurisa to sidle in so the boats came across the line almost mast and mast, with Aurisa ahead.In the third class the Imp had a long-some time of it. She run the other two boats hull down in a short time. The Dandelion although sailing for a "Lost Cause" kept steadily pegging along after the Imp. The corrected time cannot be given in the first class because the yachts had not been measured. The judges were Mr. George F. Pfaffmann and Mr. P. H.
Gavin. The summary:

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

A Plea for Civil Service and for a Larger Permanent Force.

Editors of the Daily Ledger.

Since the Council committee began its investigation of the fire department, all sorts of stories have been heard, regarding the inefficiency of some of its members, and no doubt some of the many close ones,
"which say that the whole of the department will get a stirring up," are pretty true.
One sure thing is this, that there are some members now in service, who are "gone by," as far as being "active" is concerned.
No later than June 3 they showed that at the fire in Atlantic. Very soon the department will, with its main apparatus, occupy the new Station, and to have members in keeping with the apparatus and quarters, the Council would be justified in overhauling the present force and weeding out the drawback element.In conversation with a member of the department, very recently, we learned that, sometime in August last year the men were put through a partial civil service examination, and that was the end of it. Now, if other facts gleaned elsewhere are true, Quincy can be classed in the civil service by the Mayor and Council asking for it, as a law was made, late last year, which gives the commissioners that power. We think this should be so in Quincy, and as politics have got into the service in some way, we think that now is the time to quash that business when the remedy is at hand. If this city has now a good department "in the main," and wants to keep them where they are, irrespective of party policies; why not ask to be classified at once? If this were done, and you have a chief that fills that bill, no change in government can "cut his head off," unless for a reasonable cause, nor any of the members either. This will also make it binding that citizens get the appointments, when there are vacancies to be filled, a fact which we are told has not been carried out in five instances. All new applicants must also take the regular examination, written, orally and physically.
If this is not good reason to ask for this much needed reform, all right, but while we only suggest, we will state that it is a sure thing, and will come later.As a citizen of Quincy we think that the Steamer and Ladder companies have to cover too much territory for the money received, for this reason. Only on Saturday we passed a couple of hosemen who were on foot, going to one of the extreme points of Atlantic, and when we reached the scene of the fire found two men of their company trying to subdue a large fire.
When these others arrived they went at it manfully, but were what one would call "played out." You may say that the other companies would be on hand, and offer the fact of the other being short of men and this is partly true, but we took particular notice that the latter were last in the field and on the barn also. There is stock enough in this year's Council to give the salary a boost, and if some live member would start it there is not much argument against it, and while they are at it put in about ten permanent men mixed in the two main companies of the city, and a permanent chief.

EXEMPT.

A Drunk Starts a Fire.
John Hannon of Boston was arrested Saturday night by Officer McKay for drunkenness and locked up to sober off.
During the early hours of Sunday morning
the officer upon entering the police station found a brisk fire in progress in the cell occupied by Hannon. No time was lost in extinguishing the blaze and an investigation showed that Hannon had torn the mattress to pieces, smashed the chair and bucket and torn his clothing off. These he had piled in a heap upon the floor of the cell and fired with a match which the officer overlooked in his search. But for the timely discovery of officer McKay the fellow would doubtless have been cremated.Refreshments for the Unitarian Sale the

AT MANET BEACH.

All Kinds of Turnouts Were There on Sunday.

SOME VERY RECKLESS DRIVING.

A Serious Accident Averted on the Road to Quincy on Saturday.Sunday was a pleasant day at the beach.
The rain Saturday put the roads in the best possible condition. Many took advantage of this and all kinds of turnouts were seen.Are the police to patrol the beach this summer? If so we suggest that they keep an eye on reckless drivers. Bicycles have some right if not might, on the highway.
The fellows who drive hired horses are as dangerous as the boy with his deadly toy pistol.Mrs. Henry Clark of Manchester, N. H., enjoyed the sea breezes on Sunday.An extended report of the yacht race of Saturday will be found in another column.Miss Florence A. Drake of Brockton has the honor of being the first subscriber of the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER.Bath houses are still locked up and bathing suits still smell of camphor. Too cold yet for bathing.The nickle and cigar machine is in full working order.

A high wheel is a novelty now.

A club of bicyclists from Campello took dinner at the Linden, Sunday.The lawn in front of Mears' Hotel has again become the resting place of many people who visit the beach. An excellent view of the yachting, and a very comfortable seat may be found here.When is the location for the turnout to be settled? Are the passengers to climb the hill very much longer?Mr. Jackson begs the people to understand that he is a barber, not an artist, although he does paint (with lather) many fine faces.Saturday promised to be such a poor day that many families who proposed to move down postponed it until Monday.Don't miss a number of the new daily.

a courteous welcome.The new fastenings of the shore end of the run, which leads to the float, seem more substantial than the previous set.
Pay your five before July or it will cost you ten.A Serious Accident Was avoided on Saturday afternoon by the quick action of Mr. Edward Glover, of Newcomb street. A horse attached to a light dog cart was startled by the gong on the electric cars. The horse was just descending the alms house hill, and broke into a run. The horse became more and more frightened by the efforts of the two ladies, who occupied the carriage, to stop him. When he reached Coddington hill he was running very fast. Mr. Glover, who understands horses perfectly, stopped him with very little trouble. The horse, which was a nervous one, was soon quieted and started off at a gentle trot.SACRED CONCERT.
Reception to Rev. J. P. Cuffe on his Recovery of Health.
An audience much too large for Hancock hall gathered there, Sunday evening at the sacred concert under the auspices of the Ladies' Charitable society of St.
John's church, and a reception to Rev.
John P. Cuffe curate of St. John's church.
Rev. Fr. Cuffe had but recently returned from Buffalo, N. Y. where he has been confined in a hospital for over a year by illness.During the exercises Rev. F. A. Frigilietti in behalf of the parish presented
Fr. Cuffe with a purse containing $600.
Fr. Cuffe responded feelingly thanking the parish for their kindness and generosity.The programme included readings by Miss Dooley, which were well rendered;
songs by Mrs. Ita Welsh Donagan, Mr.
Daniel Padula, Mr. Daniel J. Kelly and Mr. William H. Fessenden, all of which were excellent. Duets were given by Messrs. Padula and Kelly, and Mr. Fessen-den and Mrs. Donagan.Pratt Returns.
Franklin C. Pratt of Weymouth, who hired a horse and buggy for Pennington & Son May 8, to go to Hingham, and who failed to return, was arrested at North Weymouth Sunday, by Officer Ferguson of this city, brought to Quincy and locked up. He said he had sold the horse to a dealer in Boston for $30 and that the whole thing was a plot against him, to deprive him of his property. He was arraigned in the District court this morning.Messrs. Pennington have recovered the buggy and harness, and are in hopes they may find the horse.Not a Theory,

A STABLE BURNED.

A Lively Blaze at Atlantic Which Threatened a House.

The alarm from box 94, at 3.25 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was for a lively blaze on Squantum street in the stable owned and occupied by Le Roy S. Carter. Adjoining the stable is a wood shed and a room used by a crowd of young boys of Atlantic, as a club room, and it is supposed that the fire in some way originated near the club room. The fire spread rapidly and it was soon seen that the stable was doomed and the efforts of the firemen were directed to saving the house which was quite near and in danger. The stable was practically ruined nothing but the shell being left. The loss will possibly be about $2,000, upon which there is an insurance. The boys succeeded in getting the furnishings out of the room, and if Atlantic people in the future are wise they will be careful about letting a room or building to a crowd of boys.

The West Quincy Alarm.

The alarm from Box 48 at 11.35 this morning was for a lively little blaze among the clothing in one of the old stone houses on "the Rail" owned by the Granite Railway Co., and occupied by Isaac Sloan. The fire was extinguished by aid of the hand chemicals but not before the clothing was rendered useless and the loss on this will amount to $30 upon which there is no insurance. The damage to the building will not exceed $25 which is fully covered by insurance.

Basket Ball.

The first game of out-door basket ball was played by the Young Men's Christian Association boys on Merry Mount Park Saturday afternoon. This was a practice game, but much enthusiasm was aroused, and before many weeks basket ball will have many admirers in Quincy. It is played in all parts of North America, indoors and out-doors, by men and by women. It was invented only three or four years ago, in the Young Men's Christian Association training school at Springfield. A full description of the game will be published in the LEDGER within a few days.

A RELIGIOUS SENSATION

Created by Dr. Abbott's Remarks Concerning the Briggs Case.

BROOKLYN, June 5.—There is the biggest sort of sensation in religious circles in the Twin cities. "The Bible is not the Word of God," declared the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, in Plymouth, Henry Ward Beecher's old church, Brooklyn, yesterday.

Dr. Abbott was preaching on the Briggs case, and he referred to Dr. Briggs as a "modern prophet" fit to rank with the prophets of the Bible.

His text was from Romans iv, 8:14: "Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin." It was an eloquent sermon. The approach to the Briggs climax was made step by step with logical acumen and convincing force. When at last it was reached this is what Dr. Abbott said:

"In 1891, in his inaugural address on taking the biblical chair in the Union Theological seminary, Dr. Briggs said: 'It is the testimony of human experience in all ages, that God manifests himself to men and gives certainty of his presence and authority.'

"And for that statement then made he was last week declared unworthy any longer to preach the gospel in Presbyterian pulpits.

"Infidel! What is infidel? What, if not this: To deny that God is in his world today? What, if not this: To deny that there is any way of coming to God except the one door that has never been opened save to a limited number of the human race?

"Heretic! What is heretic if not this: To declare that God is not the father of all mankind, and leaves no door of access to Himself save the one door of a written word that was not free to all the human race that longed and cried and prayed for Him for 2000 years?

"I want to say a word to any of you who imagine that the Bible and the church, the institutions of religion, are being defended by the act of the Presbyterian general assembly. I want to say that religion lies in the heart of the individual man, and that any philosophy which states that God can come to the soul only through the Bible, denies the Bible itself, which is the record of the experiences of men into whose souls God has come."

Another Briggs Adherent.

ALBANY, June 5.—There was a remarkable scene in the Second Presbyterian church in this city yesterday, when its pastor renounced the Presbyterian faith and declared that the Presbyterian general assembly was the most "bigoted, intolerant and reactionary body" ever seen in any denomination. He declared himself in favor of Dr. Briggs and left the church. Most of his congregation will follow him.

CAUCASIANS CROWDED OUT.

Orientals Monopolizing the Fishing Business in British Columbia.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., June 5.—A monster meeting of the fishermen's association was held in the Opera house to discuss the wholesale naturalization of Japanese and Chinese fishermen for the purpose of securing fishing licenses. Several speeches were made. It was pointed out that the fishermen were gradually being crowded out by the Japanese and Chinese. There are 31 canneries on the Fraser river, and although the higher pack record is expected to be made this season, not one white fisherman has been employed so far by the canneries. The Japanese and Chinese were taking their places. The native Indians were also being supplanted by the Japanese. Resolutions were passed asking the Dominion government to refuse to grant licenses to Japanese and Chinese and to issue the same only to whites and Indians. The meeting was enthusiastic. Public sympathy is strongly with the fishermen.

FELL FROM GRACE.

An Arkansas Preacher Has a Long List of Crimes to Answer For.

BATESVILLE, Ark., June 5.—Rev. R. S. Deener, pastor of the Methodist church in this city, was arrested at Newport for forgery. The series of crimes of which he is guilty are of a most startling nature. Deener was the most popular minister in the White River conference of which he has been secretary for two years. He has also been grand prelate of the Arkansas grand lodge of Knights Templar for two years and president of the State Sunday School association. His best friends and prominent members of the church suffer by his criminality. His plan was to put forged notes as collateral for loans and to give mortgages on land and cotton he did not own.

Lynn's Liquor War.

LYNN, Mass., June 5.—Officer John Tyler has been suspended from further duty by Marshal Wells for neglecting to do his duty. Bridget Keville was found guilty of illegally selling liquor on his beat and was fined $100 and sentenced to nine months. Officer Tyler had no information against her. Mayor Hayes expects police officers to attend to getting evidence against the kitchen barrooms, and all officers are expected to be vigilant for illegal selling on their respective beats.

Plans of Bicyclers.

SALEM, Mass., June 5.—A bicycle race will be run from Salem to Centerville, grove July 4, under the auspices of the shoe and leather workers of Salem and Peabody. The 15-mile road race, which was to have been run under the auspices of the Salem Bicycle club to Lyndfield June 17, has been postponed to later in the season.

Two Years For Manslaughter.

ALFRED, Me., June 5.—Joseph Lemey of Biddeford, who fatally stabbed Napoleon Turcotte, Jr., and who was indicted by the grand jury for manslaughter, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the state prison. Lemey's health is very poor, and it is doubtful if he lives until the expiration of his sentence.

President Cleveland Returns Home.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—President Cleveland returned to Washington yesterday from his short fishing trip at Cape Charles, Va. Mr. Cleveland is now as brown as a berry, and the brief respite from business has had the effect of refreshing him both mentally and physically.

At Death's Door.

NEW YORK, June 5.—"In regard to Mr. Booth's condition it may be stated that he has gradually grown weaker during the last 24 hours and that there is now very little probability of even a partial recovery." The above bulletin, signed by Dr. St. Clair Smith, was posted at the Players' club yesterday.

Home Again.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Jefferson Coolidge, ex-minister to Paris, and family, arrived here yesterday on the steamer La Bour-gogne.

WEYMOUTH.

The North Weymouth took the Senators from Boston into camp Saturday. It was a close and exciting game, all the runs being scored in the first four innings, 2 of the 4 by the home club, being earned. The visitors made a very neat triple play, and the North Weymouths one double play. Nine men were struck out by Dolan and six by Potter. The score by innings was:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Senators	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	0-2

Mrs. Susan Blanchard, widow of Winslow Blanchard, died at her residence on Pleasant street, South Weymouth, Saturday, aged 72 years. In her younger days Mrs. Blanchard was a teacher in the public schools of Weymouth. She leaves four children, two sons and two daughters.

Officers Ford and liquor agents Garey and Fay raided a gag of imbibers in the woods off Pleasant street, Sunday, and seized a half barrel, containing a quantity of beer.

The Dean Randall property on Pleasant street East Weymouth was sold at auction Saturday. The house, stable and land was bought by Frank E. Hobart for $2825; the adjoining land by Davis D. Randall for $620, and the tract on the river by John P. Lovell for $225.

How Two Brothers Met.

There was a touching scene at the lunch counter in the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton station in Hamilton, O., a few nights ago about 10 o'clock. Several trains pulled in at that hour, and two men rushed up to the lunch counter. The men were brothers, but they did not know it at the time. They had not seen each other for 20 years.

They were James and Charles Monroe, aged about 40 and 42 respectively, who a score of years ago lived near Springfield, Ills. They separated when young men, one finally settling at Grand Rapids, where he accumulated considerable wealth. The other went west and settled at Denver. As years wore on the brothers never heard from each other, and latterly each thought the other dead.

As they sat at the lunch counter, a friend of James called him, shouting, "Oh, Jim Monroe!" Before James could respond the gentleman sitting next to him turned, and giving him a close look said, "Are you James Monroe?" "Yes, sir," was the reply. "Who are you?" "I am your brother, Charles Monroe of Denver," replied the man.

The two men eyed each other in silence for several seconds then there was an affectionate handshake, and tears glistened in the eyes of both.

Neither of them finished his lunch, but getting down off their stools they walked arm in arm about the station until the train left, and they went off together.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Body of an Unknown Man Found in a Pond Near Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 4.—The body of an unknown man, badly decomposed, was found in a small pond at Greendale last evening, and foul play is suspected, as the medical examiner thinks the skull has been fractured by the blow of a blunt instrument. A more thorough examination will be made tomorrow.

The body is that of a man five feet, nine inches tall, and weighs about 160 pounds. In one of the pockets was found a leather wallet containing $2.38 and a ticket on the Portland and Rochester railroad, from Portland to Providence, with the Worcester and Providence coupon intact; a weaver's pick and a time card of Columbian Worsted company, bearing the name of John Holmes were also found.

Near the shore of the pond, in what is supposed to be his tracks, was found a rusty axe, and the man's nose was gone, whether eaten off by the fishes or cut off, the examination will tell.

An Awful Tragedy.

CLARENCETOWN, P. Q., June 5.—The Eddy family—Omri Eddy, aged 70, his wife, aged 62, and their daughter Emma, aged 28, were cruelly assassinated as they were about to retire for the night at their home. The assassins added the crime of arson to that of murder, and a pile of charred ruins and ashes is all that is left to show where once existed a peaceful, happy home. The affair is shrouded in mystery.

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in about two weeks. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize. Full particulars will be announced about June 17.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can yet be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

LOOKS BAD FOR HIM.

Police Think Correiro Is Bertha Manchester's Murderer.

THE DEAD GIRL'S FUNERAL

Leads to the Disclosure of a Peculiar Incident.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 5.—Saturday night Joseph Correiro walked into the Central police station with his uncle. He was merely a suspect then; a man whom the police wanted just because he had worked on the farm and was missing. Now he is regarded by the police and reporters as guilty of the terrible slaughter of Bertha May Manchester on the morning of May 30. He may not have been alone in the terrible deed, but that he was the author of the crime and the robber of the girl's money is practically established beyond a peradventure of a doubt.

The facts elicited from the eight-hour investigation are the basis of the assumption. It is from

No Idle Theories
that the terrible charge is made, for, as the mayor said: "This is no fake, but tangible clues pointing to the guilty person."

Too much cannot be said in praise of the work of the police. Since the day of the shocking tragedy there has been no such thing as rest for anyone connected with the department.

The people have been fooled by the alleged clues from Bridgewater, Providence, Natick et al.—not so the police. Their work was systematic; they wanted everyone who had worked for old Manchester—those who were familiar with the place. They wanted Correiro most of all; they got him. They had located Correiro in Taunton before Saturday, but had not at that time put their hands on him. To save trouble, and for other purposes, they sent his uncle, Jacinto Muniz, after him. They told Muniz that if his nephew was not there by 7 o'clock that night the police would bring him in. It was a fact, for the marshal and his men were hot on the trail.

It is well known that the police have yet much important information in their possession. Among other things they will prove that the murderer

one night after he was suspected to have ended his work for Mr. Manchester, and it is very probable that he planned the robbery that time. He, perhaps, never intended to commit murder, but the fact that Bertha was not to be trifled with led to his shocking brutality.

Although it has all along been denied there had been any violation of the girl's honor, there is a well established opinion among the police that such an attempt was made with some success. A microscopical examination may be required to determine some things in connection with this matter.

This is about all that Dr. Dolan cares to say about this part of the affair. It is said that have been discovered in the dining room, as though, before the death blow was given, the girl had tried to escape from her assailant by running through another room. Many new things are being discovered hour by hour.

Joseph Lacroix was the shoe dealer who sold the shoes to Correiro. He would not talk about the case, saying that he preferred to wait until the proper time before telling what he knows. Jacinto Muniz, Correiro's uncle, is still confident of his nephew's innocence.

Funeral Services were held over the remains of the dead girl yesterday at the house of W. W. Coolidge, 174 Devonshire street. Only a few invited relatives and two local newspaper men were present. The remains were enclosed in an embossed white cloth casket and were exposed to the view of those in the house who cared to see them. The casket was surrounded with many floral offerings.

Rev. Mr. Jutten made an impressive prayer, and there was no singing. Arthur Lowrie, Arthur Brown, Mitchell Nicholson and Henry Reed removed the body to a plain black hearse. When the services began there was a small crowd around the house, but by the time the funeral cortege of 14 carriages moved off a large crowd had gathered.

At the cemetery the carriages were surrounded by 1500 people, principally women and children. The remains were taken from the hearse and placed in the tomb, because the widow of the deceased brother of Mr. Manchester objected to the interment of the body where her husband lies. This incident is one of the many indications of the

that have existed among the Manchesters for many years. The mourners did not leave their carriages at the cemetery, but as they passed the tombs they lifted the curtains and took a farewell glance at the casket. The most noticeable of all the many mourners was Mr. Manchester's wayward boy, Harry, who has returned home, probably to stay. He sat in the carriage with his father. He went over the old homestead after the funeral in company with his brother-in-law.

It is said that new blood stains have been discovered in the dining room, as though before the death blow was given, the girl had tried to escape from her assailant by running through another room. Many new things are being discovered hour by hour. Joseph Lacroix was the shoe dealer who sold the shoes to Correiro. He would not talk about the case, telling two reporters that he preferred to wait until the proper time before telling what he knows. Jacinto Muniz, Correiro's uncle, is still confident of his nephew's innocence.

TO BE SHOT TO DEATH.

The Fate Which Awaits Murderous Robbers in Mexico.

MONTREY, Mex., June 5.—A few days ago Pedro Miazé & Bros., merchants here and owners of the Water mine property, some 75 miles from this point, sent their agent to the mine, with about $4500 to pay off the hands. He had $2800 of the money in the back with him and the driver. Three men on horseback accompanied him, two of whom he had each $1000. When they neared the mine one of the men who had $1000 had fallen considerably behind the others. Those in advance were fired on from ambush, and the agent, his driver and the horseman without money were killed. The remaining man's horse was wounded, but, turning back, he kept going until he reached a ranch he had passed some miles back, where his horse dropped dead. The other man who was in the rear heard the firing and, knowing what it meant, broke to the rear and escaped to the same ranch, meeting his companion there. A posse was organized to run the assassins down. They have captured four of them, who have confessed the crime and told who the other two are. The four are to be taken to the very spot where the crime was committed, to be shot to death.

HEMMED IN BY FIRE.

Fears That Sixty Men Have Perished in a Mexican Fire.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., June 6.—A serious fire broke out in the Puente coal mines, which are situated in Mexico, about four miles from Eagle Pass, and operated by the Mexican National Railway company. There were 60 miners at work in the mine at the time of the breaking out of the fire, and up to a late hour none of them had made their escape.

It is feared that the entire 60 are suffocated, as the works are situated at some distance from the main entrance in which the fire is still raging. L. M. Johnson, general manager, accompanied by Messrs. Jennings and Norton and a well-equipped crew of men, left for the scene as soon as the news reached here.

So rapid was the spread of the flames that Minnie Marston, 30 years old, to save herself, jumped from the third story window into the back yard. She was severely injured, and died in a short time.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

VOL. 4. NO. 131.

QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1893.

PRICE 2 CENTS

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in about two weeks. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize. Full particulars will be announced about June 17.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can yet be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

SEEING THE BIG FAIR.

Warning to Visitors at the Columbian Exposition.

DO NOT OVERWORK YOURSELVES.

There Are Various Ways in Which You Can Take in the Sights and Still Not Be "Tired Clear to Death"—The Difficulties Attending Sight-Seeing in Couples or Quartettes.

WORLD'S FAIR, June 2.—[Special.]—This is a great place for tiring one's self out completely. There never was another such temptation to overwork, and this is the thing which all visitors should be on their guard about. It does not mean to pay to come too much fatigued. The visitor who comes here determined to see the whole show in three or four days, and who rushes about from building to building, makes a serious mistake. Better not to enter many of the buildings at all than to run through and slight the contents of those which are entered, wearying the body and wearing out the nerves. It is a mistake to jumble up the senses and to lose to a certain extent the power of appreciation. Still many people do go rushing through the fair as if their lives depended upon their seeing the inside of all the buildings in a day or two. Every day I see people here who are making labor and labor of the hardest kind, of that which should be pleasure.

Today, for instance, I saw two or three young women on one of the station platforms of the elevated electric railway which runs through the grounds. There are no seats on these platforms, as there should be, for the trains are often ten or fifteen minutes apart and waiting passengers should have some place to sit. These young women were, in their own way of putting it, "tired clear to death," and not finding any other place to sit and rest themselves they deliberately sat down on the floor of the platform. It was a dusty, dirty floor, but they did not mind that. They said it was a question of sitting down or falling down with them, and they preferred the former. Other passengers looked at them in a queer sort of way, but did not laugh. They were tired, too, or the most of them were, and though they did not wish to follow the example of these adventurous maidens they certainly had a warm sympathy with them. One elderly and prim woman who was evidently very, very weary, looked at the girls squat on the floor with somewhat of enviousness in her glance, and said:

"I wish I had the nerve to do that, but I haven't."

While the young women sat on the floor they talked of the buildings they had been in that day. They had had a run through six or eight of the great structures, and then felt to planning how many more they were to go in before calling it a day's work. Evidently they had started out to see the World's fair in one day, or in two days at most, and they were willing to commit suicide in order to do it.

If people will rush through the grounds and buildings at race-horse speed they will find it to their advantage, and economical in the long run, to hire a rolling chair. These chairs with a man to push them cost 75 cents an hour, but are worth the money if one is determined to see all that may possibly be seen in a given time. A very good plan is to walk about for an hour or two hours and then hire a chair for one hour. The chairs are wheeled all through the buildings as well as from one building to another, and one may thus rest and see at the same time. In fact, there is no better way to see than while unencumbered in one of these comfortable vehicles. The only trouble which ladies have with them is that their guides persist in talking too much, or at least some of them do. The average visitor to the fair does not care to be talked to all the time by any one, much less by a stranger. One wants to see and think for himself. If you come here and hire a chair and the man who is employed to wheel it about talks too much for your comfort it would be perfectly right to give him a gentle hint that you will ask for information when you want it.

Men who come with their wives, mothers or sisters find that one chair does very well for two people. A hundred times a day one sees a man sitting lazily in the vehicle which a guide is pushing while the wife or sister walks along side. But it would be rash to conclude that the man is selfish and that he makes a business of riding while his wife or sister walks. That is not the case. It is simply his turn to ride a bit, and after a short time, when he shall have become rested, he will get out and the woman will have her inning at the chair.

Many men do not hire a guide at all, but take a chair at 50 cents an hour and push their wife or woman companion themselves. It is not hard work at all. The chairs have rubber tires and are admirably constructed in every way. They roll along with very little pushing, and besides, one is stopping every few seconds in order to look at some exhibit. If a man is strong and active he may in this way make sight-seeing an easy task for his wife or sister and at comparatively small cost. Suppose you are all together seven hours during a day, which is as much time as you should attempt to put in. One hour of this you will probably pass at luncheon in one of the many delightful restaurants, and that will be a rest. Of the remaining six hours if you walk three and use a wheel chair at 50 cents an hour the other three, an hour at a time, you will reach the end of your day's work but little wearied, and without having spent much money. Of course it is harder on the man's knees to do the pushing, but even he may sit in the chair once in a while stopping before some exhibit and thus gain a few minutes' rest. It is almost an ideal method of seeing the fair. The wife or sister in the chair likes to be wheeled about by one she loves, and this method gives the two persons almost precisely the same view point while on their rounds.

One of the great difficulties of sight-seeing in couples, in trios or quartettes, on foot, is that it rarely happens two persons look at the same thing at the same instant. One is a little in advance or off to the right or left; and about once in two minutes one or another calls out to his companion, "O-come here and look at this—it is the prettiest thing in the world. Come and see it." At that very moment the person accosted may be much interested in another article, and the interruption is anything but welcome. The first or the fifth or even the tenth interruption of this sort does not matter much, but when it comes to being accosted and led away a hundred times in a day the thing becomes rather monotonous. If you use the chairs, and one of you rides while the other wheels, you will as a rule see the same articles at the same moment.

The ideal way of seeing the World's fair, after all, is not with one's wife, sister, brother, sweetheart, mother or anybody. It is alone. I see this exemplified day after day. Men and women who have come here for a good look through the great exposition travel about together for a few days, and then invent some excuse or other for sneaking away by themselves. In a day or two more they reach a tacit understanding and arrange their programme accordingly. Perhaps they go to the fair together and enter one of the big buildings, having a rendezvous at a certain point at a certain hour. Then they separate and each puts in the time according to his taste. The trouble about hunting in pairs is that no two persons have the same taste, and where one wants to stop and look a long time or perhaps ask questions the other is for hurrying along. This produces a certain spiritual friction which interferes with the enjoyment of the occasion. I have some very good and dear friends here, but whenever it is possible I get away from them for an hour or two and enjoy myself all alone. It is always advisable to meet after a time, especially at the luncheon hour.

There are restaurants on the grounds in which it is a delight to sit down and eat. They are on the roofs of the big buildings, or in places where good views of the grounds and of the crowds may be had. One such place that is very popular is the roof garden of the Women's building. Another is on the top of the Transportation building above the marvelous golden door. Still another is the restaurant or Casino, where there is a magnificent view of Lake Michigan, the pier, and of the sublime central court. This Casino is at the southern end of the peristyle, and visitors who enter it will be amazed at its great size and its magnificence. Seen at a little distance it seems a rather small structure. You would say the number of persons who may be fed at one time would be measured by hundreds instead of by thousands. But it is like everything else in this exposition, very deceptive as to its dimensions. When you get to it or within it, you for the first time realize how vast it is, how tall and exultant, and how it is said 4,000 persons may be seated at tables and served in it at one time.

Most visitors have heard of the Casino as the place where extortion is practiced, where outrageous prices are charged for food and drink. I went in there the other day with a friend expecting to spend about $4 for a modest luncheon. But the bill of fare was a revelation. A careful look through it failed to discover a single charge that could be considered exorbitant, as prices in a city go. Soups, for instance, were 20 to 30 cents a portion, and for luncheon one portion is enough for two persons. The roasts of beef, mutton, etc., were from 50 to 60 cents each, and the portions large at that and of good quality as well. One may have a small steak for 50 cents and coffee for a dime, with bread and butter. A sirloin steak for two, with onions, is $1.25, not an exorbitant price, by any means. My friend and I had a very enjoyable luncheon, with two kinds of meat and a salad, for $1.40. We felt the waiter a dime and went out feeling that we had done very well for six shillings each. We could have made the cost even less had we been willing to take one portion of meat, quite enough for two if you are not voracious, and for that we should have had to pay 10 cents extra on account of its being served to two persons.

At some of the other restaurants the prices are even lower than at the Casino, for it is at this place that the swell people go and rates are supposed to be high. The truth is, so far as I have been able to discover from personal observation and from inquiry of a great many people, this talk of extortion has little foundation. There certainly is no extortion within the grounds. In some instances high prices may be charged for meals or rooms without the grounds, but in view of the fact that competition is fierce for customers and plenty of places existing where one may have what he wants at reasonable cost it is not his own fault if he permits himself to be imposed upon more than one meal.

But above all do not try to be economical in the wrong way. The wrong way is to think you can come here for two or three days and see a satisfactory view of the fair. If you attempt this, and run your legs off in endeavoring to carry out your programme, you will defeat the very object you have in view, which is pleasure and education. It is a fair worth spending both time and money to see, and to see well and leisurely. ROBERT GRAVES.

A Cruel Joke.

NORWALK, Conn., June 6.—Chief of Police Wallace Dunn has under surveillance several young men of this city who are suspected of having entered a window at Miss Cornelia F. Baird's institute on Orchard street, a few evenings ago, and having placed a live snake in the bed of one of the young ladies at the house. When the occupant of the room prepared to retire, she was so frightened that she went into hysterics, and it was a long time before she recovered.

List of the Names of the Members of the Jury.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 6.—At 11 o'clock yesterday Chief Justice Mason and Associate Justices Blodgett and Dewey were in their room, and two or three minutes later District Attorney Knowlton and ex-Governor Robinson walked in and sat down with them.

At just 11:30 o'clock the door was swung open from the inside, and the tall forms of the three gray-bearded and gray-headed justices appeared, and they stepped to their stations on the bench. Chief Justice Mason was in the center, Judge Blodgett on his right hand and Judge Dewey on his left.

Next to Judge Dewey sat Rev. M. C. Julian of the Trinitarian church of New Bedford, who was to make the opening prayer.

As the judges entered the assemblage arose, and Sheriff Wright shouted "Court." Then a deputy repeated the formal announcement of the opening of the case, commencing with the words "Hear ye, hear ye, hear ye," and closing with the prayer, "God save the commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Then everyone arose again, and Mr. Julian offered the opening prayer. He did not mention the defendant or the particular case on trial, petitioning only for wisdom to direct the sitting of the court. District Attorney Knowlton addressed the court: "May it please your honors," he said, "the attorney-general finds it impossible.

By Reasons of Ill-Health, to appear and conduct this case. He has suggested, and I have concurred in the suggestion, that William H. Moody, the present district attorney of Essex county, act with the attorney of this district, and with your consent he will do so."

Mr. Knowlton, after waiting a moment, went on: "The defendant on trial is Lizzie Andrew Borden. She is charged on an indictment of two counts with the murder of Andrew Jackson Borden and Abby Durfee Borden. I have the honor to move that a jury now be impaneled for the trial of this case."

Clerk Borden then told Miss Borden that the jury was to be impaneled, and that if she wished to challenge any of those who appeared, she must do so herself as they were called. She would be allowed 22 peremptory challenges, and others for cause.

Lawyer Jennings went to Lizzie's side and the examination of the jury commenced.

The following is the list of jurymen: George Potter of Westport, William F. Dean of Taunton, John Wilbur of Somerset, R. C. Wilbur of Raynham, Lemuel B. Wilbur of Easton, William Westcott of Seekonk, Lewis B. Hodges of Taunton, A. Swift of New Bedford, Frank C. Cole of Attleboro, John C. Finn of Taunton, C. J. Richards, foreman, of North Attleboro. Allan H. Wordel of Dartmouth.

QUITE AN OPPOSITION was developed at the Council hearing last evening on the petition of the Quincy & Boston street railway for a change of location that its cars might not cross the Old Colony at grade on Water street and there was a determination on the part of the remonstrants to solve the whole question at once and compel the street railway to help work to that end. If there is to be an overhead or underneath bridge on Water street they desire that the railway retain its present location. If Marsh street is to be extended to Water street which seems a feasible solution then the railway should take that route, and no doubt it would suit them to a T. If only the West Quincy trade was desired a location on School street and a new street to Water street would be very direct and free from bad grades. The Franklin street people have no real grievance as the Quincy street railway system will be continued to Braintree in a few months, perhaps before the new location asked could be built.

To retain the assistance of the street railway in abolishing the grade crossing is wise and desirable. Both railroads would then be anxious to bring it about, and the date would not be far off. We recognize that the crossing is dangerous and unpleasant to passengers, and can see also how it is rough on cars and might cause them to lose their power at an inopportune time. The street railway has done much for the city and what is for the good of the public should not be retarded, but first abolish the crossing.

WE REGRET very much to hear of the financial embarrassment of the Potter Publishing Company, which issues the New England Magazine. It is an excellent publication, and a representative one, and had the appearance of success.

THE HOLYOKE experiment of mounting its police patrol on bicycles has its advantages in a sparsely settled territory which a few men are expected to cover. The officers can go over the routes often, and if they detect a firebug or burglar, stand a better show of overtaking him.

KILLED ON RAILROAD.

An Unknown Man Run Over Near Quincy and Braintree Line.

Persons walking on the railroad tracks between South Quincy and Braintree Monday night stumbled over the body of a man near Capens bridge just over the Braintree line. The authorities were notified and the body taken to Undertaker Hall's rooms in Quincy.

The body is that of a man about 45 years,
5 feet, 6 inches tall and weighing 100 pounds. Dark hair tinged with gray, heavy whiskers and mustache tinged with gray. He wore a dark coat and vest, light pants with gray stripe, custom made congress shoes and a straw hat. On his right arm was the figure of a woman in India ink and on the left arm a shield, cannon and the stars and stripes. The only thing in the man's pocket was a piece of tobacco and some matches.

The injuries to the body were a long deep cut on the side of his face near the nose, his right arm was cut off near the elbow, and the right leg was cut off just above the knee. The lower part of the body was also cut in horrible manner.

It is not known just what train killed
the man but it is supposed he was struck by the 9.10 outward train due at Braintree at 9.42.

The rooms were well filled at both performances: quite a sum was realized, which will be added to the organ fund.

ing the Southern District Court of Norfolk,

the city of Newburyport may acquire the agreed to without debate, and the bill was then engrossed.

TOO MUCH BUSINESS.*City Council Found it Necessary to Adjourn until Tonight.*A LENGTHY HEARING GIVEN*On the Petition for a Change of Location in South Quincy.

The City Council is getting up considerable steam for hot weather, that it may get through with its business and adjourn for the summer. The hearing on the petition of the Quincy & Boston Street Railway for a change of location that it may run through School and Pleasant streets instead of Franklin and Water, occupied so much time that it was found necessary to continue it until tonight, when there will also be another hearing on a change of location on Hancock street. There is other business of importance which is also pending.
The only absence Monday evening was Councilman Adams. There was a large attendance of citizens, mostly interested in the hearings.

Gold Bonds.

A communication was received from the Mayor requesting authority to pay the principal and interests on bonds in gold.

Petitions.

Petitions were received from W. H.
Pierce for innholder's license; John H.
Wales, for common victualler's; to sell fireworks from Everett S. Gilpatrick; Ella
M. Freeman, McGovern Bros; to sell naphtha from John W. Nash; intelligence office, Emeline Hewins; carriages Joseph T. French; to exhibit the horse Joseph from Hiram Williams; from electric light and Power Co., for location of poles on Independence avenue, Spear street and Bigelow street. To Committee on Streets.

A petition was received from residents of Ward Four recommending that the petition of the Quincy & Boston street railway for location on School and Pleasant streets be granted.

Three petitions were also received from residents of Ward Three and on Pleasant street remonstrating against the granting of said location.

A petition was received from the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for a location on Hancock street for the purpose of straightening its line between Alleyne street and Standish avenue.

From Theodore W. Fowle, for military aid. To Committee on State Aid.

Reports of Committee.

The Committee on License reported orders granting common victualler's license to Mrs. H. H. Conners; to collect junk, to William H. Wallace, Charles H. Kendrick and Thomas H. Hayes; for three carriages, to S. Penniman & Son; to keep and sell gun-powder, to American Powder Co.

The Committee on State Aid reported an order granting Mary Sullivan $4 per month.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass an order appropriating $600 for watering Hancock street from Linden street to the bridge. The order took its second reading, and, under suspension of the rules, the order was passed to be ordained.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass on order appropriating $1,000 for altering the Hose houses in Wards Five and Six. The order took its second reading and was referred to Committee on Ordinances.

The Committee on Sewers and Drains reported an order appropriating $1,200 for a stone drain on Center street, near Granite street. To Committee on Finance.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for the widening of Adams street and calling for a public hearing on the same, June 19.

Street Railway Hearing.

At eight o'clock a public hearing was given on the petition of the Quincy & Boston street railway for a new location on School and Pleasant streets, that the grade crossing of the Old Colony on Water street might be abolished. There were four other petitions relative to this change, one of West Quincy people in favor, and three against, as follows: One of property owners on Pleasant street, one of Joseph H.
Vogel and many others, and one of George
H. Field and many others.

W. G. A. Pattee opened for the company.
He believed all the Council was familiar with the grade crossing. The company has feared the danger there. The Brockton accident had been a serious warning, and there had been others reported by Railroad Commissioners. On the Old Colony there was a down grade from Brain-tree to Quincy Adams and a great speed was acquired. When the location was granted the street railway it was a horse railroad. Now it was an electric road and cars were liable to get stalled on the crossing. They had been, and it was necessary to flag trains. The joining on the crossing was very liable to displace the mechanism of an electric car. Some day a terrible accident will occur if tracks are allowed to remain. The Old Colony consider it dangerous.

There was but one way to avoid it that seemed feasible and that was over the location asked, School and Pleasant streets.
To go by Marsh and Quincy streets would be to use narrower streets with more cars.
Via School and Granite streets was not desirable, particularly as the company wished to go near the Quincy Adams depot.

The railway wanted to wash its hands of all responsibility at the crossing.
In reply to Mr. Foderhen, he understood there was no well defined plan for abolishing entirely the Water street grade crossing.

Councilman Lennan asked if the company knew its tracks on the crossing were not safely laid and was answered by President Graham in the affirmative.

President Graham said the company had endeavored to obtain permission from the Old Colony to make the crossing easier, but the Old Colony would not allow its rails to be cut or grooved. He was of the opinion that the crossing would be abolished in a few years. The law was very favorable to the city, it paying but 10 per cent. of the cost,
where the Railway must pay 65 per cent., and the State 25. He believed the change would save time in making the trip to West Quincy. The opposition came from South Quincy people who did not patronize the cars.

George Cahill hoped the good of the public rather than private interest would prevail. The crossing was dangerous and the petition should be granted.

Ex-Councilman Powers favored any change which would take cars off the crossing. West Quincy was unanimous for a change. The crossing was dangerous and uncomfortable.

The time for the other hearing arrived
but it was postponed.

Ex-Councilman Warner representing the St. John's C. L. A. A., favored the change as it would pass the associations hall and be a convenience. He believed both railroads were using all precautions possible at the crossing, but it was dangerous. Their was very little travel over Pleasant street.

Ex-Councilman Pratt favored the change,
as it would remove the track from Franklin street where it was dangerous. There was a down grade there and a speed of 16 miles an hour was often obtained. A fatal accident had occurred. Pleasant street might not be any better. He proposed a location via School and Marsh streets and an extension of Marsh to Water street.
He believed the crossing would ultimately be abolished by that route, and it could be easily done as the Old Colony owned sufficient land abutting its tracks.

Remonstrance.

Henry McGrath appeared for the Pleasant street remonstrants. The greatest danger at the crossing was not to electric cars but to vehicles and pedestrians. If it was to abolish the crossing entirely, Pleasant street would not stand in the way of a public improvement. Pleasant street was one of the few residential streets of South Quincy and the people object to the cars, particularly as the street must be widened,
and all the shade trees and front yards lost. Further the hill into Water street would be dangerous. A better route would be to cross the meadow between School and Water streets. But the crossing would soon be abolished and the electric road should wait and take route made.

Mr. Pattee asked what assurance there was that the crossing would be abolished, and Mr. McGrath replied that there was a general movement by State, the railroad and the people to abolish grade crossings and much had been accomplished.

Ex-Councilman Thompson thought there was good reason for opposing the petition.
The Quincy & Boston had leased this part of its road from the Quincy Street Railway, and with it its obligations. The original stockholders were citizens stirred by public interest. They had not put their money in not expecting a direct return but an indirect benefit and convenience. As a patron he objected to the removal of the service on Franklin street. There were obstacles on the proposed route. The School street bridge was very narrow, only 27 feet. Another part of School street was very narrow. Pleasant street was residential. Narrow street had to be widened where locations were granted street railways. The establishment of the grade crossing must be solved. Believed it would be on the present lines. The whole question should be taken up and not any one part.

George H. Field, an original stockholder, considered the present location very convenient. The change on Water street should all come at once. Electric cars should not be granted a new location.
They had made the crossing safer for everybody than it ever was. Its removal would delay the abolishment of the grade crossing.

Henry H. Faxon hoped the new location would not be granted until the streets were widened to 45 feet, and the Old Colony and the Street Railway should pay the expense. He favored wider streets and opposed grants on narrow streets.

John L. Miller opposed the change. The present location was a convenience to Franklin street people, and to those visiting Faxon park. The crossing will soon be abolished if there is united effort.
There had been no electric car accident at the crossing. The railway was more fearful that it might be called upon to bear part of the expense of abolishing the grade
crossing.

Daniel McCarthy remonstrated against a location over the School street bridge.
It was dangerous now for children, pedestrians and vehicles, and electric cars would make it more dangerous than the Water street crossing.

E. S. Parker believed it reasonably impossible to have accidents at the crossing with present precaution, and objected to the change in location.
The hearing at this point adjourned until Tuesday evening.

Gold Bonds.

In the Council an order was offered by Councilman Moxon authorizing the City Treasurer to insert in loans authorized this year that they would be paid in gold. The motion was pending when the Council adjourned until Tuesday evening.

Prices of a Stock During a Wall Street Panic

Some idea of the character of Friday morning's speculation may be gleaned from this incident: A well known broker had an order to sell 500 shares of General Electric. When the order was sent to him, the price had already fallen from 80 to 70. By the time he reached the trading post the stock had sold at 58, and he offered his stock at that price without eliciting any higher bid than 53. Unwilling to sell at such a sacrifice he determined to wait a little and turned to execute an order in another stock in an adjacent "crowd." Returning almost directly to the General Electric post, he heard somebody bidding "nine for a hundred." He disposed of his 500 shares at "nine" and was astonished to learn that he was selling them at 69 instead, as he supposed, at 59, and the stock kept on jumping until it crossed 80.—New York Herald.

The President's Summer Home.

"Belvoir," the house in the suburbs of the national capital which President Cleveland has leased for his summer home, has an interesting history. General Winfield Scott selected the place as the site for the soldiers' home, but it was not secured, as no agreement could be arrived at with the owner. Francis Scott Key, author of the "Star Spangled Banner," spent many years of his early life at "Belvoir," and Presidents Van Buren, Tyler and Buchanan each spent several seasons there. Baron Gerault, the German minister at Washington about the time of the Mexican war, also made "Belvoir" his summer residence.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Boston, June 6.—There was a terrible fatality in a shaft of the metropolitan sewer on Alford street, Charlestown, near the Mystic river, at 1:15 o'clock this morning.

Overcome by Foul Air.

Successful Burglars.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., June 6.—Burglars visited this place at an early hour yesterday and made quite a successful raid. At the house of Jonathan Nichols, on Salem street, entrance was gained by forcing a collar window. Here they forced open an old chest and secured $300 in cash and a gold watch. Mr. Nichols is 93 years old and was in the habit of keeping his money in this chest instead of in the bank. The chest also contained a lot of valuable papers, but they were left behind by the thieves.

THE MANCHESTER MURDER.

Correio Pleads Not Guilty—The Case Continued Until June 15.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 6.—Jose Correio was arraigned before Judge John C. McDonough in the second district court yesterday, charged with homicide in causing the death of Bertha M. Manchester. Through the interpreter he entered a plea of not guilty, and announced himself ready for trial.

Assistant Marshal Fleet asked for a continuance on the part of the government, as many of the officer's important witnesses were in New Bedford attending the Borden trial. The case was continued until Thursday, June 15.

The district courtroom was crowded with spectators, all anxious to obtain a glimpse of the prisoner. He entered the courtroom a few minutes after 9 o'clock in charge of Steward Leonard. He was dressed as he was on the night of his arrest, wearing a light colored coat, a dark vest and pants. He was pale and haggard, and evidently fully realized his position. His eyes moved nervously around the crowded courtroom, and as Judge McDonough entered the room and the court officer announced "Court!" there was a perceptible twitching of his face and his eyes became riveted on the judge. His case was the first called, and Dr. Dutra, a local physician, acted as interpreter and translated to the prisoner the rather lengthy charge. He listened attentively throughout its reading, and at its conclusion smiled faintly and pleaded not guilty. Upon the government's request for a continuance, the prisoner was committed without bail to await his trial. Manuel Souci, the principal witness for the government, was held in $3000 bonds.

THE LITIG MURDER.

No Arrests Yet Made of the Suspected Persons.

NATICK, Mass., June 6.—The murder of Jacob Littig is still on the list of mysteries which seem to be growing daily. The police of Natick and Wellesley are not yet possessed of enough evidence to warrant an arrest. What they have got they refuse to divulge.

Chief of Police Colburn and another officer drove to South Natick last evening to see if anything new could be found and to help the Wellesley officers, who will be the ones to make the arrests, as the murder has been decided to have been committed in their district.

Some of the officers here think that arrests should have been made of the suspected persons right after the crime. They are inclined to talk freely of the matter, but think now that nothing will be done unless a new clue is found. One of them declared that the old scents had been allowed to grow too cold.

A Daylight Robber.

LYNN, Mass., June 6.—One of the most daring daylight robberies happened here yesterday. Edith Hutchins, who resides at 25 Smith street, left the house a few minutes to go on an errand. When she returned she discovered that the house had been ransacked from top to bottom. Evidently the thief had gained entrance through a rear window unobserved by the neighbors. He found a pocketbook containing $42, which he took. He was probably frightened away, as some of the silver was laid scattered around. The police have no clue to the perpetrator.

Railway and Its Employees Exonerated.

BOSTON, June 6.—The West End street railway motemen were exculpated by Justice Ely in the municipal court on account of causing the deaths of Minnie Star 7 years old and Jeremiah Donovan, 70 years of age, who were killed by electric cars. The results of the inquests into the cause of the death of the victims were made known yesterday by the court, and he finds that the railway company and its employees are not to blame.

A Statement Denied.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 6.—The statement that Rev. Charles S. Munkland, the pastor of the Franklin Street church in this city, who has been called to the presidency of the State Agricultural college, had tendered his resignation preparatory to accepting the management of the Durham institution, is incorrect. He has not resigned and has not accepted the presidency of the college.

The Work of an Incendiary.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 6.—James Sargent, owner of a fine steam launch on Lake Massabasic and proprietor of a cottage at that resort, awoke yesterday to find the steamer burned to the water's edge, some miscreant having set fire to it during the night. The steamer was valued at $1500 and was insured for $500. No clue to incendiary.

May Now Go Free.

GLoucester, Mass., June 6.—The Dominion authorities have imposed a fine of $1100 upon the owners of the schooner Lawrence A. Munroe of this port, recently seized at the Magdalen Islands for violation of the fisheries and customs laws. The owners have forwarded the amount and the vessel will soon be released.

Publishers Make an Assignment.

SALEM, Mass., June 6.—An assignment has been recorded at the Essex County courthouse from Isaac J. Potter and John M. Potter, doing business under the firm names of Potter & Potter and the Amesbury Publishing company, to W. A. Clark, jr., of Boston, for the benefit of their creditors.

Death of an Old Police Officer.

LYNN, Mass., June 6.—William S. Waitt, 70 years of age, died yesterday at his residence on Park street of cancer in the throat. Mr. Waitt was one of the first men to be appointed on the Lynn police force, and he held that position for many years. Of late he has been in the express business.

Yale Athletes Chose a Captain.

NEW HAVEN, June 6.—At a meeting of the Yale Track Athletic association yesterday, Dean B. Lyman of Salt Lake City was chosen captain for the coming year. He is a member of the junior class and will assume charge of the work of the Yale athletic team at the beginning of the fall term.

A Painter's Fatal Fall.

BOSTON, June 6.—William Murphy, 35 years of age, a painter, while at work on a staging painting the house 370 West Broadway yesterday, suddenly fell from the staging to the ground and received a fracture of the skull, which resulted fatally before the arrival of a doctor.

Fell Into a Boiling Vat.

BOSTON, June 6.—Early this morning William Cooley, a night watchman in Houghton's brewery on Station street, Roxbury, fell into a large vat of boiling beer and was terribly burned. He was removed to the city hospital.

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in about two weeks. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize. Full particulars will be announced about June 17.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGHES NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore,

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can yet be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

MOODY'S ARGUMENT.

A Denouement Which Caused Lizzie to Weaken.

THE SKULLS OF THE DEAD

Likely to Make Their Appearance In the Case.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 7.—Lizzie Borden was promptly in her seat a full five minutes before the ringing of the bell announced the opening of the second day of the great trial. The jurors followed immediately upon her advent.

Clerk Borden called the roll of the jury, and then proceeded to read with great solemnity the bill of indictment returned by the grand inquest. His closing injunction was impressive. "To each of the counts in this indictment, gentlemen, Lizzie Andrew Borden, the prisoner at the bar, has heretofore pleaded that she was not guilty, and for trial she has proposed to show by its witnesses in support of the indictment false. He is listened to with profound attention.

A. J. JENNINGS.

District Attorney Moody quickly rose, buttoning his coat tightly around him, and advanced to the front of the panel. He began the opening of the case for the Commonwealth at about 9:10. His address was a plain, simple matter of presentment of what the Commonwealth proposed to show by its witnesses in support of the indictment found. He was listened to with profound attention.

There was intense interest when Mr. Moody described the dress which Lizzie wore that morning, as seen by Dr. Bowen and Mrs. Churchill, and a sensation when, holding up a blue overdress dotted with white, which she declared they had received some days after the murder. The attorney said, with startling distinctness: "And this, gentlemen, is not the dress." There was no diminution of interest when the district attorney, alluding to the fact that on Saturday night, after the murder, Mayor Coughlin of Fall River told Lizzie that she was suspected of the murder, and following this came the burning of the dress, "so covered with paint," Miss Russell said, "I'm afraid, Lizzie, the burning of that dress was the very worst thing you could have done." "Oh, why did you let me do it?"

The Denouement Came when District Attorney Moody held up a wicked-looking little axe blade, a handless hatchet. "The break in the eye of the hatchet is a fresh break," gentlemen. The length of those wounds was just 3 1/2 inches. The length on the blade of this hatchet is just 3 1/2 inches." The effect was electrical. There was a startled "Ah!" from the benches. Lizzie lay back, with her face very pale, against the back rail of the dock.

Mr. Moody's voice sank to a whisper as he closed his case, and he was up, hardly uttered the words: "And the time for idle rumor is past; it is for you now to do your duty upon the law and the evidence."

When Rev. Mr. Jubb and Mr. Jennings hastened over to the prisoner the girl's strength seemed to have utterly failed her. Mr. Jubb brought her water, and both himself and Mr. Jennings fanned her for several minutes. But the girl did not faint; hers is not the temperament that can. There was an evident exercise of her admirable will power, and again she sat erect.

District Attorney Knowlton called for the skulls. Dr. Dolan had come in with an ominous looking large black grip-sack, and, with the impression that he was about to disclose his ghastly charges, the ever-wrought nature of the girl for the moment gave way. She Narrowly Escaped Swooning.

The bag was not opened. It is understood, however, that the surmise is correct and that the dismembered heads of Lizzie Borden's parents are in the black bag. It was this, and not the axe blade, that produced the startling effect upon the girl, but the matter was not understood until after the recess had been taken.

It is surmised that these unbecoming members of the decapitated dead will sooner or later make their appearance in the case if permitted by the court.

Then followed the presentation of details of engineer's measurements and plans. Mr. Moody's opening occupied one hour and 50 minutes. It was a very forceful presentation of the story of the homicide from the government side. "We ask you," he said, "if upon any reasonable hypothesis this murder can be explained other than upon the guilt of this woman at the bar."

The testimony regarding the burning of the dress is entirely new. It was withheld from the grand jury and was not put in before Judge Blaisdell.

The jury departed for Fall River at 11:30 and Messrs. Moody and Jennings accompanied it. An adjournment was then had. The jurors spent the afternoon in Fall River.

The Jury at Fall River.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 7.—The Borden jury arrived in the city from New Bedford at 12:30 o'clock. The jurymen were in charge of the deputies assigned in New Bedford. Plans of the premises and surroundings were brought along. About 12:30 o'clock the jury walked to the Borden house and were admitted with the four men who had charge of them. Accompanying them into the house were District Attorneys Knowlton and Moody, Mr. Robinson and Mr. Jennings.

After the jury had examined the lower part of the Borden house, a survey of the adjoining yard was made, the distance from the yard to the fence and the location of the lumber pile, and barn loft visited. The jury filed out from the yard and walked up Second street to Dr. Bowen's house, and other points figuring in the trial were shown and gone over. Passing to Third street, considerable time was spent in Crowe's store, where masons were at work at the time the murder is alleged to have been committed, and the position and distance of the porch in Dr. Chagnon's house, where the doctor's daughter was seated at the time of the murder, was also visited. Every place mentioned in the story of the crime, including the Union bank, were visited. The tour was finished at 4 p. m.

MOODY MERRILL MISSING.

A Prominent Bostonian Who Is Said to Have Left Debts Behind.

BOSTON, June 7.—Hon. Moody Merrill is the man about whom all Boston is talking now. He is the latest to suddenly disappear, leaving a cloud behind him, in the shape of notes overdue, unpaid borrowed money and general financial difficulties. Mr. Merrill has not been in Boston for the past two weeks, and his present whereabouts are a matter of conjecture. When he left he told several conflicting stories, the burden of which seemed to be that he was run down and needed a vacation.

MOODY MERRILL.

Mr. Merrill served three years in the house of representatives and two in the senate. He was noted for his championship of the people's side on every question, and secured the passage of the bill abolishing the state police over the governor's veto.

His greatest achievement was the High-lan road. He was president and made it the best line of transit ever seen in Boston. He also introduced the weekly payment system.

Of the various public improvements with which Mr. Merrill was directly and closely identified none is more conspicuous than Boston's magnificent system of public parks. In 1890 he was the Republican candidate for mayor of Boston, but was defeated by Nathan Matthews, Jr.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

Mystery Surrounds a Mishap to a Boy In a Boston Suburb.

BOSTON, June 7.—A very mysterious and probably fatal accident occurred in a field off of Canterbury street, Jamaica Plain, late yesterday afternoon. Ten-year-old James Mullen left his home on Canterbury street at 4:30 o'clock, and half an hour later officers found the boy lying unconscious in the field a short distance from his home.

He was taken home, and upon making an investigation the physicians found that the lad's skull was fractured. How the accident, if such it be, occurred is not known to the police, and no one can be found by them who saw the lad fall.

Child and Matches.

BOSTON, June 7.—John St. Belmo, 2 1/2 years of age, living at 43 Milford street, was badly burned about the body while playing with matches at his home. He is now at the city hospital in a dangerous condition.

Noted Horseman Suicides.

MONTEPELIER, Vt., June 7.—Enos F. Stevens of East Montpelier, one of the best known horsemen in the state, committed suicide by hanging in his barn.

Brief Mention.

The body of Mila Keenard was found in the river at East Brookfield, Mass.

Milton A. Shumway was nominated for superior court judge in Connecticut.

Lollie Micherri, probably a victim of an assault by "scabs" at Milford, Mass., is dead.

William R. Beag was awarded the valedictory and Arthur L. Wheeler the salutatory at Yale.

A suit has been begun at Boston to prevent publishers from issuing a biography of George H. Corliss.

TROUBLE IS OVER.

World's Fair Difficulties Are Satisfactorily Adjusted.

THE CONTROL OF THE SHOW

Will Hereafter Be Under the Council of Administration.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The long conflict of authority between the national commission and the local directory over the control of the fair was ended today, when the executive committee of the local directory adopted resolutions making Director General Davis a director general in fact, with Director of Construction Burnham his chief executive officer. This action was taken in obedience to an agreement reached at a meeting of a number of the directors at the Chicago club, when the applications of Director General Davis and Director Burnham were considered.

CHINESE THEATER "SHOUTER."

The action of the executive committee of local directors will set at rest the troubles which have attended the administration of affairs in the big show by curtailing and simplifying the details. Hereafter orders to the director general, and to the officials of the fair, presumably under his control, have been issued indiscriminately, and there has been more or less Clashing and Conflict of Authority.

The director general received orders bearing on the same subject from two or three different sources, and frequently found that orders, issued by him to his subordinates, were in direct opposition to those issued by the council of administration, the local directory, the board of control and the national commission. Hereafter the council of administration will direct the control of the fair, and Director General Davis will receive orders direct from that body, and will see that they are carried out.

Two companies of United States infantry will go into camp in Jackson park Thursday, on the plaza between the Manufacturers' and government buildings. They are companies C and F from Fort Snelling, and the purpose of their visit to the fair is to act as guards over the valuable exhibits in the Government building.

BURIED ALIVE.

A Cavein Kills One Child and Seriously Injures Five Others.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Six children were buried alive in Williamsburg last evening. One of them is dead, the others are badly injured. The accident happened at 79 and 81 Ewen street, where for the past week workmen have been excavating a vacant lot. The children were playing about the place, when the ground gave way and landed them into the excavation, which is 10 feet deep. They tumbled over one another into the hole in the ground. Several people ran to the rescue, but were powerless to help the little ones.

Assets Exceed Liabilities.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The Great locomotive works filed a voluntary assignment in the county court to W. K. Ackerman and James Wilson. The liabilities are placed at $410,000 and the assets at $1,150,000, of which $857,000 is in the plant at Chicago.

Faith In Old Directors.

PARIS, June 7.—A boisterous meeting of the Suez canal shareholders was held in this city. Darier, Pegiboux, Wilson, Lamb, Ferdinand and Charles de Lesseps, retiring directors, were re-elected.

'Twas a Maine Man.

QUEBEC, June 7.—The body of a man who committed suicide here by hanging has been identified as that of William J. Bailey of Pittsfield, Me.

Northern and eastern beef cattle—There was a fair supply with the quality of the stock very good. Drivers were asking last week's prices, but owing to the heavy receipts at Chicago buyers would only offer within about 5c per lb as much. Some of the drovers threatened to ship their stock back to the country unless they could receive better prices. The few cattle that were sold were at a decline of from 1c to 1 1/2c per lb lower than last week.

Milk cows and springers—There was a fair supply, with a slow demand. Buyers were conspicuous by their absence. Speculators bought a few choice cows.

Veal calves—The supply exceeded that of last week. There was a fair demand, and notwithstanding the efforts of the drovers to secure stronger prices than those of last week no material change was noted. Slaughterers claimed that the quality of the offerings would not warrant any advance in values, and a clearance was effected with no quotable change.

Sheep and lambs—The arrivals were sent to the slaughter houses to be slaughtered and sold on commission. The receipts were in the main from the western states, but were not offered for sale on the market. A fair supply of spring lambs is expected from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont next week.

Pigs—Values are quoted at 9c per lb, dressed weight.

Western beef cattle—The home slaughterers' demand was light. About 400 head of the arrivals were for export trade.

Riders of Victor Pneumatics carry an extra inner tube to be used in case of accident. By simply removing a punctured inner tube through a hole in the rim, repair is effected in five minutes by replacing with a new one.

IN THE SENATE, Tuesday, the stock water bill was referred to the next General Court. Senator Merrill, as a member of the special committee, explained that he was in favor of the legislation, but coming in at so late a time in the session it could not be given the consideration to which it is entitled. Unless the body was willing to sit another month it was useless to take up the questions. As a member of the committee, if the legislation had come in early in the session, with a few amendments, he would be pleased to vote for the bill. No interest, he claimed, would suffer inconvenience, or fraud or wrong, if this matter was referred.

THE RAPID TRANSIT bill was engrossed by the House on Tuesday by a vote of 104 to 84. Representatives Graham, Hammond and Worthen of this district all voted in favor, and the former a member of the rapid transit committee spoke in favor of the bill because it was, he said, in the interests of the greater Boston.

THE STREET Railway company said at the Council hearing that they had no right to pass over the meadow between School and Water street, but it could be easily overcome by petitioning the Council to lay out a street. They could hold out sufficient inducements to have it done.

This special privilege will last only until October 1, and is not promised but for one year. ### MILTON.

The Body of a Suicide Found off Squantum Street.

Boys on the way to go in bathing about 5 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, found the body of a man in the bushes back of the Lucas estate, off Squantum street, East Milton. The man was about 65 years of age and was evidently a sailor. From appearances he had hung his coat upon a tree and then placed a 22 calibre revolver to his right eye and fired, the ball entering his brain. The revolver was found near the body.

The man was well dressed and upon each hand was a full rigged ship in India ink.

Medical examiner Sturdevant, of Hyde Park, was notified.

SUPT. ALLEN HEARD

He Appeared at Council Hearing and Said Water Street Crossing

WAS MOST DANGEROUS ON ROAD

Several Remonstrants However Appear in Opposition to the Relocation Asked.

The adjourned meeting of Tuesday evening was devoted mostly to a continuance of the hearing for a relocation of street railway tracks at South Quincy, and might have been prolonged until midnight had a time limit not been set by vote. The hearing for a relocation on Hancock street, was opened but continued until next Monday evening. Councilman Adams, Drake, Federhen and Owens did not respond at the roll call, but Mr. Federhen came in before adjournment.

The Councilmen and City Hall officials are under obligations to Caterer Wales for a complimentary treat of delicious ice cream, for which the LEDGER is requested to return thanks.

Gold Bond.

The resolution of Councilman Moxon that the Treasurer be authorized to pay principal and interest on bonds of orders number 8, 9, 109, 56 and so on, in gold, was passed.

Locations of Poles.

The Committee on Street reported an order granting a location of poles for incandescent lights on Atlantic, Granite and Kent streets, which was ordered to a second reading.

Allowed to Connect.

Under suspension of the rules, the order granting the Manet street railway a location on Hancock street to connect its tracks with the Quincy and Boston, was taken up and under suspension of the rules was passed to be ordered.

The Continued Hearing.

At 7.45 the hearing on the relocation of street railway tracks at South Quincy was continued.

Lawyer Pattee presented Superintendent Allen who reviewed the situation briefly, but was cross questioned at length by Councilmen and others. He said that grade crossings were dangerous, and that it was more dangerous where there were electric cars than horse cars, as power frequently gave out. The Old Colony had had one serious accident at Brockton, and some narrow escapes at Water street. Fully one hundred trains were run here each way daily. It was true that there was a gate man and all possible precaution was taken, but power had failed and trains had been brought to a standstill. Hoped within a year to have much larger suburban traffic by putting in two additional tracks.

Questioned by Councilman Shackley he said the Old Colony would undoubtedly co-operate with the city, and if necessary would widen and strengthen the School street bridge for the electric.

In reply to Councilman Badger he said there were no plans for the abolition of the Water street crossing.

To Councilman Williams he said he knew the street railway rails on the crossing were loose and it was impossible to keep them in good order.

To Councilman Badger—The Water street crossing was more dangerous than that at Dorchester avenue, Boston, because trains were run faster over them.

To Councilman Anderson, he could give no estimate of the cost to raise the tracks from Granite street so as to bridge Water street. Hardly thought it feasible.

To W. H. Doble he said he was not aware that Old Colony was to pay street railway for cost of making the change. Crossing was not abolished because it required time.

To President Graham of the street railway, he said the air brakes did not always hold. Nothing was absolutely sure. The brakes failed in the Brockton case.

To D. C. McCarthy, the signals were undoubtedly set far enough off to stop express trains.

To Councilman Holden, Brockton crossings were being abolished because city had urged it and had co-operated.

To Councilman Moxon, could not tell whether crossing would be abolished by overhead or underneath bridge. Feared that if Water street was bridged that school street must become a grade crossing for it seemed impractical to raise that bridge 15 to 18 feet.

To Henry McGrath, he said he knew no reason why similar frogs could not be put in at Water street as at some other crossing to make riding easier. There was no danger from jostling the cars, but it was uncomfortable for passengers.

To ex-Councilman Fallon, riding across crossing could be made easier. Trains were run over crossing at full speed.

To D. C. McCarthy he explained the signals. If they did not work they failed on the side of danger.

To G. H. Field he finally admitted that Water street crossing, all things considered was the most dangerous on the road, but particularly because of the electric cars there. Old Colony would cooperate with city in paying the cost of abolishing the grade crossing.

To Councilman Moxon, it was a very dangerous crossing.

To Superintendent Weeks he said the electric current of the street railway

CURTAIN IS DOWN.

Tragedian Booth Has Left Life's Stage Forever.

THE STORY OF HIS LIFE

Shows a Remarkable Career of Ups and Downs.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Edwin Booth died at his rooms in the Players' club at 1:17 o'clock this morning. The end was peaceful in the extreme. The wonderful vitality which so long has sustained the flame of light gave way, and the light flickered out almost imperceptibly. The end had come almost before those that were watching knew it.

Grouped about the bedside were Mr. Booth's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Grossman; J. H. McGonigle, superintendent of the Players' club and a brother-in-law of Mr. Booth; William Bispham, a close personal friend of the Grossmans, and Charles H. Carry, one of the Players' club house committee.

Mr. Booth's Career.

The evening of Monday, Sept. 10, 1849, saw Edwin Booth's first appearance on the stage. It was at the Boston Museum, and he played the part of Tressel in "Richard III," his father, the great Junius Brutus Booth, taking the leading role. The part of Tressel is a very small one, and young Booth took it quite unexpectedly. He was acting as his father's dresser during the engagement. The stage manager had been cast for Tressel, but he was overworked, tired and almost ill, and he begged young Booth, who finally consented to play the part. The arrangement was made without consulting the father, whose first intuition that his son was to make his professional debut that night was when Edwin appeared in the dressing room costumed as Tressel.

Booth's last appearance on any stage was at an afternoon performance of "Hamlet" at the Brooklyn Park theater, April 4, 1891. Booth's acting was far from strong—the effects of his advancing age and failing powers were plainly visible—yet he was given a veritable ovation by the audience.

Edwin Booth was born in Hartford, Conn., about 30 miles from Baltimore, Nov. 15, 1833. His father, Junius Brutus Booth, was 37 years old then and in the zenith of his fame as an actor. The mother had been, it is said, a flower girl in Covent Garden, London. She was a beautiful woman.

There Were Seven Children, of whom John Wilkes and Edwin were the only two to achieve fame on the stage.

Edwin was more in sympathy with his erratic, morose father than any other of the children, and as soon as he became old enough he accompanied him on all his travels, attending to his personal comfort and watching carefully and constantly to keep him from breaking his engagements or giving way to the intense fits of depression from which he periodically suffered. Thus the boy's early youth was passed in a cheerful atmosphere and his career marked out for him by circumstance.

For two or three years after his almost accidental debut he acted intermittently in his father's company.

In 1852 he went to California. When the news of his father's death reached him it occurred Nov. 30, 1852) he was stranded without money or friends and almost without food in a Nevada mining camp. He finally got back to San Francisco, ragged, worn and weary. Between that time and 1856 he visited Australia and the Sandwich Islands. This whole period was one of misery, many of his journeys being made on foot. He was himself obliged to post the bills that announced his performances. He went hungry often. His road was almost incredibly hard, but he made a triumph out of it, for when he left Frisco early in 1857 or late in 1856 he was given an ovation.

Then he returned to the east and appeared with success in Boston and New York. In 1858 he returned to New York immediately afterward he was fairly started on the High Road to Fame and Fortune by his impersonations of Richard III, Shylock, King Lear, Hamlet and other roles.

It was about this time that he met Mary Devlin, a southern girl of great beauty and an actress of extraordinary talent. They were married in New York July 7, 1859. She immediately retired from the stage. They were ideally happy. Booth next essayed a season in London without great success, and he returned to New York in 1862 to begin his series of representations at the Winter Garden theater, which established him as the greatest living American actor. His "Hamlet" ran for more than 100 nights—a measure of success at that time unheard of. In 1863 his young wife died. For a time he abandoned his profession.

In 1864 Booth again appeared in New York as Hamlet. April 17 of the latter year the assassination of President Lincoln by John Wilkes, his brother, startled the world and engulfed him in a sea of grief and wretchedness. He quit the stage on the very night of this tragedy, intending never to return to it, but the importunities of his friends were so earnest that Jan. 30, 1865, he Again Stepped Upon the Stage. But never since that fatal 17th of April has he played a professional engagement in Washington.

After his re-entry into public life in 1866 Booth was the central figure of a series of magnificent productions at the Winter Garden. When that theater was destroyed by fire he erected the famous Booth's theater. The revivals of "Romeo and Juliet,"

"Richard III," "Julius Caesar" and other great tragedies on its stage mark an epoch in the history of the American drama, but they bankrupted the man who gave them to the public. After his failure Mr. Booth found himself nearly $1,000,000 in debt. This vast indebtedness he has since paid, dollar for dollar, with interest.

The death of his second wife was the culmination of a long series of domestic anxieties. He made another and phenomenally successful professional visit to England, and also scored a triumph in Germany.

His tours with Lawrence Barrett began during the season of 1877-8. From both a financial and artistic standpoint

They Were Wonderfully Satisfactory. The profits on one season were more than $200,000. In 1889 this connection of the two great American actors was rudely interrupted for a time. On the evening of April 3 at Rochester, Mr. Booth was suddenly stricken with an illness which it was thought at first would prove fatal. But Booth rallied and acted many times after that.

The first real manifestations of Booth's decadence appeared during the winter of 1890-1 while he was playing with Barrett in New York. It was evident that his powers were failing, and the death of Barrett, sudden and unexpected as it was, was the final blow which broke the tragedian's strength.

Booth loved solitude, admitted few friends to intimacy and lived as quiet a life as his profession would admit. To his generosity the Players' club owes its beautiful home on Gramercy park in New York city.

Later Mr. Booth had lived in Lake-wood, N. J., where he owned a beautiful home. It was there that the general breakdown, which eventuated in his death, first manifested itself. Booth was well off and is believed to have left a fortune of more than $500,000.

STEVENS JUSTIFIED.

Commissioner Blount's Opinion of Existing Affairs at Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The steamer Gaelic, from Hong Kong and Yokohama, via Honolulu, brings advices from the latter place up to May 29. It may now be positively said that Minister Blount has come heartily to a prove of the revolution and probably that he justified nearly all of the course of Stevens in it. He has never for an instant thought of restoring the ex-queen or of recommending that it be done, notwithstanding the diligent and persistent assertions of the royalists that he so intended.

Whether he will recommend annexation is not clear. He may possibly take the grounds that it is undesirable on account of the large proportion of non-American population. A royalist rumor now is unusually strong and positive that the ex-queen will be restored on June 11. The government is well advised of the existence of a definite conspiracy among the baser classes of whites to carry out this plan. It seems evident that they have found some source of supplies.

The statement that any new treaty was to be sent on for negotiation at Washington was partially incorrect. The government has been considering certain modifications to be incorporated in a treaty of annexation if such should be concluded. It is said that after the arrival of the mail June, Minister Blount will be prepared to proceed with negotiations looking toward a protectorate, perhaps a temporary arrangement, leaving the way for a treaty of annexation.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 7.—The exercises at West Point for the board of visitors were most interesting. It was the school of the trooper or cavalry drill that was practiced in by 25 cadets, half of the graduating class. Some features of the exercise were thrilling and exciting and there were several miraculous escapes from serious, if not fatal injuries. The exercises consisted of bareback riding, mounting and dismounting while the horses are at a full speed, shooting and striking with sabres at imaginary heads, vaulting over horses, hurdle riding and almost every feat that is possible for a man to perform on horseback.

BRIDGET ON THE STAND.

Possible For an Intruder to En-testimony of Bridget Sullivan and "Uncle" John Vinicum Morse were the features of the third day of the Borden case.Under ex-Governor Robinson's astute cross-examination, Bridget contradicted herself and made important points for the defense.That she did not know whether it would have been possible for an intruder to have entered the Borden house during her window washing, without her knowledge; that she had lived two years and nine months in the Borden family and had never heard any quarrelling in the household.From the testimony of Thomas Kieran, John V. Morse and Bridget Sullivan the prosecution establish the fact that Mrs.

Borden's dead body, where it lay on the floor of the guest chamber, was in full view of the stairway.The time of Mrs. Borden's death, to be proved byExpert Medical Testimony, and the time of Lizzie's journey upstairs on that fatal morning will be considered of grave importance in the light of this fact.The unimportant testimony of Uncle
Morse and Bridget Sullivan has surprised New Bedford. Most everyone believe that Bridget knew a good deal more than she told at the preliminary hearing and that it would come out, and they are now wondering about it.Now it appears that the principal witness for the government will be Miss Alice Robinson.Lizzie's Intimate Friend.
—At the preliminary hearing it will be remembered that she could not remember anything of any importance. It was evident then that she knew more than she told, and it is intimated now that she will tell what she knows. Whether or not her story of the dress burning will be a strong point is of course problematical.Regarding the story as to the dress which it is claimed was burned, and that it was the dress which Lizzie wore that morning, and not the dress which was shown in court, it may be said that the dress which Mrs. Churchill did see Lizzie wear that morning was worn all through the first hours after the discovery of the tragedy; that it was handled very freely by the ladies who fanned Lizzie and thatNone Noticed Any Blood on It, though the dress was opened to give the girl air.Ex-Governor Robinson's cross-examination of Morse in regard to the poor condition of the spring lock on the front door gave an inkling to the line of defense. It will be solely that there was a possibility of an intruder gaining admission on the night before the murder.Another thing which is causing much interest is what the prosecution will do with Lizzie's statement at the star chamber bearing before the arrest. Many claim that, with the prisoner present to testify, her statement cannot be brought out for the jury. This will be a nice point for the judges to settle.Another peculiar point brought out yesterday was the disclosing of a door up stairs which furnished a passageway between the front and rear portions of the house, which was not supposed to exist.At 4:55 the court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. Dr. Bowen will be the first witness called.

FURNITURE ECONOMY.

We undersell the largest dealers on earth.

If you are interested in a domicile, habitation, house or civilized abode, you'll be interested in this.

A CHAMBER SUIT,

One of many—beautifully finished in antique oak—while they last our price is $16.00.

PARLOR SUITS.

How those "ifs" smash plans. If there had been more sunshine in the months just gone, the parlor furniture manufacturers would not have been overloaded with stock. But the other thing happened, and today they offer suits at just what they cost, to reduce their surplus. One of these we are now selling at $45.00; six pieces, upholstered in the best of Mohair Sultan Plush, colors to suit your own ideas. Every piece made with a spring edge and solid walnut frame. This suit would be cheap at $60.00. Other suits in great variety.

$35.00 to $80.00.

REFRIGERATORS.

No house is fully equipped without one. This is a world of worry and waiting, but notwithstanding the backward season we have been doing a rattling business in Refrigerators. Of course there isn't much money in selling the Eddy Refrigerators at 20 per cent. discount from the manufacturers' list, but that's our price and it pleases our customers immensely. They net in price from

$5.20 to $25.00.

OIL STOVES.

Why not live with ease and comfort. No wood to cut, no coal to bring.—Our liberality in the oil stove business seems almost absurd.

One Burner Oil Stoves, 59c.

Three " " " $1.87

BABY CARRIAGES.

The people know our policy, and the result has been that we have sold Baby Carriages enough to start a small brigade. The reason is simple—we carried the prices to suit. Today our line is yet complete, and we offer greater bargains in Baby Carriages than you ever dreamed of.

$3.95 to $25.00.

Summer Cottage Furniture,

Neat, attractive and durable, in great variety.

CARPETS AND MATTINGS.

They roll in and they roll out of our store with wonderful rapidity. Of course it seems unusual to find a line of carpets at home just to suit you in price and style. That's the funny part of it. We buy direct from the mills and save you the jobber's profit. This enables us to sell a seamless matting at 20 cents, others at from 15 cents to 40 cents. Carpets at 22 cents to 85 cents per yard.

THE FOURTH OF JULY

Should It Not Be Celebrated at Houghs Neck?

THE CARPENTERS UNION BALL.

A Narrow Escape from Drowning—Other Beach Items of Interest.

The Carpenters' and Builders' Union of Manet beach, held their first annual ball in Harvey's Hall Tuesday evening. A goodly number of the shaving makers were present and all seemed to enjoy themselves hugely. The hall was elaborately decorated and excellent music was furnished by the Houghs Neck Symphony Orchestra.

Supper was served at the usual hour and each, after seeing his best girl home, turned in for the night.

The David Crockett fish market is stripped and will receive a coat of paint.

For the first time this season, a yacht was anchored off Wreck buoy, in West Gut fishing. The fish to all appearances biting very well.

Mr. Harvey's little son Guy, while playing on the club float in some unaccountable way fell into the water. But for the prompt assistance of the Vinton boy, the consequences might have been serious. As it is, Guy seems none the worse for his first swim.

Most of the newly built houses and some of the old ones are receiving a coat of beach colors, light with red roofs.

As yet, few letters are received for the beach people. Capt. Boyd is taking his vacation now. He says his work begins when their vacation commences.

Don't forget the news box at the post office. If you wish to express your views on the water question now is your opportunity.

It is said.

That the Fourth of July may be celebrated in style at Houghs Neck.

That it is a good idea as no other part of Quincy will.

That people would be attracted in large numbers from all the surrounding towns.

That it would be a big day for the street railway and the hotels.

That the season will be at its height then.

That contributions will come easy.

That the DAILY LEDGER will help.

That there should be a yacht race, sports, band concerts, fireworks, and other attractions.

That an oration may be omitted.

That a wide awake committee should be selected at once.

That it has been shown in the past that we have good timber.

That there are less than four weeks in which to make arrangements.

WEYMOUTH.

At a meeting of the board of selectmen Monday the commission of Joseph P. Ford of East Weymouth as special police was revoked. Ford was originally appointed as special as janitor of a public hall and as the selectmen have refused to grant Messrs. Garey and Fay, the liquor agents, officers Ford has been employed to serve the warrants for them. The selectmen claim that Ford was not appointed for that purpose, thus the revoking of his commission. At the same meeting Agent Garey put in an application to be appointed a special officer which was refused.

The opening day of the Monaquot yacht club will be held this afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Richards held their first at home at their residence on Commercial street, Wednesday evening. They received a large number of their friends.

A couple of bulldogs entered the pasture of James Ward, on Summer street, Wednesday and killed two young heifers. The cattle were terribly mutilated.

Sale and Entertainment.

The annual sale of the Fragment society opened at the Unitarian chapel, Wednesday afternoon and evening. The attendance in the afternoon was not large, and in the evening it hardly came up to expectations. The many articles on the several tables, which were arranged about the chapel, met with a ready sale. Ice cream, strawberries, and other refreshments were served, and there was a wonderful grab bag.

The entertainment, Wednesday evening, was "Dr. Baxter's Great Invitation," which was given by the young people of the church and received merited applause.

The sale will be continued this afternoon and evening and will close with a musicale under the direction of Mr. James F. Harlow.

ATTRACTIVE SCHOOL YARD.

The Lincoln Has 70 Trees and Shrubs of Many Varieties—Rockeries, Etc.

The LEDGER has noted the improvements being made in the Lincoln school yard but since then many trees and shrubs have been added until there are now 70 in all, and they all look thrifty. On the front and sides the trees are set 20 feet apart and three feet from the line. In the rear there is shrubbery. There are also in the yard two rockeries which will be covered with vines, a circle, a six-pointed star, grass plots, etc.

In addition to the trees and shrubs already noted the following have been added: a syringa, a Japan snow ball, a camellia snow ball, a acuminata magnolia, a pink and white rose of Sharon, a red and white rose of Sharon, two purple leaf barberries, a cut leaf maple, a variegated weigela, a red double flower hawthorne, a yellow flowering currant, two hydrangeas, a cut leaf weeping birch, four white spruce, and two ampelopsis vines to cover the Centre street wall.

To Principal Reed is due the credit of the attractive grounds. He has given it considerable attention and has received the following financial support:

H. M. Faxon,	$5 00
Dr. Sheahan,	$1 00
Edwin W. Marsh,	$1 00
W. G. Cortbell,	$4 00
E. L. Crane,	$3 00
Charles Wilson,	$1 00
James Moodie,	50
George O. Shirley,	50
George W. Brooks,	$1 00
J. W. McNamary,	$1 00
Dr. J. A. Gordon (twelve trees) and $4 00
Martin Pfaffmann two trees,
George H. Field,	$1 00
James Nightingale,	$1 00

There yet remains a small deficiency in the amount required for the above.

It is pleasing to note that the children have caught the idea, and at their homes are to be found several new gardens and trees which they have been instrumental in setting out.

The decoration of the interior of the Lincoln school has also begun. The A grammar class and Mr. W. G. Cortbell have presented a fine steel engraving of Lincoln; the B grammar class have voted a picture, and Mr. Theophilus King has given two $10 pictures.

MR. QUINCY ANALYZED.

The New York Sun Gets Sarcasm at the Expense of our Townsman.

The following from the New York Sun is amusing to say the least:

"Hon. Mr. Quincy is a professor of the science of applied politics, and his demonstrations are cold, calm, and conclusive. It is not true that he contemplates mankind from the dizzy heights of his genealogical tree. He is not arboreal in his habits; he is subterranean. He is captain of the sappers and mines, and his system of mines and countermines is elaborate and strictly scientific."

The Massachusetts mugwumps pass most of their time tumbling into his traps, and yet they do not suspect him. They think he is a guileless young civil service reformer, who worships the approved figure mugwump ideal, whereas, the fact is, he was more than 1000 years old on his 21st birthday, and he is one of the most accomplished and dexterous spoliemen beneath the globe of the moon. He pulled wires in his cradle, and he never let go.

It is right that Josiah Quincy should be the democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts, and we dare say he will consent to start a popular movement in his own behalf. If he decides to nominate himself, nominated he will be.

He is just as clever at politics as if his name were Slattery or Flaherty, but the mugwumps cannot believe that a Quincy should be a common politician. They think a Quincy must have his head in the clouds, and his feet upon rainbows and lunar green cheese.

Quincy would make a business-like canvasser, and probably he could tell on the night before election what his vote would be. Natt Matthews is a lively political manager, and as mayor of Boston he has arranged several spectacular political sensations, but he doesn't represent the vindication of the spoils system as Quincy would. Give the Massachusetts Mugwumps the opportunity to vindicate Josiah and the spoils and the machine. He is a wolf, and every night is his to howl, but the lambs haven't the least suspicion of him.

Saved From Suffering.

The Gratitude of a Lady Cured by Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

DANVILLE, ILL., Oct. 26.
I feel it my duty to express my gratitude for what the Kickapoo Indian Remedies have done for me. I was suffering with Neuralgia, and had to stay up every night for weeks. At last I sent for a bottle of Kickapoo Indian Oil, and in less than ten minutes after application I was relieved. I continued its use and also used Kickapoo Indian Sagwa at the same time until entirely cured.

Many of my friends have used your Remedies for different troubles, and find them to do exactly as advertised. I believe everybody who is suffering should use them, as we are all brothers and sisters in Christ. I will answer any questions as to what with the help of God they have done for me.

Yours respectfully, EVA DE CAMP.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.

The Closing of the Large Shoe Factory Keenly Felt.

BASE BALL GAMES SCHEDULED.

Many Minor Items From This Charming Suburban Village.

North Weymouth people feel keenly the closing of the large shoe factory of Torrey, Bullevant & Co., and that corner which was once the scene of business activity is now as quiet as Sunday and in fact every day is almost like Sunday now, as there are nearly one hundred citizens who go out of town every day for employment.

Some to Quincy and others to other parts of Weymouth, Braintree, Holbrook, Brockton and three go to Campello, a distance of 16 miles, and return home at night. This is made necessary by the closing of this one factory. North Weymouth people think that if there is a Quincy manufacturer who is seeking to locate in Weymouth, that North Weymouth is the place for him to come.

A. E. Jackson has moved his family to Campello.

Edward Coose has moved from Pratt avenue to the tenement recently vacated by Mrs. Buckman on Sea street.

Painter Kennison has just finished painting the handsome residence and stable of Mr. John E. Stoddard on Bridge street.

E. S. Beals Hook and Ladder Co. held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, and W. O. Collier Hose Co., Tuesday evening.

The games of the North Weymouths arranged for this month are June 10, at North Abington; June 17, at home with North Abingtons; and June 24, at home with the Institutes of Weymouth.

The North Weymouth land company report one sale Wednesday. They are also very anxious that the water mains and incandescent lighting wires be extended through their property and in this the Wessagusset Land company are with them heart and hand.

Everybody knows B. Frank Thomas and ought to know that he sells temperance drinks and fine cigars. He has an "ad" in this paper.

The shoe manufacturers of John E. Stoddard, Edward E. Dyer and John A. Holbrook have commenced to shut down Saturday afternoons.

The Eyside house is to open for summer guests next week.

The Bowen house at Fat Point has opened for the season and has its full complement of guests.

For transportation the village of North Weymouth now has better facilities than any other part of Weymouth.

The Century club are to have a strawberry festival in the near future.

In the stores and on the street corners can be found little groups of men discussing the question of whether or not Lizzie Borden is guilty.

One citizen says he rode on the electric to Houghs Neck last Sunday and the trip cost him 30 cents. When he returned home he felt 50 cents worth better and he thought that he made 20 cents by the operation.

Band concerts are a thing in the near future.

Mr. George T. Magee, of the LEDGER staff, who was formerly connected with Weymouth papers, will "scur" the village for news every Wednesday afternoon, and, as he is a wheelman now, will make frequent trips to Weymouth. You will find Weymouth news in every issue, but don't miss the Thursday paper.

MILTON.

The body found on the Emerson estate at East Milton Tuesday afternoon, has been identified as that of Mr. Charles H. Farwell of No. 240 Harvard street, Cambridgeport. He was 55 years of age and employed as a steward in Amherst. He was undoubtedly a case of suicide. He has been in poor health some years, and the death of his brother two weeks ago may have hastened the act.

LARGE ATTENDANCE.

The Financial Success of the Fair Now Fully Assured.

SILVER STATUE UNVEILED.

A Grand Pyrotechnic Display For Eulalie.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The fact that there were 75,000 paid admissions at the World's fair gates yesterday, when no special feature was on the card, and the show closed at night, proves, perhaps, that the exposition has finally become a financial success. The practical completion of the show has greatly contributed to the desired end. The grounds are gradually acquiring that gala appearance so much desired by the officials and so necessary for the success of the fair.

The big attendance was drawn out by the clear skies and the balmy, delightful weather. A great proportion of the visitors were strangers, and the agricultural population was well represented. The Crowds Were Jollier and more festive, and the grounds had more the appearance of a great world's fair.

Secretary of War Lamont visited the grounds after paying his respects to Princess Eulalie.

In honor of the infant today has been set aside as princess day. Eulalie will be escorted by the Chicago Hussars. As she enters the gates a salute will be fired by a battery from Fort Sheridan, stationed inside the grounds. At the administration building breakfast will be served. After the meal the infants will be conducted to the woman's building, where the Spanish section will be opened and an informal reception held.

The royal party will remain on the grounds for the illumination in the evening. A gorgeous and elaborate pyrotechnic display will be given in front of the peristyle in the grand basin. The feature of the display will be a set piece in the form of a portrait of Chicago's royal guest, composed of 20,000 separate pieces of fireworks.

A Magnificent Silver Statue of Columbus was unveiled yesterday in the Gorham manufacturing company's pavilion in Manufacturers hall. There was no ceremony, and but few were present. The statue stands six feet six inches, and is by Bartholdi. Thirty thousand ounces of silver were used in its construction.

FARGO IN FLAMES.

The Loss Already Over $2,000,000 and the End Not Yet.

MOOREHEAD, Minn., June 8.—Half of Fargo, N. D., is in ashes. The fire started at 3 o'clock in a restaurant on Second street. A strong wind was blowing. At 4 o'clock the fire had reached the Great Northern track, 10 blocks north, gutting the entire distance for three blocks east to Broadway. A strong fight was made to prevent the flames crossing to the west side of Broadway, but by 6 o'clock they had crossed in several places. Telegraph wires are all burned,

This suit would be cheap at $60.00. Other suits in great variety.

TELEPHONE, 213-3 QUINCY.

THE SENATE has finally passed the rapid transit bill, after many amendments. One of these was that Boylston street should be widened on the Common side, for which Senator Merrill was with the majority.

SENATOR MERRILL's vote prevented the engrossment on Thursday of the bill to prevent the watering of stock or bonds of gas or electric companies. He was also with the majority in referring to the next general court, the bill to prohibit stock watering by railroad and street railway companies.

THE COST of relocating the street railway at South Quincy over School and Pleasant street increases with each statement, the counsel of the company in his last argument using the figures $7000 to $8,000. If this amount could be used toward paying the city's portion of the cost of abolishing the grade crossing, the city would put in some active work to accomplish that end.

An All-Day Party.

Mr. Alton E. Pratt, and his mother, Mrs. Charlotte F. Pratt, entertained a large number of their relatives, both old and young, from Quincy and adjoining towns Thursday at their residence on Payne street, South Quincy. A very pleasant day was passed, the old folks if anything showing more activity than the young people, and to them it will be remembered as one of the many pleasant events of their life.

Among those present were two uncles and three aunts whose united ages were 392 years. These old people were Mr. Elisha Pratt of Braintree, aged 82 years; Mrs. Sophia Lovell of North Weymouth, aged 80 years; Mr. William Lovell of North Weymouth, aged 79 years; Mrs. William Lovell of North Weymouth, aged 78 years; and Mrs. Eliza Pratt of East Weymouth, aged 73 years.

Woodward Will Hearing.

There will be a hearing in the Supreme court next Tuesday, on the Woodward will, on the points raised by the city of Quincy, published in the LEDGER some weeks ago. Dartmouth college will be represented by able counsel, who will doubtless fight for a strict interpretation of the will, which imposes some unreasonable conditions upon the city of Quincy. If Quincy is to have the institute it must be opened within a year.

The Gypsy Moth.

A citizen brought into the office today some strange insects which closely resemble the much dreaded gypsy moth and are thought to be them. They came by the thousands all in one night, and first attacked a black walnut tree at his residence.

Efforts will be made to ascertain if it is the gypsy moth. It is to be hoped that the city is not to suffer from their ravages.

PROVING POPULAR.

A Description of the New Game of Basket Ball

INTRODUCED BY THE Y. M. C. A.

And Played Twice a Week at Merry Mount Park.

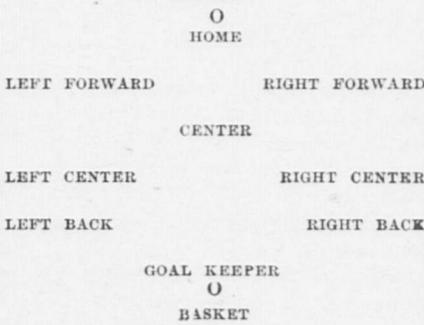

Our readers who are interested in athletic games will be interested in a description of the new and fascinating game of Basket Ball, which has been introduced here by the Young Men's Christian Association.

The game was invented by Mr. James Nasmyth, an instructor in the physical department of the International Y. M. C. A. Training school at Springfield Mass., about three years ago. It was first intended for an indoor game to be played in the gymnasium. It can be played to even better advantage however, out doors. To-day it is one of the most popular games in existence, being played in all parts of North America in the Association gymnasiums, on the athletic grounds, in many of the gymnasiums connected with the female colleges, and also in the schools for physical training.

It can be adapted to a room or field of any size. Two baskets or nets from fifteen to thirty inches in diameter, according to the area of the floor or ground, are suspended about ten feet from the floor. These constitute the goals. The game is played with an association football. The object of the game is to put the ball into the opponent's goal.

The Diagram Below

Will show the position of the players.

The game itself is one of passing the ball from one player to the other. Either hand, or both hands can be used in holding the ball, and it must either be thrown or batted with the open hand, a punch with the fist or arm or a kick constituting a foul. This game differs also from football in that no player is allowed to run with the ball, but must stand where it is caught, and a fair catch can be made only with the hands. A player may however throw it and endeavor to get it again, but he must throw it higher than his head. Again he may bound it in front of him as he runs, or dribble it with his hand along the ground.

If the Ball is Held

for an unnecessarily long time the umpire takes possession of it and puts it "in play," by throwing it into the air, no player being allowed to touch it until it has reached the ground.

If a ball goes out of bounds, it is put in play as in football, and no player is "off side," but every player has the right to touch the ball anywhere or everywhere in the game, providing the ball is in play.

No pushing, tripping, shoving or tackling is allowed, and every such offence is counted a foul, which gives one point to the opposing nine.

As a goal counts but three points and a foul one, there is every incentive to avoid rough play.

The players advance a ball by tossing it to some member of their own nine.

The "forwards" and "centres" usually toss the ball forward; but when it gets dangerously near his own goal, the goal keeper often bats it with the open palm. It requires a great deal of practice to put the ball in the goal. Not alone must a player be skillful, he must be very lively.

Team Play Counts

a great deal in basket ball. The two forward and the home players should always work together to get the ball into the goal.

Those back, guard the goal, and the centre players are supposed to get the ball and pass it forward toward the home player. There is a good deal of "snap" to this game, and usually it is played in two halves of 15 minutes each, with a slight intermission. When the goal is reached the game goes right on.

One advantage of "basket ball" is that it can be played at all seasons. Tennis is often played on covered courts as well as in the open air, but, at the most, four can play. Basket ball can be played by persons whose physique is not of the robust type, and it seems as safe and harmless as any other game of this kind.

The game is played every Saturday afternoon on the association grounds in Merry Mount Park, commencing at 8.30. This is one of the most beautiful spots in the park, near the beach, and is a pleasant place to spend an afternoon watching this interesting game. The Juniors play every Wednesday at 4 o'clock.

A FAIR MAID OF WALTHAM.

Becomes the Wife of a South Quincy Young Man on Wednesday.

The Waltham Free Press says, "Another of those home events of which there have been so many in this city during the present year, occurred Wednesday at the cosy home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Clark, 148 Adams street.

"It was their daughter's wedding day and the house was prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants.

"The wedding was strictly a home affair only a few very intimate friends outside the family circle, receiving invitations.

"It was precisely 4 o'clock when the bride, Miss Maude E. Clark and the groom, Mr. George Gould, of Quincy, entered the parlor, and soon after Rev. H. H. Paine pronounced the words that made them husband and wife.

"The blushing young bride was attired in a bewitching gown of white bengaline, while the groom was faultlessly dressed in conventional plaque.

"Contrary to the usual custom the services of best man and bridesmaid were dispensed with.

"Mrs. Gould is well and favorably known here while her husband is a highly esteemed foreman in H. G. Collins' printing establishment in Boston.

"At the close of the ceremony the worthy couple left amid a shower of rice for a short trip to be spent at Portland and West Buxton, Me.

"Tokens of esteem in variety of designs were received from many friends."

NEW MONUMENTS.

If Quincy Could Get Some of These, Business Would Pick Up.

It is said that the granite business of Quincy is quiet, and it is perhaps a fact, but many new monuments are talked of and an effort should be made to have them manufactured in this city.

A Baltimore dispatch of yesterday says, "It was believed here that Edwin Booth's body would be buried by the side of his parents in Greenwood cemetery, this city. As this is not to be, it has been suggested that a fitting tribute to Baltimore—the place of his nativity—to pay to the memory of the great actor would be the erection of a monument in one of the public squares, the monument to be in the form of a statue of heroic size and in the costume of Hamlet. John T. Ford has started the fund.

Committees have been appointed in Maine towns to raise funds for the proposed Blaine statue.

A New Jersey paper of Friday last, says, "After many years of effort the citizens of New Brunswick have succeeded in raising sufficient money to erect a monument to the soldiers and sailors of the civil war. There is now $2,800 on hand and the contract will soon be awarded. The monument will cost over $5,000, and the entire amount has been subscribed.

The Homeopathic held a convention in Chicago last week. Funds are being raised for a $50,000 monument to be erected in Washington.

The National Mary Washington Association is making an appeal to the women of America and the Daughters of the Revolution in particular, to assist in erecting a monument to that great and noble woman, Mary, the mother of our beloved Washington.

The soldiers' monument at McKeesport, Pa., will be curbed and improved.

A monument is to be erected in Grand View cemetery at Williamsport, Pa., to the unknown dead.

The Chicago correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says in issue of June 2:

"Undoubtedly one of the saddest things in connection with the fair is the statue of general sculptural demonstration in front of the Ohio building. The city of Cleveland is responsible for it—at least, it was 'sculpted' by a Cleveland architect or blacksmith, and the really cultivated people of Cleveland ought to take one look at it and then go out and select their burial place on the shore of the lake.

New Magazines.

The first issue of the McClure's Magazine has just appeared. Its contents are all selected with great care and excellent literary taste. The editor has adopted a new idea in recording "Real Conversations." Another feature is the publication of what Daudet calls "Human Documents"—portraits of distinguished people at different stages of life, with brief biographical notes. In this first number, Gen. Wallace, Mr. Howells, Prof. Boyesen and Alphonse Daudet are included in the file of "Documents." The number is, indeed, essentially biographical, for there is an excellent article on Gladstone and another on De Lesseps.

The Dominion Illustrated Monthly is among our latest exchanges. The May number is printed in blue ink, which improves the illustrations. The illustrated articles include "Canadian Writers in New York," "Boston," "The North West Mounted Police," "The Dominion Woman's Christian Temperance Union," "The Fiscal History of Canada," and "A Day in New Fishing Grounds" make interesting reading. Published at Montreal and Toronto, Canada.

ANNEXATION PLANS

Appear to Have Been Given Up by Hawaiians.

DYNAMITERS ARE AT WORK

An Alleged Conspiracy to Restore the Queen.

HONOLULU, June 1, via San Francisco, June 9.—No one knows how or why, but the fact remains that the annexation party of Hawaii have settled in their own minds that the United States is going to establish a protectorate over the islands. Annexation, except as something in the future, is not now discussed. The cry "annexation or nothing" is no longer heard. It is reported that Minister Blount has dropped a hint that a protectorate is the proper thing to look for. If the constant protestations of the royalists are to be believed, they have no intention of making a move until after the decision of the United States is known.

So far Claus Spreckels has not gained much by his efforts to embarrass the government financially. Minister of Finance Damon betrays no concern about the matter. Retaliation is now being discussed. There is talk of stopping the subsidy of $1000 per month paid to Spreckels' Oceanic steamship line. There was a time when the Oceanic line was of great value to Hawaii, but now that the new Canadian Pacific line, the Pacific Mail and the Occidental and Oriental steamship companies make Honolulu a port of call, the annexationists do not deem the Oceanic line essential to their prosperity.

Dynamite For Soldiers.

Honolulu had a genuine dynamite scare last night. During a concert at the Hawaiian hotel at which most of the people of the town were assembled, police officers saw three men crouching in a suspicious manner, near the ex-queen's residence. When ordered to halt two of the men drove off in a hack and the third man ran away in the darkness. Near where the men on foot were seen the officers discovered three dynamite bombs and a small bottle of mercury.

Company B of the Volunteers was called out immediately and guarded the palace and barracks all night. It is thought by officers of the provisional government that the bombs were to have been used to blow up the barracks in which the provisional army was sleeping. President Dole stated that he thought that the finding of the bombs was proof of the reported conspiracy to restore the queen, as did Attorney General Smith.

The Royalists Are Indignant

at the assertion. The government has quietly been organizing three more companies of volunteer soldiers. Although no official news has yet been made public, it is stated that the government has received private letters from Washington assuring them that a protectorate will be declared by the United States.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani is preparing a lengthy statement to be given to Minister Blount. In it she recites the history of her short reign, the causes leading to her downfall, and gives her views as to the unjustness of her treatment by the provisional government.

Little Fellow Kills Himself.

UTICA, N. Y., June 9.—Arthur Little, a boy 11 years of age, ran away from his home in this city Wednesday because he did not want to go to school. He went as far as Little Falls, where he was intercepted by the police and locked in the chief's office over night. When the office was opened yesterday the boy was found on the floor with a hole in his neck. He had found a revolver in the chief's desk and it was probably accidentally discharged. He died about noon.

The Fargo Fire.

FARGO, N. D., June 9.—The sun rose on this city half in ashes. Three thousand people were made homeless by the great conflagration. The schoolhouses, churches and public buildings left standing were all utilized as places of shelter, and it cannot be said one of the hundreds driven out by the flames suffered for want of shelter. Relief trains with meat, flour and other provisions have begun to arrive.

Died From Neglect.

TROY, N. Y., June 9.—Mrs. Isaac Hanks, aged 84 years, died at North Granville under circumstances that caused an investigation by the coroner. The jury found that the woman died from want of sufficient nourishment, proper care and medical treatment. Her husband, who is 79 years old, is said to be worth $30,000.

Another Delay.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Recorder Smyth was to have sentenced Dr. Robert W. Buchanan yesterday, and also to have heard the arguments on a motion for a new trial. At the request of the district attorney, however, the matter was again postponed, making the fifth postponement.

In Memory of Booth.

ROCHESTER, June 9.—The management of the Lyceum theater has caused the building to be very elaborately draped in memory of Edwin Booth. It was at this theater that Mr. Booth was first seized with the illness which resulted fatally.

Rather Quick Recovery.

LONDON, June 9.—James Gilbert, the dynamite maker who was released from Portland prison on May 30 because he was supposed to be dying, has recovered his health sufficiently to leave the hospital. He will sail shortly for New York.

Finnish Work of a Negro.

TOPEKA, June 9.—An unknown negro entered a house of Alva Allen, near Augusta, and brutally outraged Mrs. Allen, a woman 54 years of age. Mrs. Allen was seriously injured and may die. A posse is in pursuit.

Booth's Funeral Was Private.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The funeral of Edwin Booth was held this morning at 9:30 from the Little Church Around the Corner. Only friends or acquaintances of Mr. Booth were admitted.

Fat Job For a Brooklyn Man.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Secretary Carlisle has appointed Worthington Ford of Brooklyn chief of the bureau of statistics, treasury department. Mr. Ford is about 40 years of age.

A Prince at Halifax.

HALIFAX, June 9.—Prince Roland Bonaparte arrived here last night.

AT MANET BEACH.

Thursday Was Quiet—Correspondence on the Fourth of July Celebration.

The cool wave has made things rather dull at the beach.

There is to be another land sale the seventeenth of June if you don't own a lot now, buy one immediately. There are agents of the land company at the beach every Saturday and Sunday.

Several months ago it was rumored that electric boats would be located at Manet beach for the use of fishing and sailing parties. Is there anyone who knows anything about this.

Many who wish to enter the club find the five dollar initiation fee quite an obstacle to surmount. Moral: Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today.

Mails close at 8 A. M. and 5 P. M.; arrive at 9 A. M. and 6 P. M.

A celebration on the Fourth of July meets with some favor.

The telephone and fire alarm will soon be in use.

A Good Idea.

Editors of the Ledger:

All it needs to have a grand celebration of the Fourth of July is a live committee. Everybody is enthusiastic on this patriotic holiday and are willing to co-operate for a grand good time.

The suggestion of Thursday that there be sports, band concerts and fireworks is good as far as it goes, and other novel features may suggest themselves. I should not favor putting any of the general fund into a yacht race, as open regattas are too expensive. A race would add to the features of the day, but should be under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club, to be either a club race, a sweepstake race or an open regatta, the funds for which might be raised at Quincy.

The sports might include base ball between the Benedicts and Bachelors, a game basket ball, bicycle races, running races for amateurs, rowing races, tub races and swimming matches, etc. etc. I hope to see the celebration agitated.

WEYMOUTH.

The Monatquot yacht club opened the season, Thursday, with a supper and dance at the club house. The affair was in charge of the house committee, composed of Commodore Cavanagh, Francis Cowing, Maj. E. C. Pearce, Arthur E. Pratt and Joseph Bagley.

Seth Arthur Pratt, of North Weymouth, is on his way home from Zanzibar.

Sought Relief by Suicide.

NORWICH, Conn., June 9.—Charles W. Head committed suicide by shooting the top of his head off last evening. Despondency from ill health was the cause of the suicide. He leaves a widow.

SWEETHEART, FORBEAR!

"Sweetheart, forbear!" Thus said I to my dear, She, with rebellious grace, The light of wayward fancy on her face, And some half smile, half tear; "Nay, silence is not peace. 'Twere better far than this wholly to cease! If I should know no more The rapture of revolt, the joyous strife, The free, unfettered air I breathed before."

So we long time assailed with hot debate, And kindling voice and word, Deep problems, which a myriad souls have striven—

Fore knowledge, freedom, fate, Till wearied out at last, Hand clasped in hand, without a word we twain, Gazing in moonlight on the silvered main, Knew a strange calm enfold our doubt with sleep, And all the stress and conflict stilled and past. —Lewis Morris in Black and White.

Seal of New York Lady Managers.

The woman's board of manager of New York has adopted a pretty seal which is to be affixed to all its official documents. It represents an Indian woman standing on a rock bound coast, holding a blazing torch above her head. In the distance is shown faintly the outline of one of the vessels of Columbus' fleet. There is a pretty story which goes with this, based upon the report that by Columbus on his return to Spain, in which he said that the night of Oct. 11, 1492, he saw a light moving on the land. The theory on which this story is built up is that an Indian woman was waving the torch as a signal to her husband, a fisherman who had been delayed in getting home in his frail canoe.

On the Brick Battleship.

The battleship Illinois draws great crowds, and they are intensely interested ones. The great number of the visitors to the brick gunboat appear to be people who up to date have never looked upon anything more war-like than a canal boat, and everything appears so real on the model ship that it is scarcely to be wondered at. The great number of the visitors to the brick gunboat appear to be people who up to date have never looked upon anything more war-like than a canal boat, and everything appears so real on the model ship that it is scarcely to be wondered at.

HOUGH'S NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can yet be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

TWO JUDGES AGREE

That World's Fair Gates Must Be Closed Sundays.

AN APPEAL TO BE TAKEN.

The Infanta Enjoys the Fireworks In Her Honor.

CHICAGO, June 9.—In the injunction suit brought by the United States to restrain the local directory from opening the World's fair gates on Sunday, Judge Woods announced that he and his associates failed to agree on certain points, and that each would formulate his ideas in an individual opinion.

Judge Woods then in a lengthy opinion gave his views of the case, and decided that the prayer for an injunction was well grounded, and that the Columbian exposition should be enjoined from opening its gates on Sunday.

Judge Jenkins agrees with Judge Woods on the main point in the proceedings, and he also decides that the injunction must issue and the Fair Be Closed on Sunday.

This decides the question, as Judge Grosscup, who holds that the fair should be open, is in the minority, and the court declares with the government for the latter's right to insist on the contract made by the acceptance of the souvenir coins and that the gate of the fair remain closed on Sunday.

A HOT DAY AT THE FAIR.

The decision caused much surprise at the grounds. Attorney Walker, for the exposition, gave notice of an application for an appeal, and it is probable that, after all, the fair may not close on Sunday, as a surprise will probably be obtained, pending the final decision of the supreme court.

Enthusiastic Delighted.
The fireworks were touched off on the lake front near the Persley last night, and the Spanish dances, singly enclosed in President Palmer's balcony, saw the magnificent demonstration and frequently clapped her hands with delight. The principal set piece was a likeness of the princess, consisting of over 2000 separate pieces, the colors changing from white to blue and then to red. Otherwise the display consisted of an illumination of the Puristyle, a display of aquatic novelties, mammoth bombs, twinkling stars, festoons of fire and the like. The display was the finest ever seen in the west.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when the infants, tired out, reached her sumptuous apartments in the Palmer House. It was a great day for the princess, likewise for about 150,000 visitors to the fair grounds, that being the number of paid admissions at the gates, estimated by Superintendent Tucker at 11 o'clock.

FORE SMITH'S POWER

WHY Prevent Speculation In the Cherokee Strip Allotments.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Secretary Hoke Smith says that he hopes there is no truth in the statement to the effect that certain parties in the Indian territory are endeavoring to control the allotment of lands to the Indian occupants of the Cherokee strip for the purpose of speculating in town site lots.

He states that while the decision of the department is clearly in pursuance of the law, yet it is also true that the allotments, after being made by the persons entitled thereto, are subject to his approval as secretary and that he will not approve them if he believes that the scheme above indicated is in danger of being carried out.

He says that the parties to such a scheme may delay the opening of the strip by requiring a second allotment to be made, but that they will not be allowed if they are endeavoring to do so and speculate through it in town site lots.

MPKINLEY AGAIN.

No Opposition to His Renomination For Governor of Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—General Grosvenor called the Republican state convention to order, and Rev. N. H. Holmes offered prayer. A hearty greeting was accorded Hon. H. M. Daugherty when he was introduced as permanent chairman. He made a brief address, after which the report of the committee on resolutions was read by Congressman Hulick. Each plank was loudly applauded. Preparations were then made for nominations.

Governor McKinley's name was presented by Colonel Robert Newins of Dayton and seconded by Senator J. W. Nichols of Belmont. There were no other nominations, and Governor McKinley was declared the nominee amid a scene of wild enthusiasm. A committee was appointed to conduct him to the hall, and a few minutes later he made his appearance. He was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers.

FAMOUS CONVENT BURNED.

Nuns and Pupils Escape the Flames—Loss of Over $1,000,000.

MONTREAL, June 9.—The historic "Monkland," known throughout two continents as the famous convent of Seville Marie, the mother house of the congregation of Notre Dame, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. What was a stately set of buildings, worth $1,000,000 or more, is now a heap of smoldering ruins, while the fierce flames, fanned by high winds, having spread to the neighboring institutions of the order, are at this writing still beyond control. While fortunately none of the 375 nuns or 500 young women pupils in the convent actually met death by the fire, two of Montreal's firemen are lying at the point of death from injuries received.

WAS CLOSE TO DEATH.

Brother of the Duke of Veragua Suddenly Stricken by Sickness.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—A sensational event marked the close of the school children's parade yesterday in honor of the Duke of Veragua. The duke's brother was stricken with angina pectoris and fell prostrate on the grand stand. He suffered frightful agony, and the attack seemed likely to result fatally. Bishop Watterson stood ready to administer the last sacrament. An electric battery was brought into operation by the physicians who had been called, however, and the necessity for action by the bishop gradually disappeared. The attack was probably brought on by the excitement of the day.

HURLED TO ETERNITY

Terrible Disaster In Ford's Theater at the National Capital.

LISTS OF DEAD AND DYING.

Parsimony Responsible For the Dire Disaster.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A terrible disaster occurred shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The three floors of the old Ford's theater, where Lincoln was assassinated, on Tenth street, between E and F streets, fell in with a crash, burying in the debris hundreds of clerks of the surgeon general's office, who were employed there.

The fire alarm brought out the fire department, only to find that surgeons and ambulances were needed. A tremendous crowd gathered at once, and the scenes were heartrending in the extreme as the battered and disfigured clerks were taken out of the ruins.

The disaster was caused by the weakening of the walls from the digging of a cellar under the building. The top floor fell first, without any warning, carrying with it the floors below.

The scene within the wrecked structure was something that has never been paralleled in the history of this city. As soon as it was possible for outside help to enter and commence operations upon the mass of brick work, plaster, fallen timbers and distorted iron the rescue was commenced.

Hundreds of willing hands tore away the incumbrances that prevented living but badly injured beings from helping themselves, and eager sympathizers were careless as to their own exertions or exposure to danger that the bodies which were covered by the vast quantity of debris might be brought out to where succor was possible for those not fatally injured.

How many dead there are beneath the tons of fallen material no one can even guess at this time, but that many men are crushed into shapelessness and lifelessness is beyond question.

List of Killed.

The following list of dead contains 22 names, including one unknown and one probable duplicate, only 21 bodies having been taken from the ruins:

Unknown man, taken from the ruins, evidently a clerk; George Allen, George W. Arnold, L. W. Boody, Samuel P. Banes, John Bussius, Arthur L. Dietrich, Jeremiah Daley, James R. Egan, Joseph B. Gage, David C. Jordan, M. M. Jarvis, J. Boyd Jones, F. B. Loftus, F. W. Maeder, B. F. Miller, Howard S. Miller, J. H. McFall, G. Shull, William Schriever, H. S. Wood, F. M. Williams, Dr. Nelson, C. H. Miller was killed, but it is probable that the name is meant for C. R. Miller, who was supposed to have been killed, but will recover. The names of Jordan and Paul have also been attached to the unofficial death list as having been taken out dead, but their bodies have not been located. Jordan is probably a duplication of the name David C. Jordan, who was killed, and Paul may have been confused with McFall, also killed.

List of Injured.

A. L. Ames, A. C. Black, F. F. Calvert, S. J. Dewey, Louis Dussay, George W. Davis, H. B. Esterling, Washington Fry, W. C. Gustin, Dr. James H. Howard, C. F. Hathaway, J. Hammer, George Handy, Thomas Hynes, J. G. Johns, W. Kugler, Clifton Lowe, E. Leger, Frank Metcalf, G. M. McLaughlin, J. P. McCormack, M. McLachen, J. A. Miller, R. M. Patrick, Police Officer Podg, G. T. Pruitt, P. K. Pennington, Charles Robinson, J. A. Stewart, F. S. Sims, C. D. Shadbolt, F. B. Smith, P. A. Smith, F. F. Sams, William Smith, P. U. Summers, John H. Thomas, F. W. Test, C. R. Wiler, N. T. Worley, James A. White, A. G. Young, Charles J. Moore, P. F. O'Driscoll.

Only one Massachusetts man is reported injured—Frank Metcalf—and one Connecticut man—P. A. Smith—otherwise the lists of killed and wounded contain no New England men.

Pension Records.

There will be no loss to the pension records on account of the accident, as none of the valuable papers and records were kept in this building save those in use in the current business of the department. The records when completed were filed away in the war department building proper, and the files removed to and from the Tenth building as needed. Inasmuch as there was no fire, Colonel Ainsworth thinks that when the debris is cleared away all the papers of value will be recovered.

Attention Called to Its Insecurity.

An examination of the official records shows that the insecurity of the building was brought to the attention of congress in a pointed manner as far back as 1885. Attention was then directed simply to the safety of the army medical library and museum, but the protection of human life was not especially brought in question.

Other Unsafe Buildings.

The collapse of the building has directed earnest attention to two other great buildings believed to be in an almost equally unsafe condition. One is the government printing office, where 180 people are employed, and the other is the rickety shell known as the Winder building, also belonging to the war department, and occupied by hundreds of clerks of that department and of the second auditor's office. This place is notoriously dangerous and the floors are so rotten that the facts being known to congress for years, but receiving no attention.

English Criticism.
LONDON, June 10.—All the morning newspapers comment more or less reproachfully upon the Washington government's responsibility for the loss of life in the fall of Ford's opera house. They criticised the government severely for allowing a department to use a notoriously unsafe building, and dwell upon the flimsiness of American buildings, railways, bridges, etc. All mention the fact that Lincoln was assassinated in the old opera house.

A Mass Meeting of Citizens was held last evening. With but little preliminary the purpose of the gathering was achieved in the appointment of a committee of five to canvas the meeting for subscriptions. While this was being done brief addresses were made by B. H. Warner, Rev. William Aloin Bartlett and Smith Thompson, a clerk employed in the collapsed building, and Bishop J. F. Hurst. Dr. Bartlett's ringing arraignment of the government for its moral responsibility for the calamity met with the warm commendation of the gathering. The total amount of the subscriptions obtained was announced as about $5500, the largest being $1000 from the firm of Woodward & Lothrop, President Cleveland, who had been asked to preside over the meeting and was unable to do so because of a pressing official business engagement, sent his check for $100.

THE TABLES TURNED.

Stivets Pitched In Great Form and the Bostonians Win to the Tune of 6 to 1.

BOSTON, June 10.—The crowd at the South End grounds yesterday was a very fair one in size and much interested in the contest, despite the fact that the Cincinnati were not in the game as a winner. Stivets was in great form and allowed but six hits, three by Holliday, and the latter has made eight in the three games.

Three bases on balls, a sacrifice and a "home" by McCarthy gave the Bostonians three runs in the first. Three hits and a double by Latham gave them two in the fifth. A base on balls, a sacrifice by Tucker and a stolen base by Nash allowed the last run in the sixth, though men were left on bases in all but two innings.

The fielding of the Bostonians was great, while Stivets pitched a masterly game and was ably supported by Merritt, who batted finely, as usual. Smith, McPhee, Latham and Coniskey fielded in great style. Murphy caught well.

Dun's Report of Trade.

NEW YORK, June 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: The severe depression of a week ago, which culminated in very tight money and numerous failures, has been followed by some recovery. Reports that definite action by congress on the money question has been assured have done much to cause the better feeling, which indicates that apprehension of the future, rather than present difficulty, causes much of the trouble.

ROBINSON'S INNING.

The Ex-Governor Scores Some Very Telling Points.

MISS BORDEN TO TESTIFY.

Officers Detailed to Search the Borden Homestead.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 10.—Yesterday was ex-Governor Robinson's field day in the Borden trial.

The keen, clever and wily lawyer made placement of the evidence of the police officers, tangling them up by his cross-examination, until neither they nor the spectators seemed to know where they were.

Officer Mullaly swore that in the box with the hatchet head, which he and Deputy Marshal Fleet found in the chimney in the Borden cellar, Mr. Fleet also found a hatchet handle, with a new break, corresponding to that in the stump in the hatchet head.

Deputy Marshal Fleet was recalled, and denied that any hatchet handle or piece of wood was found in or about the box in which the hatchet head was discovered.

George C. Petty gave important evidence as to the condition of Mrs. Borden's body when found, tending to show that her death had taken place some time before her husband's.

Captain Doherty testified that Lizzie Borden wore on the morning of the crime a light blue dress.

Captain Harrington told of the large bundle of burned paper, still holding its rolled shape, which he saw in the kitchen stove the day of the crime.

The Prosecution, according to Mr. Moody's opening argument, does not declare that this broken hatchet is the guilty weapon, and the contradictory statements of the two officers, who together discovered this remarkable instrument, will tend to weaken the hatchet story. The true history of the hatchet, however, may form an interesting future chapter in the mystery.

The evidence relating to the dried and coagulated condition of the blood on and about Mrs. Borden's body, tending to show that Mrs. Borden was killed an hour or so before her husband, is related to other testimony stating that the body was in full view of anyone going up stairs, and this the prosecution will doubtless emphasize in relation to Lizzie Borden's laugh from the front stairway, when Bridget said, "Pshaw" on unlocking the front door for Mr. Borden.

The testimony of Captain Doherty and Mrs. Churchill in relation to the dress worn by Lizzie Borden on that morning may lack some force from the fact that upon it, while the prosecution in this connection may try to show that Lizzie Borden wore a double dress, and that the bundle of burned paper, seemingly, in the stove was presumably composed of coverings to protect the dress from visible stains.

The fact that Lizzie was not without plenty of "pin money" was brought out when District Attorney Knowlton said he had received a letter from Everett Cook, the Fall River bank cashier, in which he stated that one of his answers to a question when he was on the stand was incorrect, and he begged to be allowed to change it.

On the stand he said Lizzie Borden had no account in the B. M. C. Duffee bank. In the letter he corrected it by saying she had, and that the balance on August 4 was $172.75.

Lizzie to Testify.

Lizzie Borden will tell her story to the judges and jurors in a few days when her turn comes. This has been decided upon by the attorneys, in view of the case thus far presented by the government, and will be carried out unless some startlingly surprising evidence is offered between now and the time when it will be the duty of the defense to put in its case.

In all murder cases the nature of the evidence offered against the prisoner has great weight in deciding whether the accused shall testify or not, and, of course, the character and ability of the witness are also taken into consideration.

When the trial began it was the intention to have her appear, but the matter could not be definitely decided, of course, until Robinson, Jennings and Adams made up their minds as to how things were going.

They felt confident as to Lizzie's behavior on the stand. That she would acquit herself well, and even under the trying ordeal of District Attorney Knowlton's sharp cross-examination, maintain her composure sufficiently to give clear, concise, direct and unbroken answers to questions.

Unexpected developments in the strength of the prosecution would, of course, lead to a change in the program, but if matters remain as they are now Lizzie Borden will go on the stand and testify when the proper time comes, and her story will not be materially different from that told by the government witnesses, although she will say she did not kill her father and stepmother.

There is no question that Lizzie A. Borden is confident of an acquittal at the hands of the jury. She has unreservedly announced that to her friends, and has no doubt that her lawyers will bring her through all right.

All her attorneys are also confident and feel that they have weakened the government's case materially in the cross-examinations.

There is, however, an undercurrent of feeling that the government is yet to do something to establish confidence in its case, and that it has the evidence which will do this.

Officers Denied Admittance.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 10.—In response to a message sent from New Bedford yesterday to the central station, Lieutenant Edison and Inspector Mahoney went to the Borden house to search for the missing axe handle, but they were refused admittance unless they could show authority from Lawyer Jennings. The search will probably be made later.

F. Merrick principal of the school. The proceeds are to be used to give the graduating class a reception at the close of the term.

The programme which was a varied one and very interesting included six part songs by the school; choruses by selected voices; a double trio by Eva Clare, Alice Burrill, Fannie Hayes, Katie Granaham, Archie Briggs and Gerold Sullivan; quartette by Florence Wilson, Ruth Bassett, Frank Sanborn and Fred Cobb; duets by Maud Briggs and Harry Blackwell, and Lizzie Curley and Elsa Scharnagel; solos by Frank Sanborn, Ruth Bassett, Harry Blackwell, Helen Bemis; piano solo by Emma Curtin; violin solo by Frank Curtin; readings by Florence Thomas and Ethel Rinn. The accompanists were Miss Maud E. Rice and Miss Emma Curtin.

Special mention should be made of the violin solo by Frank Curtin, his rendering of the "Blue Bells of Scotland" being excellent. All showed faithful training and great proficiency.

A CASE OF TRESPASS.

Peterson Fined for Wilful Trespass and for Tearing Down Fences.

The case of Andrew Peterson, who was arrested by Officer Bradley for trespass and for tearing down a fence at Squantum, which has been continued several weeks in the Quincy court, was decided this morning by Judge Humphrey in favor of the complainant, Mrs. L. B. Titus of Squantum.

The facts briefly stated are these. Peterson was formerly a tenant on the estate of the late Joseph Robertson in Squantum, and as such, was entitled to use a private way through the grounds of Mrs. Titus, all of which were a part of the old Beale farm. Mrs. Titus being annoyed by the picnic nuisances there purchased the Robertson property in July, 1892, in order to control it. Peterson and his family, who now live upon land formerly known as the Pope farm, have continued to trespass upon the property, claiming rights there. All the papers in the case were given to Judge Humphrey ten days ago, who after a careful investigation rendered his decision, that Peterson was a wilful trespasser and fined him $10 in the trespass case, and $10 for tearing down the fence. Peterson appealed and was held in $200 bonds in each case.

A MAN CRAZED BY JEALOUSY

Makes a Determined Effort to Murder His Wife.

BOSTON, June 12.—Three times last night, within the hallowed precincts of a house of worship, William E. Mitchell attempted to end the life of his wife, Selma. Three times he sent a ball speeding on its errand of death, the reports and the sight of the smoking pistol striking terror to the hearts of the worshippers and causing a reign of consternation among the congregation.

Only chance saved him from the crime of wife murder. Nothing but fortune prevented his staining the carpets of the sacred place with the life blood which would have proven an eternal stain upon his soul.

Mitchell has been confined in an insane asylum and was only released from the institution last January, having been an inmate for two months. The cause of his insanity was ascribed to an Intensely Jealous Nature. While at the asylum Mitchell wrote very loving letters to his wife, promising to do better on his release. Mrs. Mitchell was so impressed with her husband's promises and entreaties that she discharged him cured, and together they started house-keeping.

For a time all went well, but Mitchell's jealousy again showed itself some weeks ago, and he several times threatened to shoot her for no apparent reason. His conduct became unbearable, and last week Mrs. Mitchell went to live with her mother, Mrs. Julia Bishop.

Nothing was heard of the husband, and last evening Mrs. Mitchell and her mother, Mrs. Bishop, attended the children's concert at the St. John's M. E. church.

At the close of the evening's exercises flowers were distributed by the pastor, Mrs. Mitchell received a bouquet and started with her mother for home. They had reached the entry way of the church when up stepped Mr. Mitchell, who accosted his wife, asking her

Where His Flowers Were. Mrs. Mitchell became frightened at the strange gleam in his eyes, and without answering ran back upstairs and called the sexton, who accompanied her down stairs again. Mitchell was still there, and the sexton walked toward him and attempted to draw him into a conversation so that the wife might pass.

But Mitchell pushed him one side and with an oath drew a revolver from his hip pocket, and exclaiming, "You have no flowers for me, here's what I have for you," and fired two shots in rapid succession at his wife. Then, turning to the mother-in-law, Mrs. Bishop, he fired a third one at her.

The Second Shot Took Effect. In Mrs. Mitchell's wrist, but the others went wide of their mark.

Officer Manning was standing near the church at the time of the shooting, and hearing the firing, hastened to the spot and placed the infuriated husband under arrest before he could do further damage.

Mrs. Mitchell was taken to her home, where the wound in the wrist was found to be very slight.

At the station house the would-be assassin refused to tell why he committed the rash act.

SHE'S A FLYER.

Gunboat Machias Exceeds Her Requirements by Two Full Knots.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 12.—The Machias has beaten the record. It is a far cry from 15 knots and a fraction to 22 knots, yet the game little gunboat is a worthy successor of the great New York. She has beaten her required speed of 13 knots by two full knots, and probably more. Exactly what she has done can only be determined when due allowance for tide influences is made by the official board of inspectors.

The average speed for the first half was 15.8 knots, and for the second half 14.53 knots. The average for the entire trip was 15.17 knots.

The average revolutions for the first half of the trip was 219 for the second half, 213, for the whole course, 216.

Many incidents showed the esprit de corps that animated the entire crew of the Machias. There are heroes forward as well as aft. Every man of the crew of the ship was a Bath man, and every man had her success at heart.

The coal passers were somewhat raw, but what they lacked in experience they made up in vim and interest. One of them spit up a cupful of blood, but refused to take any stimulant at the doctor's order, and pluckily returned to his post.

The corrected average time for the entire 60 miles of the course was 15.464-1000 knots. The performance is considered the most notable in the history of the new navy.

The Machias sailed for Bath at 7:30 last evening.

A GENERAL SHUTDOWN

Likely to Occur at the Pepperell and Laconia Mills.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 12.—The strikers held a meeting at which the leaders urged united action and expressing confidence in the strikers' ability to cause a shut down. It is claimed that 900 employees who recently signed a petition for an increase of wages will stand out for their demand, and that others will join them. Thus far the strike has been chiefly confined to the French operatives, but the other nationalities are represented among those who will join the movement today. If the strikers' plan is carried out the shutdown of both the Pepperell and Laconia mills will occur, as the companies have declared their unwillingness to grant the demand for an increase in wages and it will be unprofitable to run the mills without full crews.

CORREIRO'S CASE.

Police Will Have Much Difficulty in Securing Witnesses Against Him.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 12.—In police circles talk is plentiful regarding Correiro's alleged guilt. It is becoming generally known that the Portuguese people in the city are divided upon the question. Talk with many Portuguese people has shown there are two distinct factions here, one which stands ready to champion Correiro's cause against the government and the other determined to help the officers convict the man whom they believe to be guilty.

Some police authorities say that they will have much difficulty in ferreting out evidence, owing to the fear that certain Portuguese entertain of the vengeful spirit of their fellow-countrymen. When the mayor and marshal gave out the facts of the Correiro case a week ago they alluded to this circumstance, and requested the names of certain witnesses to be suppressed for this reason. Correiro is very cheerful, but, as he cannot speak English, his keepers do not expect that he will make any confession or state any criminal intentions.

GENERAL HALL DEAD.

Was a Gallant Soldier and a Distinguished Son of Maine.

DAMARISCOTTA, Me., June 12.—General James A. Hall of this place died suddenly on the train between Syracuse and Utica, N. Y., yesterday. He was on his way home from Columbus, O., where he had been on business. He was accompanied by his daughter and grandson. His death was probably from apoplexy.

In 1861 General Hall volunteered in the Second Maine battery and served through the rebellion, rising by successive promotions to brevet brigadier general. He was at the battle of Gettysburg, where his services were conspicuous, and where he was slightly wounded, and had one horse shot under him and a second one wounded. He was in command of the light artillery in Washington when Lincoln was assassinated, and took an important part in maintaining order. He was collector of customs for this district for about 17 years, resigning business in 1885. He was 57 years of age and leaves a widow and married daughter. His death will be keenly felt here, where he was universally respected. His body will be brought here for interment.

The Navahoe Off For England.

COSTLY POSSESSIONS

Stolen While on the Way to the World's Fair.

QUEEN MARGHERITA'S LACE

Has Been Tampered With by Unknown Persons.

CHICAGO, June 12.—A startling disclosure was made at the World's fair grounds when the priceless laces sent here by Queen Margherita of Italy were unpacked. While the laces were being taken out of their cases and each piece counted it was found that 30 pieces were missing. Cablegrams were immediately sent to Rome apprising the queen of her great loss, for it seems that as far as developments indicate the loss will not fall upon the exposition company, their bond not covering the safety of laces in transit. An effort was made to keep the discovery a secret, but customs officers divulged the startling news.

These rich possessions out of reverence for the memory of her countryman, the discoverer of America, Queen Margherita consented to send to Chicago for the fair. She sent the Countess di Brazza to watch and guard her treasures, and the government of the United States gave a bond of $100,000 to guarantee.

Their Safe Return to Italy.

The coming of these laces has been heralded as an event, and the feminine population has been on the tip-toe of expectation.

ENTRANCE TO WEST WING OF ART GALLERY

When it became known that they had arrived at the woman's building, under escort of customs inspectors, two men from the Italian consulate, the Italian consul himself and two of Captain Bonfield's detectives, a crowd gathered at the Italian department to watch the unpacking.

After it was completed it became apparent that something was wrong, as great excitement seemed to prevail in the booth where the countess, surrounded by customs officers and guards, was taking from their wrappings the laces. A customs inspector informed a reporter that 30 pieces of lace were missing.

Countess di Brazza was not accessible and Mme. Mariotti, president of the Italian woman's board, refused to see any one.

Open as Usual.

Clear skies and a cool, refreshing breeze ushered in the third open Sunday at the World's fair. The rush to the grounds did not commence until afternoon. The evening jam did not start until after 7, and when it ended a vast number of people had passed through the gates.

The crowds, as on previous Sundays, were largely composed of workmen and their families.

Governor Russell reached town yesterday afternoon at 4:30 and registered at the Auditorium hotel. He takes a deep interest in the fair, which he believes is to be a magnificent success.

Appraiser Cooper's Case.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Cleveland has received the resignation of Appraiser Cooper at New York. He has not yet acted upon it and it is intimated may not until a partial report is received from the commission investigating the New York custom house on this part of the inquiry. Intimation is made by treasury officials that the president may not see his way clear to accept the resignation at all, but may feel called upon to dispose of Mr. Cooper's case in some other way.

On Saturday afternoon Superintendent Weeks and a number of experts tested the ability of a newly patented car fender. This fender, known as the Green Automatic Improved Car Fender, is a radical departure from the ordinary fender, seen on most of the large Boston cars, which is simply an iron grating.

This new device for the purpose of diminishing the danger to foot passengers, consists of two distinct nettings or aprons as they are called. The projecting apron hangs from the front of the car making a slight angle with the tracks and just clears the ground. It is arranged upon a hinge joint near the car so that any heavy body falling into this first netting will spring a trigger thereby dropping a second iron screen which falls to the ground and prevents the body in the first netting from going under the car, if by any chance it should roll out of the front apron. When the fender is not in use it can very easily be hoisted up in front of the car.

Several trials were made with a dummy stuffed with sea weed.

The dummy was placed in different positions on the track and the fender was operated when the car was going at a high rate of speed. Mr. Weeks seemed very much pleased with the arrangement and will perhaps try it on the cars.

Francis E. Kimball Dead.

The Postmaster and Ex-Assessor Died Early This Morning.

Mr. Francis E. Kimball, postmaster of Station A. West Quincy, died at his home on Crescent street, this morning, after a lingering illness, aged 45 years.

Mr. Kimball was born in Quincy and has always taken an active interest in all that pertained to the welfare of this place as a town and as a city. During his younger days and when the Quincy band, afterwards known as the Belknap band, was in existence he was an active member and at the reunion of that organization held a few months ago he was among those who gathered about the festive board and told of many incidents that occurred when they were fulfilling engagements.

During the first year of the city government he was appointed assistant assessor by Mayor Porter, and had the honor of serving on the first board. So faithfully did he perform the duties of his office that he has been reappointed every year since that time, only resigning this spring when health failed him. His death, making the second that has occurred in the board this year.

December 1, 1890, he was appointed postmaster at West Quincy, by Postmaster Adams, and under his administration the office has grown materially in importance.

He was also affiliated with the Hall Cemetery association and held important offices in that corporation.

When the war broke out he enlisted and served his country faithfully upon the field of battle.

He leaves a widow and one daughter who mourn the loss of a loving husband and kind father.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday from his late residence at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

Children's Day at Wollaston.

Sunday was observed as Children's day by two of the Wollaston churches, the Congregational, and Methodist.

Notwithstanding the intense heat there were large congregations present at all of the services.

The floral decorations were profuse.

The Rev. Edward A. Robinson of the Congregational and Rev. J. W. Wilder of the Methodist each preached sermons appropriate to the day.

In the evening at the Methodist there was also an excellent concert given under the direction of Miss Wilder and Miss Bjorkman.

At the Congregational services, which were held in the forenoon, Mary Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Murray, and Amy Lois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Rhodes, were baptized.

At Atlantic.

Children's day was kept at Memorial church yesterday. The church was decorated with flowers, plants and bunting by Mr. Natt Churchill. In the morning the infant daughter of Geo. Coleman was baptized and a choir of children, led by Miss Bessie Drew, sang. The usual choir also gave their usual anthem, and Mrs. Carver sang "Benedict." The pastor preached to the children on "Showing kindness to animals."

In the evening the Sunday school gave a carol service entitled "My Country," the whole evening taking on a patriotic hue. A noticeable feature was the singing of the primary department under Mrs. Jenkins' lead. An offering was made for the Congregational Sunday School society for mission work, and testaments distributed to the children baptized during the year, of whom there were four. The day closed by all joining in singing "America."

Other Churches.

Children's day was also observed in the Congregational at Quincy Point, the Methodist at West Quincy, the St. Paul's and other churches.

CHILDREN'S SUNDAY.

Children Take a Prominent Part in Many of the Church Services.

Children's day or floral Sunday was observed in many of the Quincy churches yesterday and there were pleasing programmes and beautiful decorations as will be seen below:

First Church.

Children's Sunday was observed at the church Sunday morning, the church and Sunday School uniting in appropriate exercises under the direction of Superintendent Charles H. Porter. The church about the pulpit was very prettily trimmed with flowers and the exercises which were very interesting were as follows:

Organ.

Choir.

Christening by Dr. Bradley.

Baptismal Service.

a. Scriptural Selections.

b. Hymn—"Heavenly Shepherd."

One verse

c. Baptismal Rite.

d. Hymn—"Heavenly Shepherd."

Floral Service.

Reports of Officers.

Addresses by Rev. Dr. C. Bradley of Boston, and Rev. D. M. Wilson of Quincy.

Benediction.

Congregational Church.

Rev. Edward Norton, the pastor of the Congregational church, as he gazed upon the hundred or more children of the primary department of the Sunday School, who occupied raised seats on the pulpit platform Sunday, remarked that he never saw the pulpit so well filled. Exceptions might be taken to this, but certainly it was a pleasing sight to see so many little ones there in their summer dresses and little suits. The main Sunday School occupied about one-half of the church, and the edifice was crowded. In front of the pulpit was the text printed in daisies, "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me," and there were floral emblems and other decorations.

The processional of the primary department was a pretty feature and should have been mentioned. The little ones entered from the chapel door and marched down the side aisle and up the centre aisle to their seats on the platform. They were preceded by a beautiful banner of daisies with the letters "S. S." in pansies, and sang as they marched, "We are little travellers."

The order of exercises included songs by the choir, gospel hymns by the Sunday School remarks by Superintendent Fay and the pastor, and pleasing exercises by different children and classes.

Presbyterian church.

Children's Sunday was observed at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening by a concert consisting of readings, recitations, and songs by the Sunday School, under the direction of Superintendent Peter Dackers and the Pastor Rev. William Steele. The church was trimmed with flowers and there was a very large attendance who could not fail but to appreciate the efforts of the little ones.

Children's Day at Wollaston.

Sunday was observed as Children's day by two of the Wollaston churches, the Congregational, and Methodist.

Notwithstanding the intense heat there were large congregations present at all of the services.

The floral decorations were profuse.

The Rev. Edward A. Robinson of the Congregational and Rev. J. W. Wilder of the Methodist each preached sermons appropriate to the day.

In the evening at the Methodist there was also an excellent concert given under the direction of Miss Wilder and Miss Bjorkman.

At the Congregational services, which were held in the forenoon, Mary Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Murray, and Amy Lois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Rhodes, were baptized.

At Atlantic.

Children's day was kept at Memorial church yesterday. The church was decorated with flowers, plants and bunting by Mr. Natt Churchill. In the morning the infant daughter of Geo. Coleman was baptized and a choir of children, led by Miss Bessie Drew, sang. The usual choir also gave their usual anthem, and Mrs. Carver sang "Benedict." The pastor preached to the children on "Showing kindness to animals."

In the evening the Sunday school gave a carol service entitled "My Country," the whole evening taking on a patriotic hue. A noticeable feature was the singing of the primary department under Mrs. Jenkins' lead. An offering was made for the Congregational Sunday School society for mission work, and testaments distributed to the children baptized during the year, of whom there were four. The day closed by all joining in singing "America."

Other Churches.

Children's day was also observed in the Congregational at Quincy Point, the Methodist at West Quincy, the St. Paul's and other churches.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Dean, Jr., of Randolph, for drunkenness was sent to the house of correction for 30 days.

FOUNDER'S DAY.

The Occasion Observed at Thayer Academy with Exercises and a Reception.

Saturday was observed as Founder's day at the Thayer Academy, Braintree, and all the neighboring towns were largely represented. The exercises which were in charge of the Senior Middle class took place in the academy hall at 1 P. M. Great proficiency was shown in each number, reflecting credit on teachers and pupils and was pleasing to their friends. The programme:

Music, "Lo, the Bright Crimson," Academy chorus.
Welcome by the class President, Thomas Percy Harrison.
German dialogue from Schiller's "William Tell."
Lizzie Marilla Hobart and Sarah Jessie Smith.
Violin solo, "Love's Dream after the Ball," Fred Willard Allen.
Greek declamation, "The Speech of Xenophon," Anab. III., 1, 15.
Albert Edwin Miles Spiller.
Song, "Absent, yet Present," Mary Virginia Hastings.
English recitation, "The Battle of Ivry," Elsie Estelle Drinkwater.
Latin recitation, "The Saecular Hymn," Edith Frances Claflin.
Piano solo, "Couchouca Caprice," Joseph Cushman Breiting.
French recitation, "Les Hirondelles," Mabel Ella Thayer.
Class prophecy, "Dreams," Everett Chauncey Bumpus.
Music, "The Carnovale," Academy chorus.

As has been customary in the past, a class ivy was planted with appropriate exercises.

Later there was a very enjoyable reception and hop in the Town Hall.

The Trap Club.

The Wollaston Trap Club held its regular weekly shoot on Third Hill, Saturday afternoon. The next match will take place on the morning of the 17th, at 9 o'clock. The score was as follows:

A. G. Olney,	9

Q. A. Faunce,	11
A. B. Lincoln,	11
H. B. Marsden,	10
C. V. Starrett,	16

Accidents.

Martin Heaney, aged about 9 years, was run over on Water street this noon and was quite severely injured. The boy ran from a store near Quincy street across Water street directly in front of the team driven by Fred L. Jones and the wheels passed over the boys neck injuring him quite seriously.

Daniel, the son of Laughlin McDonald, living at the corner of Granite and Condon streets, was probably fatally injured about one o'clock this afternoon by falling from the third story window. The child was looking out and lost his balance.

Personal.

Mr. Ebe Stanwood, the young broker who has been critically ill at his home, Beaconfield terrace, for some months, is slowly convalescing, although it will be a long time before he can take up active business again. He was able to be moved to his summer home in Quincy late in the week, where the family will be for the summer.—Globe.

The Bridge Too Low.

Judge Humphrey has returned the following upon the death of William W. Gleason, who was knocked from a freight train at the Dimmock street bridge, May 7, and run over.

He finds that: It does not appear that any person is blameworthy in respect to this accident; unless those may be held, who are responsible for the lack of sufficient space between the rails and the bridge above them, to render the passage of brakeman on a freight train under this bridge reasonably safe.

Too Much Rain.

Talking about rain and the great need for it at the present time, we heard Mr. G. F. Leonard tell a pretty good story the other morning about a man a farmer up in Dighton. He was a man very well off, was close in business transactions, illiterate, but had an implicit faith in Providence and in the efficacy of prayer. The season was dry and the drought was wasting and burning up the crops. The farmer was vexed beyond measure. He was no scholar as we have said some applied to his minister to write a prayer for him to use with rain in it. The minister did as requested and handed the farmer the prayer, who began at once to offer it morning and evening. But still no rain came. So he took back the prayer to the minister and asked him to write another with a great deal more rain in it. The minister did as requested. The farmer began to use it at once and had only done so for the first time when great black clouds made their appearance in the sky followed by a perfect downpour of rain, which continuing, caused a flood in the Three-Mile river which carried off several mills that were built on its banks one of which was that of his brothers. On witnessing this destruction the farmer snatched up the prayer and hurrying to the minister threw it at him saying: "There! I don't want the danged thing. It's ruined my brother Joshua."

Realizing the great demand, Henry L. Kincaide & Co. will sell the leading wheels at 10 per cent. discount from the regular price for this week.—This is an unusual opportunity and will prove a powerful selling card.

They had the game well in hand at the end of the seventh with a score of 13 to 9, but allowed the visitors to add five in the next. The Erwins earned 9 runs to 7 for the home club. ## The Boot and Shoe Business.

The Braintree Observer says: Our boot and shoe firms are, and have been, suffering from the general depression of the trade just like others. Williams, Kneeland & Co., our largest firm, have been doing comparatively little for the past five weeks and we are not informed if they will increase their production right away. The prospects are good and their need be no fears but what business will start up in the "sweet bye and bye."

Rice & Hutchins are about to start again after a spell of dulness like the others, so the intelligent and civil foreman of the firm says, Mr. F. H. Hussey. This is good news. Mr. Hussey informed us that the branch of business carried on by his firm in North Easton, which usually made from $5 to 100 cases per day, are down to 55 cases per day. This don't just read so well.

There is a great demand for russet shoes the production being limited by the possibility of getting stock. This class of goods the manufacturers don't like to make for the reason they have to be very carefully handled so as not to be stained or smutched. Still for summer wear they are the coolest and best shoe anyone can put on. Mr. Hussey thinks that the present season will surfeit the public of the russet shoe.

William A. Ross & Co. are fairly busy. This is the oldest of our manufacturing firms. The principal demand with the firm at the present time, being that for the russet shoe. Mr. Ross is an optimist, that he is fully expects that there will soon be plenty of business for everybody. John Long & Son have been working quietly along for some time. Now we are pleased to note the increase of workmen entering the factory coming every morning from Weymouth via the South Shore. This is a good indication of what the firm is doing and going to do in the future.

AN INDIANA DESPERADO

Is Released on Bonds After Trying to Clean Out a Town.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., June 12.—Babe Hawkins, with a gang of 30 men armed to the teeth, surprised the town by appearing on the streets for the purpose of avenging the death of his brother, Charles Hawkins, who was lynched a year ago for shooting the city marshal. He first met ex-Sheriff McGill and informed him of his mission, and then started on a hunt for ex-Sheriff McDougall, whom he said he would kill on sight. They met on a corner and each drew his pistol. McDougall seized the desperado and a desperate struggle ensued. McGill rushed to the scene and was felled by Hawkins, who blew a whistle, which brought his 30 men to his rescue. A melee followed, and in the rush McDougall's leg was broken and several knife wounds were inflicted on him. Citizens came out by hundreds and a general fight ensued. Ex-Sheriff McGill was stabbed and is in a critical condition. McDougall held on to Hawkins until he was disarmed and in the custody of the police. Hawkins' wife also waded into a fight with a knife. The officers hurried Hawkins off to the city court. Over 500 men gathered at the scene and a lynching was looked for. Justice C. Ryerford held an examination and bound Hawkins over to June 30 under $4000 bonds. This he secured, and guarded by his gang drove off.

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in about two weeks. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize. Full particulars will be announced about June 17.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all the holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore,

LIZZIE IS FAVORED

By the Contradictory Evidence of Policemen.

JURYMEN ARE ASTOUNDED

At the Stories Relative to the Handleless Hatchet.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 12.—That small, broken handled hatchet which the district attorneys have introduced as the implement with which Lizzie Borden chopped to pieces the heads of her father and stepmother is proving a fatal weapon to the case for the commonwealth. It figured in the most sensational episode of Friday's proceedings and died deadly execution upon two of the most important witnesses for the prosecution. It again figured Saturday in a still more dramatic and sensational incident, at the end of which two more witnesses, on whom the prosecution have been building strong hopes, were totally destroyed. It looks as though it would be upon the three and a half inch edge of this useful little household tool that the case for the commonwealth would split.

Not only did two men distinctly contradict each other in their testimony regarding the discovery of the hatchet, but two more men again, and in even a more detailed and specific way.

Contradicted Each Other

with reference to another important matter in connection with it. Assistant Marshal Fleet had sworn in the most positive way that there was no handle found in the box in which the hatchet was discovered; that the handle of the hatchet found in the box at the time and its broken end fitted to the broken end of the wood which still remained in the iron blade. Marshal Fleet, being recalled, elaborate pains being taken to see that he had no communication with the last witness or with anybody interested in the prosecution, again swore even more positively than before that there was no hatchet handle in the box or near it and that no hatchet handle was found at the time the hatchet itself was discovered.

EX-GOVERNOR ROBINSON.

Detective Medley swore on Saturday that on the Monday following the murder, which occurred on Thursday, he took the hatchet from the box and

Wrapped It In a Piece of Newspaper.

He even described the paper in which he wrapped it, and to still further emphasize that point, he in open court, with a small corner of a newspaper torn off for the purpose, illustrated by actually folding up the hatchet as he stood by the stenographer's desk, precisely the manner in which he folded it on the Monday in question, and just the size of the parcel it made when folded.

Immediately following him came another policeman, a police captain, named Dennis Desmond, who said that at the same time and occasion as that to which Medley had referred he had folded up the hatchet, and he, too, to the edification of the court and the jury practically illustrated how he had done the folding by taking a complete newspaper and wrapping up the hatchet in a piece of newspaper so large that it could hardly be carried anywhere else than under the arm. This he said represented the size of the parcel made when he rolled up the hatchet in the cellar and gave it to Detective Medley to carry to the marshal.

Medley swore that it was he who wrapped up the hatchet and that he had wrapped it in a piece of brown paper. Captain Desmond swore that it was he who wrapped it up and that he had wrapped it in an entire newspaper.

Jurymen Amazed.

The exhibition as Desmond, elaborately and with an air of benign contentment, illustrated exactly how he had folded the great newspaper sheet was almost pitiable. The juryman could not contain their amazement and glanced with astonished eyes at each other as they sat. District Attorney Knowlton stood with bulldog stolidity under the ridiculous plight his witness was placing both himself and the commonwealth. District Attorney Moody, who is younger and more nervous, fidgeted with flushed face in his chair. Mr. Jennings, of the counsel of the defense, could not command his features, and with his back to the witness and with his face twitching with suppressed amusement, looked at the clock high up on the wall.

Throughout the courtroom there was a silence so deep and profound that the rustling of the paper was heard as Desmond Cheerfully and Complacently folded it and wrapped around it the narrow little blade of the treacherous hatchet. Lizzie Borden, her hand resting on the railing in front of the witness box, drummed, pressed and smoothed the slippery surface with her thumb and forefinger, her pale face expressionless and her eyes cast down.

Governor Robinson, with his left hand thrust deep into his trousers, grimly watched the witness sinking with his fellow officer who had preceded him deeper and deeper into the slough. Every day in this trial has its own sensation and criticism has been mounting and this was the contribution of the last day of the week. The excitement of Saturday's event was in some respects keener than that attending any preceding episode in the trial. Everybody knew its significance and the terrible weapon it put in the hands of the defense. So rapid was the attention that it was quite half a minute after the episode was over before the audience got its breath. Then there was a rustle and a whispering and exclamations uttered half aloud, which required a rap of the gavel from the portentous sheriff to suppress.

Points of the Defense.

The counsel for the defense will argue that the hatchet now brought forward as the weapon with which the murders were done was pitched upon only after the other hatchets on which they had at first pinned the faith was discarded.

Assistant Marshal Fleet testified that when he first went to the cellar he found two axes and two hatchets, and that one of these hatchets had suspicious marks upon it; that he put it to one side behind certain articles, where it would not be found. On that same visit he found the same hatchet now selected as the fatal weapon, and after he had looked at it and found it a part of a lot of dusty rubbish, with no indication of recent use, tossed it back into the box in which he had found it as of no consequence.

Then came the discovery that the spots on the hatchet he had put aside were not blood spots, and that the hair clinging to it was a cow's hair. Then it was that the police fell back upon the dust-covered hatchet with the bit of broken handle in the eye. Yet this hatchet had in the meantime been from the Thursday on which Fleet first saw it to the Monday following, when Desmond and Medley took it away and tell absurdly contradictory stories about the way they took it away.

Lying In Open Sight

The defense will ask the judge to consider if it is at all probable that, had Lizzie done the deed, she would have left the weapon she did it with lying there all this time when she had had abundant opportunity to put it out of the way. It was only when the first hatchet selected proved worthless, it will be argued, that the little hatchet with its broken bit of handle began to loom into importance. It would not do to have the handle found, because, maybe, there were no blood stains on it.

As to whether there was a handle in the box with the hatchet-head, you have your choice of believing either one of two policemen who flatly contradicted each other on this point. One of them was a patrolman who did as he was told and was not supposed to know all his superior officer's plans. He swore there was a handle. The other was next to the highest officer on the force and knew just what theories the police were building up. He swore there was no handle.

THE WASHINGTON DISASTER.

Families of Most of the Victims In Need of Assistance.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The remains of the dead victims of the horrible wreck of Ford's theater Friday, have nearly all been disposed of. Washington was yesterday a city of funerals, and all day long mourners have gone about the streets.

Every one knew what the sad proceedings meant, and the sympathy of all was extended, albeit, unexpressed in many cases. Inquiry confirms the statement that none of the victims were men of property. Most of them lived on their salaries, which furnished means of livelihood, but left little for a day like this. Most of them were married, and some had large families, who are now left, if not wholly dependent upon friends and relatives, at least lacking in funds for their immediate use.

The entire party wear the colors of the Chicago Cycling club. Roe's schedule is 65 days, 20 days better than the record held by Nelson A. Bradt. The men may also beat the record to Chicago. This record is held by Charles E. Neilson and is 14 days.

Dynamiter Gilbert's Plans.

LONDON, June 12.—James Gilbert, the dynamiter recently released from Portland prison, because he was thought to be near death, sailed on the steamship Chester from Southampton. Gilbert said that he intended to direct the government's attention to the pitiable cases of Americans imprisoned at Portland. Gallagher, he said, had become hopelessly insane, and Daly was dying slowly. Other political prisoners were threatened with insanity.

PUEBLA, Mex., June 12.—The most disastrous storm that has ever visited this part of Mexico, is reported from the town of Panchemetta. Every house in the place was swept away by the terrific wind. The town had a population of about 300 persons, all of whom were made homeless.

Bankers' Lives In Danger.

WATERLOO, La., June 12.—The depositors of the defunct National bank of Cedar Falls have rejected the proposition of J. H. March to pay 80 cents on the dollar for the certificates of deposits. Threats have been made against the lives of Field brothers, owners of the bank.

MANET BEACH, HOUGHS NECK.

The Prettiest Seaside Resort Near Boston—Modern Conveniences.

The Present Season the Most Prosperous in Its History—The Attractions.

Twenty years ago the idea of a family who were compelled to live on an annual income of a thousand dollars, owning and occupying for several months in the year their own little cottage at the seashore, would have been looked upon as too expensive and impossible an arrangement to be seriously considered even for a moment.

Now all that is changed. The great middle class have at last waked up to the idea that it is just as easy for them to enjoy the cool ocean breezes, the beautiful views, pleasant out-door life, and all the attendant joys of a summer residence at the seashore, as it is for the so-called "four hundred," though of course in a simpler and more unpretentious way.

Everyone likes the seashore, and most families who do not go to the beach for the whole summer pass most of their vacations there, and make frequent trips on Sundays and holidays during the hot weather to some popular transient resort, often spending enough money in a single day to pay all the expenses of living for weeks if they owned a place of their own at some quiet spot along the coast.

Most of the vacation resorts are far removed from the cities, and business men must either be separated from their families most of the time during the summer, or else the season at the seaside must be limited to the few weeks' holiday the head of the family can snatch from the cares of business.

But right here within sight of the State House dome on Beacon Hill, is one of the most picturesque and delightful seashore resorts on the whole coast, with transportation facilities such as to make it possible for a business man to be with his family at the beach fourteen or fifteen hours out of the twenty-four, and still not neglect business in the least.

How much better it is, as all who have tried it will testify, to have one's own little cottage by the sea, within half an hour's ride from the city, where the whole family can live from May to October—and actually be able to live cheaper than if they lived at home—than to break up the family for three or four months, or else be able to enjoy only a fortnight's rest at the shore, and swelter in the city for the balance of the season.

When the vacation comes it can be passed as pleasantly here as elsewhere, while the cost of taking the family away for a brief sojourn at some distant resort will pay nearly all the expense of living for a whole season at one of these beaches near the city.

Without saying anything in disparagement of any of the other pleasant resorts which encircle the harbor and bay within easy distance of Boston, the reader's attention is particularly called to the claims of one of the most desirable, Manet Beach, or to use the good, old-fashioned name—Houghs Neck.

Here is a thriving summer city of several hundred neat cottages about half an hour from Boston or Brockton situated on a pleasant range of hills almost entirely surrounded by the sea, with charming views of Boston Harbor and its hundreds of beautiful islets, Quincy and Dorchester bays and a land view unsurpassed in eastern Massachusetts, embracing as it does the city of Boston and a dozen or more of its suburban cities and towns.

An electric road connects the favored spot with the historic city of Quincy, and cars run every half hour to the depot from 6 in the morning until midnight all through the hot weather making the trip—which is a most delightful one along the shores of Quincy Bay—in about a quarter of an hour.

Before the electric road was built, there were only a few families who passed the season at the beach, though it was always a favorite spot to drive to for a day's outing.

The Land Company, which was formed at the time the road was built, have taken steps to advertise the place and attract permanent summer residents, and now at the commencement of the fourth year of its existence, it may well be proud of what has been accomplished. Some four hundred households have been sold, over a hundred new houses and several stores, and hotel have been built a post office and daily newspaper established; bulkheads built along the sea front wherever necessary; streets have been built, trees planted, the low lands cleared and drained, and everything possible done to beautify, improve and enhance the value of the land.

The question is often asked, what will be the total cost of buying a lot and erecting a comfortable cottage? Of course this depends largely on the location of the lot and the requirements of the family who are to occupy the cottage. Very good lots of 4000 to 5000 feet can be had in almost any section of the property at from two to three hundred dollars, and the restrictions call for a building costing not less than $500, which will build a neat comfortable house of six or seven rooms, with a piazza, so that the total cost need not exceed $800, which amount can be paid in such a way as not to be seriously felt by the purchaser.

In case the owner is unable for any reason to occupy it, such a house will rent quickly for from $125 to $150 a season, which will pay good interest on the investment.

Front lots command somewhat higher prices, but can be had from $400 to $600, and terms are the same in all cases, viz: 3 down and $5 a month until one-fourth the purchase price is paid, when deed is passed and company takes a three year mortgage at six per cent. interest for the balance. Liberal discount is made for cash.

Many summer residents find it convenient and economical to make a long season at the beach and board or take apartments in the city during the cold weather, contending that this is the cheapest and most satisfactory way to live, enabling them to enjoy all the pleasures of country and seashore life during the pleasant season of the year, with none of the discomforts or inconveniences of the same in winter.

Land values, of course, are increasing steadily all the time and will doubtless go much higher as the place continues to build up, so that the field for investment is still good.

Just a word about what people find to do at Houghs Neck. It is essentially a quiet place, and therein lies its chief charm. To the seeker after excitement, there is, however, enough to satisfy all reasonable demands.

The facilities for yachting are unsurpassed, as is evidenced by the fact that, with all the miles of water frontage possessed by the city of Quincy, the Quincy Yacht Club makes its headquarters here, and has a commodious and handsome club house on the beach. The water is smooth enough for row boats, and hundreds of small craft may be seen any pleasant day in the waters on either side of the Neck. Fish of the various kinds found in this latitude may be obtained within easy distance of the shore, and clams, lobsters, etc., are abundant. A good beach, and water invariably several degrees warmer than ten miles away on the north side of the harbor, makes the bathing all that can be desired, and the sport is indulged in by hundreds when the tide is right.

Band concerts, hops, etc., are furnished frequently for those inclined to that class of amusements, and the annual illumination at the close of the season is one of the most brilliant and interesting events, being participated in quite universally by the summer residents.

No intoxicating liquors of any kind are sold at the beach, and although large numbers of people visit the Neck on pleasant Sundays and holidays, the crowd is always orderly, and disturbances of any kind are almost unknown.

Much more might be said about the place and its many advantages as a summer resort for business men and their families, but lack of space prevents going too much into details. Briefly summed up, the claims of Manet Beach to pre-eminence as a desirable summer home are as follows:

1st.—Accessibility to Boston and Brockton, half-hourly cars and good train connections, bringing the actual running time down to anywhere from half to three quarters of an hour.

2d.—Pure air, pure water, high land, good streets, beautiful views, fine beach, good boating, bathing and fishing.

3d.—Liberal and equitable policy in the management of the property by the controlling company, enabling the summer home seeker to obtain all he can reasonably expect at prices and terms nowhere equalled within the same distance of Boston and combining the advantages possessed by this property.

Petitions.
Several petitions were received from state aid, common victuallers licenses, and licenses to sell fireworks. To Committee on Licenses.

A petition from H. E. Ricker and others for street light near bridge on Bigelow street. To Committee on Lights.

Councilman Rooney presented a petition from citizens of Ward Four remonstrating against extending Hall place.

Reports of Committees.
The Committee on Licenses reported orders granting permission to sell fireworks to McGovern Bros. Ella M. Freeman and E. S. Kilpatrick; to sell naphtha, to John W. Nash; to keep store and sell gunpowder, to Oriental Powder Co; common victuallers license, to O. E. Chick and John H. Wales and to keep intelligence office, to Emeline Hewins, all of which were adopted.

Theodore W. Howe was granted State aid of $8 per month.

The Committee on Finance reported slight amendment to order appropriating $1,200 for construction of stone drain on Center street. Under suspension of rules the order was passed to be ordained.

The Committee on Streets reported leave to withdraw on petition for acceptance of street at Wollaston Park, also a petition for acceptance of Ocean street and Huchins avenue.

The Committee on Fire Department, an order appropriating $400 for repairs of the Chemical at Atlantic reported not expedient to spend that amount on that piece of apparatus and recommended that the Mayor be authorized to purchase a Hose wagon for Ward 6 and that $600 be appropriated therefor.

Public Hearing.
The hearing on the petition to change the location of street railway tracks on Hancock street was then held.

Horace F. Spear spoke in behalf of the petition. He said that people on that side of the street did not have the same privilege as the other side and the assessors make no allowance. The sleepers and wires are exposed.

President Graham remonstrated. He said counsel for petition has spent three-fourths of an hour in denouncing the railroad and not gone into the question at all. All electric tracks are dangerous whether in center or on side of streets. It has been eleven months since the road has had a claim against it for damages. Eight-tenths of our line is on the side of the street. We have letters from the abutters complaining that the gong is rung too much. We have spent $2,500 for paving outside of the tracks. We are trying to accommodate the public and for two years the company has not made a dollar. Do not think we ought to change location.

Hon. William A. Hodges said if a stranger should come here he would think some dragon had dropped down upon us. The question is how many are inconvenienced and how many are accom-

BRAINTREE.

A Missing Domestic Found in a Pond at South Braintree.

Nothing had been heard from her until the finding of the body.

Medical Examiner Gilbert viewed the remains and decided that it was a case of suicide. The family say that she has acted strangely of late and the opinion seems to be that she was demented. She was about 49 years of age.

THE

—OF—

JUNE

Comes next Saturday, and we propose to make the day a memorable one for all who make a visit to our property at

MANET BEACH.

We want to sell a number of house lots on that day, and we are willing to make some inducements to purchasers.

In addition to our usual custom of giving a free pass on the electric road for the entire season to every purchaser and allowing a commission to all lot owners who introduce purchasers, we propose to make the following remarkable offer:

For every lot sold on the seventeenth we offer a cash credit of ten dollars on another lot to the fortunate one among the purchasers on that day, the method of choosing the winner to be announced on the day of the sale. That is, if five lots are sold $50 credit will be given; if ten are sold, $100; if twenty, $200, and so on, the lucky purchaser to select the lot from any unsold at five o'clock on the seventeenth, credit to be given on the bottom market price of the lot selected.

If we have a successful sale the winner ought to get a good lot free. It is worth trying for, and you get full value for your money anyway in the lot you purchase. Come everybody and bring your friends.

We will furnish free tickets on the electric cars to all who apply to our office in Boston, or at the office of our Brockton agent, Mr. Scott, on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, but we have decided not to issue any free tickets on the Old Colony Railroad, as we regret to say large numbers of people are unprincipled enough to avail themselves of our generous offer, and apply for tickets between Boston, Quincy and Brockton when they have no thought of coming to the beach at all.

If any come to the beach meaning business, however, we will reimburse them for any expense they may incur in getting there.

Read the descriptive article on Manet Beach in another column, and see what has been accomplished.

In a few days, as soon as the cottages are more generally occupied, we shall announce in full our great offer of credit on a lot to be selected by the person receiving the largest number of votes as the most popular resident of the Beach, votes to be with coupons in the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER, and continuing through the season until some time in August. Watch for it and save your papers for the coupons. They will be valuable by-and-bye.

Come down on the seventeenth, become a lot-owner and enter the contest. There will be some fun before the season is over.

AN EXCITING SCENE

At the Inquest into the Ford's Theater Disaster.

MURDERED MY BROTHER

Shouted at Colonel Ainsworth by One of the Witnesses.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Dr. Shaffer, the deputy coroner of the district, conducted the inquest into the Ford theatre disaster which began yesterday. The jury included architects and builders.

A letter from Secretary Lamont was read, giving assurance that no clerk need fear dismissal on account of his testimony. The deputy coroner called the jury to order and prefaced the investigation by a statement that holding an investigation in a public hall was something of an experiment, and he admonished the public present to keep perfectly quiet.

There was Nobody on Trial, he said. The jury would simply endeavor to get at the facts in the case. He stated that the inquest was to be held over the remains of J. A. Chapin, whose body had been selected for that purpose.

Benjamin Reiss, a clerk of the record and pension division, employed in the old theater building, was the first witness called.

He had been excused, he said, at 9 o'clock on the morning of the disaster and was not present at the building's collapse. He had heard it rumored for several years that the building was unsafe. A day or two before the accident he had seen Colonel Ainsworth at the building. He was there while the excavation was going on.

Smith Thompson, a clerk in the theatre building, who made a bitter speech denouncing Colonel Ainsworth at the relief meeting on Friday, testified that when the accident occurred he was at his desk at work on the second floor, to the rear of the light wall, the part of the building which did not fall.

In describing his experience he said that there was

No Fire Escape on the building and only one door for entrance and exit. He had hooked an umbrella to a window sill and lowered himself by it to a ladder, which some one below him held, and thus escaped from the building.

After two other witnesses had testified there was a strange scene, illustrating a bitter feeling against Colonel Ainsworth. A majority of the spectators present at the inquest were clerks who were employed in the old theater building. Mr. Warner, one of the jurors, asked Dr. Shaffer what was the feeling of the clerks in the theater building toward their superior officer, Colonel Ainsworth.

"That of abject fear," answered Mr. Thompson, impressively. A slight buzz and shifting of chairs followed. Then a slight clapping of hands. Dr. Shaffer looked astonished, and Colonel Ainsworth grew red. Dr. Shaffer arose and delivered a lecture to the offenders.

At the afternoon session of the inquest a well-dressed man walked forward, and with a voice trembling with passion, shaking his fist in Colonel Ainsworth's face, shouted:

"You Murdered My Brother, and you shan't sit there intimidating these witnesses." The man was Charles Barnes, whose brother was a victim of the disaster. After the uproar had subsided, Mr. Davis, representing Colonel Ainsworth, began to speak when a dozen excited department clerks rose to their feet and shouted for him to sit down. The excitement grew in intensity. Nearly every clerk present, who was employed in the old building, was on his feet shouting. At first they only called "Sit down," "Shut your mouth," but finally cried "Hang him; hang him!"

She Her Father-in-Law. PITTSBURGH, June 13.—Mrs. Eva Buffin, wife of Dr. Frank Buffin, having won the first round before the grand jury in the litigation between herself and her husband and father-in-law yesterday, followed up her victory by entering suit to recover $10,000 from her father-in-law, Dr. C. Buffin, for false imprisonment and arrest.

Decided to Go Out of Business. STAMFORD, Conn., June 13.—T. B. Smart & Co., straw hat makers, employing 30 persons, announced yesterday their intention of going out of business this week. The illness of Mr. Smart is the principal reason for this action, there being no financial difficulty. The firm will try to lease the factory to another firm before autumn.

Attacked by an Elephant. BOSTON, June 13.—Edwin Goss, employed by Barnum & Bailey's circus, met with a bad accident yesterday morning. One of the large elephants broke loose and knocked Goss over with his trunk and stepped upon him. Goss was rescued by one of the keepers and is now at the City hospital.

Thrown From His Wheel. HUDSON, N. Y., June 13.—Tom Roe, in his bicycle trip against time from New York to San Francisco, met with an accident yesterday at Union Corners by being thrown from his wheel. He remained unconscious for an hour. He rallied, however, and started for Albany.

New Railroad Line Opened. WOODSOKET, R. I., June 13.—Trains began running regularly yesterday between Providence and Southbridge, Mass., via the New York and New England's seven-mile line connecting its Pawcatuck branch with its main line at Douglas Junction.

Street Railroad Bought Up. ATTLEBORO, Mass., June 13.—Homer M. Daggett, Jr., president of the Attleboro, North Attleboro and Westport Street railway, has obtained possession of all the stock of that road. The price paid ranged from $1.50 per share up.

An Award For Land Damages. BOSTON, June 13.—An award of $34,424 against this city in favor of Benjamin F. Ricker and others for land damages was made yesterday by a third session jury of the superior court.

IN SECOND PLACE.

Stivetta Puzled Pittsburgh and Boston Won Good Batting and Fielding.

BOSTON, June 13.—The game yesterday was an interesting one, yet the Pittsburgh found Stivetta an enigma, while Ehret was batted freely. The fielding was good until the latter part of the game, when both teams weakened somewhat. Long, Duffy and Down in the ball in great shape, and the fielding of the two former players, with that of Stivetta, Shugart and Lyons, was fine. Duffy caught Ehret at the home plate on a great throw from center field. The upspring was good.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

modated. He knew people who would like to have tracks moved to their side of the street. Others who ride in carriages do not want it in the middle of the street. What are we going to do, put it on wheels? When the town or city has given a corporation a right it should stick to it. He did not see the least ground for taking up the tracks.

John A. Duggan read a letter received from Elliot Stoddard, dated July, 1890, complaining because the gong was rung too much; also a petition setting forth in strong language, received August, 1890, signed by Messrs. Stoddard, Beckford, Hall, Flint, Lombard, Ditson and others.

S. A. Foster, in behalf of the petitioners, went over practically the same argument as given by him at the last hearing. He believed it for the best interest of the public that the tracks should be changed. It was a strange argument that after a location was granted it should not be changed. The railroad does not give the cost of this change but says that it will cripple them. It is the fear on their part that if this is granted others would come in. Hancock street is a broad street, and with tracks in the centre teams could pass on each side.

W. G. A. Pattee spoke at length in remonstrance. He was sorry that the road was not worth millions that it might change its tracks every day to meet the whim of some fastidious person. It would like to accommodate everybody but it cannot do it. He believed if the location was changed that inside of two years these same people would have some other objection. Mr. Stoddard in 1890 complained that they rang the gong too much and now he comes here through his attorney and says they do not ring it. Where are the other petitioners and the traveling public that are inconvenienced? The hearing then closed and the order was recommended.

Higher Rate of Interest.

A communication was received from the Mayor asking for authority to change interest on orders No. 39, appropriating $2000, and No. 20, appropriating $15,000 from 4 per cent. to 4½ per cent.

Councilman Moxon offered an order covering this point which was referred to Committee on Finance.

A Point of Order.

The Committee on Streets reported an order on the communication from the Mayor granting permission to set poles on Atlantic, Granite and Kent streets.

Councilman Federhen raised the point of order that the order was incomplete as it did not state to whom authority was granted.

The Chair ruled order was in proper form.

Councilman Federhen appealed from ruling of the chair.

Councilman Holbrook moved to lay appeal on the table. Lost.

Councilman Federhen claimed that the wording of the order did not mean anything.

Councilman Moxon said this was just such an order as has been passed by this and other councils. If he understood English it was a request from the Mayor that he might give permission to someone to erect poles.

Councilman Smith thought it would be better if name of party was in the order.

The Council refused to sustain the chair. Upon motion of Councilman Federhen the order was recommended.

Adjourned at 10:05.

YACHTING SEASON.

It is Now Fully Opened At Houghs

Neck.

FINE HAUL OF COD MONDAY.

Other Little Items of Interest to Residents at Manet Beach.

The yachting season is now fully opened. Almost all the yachts belonging to the Quincy Yacht club are now in commission and from all appearances a lively season is anticipated. The fast boats of the fleet are looking smooth and present a very pretty picture as they sweep down and huff up to fetch the float. The skippers have not as yet complete control over their little crafts for several have made a vain attempt to cut the pier in two.

The Aurora proved rather a wet boat in Sunday's breeze.

The Beatrice stands up as well under a stiff breeze as she did last year and according to the judgment of the "Old Salts" who gather on the club house piazza will give Small's new fin a rough wake to sail in.

The cruiser class of the club has been swelled by the addition of several new boats. The owners are, as yet, not competent enough to enter among the racers.

If one wants to enjoy a month to the fullest extent come to the beach, buy a small cat and join the club. Nantasket and Downer's Landing, famous summer resorts, are both in a radius of five miles and one can run over to Hull or Pemberton in less than a half an hour.

Thick weather yesterday afternoon at the beach. Quite a chorus of fog whistles from the deep bass of the horn on Boston light to the shrill treble of the small launch.

The Manet Street Railway timetable appears in this issue. Cars will be run on Saturday and Sunday, and also every day after July 1, half hourly.

At the Davy Crockett fish market octagons are sure of always finding fresh fish lobsters and clams.

Board by the day or week may be obtained and they do say it is the place to get a good dinner.

Pierce's Hotel has been a resort for many annual picnics and his shore dinners are a great attraction.

Henry W. French is the local representative of the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER and will soon take up his residence at Houghs Neck. Having passed the summer here for several seasons he is well acquainted with the territory and the people, but nevertheless he needs the help of all to make the paper newsy.

The ride on the electric cars from Quincy to Manet beach is unsurpassed for beauty and variety of scenery anywhere in the State.

THIS IS PETE WEEK.

States and Nations Getting Ready For Their Jubilees.

BENJAMIN HARRISON THERE

As Guest of President Palmer of the National Committee.

CHICAGO, June 12.—This is to be a week of fete at the fair. There will be six altogether, three of them being on Thursday, when more people are expected to visit the fair than on any day since the opening. The German Turners and singing societies will easily be in the majority on that day, both in numbers and in merrymaking. At least 50,000 Germans are expected, and there will be many more if the day be clear.

Indiana folks are going to have great times with music, speechmaking, school children's exercises and flowers. All the notable men in Indiana are coming up, with 15,000 or 20,000 other enthusiastic Hoosiers.

Arkansas people to the number of 2000 or 3000 are also coming to startle the world with the wonders of their exhibits. All these events occur on Thursday.

The Infants

started the ball of fete days today by helping Senator Paye de Lome dedicate the Spanish pavilion and the exhibits in the Manufactures and Agricultural and Machinery halls.

Tomorrow France will have a fete day.

The whole of the French pavilion, which is the handsomest foreign building at the fair, will be thrown open, and the exhibit in the Manufactures building will be opened, although it has already been free for inspection for some time. The exercises will be purely informal.

Saturday afternoon, Bunker Hill day, will be celebrated by the Massachusetts folks by an informal reception. At the building of that state Governor Russell will probably receive the guests. As the building has already been dedicated there will be no formal exercises. Friday night Governor Russell will entertain the officials of the fair and foreign representatives at a banquet at the Auditorium hotel, and on Saturday night the Massachusetts society will spread a feast in his honor at the same hostelry.

Ex-President Harrison

was a visitor at the World's fair yesterday. He came out to the grounds about 11:30 o'clock, and was the guest of President Palmer of the national committee.

Upon arriving at the grounds President Harrison was taken for a drive through the winding ways of the White City and shown the beautiful buildings. Shortly after noon President Palmer took his distinguished guest to the Administration building, where he was presented to a number of World's fair officials, after which all sat down to an elaborate luncheon.

William Mayer, the contractor who had the contract for building the auditorium, filed a sensational intervening petition yesterday in the circuit court in the suit of Steele Mackay against the Columbian Celebration company. Mayer claims that the company owes him $100,000, and he asks to have all the stockholders decreed to be partners and liable for all of the debts against the company. Mayer charges fraud and corrupt management against the incorporators of the company, Steele Mackay, Jr., and Howard O. Edmonds.

TRIED TO KILL HER CHILD.

A Crazy Woman Creates a Sensational Scene In a Church.

HANCOCK, N. Y., June 13.—Mary, the wife of Matthew McKenna, of Kerryville, walked into town yesterday wheeling a 3-months' old baby in its carriage. She went to St. Paul's Catholic church and laid the baby on the altar. Then she knelt before a picture of the virgin and prayed aloud, offering to God the baby as a living sacrifice.

A number of village women and three men entered the church before she finished her prayer, and they were started to see her rise, run to the altar, leap over the rail and throw herself on the cooing baby. She would have strangled it but for the interference of the men. It required their combined strength to hold her. The baby was taken to a neighbor's house and Dr. Drake was summoned. Mrs. McKenna grew quiet and rational in an hour or two. Her husband arrived from Kerryville and took her and the child home. This is the first time she has shown evidence of insanity. She has a brother in a Pennsylvania insane asylum.

Disgraced Cyclists.

MANASQUAN, N. J., June 13.—Thomas A. Zimmerman, the father of the crack bicycle rider, received a cablegram yesterday announcing that the champion rider would leave England for this country on Saturday. Walter Sanger, the champion Milwaukee rider, who is in England with Zimmerman, leaves on the same steamer. Both leave because the English bicyclists refused them a license to enter races as amateurs.

Nice, June 13.—Arthur Cipriani, a relative of the notorious socialist of the same name, was arrested as a spy in this city yesterday. He had been surveying the roads on the Italian frontier, and his work was almost completed when he was taken into custody. Plans for this country and plans of several French forts on the Italian frontier. These he acknowledged were intended for the use of the Italian government.

THE BUILDING BOOM.

An Unusually Active Season for Carpenters and Builders at

MANET BEACH, HOUGHS NECK.

Taber's New Mammoth Amusement Building Nearly Completed—
Many Attractions.

Mr. James D. Taber has nearly completed his mammoth amusement building, which is even larger than the Casino, hitherto the largest building on the Neck. "A-merry-go-round" with flying horses is the chief feature of the new structure, measuring about one hundred and thirty feet in circumference on the outside. It will be run by an electric motor, power being supplied by the street railway company. A monster new soda fountain, of very artistic design, from the Boston factory of James W. Tufts, and counters for the sale of cigars, tobacco, confectionery, temperance drinks, etc., will fill up the greater part of the Sea street front of the building. The band stand has been moved over and attached to one corner, and music will be furnished frequently during the season. Three new bowling alleys are being laid on the north side and a complete complement of new pins and balls will be put in. Prizes will be offered for the best strings, and in view of the great popularity of this sport just now, this will doubtless prove a big feature. In the rear, billiard and pool tables are to be found for the devotees of that class of amusements. Seats will be furnished for spectators to watch the flying horses, and the establishment will be run in first-class style throughout. The outside of the building is being neatly painted. It is surmounted by a round cupola of unique design with flag staff in the centre surmounted by an immense eagle, and altogether presents a very attractive appearance both inside and out. Mr. Taber expects to have everything in readiness to open on Saturday, the seventeenth of June, and will doubtless get a large patronage if the day is fair.

Mr. W. H. Ferris, who conducted the Birds' Nest last season, will be found in new quarters this summer, having leased the premises belonging to Mr. Joseph T. French, at the corner of Sea street and Bay View avenue. Mr. Ferris has made extensive alterations and repairs, and erected a small building for his rapidly growing photographing business. Mr. Ferris is making a good bid for his share of the public's patronage and deserves to get it.

Mr. J. L. Harvey has improved his Sea street establishment by the addition of a commodious dining room, and has taken out a victualler's license, so he will be prepared to furnish solid refreshments in addition to his former business of tonics, ice cream, &c.

The painters are just putting the finishing touches to Mr. Herbert S. Barker's handsome new cottage on Manet avenue, near Winthrop street. It is one of the most pleasantly situated houses at the Neck, and Mr. Barker will doubtless take much comfort therein.

Mr. John F. Tuckett, of Jamaica Plain, has completed his new house on Manet avenue, having done a good deal of the work himself. It is a neat cottage, tastily painted, and the piazza commands a fine view across Quincy bay.

Mr. John V. Scott, of Brockton, is the first to erect a cottage at this beach in the Western style—boarded in on the inside and papered, with the clapboards nailed to uprights on the outside. It is quite a novelty in this section and has attracted considerable attention. Mr. Scott's cottage is on lot 156 on Weymouth street and is a neat and attractive building.

Mr. W. H. Taylor, the builder, has been so busy of late that he has found it hard to finish work on his own house and shop, but the buildings are now rapidly approaching completion, and are quite an addition to the section.

Mr. Charles Bleiler's new house on Manet avenue is going to be one of the best on the beach with its 10-foot piazza and extra large floor space inside. Col. William Jacobs of Roxbury, an intimate friend of Mr. Bleiler's, will build a similar cottage on the adjoining lot. A Boston contractor has the job in charge.

Miss Sarah C. Meehan's cottage on Babcock street is all up and boarded in, and she expects to be able to occupy it before the end of the month.

Mr. Henry Kiese, of Roxbury, is building a neat cottage at the corner of Babcock and Malvern streets.

Mrs. Rhoda M. Brown, of Quincy, expects to have the new cottage now building for her at the corner of Manet avenue and Sea street ready to occupy in a few days. It is a very comfortable cottage and situated on a desirable corner.

Mr. W. H. Taylor is at work on what promises to be a very attractive looking cottage for Mr. Franklin G. Morse, of Holbrook. It is located on Winthrop street, and the view, which never can be interrupted, is one of the finest on the whole beach.

The large addition Mr. Taylor has been making to Mr. J. Milton's bakery on Sea street gives him greater facilities for his growing business, and the large new oven he has put in will doubtless be kept busy through the season. Many of the cottage finding it very convenient to be spared the heat and trouble of cooking during the hot weather.

G. W. Peterson has completed his cottage on Winthrop street. It is small, but well built, conveniently arranged, and very tastily painted.

Mr. Fred Packard of Brockton, is building a substantial 7-room cottage on Darrow street in "Ward 3."

One of the handsomest cottages in "Ward Three" or, in fact anywhere on the beach is that of Mrs. Effie Willard of Brockton on Turner street, which is just receiving the finishing touches at the hands of the painters.

Mr. William Shawwhit has completed his house on River road.

Mr. Arthur Winnett of Mattapan, has purchased a lot on Littlefield street from John V. Scott, and is putting up a small cottage.

C. H. Cole of Brockton, is the contractor for Mr. Scott's new house on Weymouth street and he is also building Mr. F. W. Packard's cottage on Darrow street.

Read the remarkable offer made by the Manet Land Associates in their advertisement in another column.

Mr. Arthur Legarde, of Stoughton, is having a pretty cottage built on Darrow street, by Builder Holbrook of Stoughton.

Dana Hall of Brockton, was the builder of Mr. Weeks' new seven room cottage on Centre road, between Rogers and Bell street.

Mrs. Augusta Beansang, of Stoughton, expects to occupy the cottage that Mr. Holbrook, of the same town is now building for her on Darrow street.

THE WILD WAVES SAY.

There will be a dance at the Casino on Saturday night, the 17th—the first of the season. Prof. Holmes, of Brockton, will furnish the music, as usual.

Mr. John N. Scott of Brockton, moved down this week, and will occupy Mr. Fred W. Packard's new cottage on Darrow street. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Matthews, of Brockton, will make their home with Mr. Scott during the summer. Mr. Matthews will represent the land company as resident agent.

Mr. Emil Lagergren has sold for John H. Dinegan of Quincy, his house, barn and land on River road to Charles P. Hilstrom, of Campello. The terms of the sale are private, but it is understood that the price paid was in the neighborhood of $1,400. Mr. Lagergren, who represented the Land company at the beach last season intends to pass the summer at Houghs Neck. He will transact a general real estate business, and has a number of good houses and lots for sale, as well as cottages to rent.

The Manet Lunch room, formerly the Clamshell, at the corner of Sea street and Centre road, looks neat in a fresh coat of paint. The little store on River road now bears the name of "The Clamshell," and as Manager George Sanborn says, "our store is small, but our goods are first-class."

In order to give our soda water customers the latest "wrinkles" in ice cream soda, we have made arrangements with caterer Wales to supply us (daily) with an assortment of the popular flavors of ice cream which we shall use at our fountain. # QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

VOL 4. NO 138

QUINCY, MASS. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1893.

PRICE 2 CENTS

THE SEVENTEENTH — OF — JUNE

Comes next Saturday, and we propose to make the day a memorable one for all who make a visit to our property at

MANET BEACH.

We want to sell a number of house lots on that day, and we are willing to make some inducements to purchasers.

In addition to our usual custom of giving a free pass on the electric road for the entire season to every purchaser and allowing a commission to all lot owners who introduce purchasers, we propose to make the following remarkable offer:

For every lot sold on the seventeenth we offer a cash credit of ten dollars on another lot to the fortunate one among the purchasers on that day, the method of choosing the winner to be announced on the day of the sale. That is, if five lots are sold $50 credit will be given; if ten are sold, $100; if twenty, $200, and so on, the lucky purchaser to select the lot from any unsold at five o'clock on the seventeenth, credit to be given on the bottom market price of the lot selected.

If we have a successful sale the winner ought to get a good lot free. It is worth trying for, and you get full value for your money anyway in the lot you purchase. Come everybody and bring your friends.

We will furnish free tickets on the electric cars to all who apply to our office in Boston, or at the office of our Brockton agent, Mr. Scott, on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, but we have decided not to issue any free tickets on the Old Colony Railroad, as we regret to say large numbers of people are unprincipled enough to avail themselves of our generous offer, and apply for tickets between Boston, Quincy and Brockton when they have no thought of coming to the beach at all.

If any come to the beach meaning business, however, we will reimburse them for any expense they may incur in getting there.

Read the descriptive article on Manet Beach in another column, and see what has been accomplished.

In a few days, as soon as the cottages are more generally occupied, we shall announce in full our great offer of credit on a lot to be selected by the person receiving the largest number of votes as the most popular resident of the Beach, votes to be with coupons in the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER, and continuing through the season until some time in August. Watch for it and save your papers for the coupons. They will be valuable by-and-bye.

Come down on the seventeenth, become a lot-owner and enter the contest. There will be some fun before the season is over.

EXPERTS' OPINIONS.

Several New Points Brought Out by the Prosecution.

PROFESSOR WOOD TESTIFIES.

Government's Most Important Witnesses Sworn.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 14.—The four medical experts on the stand gave testimony that strengthened the government's position very materially. In his opening argument Mr. Moody claimed that Mrs. Borden died about one and one-half hours before her husband. The medical experts to a man established this fact.

This was the one vital point of the evidence and the one the prosecution wished to bring out. They have now, by the testimony of many witnesses, proved that Mrs. Borden's body could easily have been seen from the stairs and hallway, in fact, it was very plainly in evidence. They have proved by Bridget Sullivan's testimony that Lizzie Was Upstairs when Mr. Borden was let in the front door.

Their secondary point brought out was that the weapon with which both deaths were committed had a blade not over three and one-half inches long—the exact length of the handleless hatchet—and that the blow could have been made by a woman of ordinary strength.

It was a remarkable fact that four medical experts went through a long story of facts, as indicated to science, and agreed in most every part. In fact, the evidence on the vital points was very much alike.

Not a whit less remarkable was the failure of Lawyer Adams to jar them one bit in the cross-examination. It is well known that said that brought Mr. Adams into the case was his impetuous knowledge of expert testimony. But his skill proved of little service. The only thing working to the detriment of the government was the one thing brought out in cross-examination that the assailant, in killing Mr. Borden, had been hesitating, and that the blow was waisted up in killing Mrs. Borden, from the waist down. But that may be considerable, at any rate, it is a crumb of hope. This is the story of the day in a nutshell.

Only two incidents furnished interruption. One of these was the fainting of a juror, the other the ejection from the courtroom of a sketch artist from New York.

Lizzie Borden was out of the room all the afternoon, as one of the skulls was constantly before the jury. When she came into court she appeared much as she did Monday, although her eyes seemed red and her face somewhat swollen. She proved to be more composed, however, and Barely Lifted Her Fan to her eyes, although the plaster casts and several of her garments were thoroughly examined. Much of the time she chatted with Mr. Robinson.

Dr. Dolan continued his testimony and when he had finished Professor E. S. Wood of the Harvard medical school took the stand and proved the most interesting witness of the day. He testified in brief that he had subjected the stomachs of the murdered couple to thorough chemical tests in order to determine if traces of poison were to be found, but with negative results.

CLAIMED TO BE A MURDERER.

A Man at Newark, N. J., Says He Killed Mrs. Borden.

NEWARK, N. J., June 14.—William H. Devere, who keeps a barber shop at 8 S. Bridge street, has told Captain McMann the following story: "One afternoon last fall, I do not recollect the precise date, a man entered my shop. He was about five feet six inches tall and weighed about 150 pounds. He wore a heavy black beard and mustache. His hair was black. He was about 45 years of age. His clothes were old and dirty. He had on a black derby hat and no coat. He said he wanted me to shave off his hair, beard and mustache. I did so."

"While I was shaving the man he asked me if I would take a chew of opium. I refused. When I was finished shaving the man he asked for some writing paper. He wrote three letters and they did not seem to suit him, so he rewrote them. He wrote a fine hand and appeared to be trying to disguise his handwriting. He acted so strangely that I felt alarmed."

"Before the man went away he looked at himself in the glass and said to me: 'You would not know me would you?' I told him: 'No, I would not.' I noticed two sheets of paper on the floor that he had left behind. They were spoiled sheets that he had rewritten. One of them was addressed to Mayor Connelley of Fall River. It read: 'I murdered Mrs. Borden. I did it out of revenge. It is no use trying to catch me, because I am so disguised you would not know me.'"

The police don't know what to make of it. It is possible the man who wrote the letters was a crank.

AINSWORTH'S PLEA.

Proceedings in the Ford Theater Tragedy Case.

TRIAL BY CORONER'S JURY.

His Statement Regarding the Wrecked Building.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The proceedings in the district supreme court in the Ford's theater tragedy case yesterday were interesting. The petition filed by Colonel Ainsworth gives in detail a statement of the condition of the building and his participation in the work which, is the first statement bearing upon the case he has made since the accident.

Colonel Ainsworth says that as he had heretofore heard certain rumors touching the insecurity of the eastern wall of the building, when he assumed control of the building, he made diligent inquiry of the officers of the war department, and learned that it had been made perfectly secure and that the entire building was in every respect safe.

Having in 1888 and 1889 obtained a new steam heating apparatus and an entirely new plumbing outfit for the whole building, Colonel Ainsworth says, to further promote the comfort of the force, he procured an electric plant, and for the purpose of locating this electric plant and

To improve the Ventilation of the basement of the building it became necessary to excavate a space about 12 feet in width between two partition walls in the basement. This, he says, required to be underpinned. Colonel Ainsworth caused specifications to be made, showing the work to be done, and submitted them to the officers of the war department charged with the duty of making contracts. Bidders were required to do the work without danger, and among all the 14 bidders, Colonel Ainsworth says, there was no intimation of probable danger.

Colonel Ainsworth avers that he never entertained any idea that the work was dangerous, and denies that any of the numerous occupants of the buildings made any suggestions of danger to him or to any one else to his knowledge until after the accident.

Colonel Ainsworth says that almost immediately after the catastrophe rumors reached him that he was publicly accused of criminal negligence and was also accused in the public press. He therefore appeared with counsel at the session of the coroners, June 12, the testimony of certain witnesses tending, if explained, to implicate him in criminal negligence.

Through his counsel, Colonel Ainsworth says he requested permission of the coroner to cross-examine witnesses, but the deputy coroner refused. Subsequently he was falsely accused of intimidating witnesses and charged with murder by sundry persons in attendance, and was finally called upon to withdraw from the court by the deputy coroner and by one of the jurors. Thereupon a riotous mob surrounded him and threatened his life.

Colonel Ainsworth says he has stated the facts so fully because he is convinced that a fair investigation will result in his acquittal of all blame. He knows that by advised no man can be legally tried in a coroner's court without being present, if he so desires, and given permission to cross-examine witnesses.

Colonel Ainsworth then goes on to say that he is, in fact, now on trial in the coroner's court, and that if the verdict of the jury should charge him with responsibility the coroner has authority to commit him to trial. Under such circumstances the denial of the right to be present and examine witnesses would deprive him of the legal rights of an American citizen.

He says he is prepared to prove all his averments, and desires to produce witnesses and to cross-examine those adverse to him, and for this reason prayed that a writ of mandamus might issue, commanding the coroner to permit him to be present with counsel and examine witnesses touching any alleged criminal negligence of his and to adduce testimony in his own behalf; also commanding the deputy coroner to enforce order in his court and to adopt such measures as might be required to protect his life, which would be threatened.

District Attorney Barney filed a demurrer claiming that Colonel Ainsworth's Petition did not set forth any matter that entitled him to a writ of mandamus. Colonel Ainsworth had not been accused, said Mr. Barney, save by the newspapers. There had been no charge warrant or arrest. His position was simply this:

That fearing a something might be said that might reflect on him, he seeks to command the coroner to permit him to have counsel and conduct a trial. Investigation by a coroner's jury was not a trial, but similar to a grand jury proceeding.

Mr. Perry spoke with much feeling against the conduct of B. H. Warner, the juror who made a speech and who, Mr. Perry said, precipitated the scene that followed. He further questioned the authority of a deputy coroner to preside over an investigation of this kind, and asserted that in none of the statutes was there authority for his appointment.

Such being true, all his acts must be void. His position was that Colonel Ainsworth was in reality on trial, and being assailed was entitled to all the safe guards given by the laws. The court took the question under advisement.

Accused of Poisoning Her Son.

TRENTON, June 14.—Counselor Horatio Barton applied to Judge Abbott yesterday for a further bill of pleas in the case of Hattie Shann of Princeton, who is accused of poisoning her son, John C. Shann. He said that the bill provided by the state was not explicit enough. He said there were 38 kinds of mercurial poisons. The application was denied. The case will come up for trial on July 10.

A MISHAP.

The DAILY LEDGER is printed today under difficulties. A serious mishap happened to the regular press which may render it useless for several days. As many departments devolve on one man on a small daily newspaper, the news is not up to the usual standard, and the paper may be a little late in reaching its readers.

It was a little surprising that the unfavorable report on the petition of the Quincy & Boston Street Railway for a location in School and Pleasant streets should have been adopted without debate after the lengthy hearing given, but it has borne good fruit and it would not be surprising if there was a more determined effort to abolish the Water street grade crossing. It is said that was the prime object of the petition, and now that the movement is under full head, let it be pushed until the dangerous crossing is abolished.

MANET BEACH NEWS.

Little Items of Interest to the Residents of Houghs Neck.

Mrs. Julia Cary of Ware is at her summer residence the Pleasant View cottage at Houghs Neck, she has as her guests Miss Sarah Cary and Miss Susie Johnson.

A very ambitious horse made a lively scene at the beach Tuesday He was attached to a mowing machine and thinking he was not doing work enough started off on his own hook. He was stopped however before any great damage was done.

This weather doesn't stop people going to the beach, the cars are always well loaded.

Another disagreeable day for campers. Don't be discouraged, hot weather predicted for next week.

Did you see yesterday's LEDGER? It will give its readers a good impression of Houghs Neck and let them know that we are on the map.

It has been noticed that the beach road have employed many pleasant faced carmen. Any of them is always willing to smile at your expense.

A Birthday Party.

Miss Bertha H., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Packard, passed the eleventh mile stone in her happy young life Tuesday and she celebrated the event by the gathering of some twenty-six of her young friends at her parents' residence on Chestnut street. They spent the hours intervening between 4 and 9 o'clock as only children know how. There was games and dancing and kindred amusements not forgetting the supper which was held at 6 o'clock. The march to supper was led by Miss Bertha and Master Elmer Kicker. Miss Bertha received a watch from her parents, and numerous presents of money, etc., from her friends. It was an occasion long to be remembered by the young people, and as Miss Bertha says, she wished she could have a birthday every day. Miss Alice G. Parkard, her older sister, also received a watch from her parents.

SENATION IN CANADA.

A Quarrel Between Two of Windsor's Citizens Results in Murder.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 13.—A sensational murder was committed early last evening, which has caused considerable excitement, as the principals are well known citizens. Captain James Hickey, the victim, and John Vrooman were driving along one of the main streets, when apparently without warning Vrooman drew a revolver and shot Hickey in the left breast, pushing him out of the buggy and drove off. Hickey died instantly.

Vrooman's face was covered with blood when arrested, which would indicate that he received a blow from Hickey before doing the shooting. It is said that Vrooman has been intimate with Hickey's wife for some time, and about a week ago she mysteriously disappeared. Vrooman, after being arrested, said that he was driving along Sandwich street, when Hickey appeared and insisted upon getting into the buggy to talk over his domestic troubles. The conversation soon developed into a quarrel, during which Hickey hit him in the face, and believing that Hickey intended to do him further injury, he shot him. Hickey had a revolver in his possession when found.

QUEEN MARGHERITA'S LACES

They Arrived at New York All Right, but Were Lost in Transportation.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Inquiry regarding the laces belonging to Queen Margherita of Italy develops the fact that they arrived here on April 2 on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II. The goods were taken in charge by the Italian chamber of commerce in this city, who had them insured for $80,000 and turned over to the Adams express for transportation to the fair at Chicago. The laces were securely packed and sealed with a great number of seals marked with a peculiar stamp not easily counterfeited. The laces were sent to Chicago over the Pennsylvania railroad, and the officials are positive that the seals were not broken or any laces taken from the package while in their charge. The customs authorities here had nothing to do with the laces, as being exhibits for the fair they were not dutiable.

Thousands of Miners Quit Work.

VIENNA, June 14.—More than 8000 coal and iron miners have now quit work near Klado, Bohemia. The police and two companies of military have been called out to prevent the strikers from rioting through the town. After throwing a few stones at the police the strikers withdrew. Several policemen were injured slightly in the encounter. The strikers threaten to make more trouble and boast that they will be joined shortly by all the coal and iron workers in the district.

Defalcations Discovered.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Defalcations aggregating $70,800 have been discovered in the Driving Savings Institution, 96 Warren street, New York. The shortage was discovered by the state bank examiners, who are still at work on the books, and will not complete their work of scrutinizing the bank's accounts for some time, as there are 17,000 individual accounts to investigate besides the regular bankbooks.

Mobbed by Social Democrats.

BERLIN, June 14.—The social democrats mobbed a campaign meeting in the town hall of Kilmarsbach, Prussia, last evening. As the local police were unable to stop the rioting, troops were called hastily from Gossler. They dispersed the social democrats after a short struggle, in which several policemen were knocked down and many visitors received slight wounds.

It is said that the engraved stones and monuments of the British Museum prove that the dress and headgear of the women at the present time are almost precisely the same as the women of Babylon before the flood.

COLLIDED WITH A FERRYBOAT.

The Garden City and Tugboat William Walker Badly Damaged.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Shortly before 6 o'clock last evening the ferryboat Garden City was making her way to her berth at City slip on her trip from Long Island City. She reached a point near Grand street, when the tide, which was strong, caught the tugboat William Walker, also going down stream.

The tug was a short distance from the ferryboat, and the tide drove her against the side of the ferryboat, just forward of the paddlebox.

Before there was time to sheer off the tug caused so that she almost capsized and her pilot house was held firmly against the side of the larger craft. Both the tug and ferryboat drifted helplessly while pinned together for some distance.

On the Walker were five men—the captain, engineer, fireman, cook and a deck-hand. The engineer, John Rice, and the fireman, known only as Martin, were thrown into the river.

The tugboat William B. Elbers hastened to the scene of the accident to render assistance. Boats from the Brooklyn navy yard also put out. Men on the Elbers succeeded in rescuing Rice, the engineer, but the fireman went down before he could be reached.

In the meantime the ferryboat and the tug had succeeded in disentangling themselves. The tug was badly battered. The Garden City continued her trip to James slip and returned to Long Island City, where she laid up for the night, little damaged. Rice, the drowned engineer, was taken to Gouverneur hospital, where he was cared for until he had recovered.

TO RESTORE RATES.

Representatives of Several Railroads Meet to Adjust Their Differences.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Representatives of the Central Vermont, Boston and Maine, New York and New England, Fitchburg, Boston and Albany, Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio roads met in conference yesterday at the office of Commissioner Goddard of the Trunk Line association to try to adjust their differences regarding commodity rates to Mississippi river points.

The Savannah line (Ocean Steamship company), which was also invited, did not send a representative. The friction arose from the action of the National Despatch line, which is operated by the Central Vermont, in cutting the rate on certain classes of dry goods.

The cut affects only about 1 per cent of the west bound traffic from the seaboard, but it was enough to cause irritation between the roads, and resulted in a lowering of rates by the Kanawha Despatch (Chesapeake and Ohio) and the Norfolk and Western and Savannah lines.

At the meeting yesterday all present agreed to restore rates and stop fighting except the representatives of the Norfolk and Western, who refused to enter into any compact on the subject.

NAVAL BOARD'S REPORT

On the New Gunboat Machias—Much Credit Due the Builders.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Secretary Herbert has received the report of the naval board which conducted the recent trial of the gunboat Machias.

Generally it shows that the vessel has acquitted herself with great credit, making a speed of 15.464 knots per hour. The board finds that the Machias is sufficiently strong to carry her armament, equipment, coal, stores, etc.; that the hull fitting and machinery, including engines and boilers, are strong and well built; that the performance of the vessel under way was admirable, and her steering qualities extremely good, with almost imperceptible vibrations and steady motion, moderate in extent.

The performance of the engines and boilers was satisfactory, though water was used on the air and circulating pumps as a precautionary measure.

The blowers, which are a source of trouble in forced draft, were temporarily disabled in one instance, losing 20 pounds of steam pressure. The vessel is said to reflect great credit upon the builders.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

A General Improvement Noted From a Treasury Standpoint.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The financial condition of the country, as viewed from a treasury standpoint, shows general improvement. Bank and commercial failures are fewer. Europe is buying our grain in greater quantities; gold shipments have ceased, at least for the present; confidence is being restored, and money is not so tight.

Treasury net gold has increased from $80,000,000 to $81,300,000, and the demand for small money in the west will have the effect to further increase the treasury gold. The rate of exchange is sufficiently high to warrant the shipment of gold abroad, but the fact that commercial paper is for sale in London has a deterrent effect.

There is a general feeling that the worst is passed, the weaker financial institutions and business firms having succumbed, while those that passed through so far unscathed are the stronger for having weathered the financial storm.

Sontag Will Die.

VISALIA, Cal., June 14.—Sontag, the wounded bandit, is very low and is not expected to survive his wounds. Officer Jackson, who was wounded in Sunday night's battle and whose leg was amputated, passed a good night and will recover.

Northern and eastern beef cattle—The supply was very light with the demand slow.

Very few good cattle were offered for sale on the market, and those that were sold could not be used as a fair criterion of the market. Prices showed no change from those quoted last week.

Milk cows and springers—There was a fair supply with a very tame demand.

Veal calves—The supply was heavier than last week. Trade was active and a clearance was effected at values from $4 to $6 per lb. stronger than those of one week ago.

Western beef cattle—The arrivals were consigned to the exporters and shippers.

Swine—Values were quiet at $16 per lb. dressed weight. Those brought from the country were sold by the head.

ADVISED THEM TO WORK.

Inspector Chalk Talks to Strikers at Biddeford, Me.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 14.—According to State Mill Inspector R. L. Chalk, who came here from Augusta, the striking operatives of the Pepperell and Laconia mills are weakening, and there is a good prospect of the strike being settled before Saturday night.

Mr. Chalk addressed a secret meeting of the strikers last night. He said he did not come to take any part in the strike, but he was summoned by letters from strikers, asking him to investigate supposed violations of the law forbidding the employment of children under 14 years of age.

He said these charges were evidently made by the strikers with a view to adding fuel to the flame, but the course was an unwise one for them to pursue.

The Mountain Laurel Goes Down.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 14.—Word has reached here of the total loss of the stanch fishing schooner Mountain Laurel, Captain Quinling, of this city. She was bound from Portland to the fishing banks, struck on Ram island and sank. The Laurel had a crew of 10 men and had 10,000 pounds of fish and 50 hogheads of salt.

Mitchell's Body Recovered.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 14.—The body of J. W. Mitchell, the missing secretary of the Prohibitory Enforcement league, has been found. The reward of $1000, offered by the relatives, goes to Charles Bradbury, a Fall River stonecutter. He was engaged in loading gun shells on a vessel at the Harbor wharf, when he saw the body floating beside the vessel. The coroner decided that death resulted from accidental drowning. The position of the limbs indicated cramps and a severe struggle. Mitchell was drowned last Wednesday.

Probable Fatal Assault.

CONCORD, N. H., June 14.—Captain Augustus B. Farmer, a well-known citizen and police officer of Bow, while attempting to arrest James Jameson, was struck on the head by a heavy billet of wood by his brother, Albert Jameson, since which time he has been unconscious, and fears are entertained that he will die. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of both Jamesons. Albert has disappeared.

Missing For Two Weeks.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 14.—Mamie Fisher, an attractive blonde, aged 19 years, employed at housework for the past 15 months at the home of O. G. Lafore, has been missing for two weeks, and the family are greatly disturbed. It is not known that she had been keeping company with anyone. No trace of the missing girl can be found, and the police are working on the case.

Viking Ship at New London.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 14.—The much talked of viking ship from faraway Norway entered the harbor here shortly after 4 o'clock last evening and anchored near the wharf. Just how long she will remain in this port is not known positively. Her next point of destination is New York.

Have Found the Manchester Watch.

FALL RIVER, June 14.—It is stated that the police have found the missing gold watch which was stolen from Bertha Manchester on the morning she was murdered. It is intimated that they have connected it directly with Correiro, the Portuguese under arrest charged with the crime.

Weavers Quit Work.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 14.—Sixty weavers of the Richard Board Manufacturing company have struck work and left the mill. The cause of the strike is alleged cut down in wages from 21 to 17 cents per cut. The case has been placed with the Weavers' Protective association.

Leaves Home a Second Time.

LYNN, Mass., June 14.—Ethel Usher, 12 years of age, residing at 10 Atlantic street, is missing. She was last seen Sunday afternoon. Her parents have no idea where she can be. This is the second time that she has left her home of her own free will.

A Burglar Breaks Jail.

RUTLAND, Vt., June 14.—Nicholas Gandette, a burglar of Stamford, broke jail at Manchester. He made an opening through the floor. Henry McDowell, an alleged murderer now on trial, who occupied the same cell, refused to escape.

Brief Mention.

Judge Weil of North Andover, Mass., found Herbert L. Watson, a 17-year-old farmer's boy, guilty of felonious assault upon Susie L. Ren, aged 18, and bound him over to the grand jury.

George J. Masterson, a prominent business man of South Framingham, Mass., had a letter Monday from a brother who left home 17 years ago and had never been heard from, being given up as dead. He is now in Newcastle, Cal.

Is Unconstitutional.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14.—Judge Brown, in the county court here, decided that the fee and salary law passed by the legislature of 1891 and affecting every county and state officer in Indiana, except coroners and prosecuting attorneys, and which has recently become operative upon all the county sheriffs of the state, was unconstitutional. The law attempted to grade the aggregate of fees according to the necessities of each county, but the court holds that this graduation is defective.

Reconsiders His Decision.

LONDON, June 14.—Thomas Sexton, who gave notice of his withdrawal from parliament because the Nationalists in conference passed a resolution reflecting on his conduct in The Freeman's Journal director, has published in the newspapers a letter announcing that he has reconsidered his decision and will continue to represent North Kerry.

THE FAIR'S CHARMS.

Infanta Present at Opening of Spanish Exhibit.

GOVERNOR RUSSELL THERE.

Great Praise For the Many Crowning Attractions.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Another big crowd visited the World's fair in magnificent weather, and the throng at the illumination last night was perhaps stronger than on previous evenings. With its massive buildings outlined in threads of golden light, and with an unending chain of twinkling globes of fire reaching about its sinuous lagoons, over which floated waves of melodious music, the fair grounds proved a great attraction to visitors last night.

The musical program prepared rivalled any that had heretofore been given. Three great bands alternated in given programs about the west end of the grand basin, while moored in the center of the basin were numbers of gondolas, in which were seated the Linette Russian choir, who gave water concerts between the selections rendered by the bands.

The Spanish Buildings opened yesterday in the presence of the Infanta. So was the Spanish exhibit in the ma nufactures building.

Two of the distinguished visitors were Governor Russell of Massachusetts and Governor Flower of New York. The former was accompanied by several members of his staff, Lieutenant Governor Wolcott, ex-Governor Nathaniel P. Banks, Alexander H. Rice and John D. Long and several members of both branches of the legislature. They spent a greater part of the day at the Massachusetts building conferring with the commissioners of that state in reference to the program to be carried out next Saturday, when the state building will be dedicated. On Friday the Massachusetts party will give a banquet at the Auditorium to the officers of the exposition and other invited guests, assisted by the Massachusetts society of Chicago. All the state commissioners will be invited to a card reception to be given in honor of Governor Russell in the Massachusetts state building Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

HIS DISCHARGE ASKED.

Two Terms of Court Have Passed Without Dr. Graves Being Tried.

DENVER, June 14.—The latest move in the Graves case was made yesterday, when Judge Macon appeared before Judge Sumner and presented a motion for the discharge of Dr. Graves on the grounds that two terms of the court had passed without his being tried.

In the motion paper it is recited that the doctor was indicted for murder during the May term of 1891, and appeared in court in January, 1892, ready to be tried. At the instance of the district attorney the case was continued to the April term, and yesterday was again continued to the September term, thus allowing two terms of court to pass without trial.

Under the statutes a failure to try a criminal case within two terms of court entitles a defendant to his discharge.

Eminent counsel, however, say that this applies to cases where bail is not given. Dr. Graves gave bail, they say, therefore lost his rights under the law.

Bribery of a Grand Juror. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., June 14.—Recent publication in The Crisis of East Liverpool concerning an alleged case of bribery of a grand juror has resulted in the prosecuting attorney filing an information against Charles Zunker for using his position as a member of the grand jury to extort money, and against Joseph Crossall for accepting a bribe as a jurymen. Both of the accused, who are prominent business men, have been arrested and gave bonds for their appearance for trial.

Examining Government Buildings. WASHINGTON, June 14.—S. Supervising Architect O'Rourke has made a preliminary examination of the Winder building, occupied by the second auditor's office. The building is very old. Mr. O'Rourke says he found it safe, but unfit for the purpose for which it was used. He will examine other treasury buildings within the next few days and then take up buildings occupied by other executive departments.

A Peculiar Case. WASHINGTON, June 14.—Dominick Shea, 19 years of age, who was wounded with an umbrella in Washington City by a man named Wood in an altercation over a woman, died yesterday. The case is a peculiar one. The ferrule of the umbrella was thrust through his left eye, piercing the brain, and the young man was almost insane with pain until his death. Wood is held on a charge of murder.

A Convict's Cowardly Act. COLUMBUS, O., June 14.—As a result of a quarrel between W. W. Varney and William J. Elliott, two convicts in the penitentiary here, Varney threw several ounces of vitriol on Elliott. The case is a peculiar one. The ferrule of the umbrella was thrust through his left eye, piercing the brain, and the young man was almost insane with pain until his death. Wood is held on a charge of murder.

Probably a "Fake." HALIFAX, June 14.—Two fishermen off Canso, picked up a bottle containing a note reading: "S. S. Huzza, going down; 247 passengers." There was no wreckage to be seen. The vessel is unknown here.

BASEBALL.

Smoky City Boys Down the Champions

With Nichols in the Box.

Boston, June 14.—Yesterday's game with Pittsburg was played under very unfavorable conditions. Commencing with the sixth inning, the rain fell thereafter, and it gave the Bostonians a defeat, as Nichols could not handle the ball effectively from that time on. Stuy succeeded him in the eighth and ninth, while Terry retired at the end of the first in favor of Killen. Fine batting was done by Long, Duffy, McCarthy, Lowe, Bennett, Smith and Bierbauer, while the fielding of the first two, Lyons, Shugart and Bierbauer was very good.

DEPOSITORS WERE EXCITED.

Failure of the McQuay Savings Bank Precipitated a Run on Others.

OMAHA, June 14.—There was a run on every savings bank in the city, precipitated by the failure of the McQuay Savings bank Monday, followed by the downfall yesterday of the American National bank, in which the McQuays are largely interested.

The ominous sign appeared on the door yesterday morning, and the crowd which had collected became greatly excited. The McQuays tried to reassure the depositors, telling them that every account would be paid in full.

At the Omaha Savings bank, the German Savings bank, the American Savings bank, the Globe Loan and Trust company and other institutions there was a steady rain of deposits all the morning.

Bank Examiner Griffith, who took charge of the American National for the controller, said the falling off in deposits of the national amounted to nearly $20,000 since May 4, and this had badly crippled the institution.

Caught in the Act.

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—George W. Glover, aged 34, lies in the Jefferson hospital, with a fractured skull. ## ASSAULT WITH A CUP

Two Granite Workers Quarrel Over a Trivial Matter.

ONE FATALLY INJURED.

The Assailant Succeeds In Making His Escape.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 15.—Const. Hermanzen, a Russian Finn, and Charles Vest, a Swedish Finn, had some trouble at Rockport yesterday, which resulted in an assault made by Hermanzen on Vest. Vest's head was badly crushed. He will probably die. Hermanzen got away and is still at large.

The altercation, which is likely to result in murder, took place at the house of a man named Froelickson on Beach street. A number of Finns, all of whom, including the principals in the affair, are employed by the Rockport Granite company, had gathered at the house during the noon hour. They all

Speak English Poorly, but, as near as can be learned, Vest had a year or two ago boarded with Hermanzen, and part of his board bill remained unpaid. Hermanzen asked Vest to settle, and through this demand a general quarrel ensued.

Hermanzen then, it is said, picked up a teacup and hammered his debtor over the head until he sunk in an unconscious condition on the floor. He was then permitted to depart, or, at any rate, he got away. Whether those who were present were afraid of the man or wished to shield him the officers could not find out.

After Hermanzen departed those left behind tried to take the injured man to the house of a physician. It was there that the police learned of the affair. They learned that Vest's skull had been badly crushed near the base of the brain, and that an artery had been severed so that he had bled profusely.

The floor of the room where he was struck down was covered with a pool of blood, and a number of pieces of skull were taken from the wound.

The police are inclined to disbelieve the cup story and say that the wound is too ugly to have been inflicted by such an instrument and must have been made by a knife or some other sharp weapon. To support their theory, the cup which was shown them had no blood on it, although it is alleged that Hermanzen was hiding in the house of one of his countrymen, of whom there are many in Rockport. It is known that he had no money, and it is thought that he will attempt to return home during the night.

The Gloucester police were notified of the assault, and a thorough search of the city has been made for him.

Hermanzen was about 27 years old and speaks English poorly. He is a small man and lived with his wife and children. Vest is single.

Hermanzen has a black moustache, and wore at the time of his escape a dark, soft hat, light trousers and dark coat and vest. He wore a workman's shirt, and is about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and rather thick.

A DESPERATE BATTLE
In Which a Couple of Hungarians Receive Probably Fatal Injuries.

READING, Pa., June 15.—About 30 Hungarian laborers, who struck at the Henry Clay furnace, this city, engaged in a riot yesterday afternoon. They took forcible possession of the stack and stationed themselves on the top platform. The city officials were notified and a sergeant with a force of men were sent to the scene of the disturbance.

A desperate battle ensued in which two of the foreigners received crushed skulls and are likely to die. The rioting continued for nearly an hour. Fourteen Hungarians were arrested and sent to jail, and warrants have been sworn out for eight more who are supposed to be hiding in the hills. Several patrolmen were considerably bruised by flying stones.

Cardinal Rampolla and Cardinal Ledochowski being extremely courteous to the doctor. Dr. McGlynn was accompanied with his reception and is completely reconciled to the pope, and left last night after a five days' sojourn at Rome.

PROSECUTION'S DAY.

Matron Reagan Testifies as to What She Heard in the Cell.

"YOU'VE GIVEN ME AWAY"

Cross-Examination Fails to Shake the Matron.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 15.—Yesterday morning at the Borden trial City Marshal Hilliard and Mayor Coughlin of Fall River described their visits to the Borden house after the murder, and the conversation in which they told the prisoner she was suspected of the crime. Cross-examination showed that the official search of the house was thorough and that the prisoner did not hinder them. Mrs. Clifford, a clockmaker, said the prisoner told her six months before the murders that Mrs. Borden was "a mean, hateful old thing," and that she did not eat with her any more than she could help. The government offered evidence that in November, 1890, on returning from Europe, the prisoner told a friend she was sorry to return, she had such an unhappy home, but

It Was Excluded on the ground that it was susceptible of other explanations than that of ill feeling toward Mr. and Mrs. Borden.

Several witnesses, who were in yards or houses adjoining the Borden premises on the morning of the murder, testified that they saw no one passing to or from the Borden yard before the murder was discovered.

Their cross-examination, however, tended to show that their position or attitude was such that persons might have passed without their seeing them.

Just before the noon recess Mrs. Reagan, matron of the Fall River central police station, testified that on Aug. 24, Lizzie said to Emma,

"You Have Given Me Away," and on Emma's denial repeated the charge, adding, "I won't give in one inch," and that the sisters then sat together two hours and parted without speaking again. Mr. Jennings' cross-examination failed to shake her testimony and she denied having told a reporter that she would sign a statement that the "You gave me away" story was a lie if Marshal Hilliard would allow her.

After recalling Dr. Dolan and Bridget Sullivan for unimportant testimony the government offered to show, by Eli Bence and another drug clerk, that the prisoner made two attempts to Purchase Prussic Acid the day before the murders, and two hours were spent in arguing and deciding the question of its admissibility, the question bearing on the prisoner's state of mind showing premeditation and deliberation, while

Mr. Robinson Objected, maintaining that it had no connection with or tendency to establish the crime with which the defendant is now charged, or to show any murderous intent toward Mr. and Mrs. Borden, and was an act innocent in itself, which alone would not be evidence of general criminal intent. The court decided that the evidence was admissible, if the preliminary evidence should come up to the claim, but adjourned with further action until today.

This is the first decision favorable to the commonwealth on any important law point raised during the trial and, together with the police matron's story, which was much discussed at the time of the event, has strengthened the government's case, while the defense has made a point in showing the possibility that an outside assassin might have run the gauntlet of the government's witnesses who were near the house on the day of the murder.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.
Republican State Committee of Massachusetts Adopt a New Method.

BOSTON, June 15.—The Republican state committee held an important meeting yesterday and adopted a new basis of representation to the state convention. Under it the next convention will be entitled to 212 delegates divided among the counties as follows: Barnstable, 46; Berkshire, 50; Bristol, 167; Dukes, 11; Essex, 243; Franklin, 63; Hampden, 155; Hampshire, 73; Middlesex, 413; Nantucket, 4; Norfolk, 136; Plymouth, 116; Suffolk, 284; Worcester, 236. The basis of representation in vogue for many years has been one for each town and ward of a city, and one for each additional 150 votes cast for president at the preceding national election. Towns which had 14 votes cast for the Republican candidate for president had as large a representation as those casting 300 votes, for they had one for their voters, while a town having 500 votes had only one delegate for each 150 votes and fractional part thereof.

The new plan is to give a delegate at large to each town and ward of a city, one delegate for the first 75 votes cast for Republican candidate for president, and another for each additional 150 votes.

A Salem Man In Trouble.
SALEM, Mass., June 15.—Alfred A. McCurdy, a deserter from the United States army, who was arrested in New Orleans Monday for killing a guard, was a former resident of this city. He was a professional bicycle rider of some distinction, holding the record for 24 hours for some time. He was sent west by the Star Bicycle company as a racer and was matched for $10,000 in a race to take place in St. Louis in the spring of 1888. The race proved a farce, and McCurdy joined the army two days later.

Startevant Employees Hold a Meeting.
BOSTON, June 15.—The striking employees of the Startevant blower works held a meeting in Jamaica Plain last evening and discussed the situation. There were no committee reports, and nothing of importance was transacted.

Professor For Andover Seminary.
ANDOVER, Mass., June 15.—The board of visitors affirmed the appointment of Rev. Theodore C. Pease as Bartlett professor in Andover theological seminary yesterday.

There was an exciting runaway in the Square this morning about ten o'clock. Mr. Patrick McDonnell, Jr., was at the Mount Wollaston bank, when his horse attached to a light open buggy, ran across the street starting a horse of Dr. Gordon which stood at Holden's jewelry store. The doctor's horse ran down Chestnut street and was stopped without damage near Faxon hall. The McDonnell horse kept up Hancock street barely escaping several teams. In front of the LEDGER office he came in collision with a buggy of R. D. Chase standing there causing a wreck of both vehicles. The McDonnell horse continuing up the street alone. A wheel of Mr. Chase's buggy was demolished, and Mr. McDonnell will have to have a new shaft, cross bar, harness, etc. None of the carriages in the runaway were occupied and no person was injured.

Knapp's ROOTBEER EXTRACT

Knapp's Rootbeer is probably the only rootbeer in the world that is absolutely safe to drink in hot weather. All ice cold drinks in hot weather are fraught with more or less danger. The ingredients of Knapp's, however, afford not only an absolute guarantee against harmful effects, but render it an unexcelled Summer Tonic. It will promptly resuscitate the system from that state of debility which usually accompanies hot weather.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.

The Attractions of North Weymouth Beach and Fort Point—Many Little Items.

There can scarcely be found a prettier spot to pass the summer in than North Weymouth beach, it is quiet and commands a beautiful view of old ocean and what is best of all, a mosquito has never been known to make an appearance there. There is but one summer hotel and that is the Bayside house, which has been run by Benjamin Corlew for several years. Since last season the house has been thoroughly renovated, the dining-room enlarged, a new bath room added, also a new laundry and a smoking house which is built off of the piazza where the gentlemen can pass their evenings enjoying their after dinner smoke and at the same time enjoy the cool breeze from the water.

Among the guests now registered at the house are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rhodes of Lowell; Mr. and Mrs. George F. Green of Brookline; A. P. Smoots of Boston; Allan H. Wilkie of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rogers of Brookline; Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Manning of Boston; Master Arthur Howard of Boston.

The handsome new residence of Mr. George W. Kimball of Arlington, at North Weymouth beach is completed and his family are moving in today. The residence stands on a prominent site near the beach, and from its broad piazza a magnificent view is had. The house is wired for electric lights and has town water.

The new residence of Frank O. Squire of Arlington, which is situated near that of Mr. Kimball is nearly completed.

Manager Webb of North Weymouth Land Co., spends his leisure time cultivating a miniature vegetable garden near the company's office.

The new residence of S. W. Hannah on Wassaguset is fast approaching completion and as it is situated on high land it has a commanding view.

The Bowen house at Fort Point opens for the season next week. Proprietor Bowen has enlarged his stable and his son has opened a fish market in one end.

There are but few families at the Point as yet, but several have arrived at Rose cliff, among whom are Charles Alden, who is installed in the Hunt cottage; John Ramsay in the Clapp cottage and Clifford Nash and H. L. Ladd.

The North Abingtons will try and defeat the North Weymouths on the home grounds Saturday afternoon.

There are rumors that Torrey's manufactory will be opened again in the near future.

Mr. Warren Dyer who has manufactured shoes in Weymouth longer than any other man, was seized with an apoplectic fit Tuesday afternoon. He went into the garden to work and after the lapse of some hours not returning a search was made and he was found in an unconscious condition in an outbuilding.

The lawn and walks at the residence of Miss Priscilla Blanchard have been nicely mown and graded by the skillful hand of Noble Morse.

By actual count over one hundred bicyclists passed through North Weymouth Sunday morning going toward the beach.

D. M. Kidder is at work at the Electric light station at Quincey.

Osgood-Young.

Miss Emily Young of Wollaston, and Mr. Fred G. Osgood of Boston, were married on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. K. Young, by the Rev. Edward Norton, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

Mr. W. E. Sargent of Vermont was the best man and Miss Grace Young, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

The ushers were Mr. Daniel Frazier, Mr. Horton, Mr. B. F. Steadman, Mr. W. N. Borden and Mr. A. L. Johnson, all of Boston.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Osgood on Highland avenue.

MANET BEACH NEWS.

Scenes of Activity on Half Moon Island—Buoy Needed at Spear's Stand.

The announcement that the Quincy Yacht club would hold a hop tomorrow evening was an error. It will be on the 20th rather than the 16th.

Look out for a paper on the Water Question in a coming number. It is to be written by a well known summer resident of Houghs Neck.

The lumber has arrived for a house which is to be built on the Nut island side of Great Hill, for Mr. Williams, of Quincy. Two more houses are to be built on the Hill at an early date.

Is Spear's stand to be buoyed this year? It is simply courtesy on the part of the Quincy Yacht Club to prevent visiting yachts from getting hung up on this ledge at low water. Last year a boat grounded on these rocks and, except for the timely aid from the beach people, would have capsized, causing considerable inconvenience and loss to the owner.

Half Moon Island has again assumed its usual scene of activity. From high ebb to early flood many of the old fishermen may be seen hoeing them clam-hills and cultivating this summer crop. The place is a well known locality for clams and the diggers come in dorys from places within a radius of five or six miles to dig cargoes of these well known beach citizens.

Very humid weather for the last two days.

The feed wire of the electric road has been tapped and a wire run into Taber's new building, which will supply the power for the flying horses.

All the buildings are nearing completion and present a very cosy and home like appearance.

Lobsters are few and far between this year. Few have been caught so far this season.

POWERFUL PROOF.

Indian Sagwa A Reliable Remedy of Rare Value.

The Professor of Physiological Chemistry at Yale College Analyzes Kickapoo Indian Sagwa—it is Pronounced Purely Vegetable and Absolutely free from Mineral and other Harmful Admixtures—A compound of Great Remedial Value—Nature's Gift to Nature's Children.

To prove that Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is worthy of public confidence, and that it is a remedy of remarkable curative value, Messrs. Healy & Bigelow of New Haven, the agents for the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., requested that an analysis of Indian Sagwa should be made by the Professor of Physiological Chemistry at Yale College, considered one of the highest authorities in the country.

This he did and reported as follows: "After a chemical analysis of Indian Sagwa, and examining the various substances entering into its composition, I find it to be an Extract of Roots, Barks and Herbs, of Valuable Remedial Action, without any mineral or other deleterious admixtures."

He had no suggestions to offer which could improve Sagwa, as it was a remarkably perfect combination, and it is safe to say that no improvement could be made.

Thousands of cures attest to its remarkable curative properties. The health and longevity of the Indian Sagwa proves the potency of the Indian's medicine.

Indian Sagwa keeps him well. If you feel "down" or "look down," or lose appetite, don't sleep well, have a bad taste in the mouth, pains in any part of the body, respond to the cry of nature, and with Kickapoo Indian Sagwa cleanse and purify your system and cast off sickness. Don't delay!

Take the remedy in season. It may save you a month's sickness, a month's loss of time and a month's expenses for a doctor.

Remember, too, that in taking Kickapoo Indian Sagwa you are not filling your system with mineral poison that "brasses you up" for a while, only to leave you worse off than before.

Beware of mineral medicines! They are dangerous! They often kill.

Remember, Kickapoo Indian Sagwa contains no mineral or other harmful ingredients," says the highest and unimpeachable authority. Sagwa is a remedy for time and for all seasons. It restores the stomach, liver and kidneys to a state of perfect health; and if these organs are in good condition you need not fear disease. Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver complaint, Disease of the Kidneys, Nervous troubles, Scrofula, Erysipelas and all blood disorders are cured and prevented by the harmless and valuable compound of roots, barks and herbs.

THE

—OF—

JUNE

Comes next Saturday, and we propose to make the day a memorable one for all who make a visit to our property at

MANET BEACH.

We want to sell a number of house lots on that day, and we are willing to make some inducements to purchasers.

In addition to our usual custom of giving a free pass on the electric road for the entire season to every purchaser and allowing a commission to all lot owners who introduce purchasers, we propose to make the following remarkable offer:

For every lot sold on the seventeenth we offer a cash credit of ten dollars on another lot to the fortunate one among the purchasers on that day, the method of choosing the winner to be announced on the day of the sale. That is, if five lots are sold $50 credit will be given; if ten are sold, $100; if twenty, $200, and so on, the lucky purchaser to select the lot from any unsold at five o'clock on the seventeenth, credit to be given on the bottom market price of the lot selected.

If we have a successful sale the winner ought to get a good lot free. It is worth trying for, and you get full value for your money anyway in the lot you purchase. Come everybody and bring your friends.

We will furnish free tickets on the electric cars to all who apply to our office in Boston, or at the office of our Brockton agent, Mr. Scott, on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, but we have decided not to issue any free tickets on the Old Colony Railroad, as we regret to say large numbers of people are unprincipled enough to avail themselves of our generous offer, and apply for tickets between Boston, Quincy and Brockton when they have no thought of coming to the beach at all.

If any come to the beach meaning business, however, we will reimburse them for any expense they may incur in getting there.

Read the descriptive article on Manet Beach in another column, and see what has been accomplished.

In a few days, as soon as the cottages are more generally occupied, we shall announce in full our great offer of credit on a lot to be selected by the person receiving the largest number of votes as the most popular resident of the Beach, votes to be with coupons in the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER, and continuing through the season until some time in August. Watch for it and save your papers for the coupons. They will be valuable by-and-by.

Come down on the seventeenth, become a lot-owner and enter the contest. There will be some fun before the season is over.

A CLOSE GAME.

Boston Victorious Over St. Louis—McCarthy's Batting the Feature.

BOSTON, June 15.—The first game with the St. Louis team was an intensely interesting one, full of fight, and won in the last half of the ninth. Long did not play, having met with an injury the day before, and this handicapped the home team very much. Four pitchers were used, and St. Louis was very effective. McCarthy's batting won the game. The St. Louis team fielded elegantly, but were rather weak with the stick. Quinn was received handsomely and he played well.

Doings of the Printers.
CHICAGO, June 15.—The convention of the International Typographical union yesterday set down on innovations regarding app entices and foremen and defeated any change in the basis of representation for allied crafts—stereotypers, mailers and pressmen. The plan for the institution of a loan association for the relief of travelling printers was also voted down. The question of creating an international fund was referred to subordinate unions. Similar action was taken regarding the question of paying death benefits.

To Come Before the Grand Jury.
NEW YORK, June 15.—District Attorney Nicolls said yesterday that the Gueterbock case would be placed before the grand jury some day next week. Bernard H. Gueterbock, city editor of The Staats Zeitung, was found dead at his home on the night of May 27. A coroner's jury found that he had committed suicide, but his widow, C. Otto Baess, a broker, and the servant, who were in the house at the time, are on bail pending the action of the grand jury.

Another Defaulter at Large.
LOUISVILLE, June 15.—It has become known that U. S. Smith, an ex-treasurer of Clark county, Ind., and the predecessor of J. A. Jenkins of Jeffersonville, is a defaulter to the amount of $3,389.14 and possibly more. There is a rumor that Smith is missing from his home in New Washington. It is said he has been gone since last Saturday.

Three Killed by Collision.

WASHINGTON'S HORROR.

Ainsworth's Petition for a Mandamus Dismissed by the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The supreme court of the district yesterday dismissed Colonel Ainsworth's petition for a mandamus on two grounds:

First—Holding that a deputy coroner is not a legal officer. This invalidates the inquest into the Ford's theater disaster as far as held.

Second—That the right of a person to be present at an inquest in person or by counsel is discretionary with a coroner, and therefore not a subject for a mandamus.

The decision of Chief Justice Bingham on the petition of Colonel Ainsworth would seem to bring matters down to the very simple basis of requiring Dr. Patterson, the coroner of the District of Columbia, to proceed with the inquest over the Ford theater victims in place of Dr. Schaeffer, whose assumption of powers as deputy coroner has been declared illegal by the district supreme court.

RAILROAD SENSATION.

Report That An American-Canadian Syndicate Will Purchase the Grand Trunk.

MONTREAL, June 15.—The greatest sensation ever caused in Canadian railway circles was that made yesterday. Through a cable from Duncan McIntyre, one of Montreal's railway kings, and present in London, the fact became public that a great American-Canadian syndicate had been formed to purchase the Grand Trunk railway with the avowed intention of transferring the directorate and head offices of the railway from London to Montreal. An idea of the magnitude of the deal and the capital necessary to carry it through may be had from the fact that the company's bonds and stocks, a controlling interest of which the syndicate will secure, reach the total of $25,000,000. The report spread rapidly and Grand Trunk went bounding upward in consequence.

THE GERMAN ARMY.

Bismarck Says the Battles of the Future Will Be Decided by Artillery Forces.

BERLIN, June 15.—Prince Bismarck has come out in favor of an increase of the defensive strength of the empire, but not on the lines laid down by the government in the army bill. Conversing with Professor Kahl, who was visiting the ex-chancellor at Friedrichsruhe, Prince Bismarck declared that an increase of the army was necessary. He differed with the government, however, as to how the increase should be made. He did not approve of adding to the infantry or cavalry strength of the army, but maintaining what the increase should be made in the artillery forces, which, he declared, would decide the battles of the future.

Indignant British Workmen.

LONDON, June 15.—The recent agitation of the radicals against practically taxing workmen by the loss of a day's work and the contributions for wedding presents for the Duke of York and Princess May, is beginning to be felt. Meetings have been held at Oldham, Bristol and other places throughout England. At these meetings there was much enthusiasm, and the names of royalty were vigorously hissed. Resolutions were also passed in favor of ignoring the event altogether.

A Place for Rear Admiral Walker.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The long standing question as to what place was to be found for Rear Admiral John Walker has been settled by the assignment of the admiral to a place on the board charged with the trial and inspection of the new ships added to the navy. There was no vacancy on the board, but the admiral was made an additional member and will so serve until next January, when Admiral Belknap retires, when he will become president of the board.

Excitement Dying Out.

DETROIT, June 15.—A better feeling prevailed on Griswold street yesterday, but there was still a large crowd waiting for admission to the People's Savings bank when the doors were thrown open for business. Many Detroit business men aided in the work of restoring confidence by personally talking with depositors in the bank corridors, and advising them to go quickly home and allow matters to assume their normal condition.

An Alleged Forger Arrested.

JERSEY CITY, June 15.—Dominico Finimmore, charged with forgery, was arrested at the Red Star dock last evening just as he was about to sail for Antwerp on the steamer Noordland. The amount and nature of the forgery are not known, as the arrest was made on a telegram from Chief Linden. Finimmore was accompanied by a good looking young woman, who says she is his wife.

Sad Poisoning Case.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 15.—James Kirandall, a farmer of Paradise Prairie, found his wife and her little daughter dead in the woods half a mile from the house. Her little son said his mother had given him and his sister "some stuff" to drink and had taken some herself. He spit it out. It was undoubtedly poison. No motive can be given for the woman's act.

Malletta Refuses to Compromise.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., June 15.—Advices received from Samoa yesterday announce that Malletta, still refusing to compromise with his rival, has directed the government forces to advance and enforce Mataafa's submission to him. War is believed to be inevitable. Mataafa is personally very popular and has numerous devoted adherents.

Schaffner's Body Found.

CHICAGO, June 15.—The body of Hermann Schaffner, the banker who has been missing since the day his bank collapsed two weeks ago, was found floating in the lake yesterday. The body was at once brought to the shore and fully identified by papers found upon it and by the relatives of Mr. Schaffner.

To Succeed Dr. Mahan.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 15.—After two days' debating the members of the general synod of the Reformed church in America elected a professor of theology in Rutgers Theology college to succeed the late Dr. Mahan. The successful candidate is Rev. J. P. Searle of Somerville.

An Indiana Bank Suspended.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 15.—The Citizens' bank of Fairmont has suspended operations, owing to the stringency in the money market. The capital stock is $50,000; assets, $191,000.91; liabilities, from $320,000 to $350,000.

An Accused Embezzler.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The prosecution closed its case yesterday in the trial of John W. Flood, ex-cashier of the Donohoe-Kelly bank, who is accused of embezzling $164,000. No defense was offered.

The Squantum Yacht Club has the Breeze.

LIST OF MEMBERS AND YACHTS.

The Fixtures for This Season and a Breeze of the Club History.

A flourishing yacht club has grown up quietly at North Quincy, but is evidently under full sail now, with a goodly number of yachts and members. It is now known as the Squantum Yacht Club, and its history will be interesting.

The yacht club was organized July 16, 1890, under the title of North Quincy Yacht Club of Atlantic, with about twenty members, and a few yachts. D. W. Pratt was the commodore, O. F. Lathrop, vice-commodore; George W. Hill, treasurer; J. E. Drew, secretary; E. W. Crocker, fleet captain and measurer; executive committee, C. N. Hunt, chairman, George H. DeHuff, John Wakley, the commodore and secretary, ex-officio. The secretary of the club was elected clerk of the committee, on August 13, 1890.

The title was changed to Merry-Mount, on January 7, 1891. O. F. Lathrop was elected commodore and W. E. Burrill, vice-commodore. The rest of the officers were about the same as the preceding year. There was a small increase in membership. On January 13, 1892, W. E. Burrill was elected Commodore and D. C. Pope vice; the rest of the officers remaining about the same. During this year Geo. W. Hill resigned as treasurer, and F. E. Badger was elected to fill his place. On Feb. 18 of this year, the title of Squantum Yacht Club was adopted. There was quite an increase in members and some changes in the constitution and by laws. On January 11, 1893, W. S. McFaun, was elected commodore and Charles Johnson vice. March 1, 1893, a lot of land about eighty feet frontage on the shore at that part of Wollaston known as Norfolk Downs, was purchased and it is the intention to erect a club-house, and build a landing as soon as possible. Land was bonded on April 10 of this year, and the club has been incorporated.

TURNED UP ALL RIGHT.

A Fishing Crew That Had Been Reported Lost Arrived Home Saturday.

LATELY, SCOTT, Mass., June 15.—Captain John Gorham and his crew of the schooner Pluribus are alive. They were not lost off Thatcher's light as reported. A reporter saw the captain at his home in this town last evening and from him the details of Monday night's adventure was learned as follows:

They left here on a fishing cruise last week and carried a crew of five men, Captain John Gorham, Charles O'Neil, a man named Atch, and an unknown seaman. The trip along the shore was a pleasant one, and last Monday morning they anchored. Captain Gorham, Atch, O'Neil and the German put out in small boats to set their trawls, and Spaulding, the cook, was left in charge of the vessel.

The men went in different directions and had been gone but an hour when a thick fog set in, the wind became suddenly high and the sea began to break about the vessel.

Late in the afternoon the wind and sea settled. The cook looked about for his companions, but in vain. He directed his frail craft toward home and arrived nearly exhausted from the want of sleep and nourishment. He was obliged to pilot the vessel himself, besides looking out for a chance when he might find time to eat a little food.

SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI

Hold a General Session in the Massachusetts Senate Chamber.

BOSTON, June 15.—Boston entertained yesterday some 100 members of the historic General Society of the Cincinnati, the Massachusetts branch of the organization acting as hosts. The opening session was held in the senate chamber, and when Colonel Clifford Stanley Shinn, president of the New Jersey society, brought down the gavel as a signal to come to order, he looked into the faces of over 100 handsome, stalwart gentlemen, sons and descendants of patriot officers who fought in the army of the revolution. Each one wore the golden eagle attached to the blue and white ribbon, which is the badge and emblem of the Cincinnati, and many gray heads and beards gave the gathering an aspect of senatorial dignity and wisdom, which even eclipsed that of the body just adjourned, who, up to a few days ago, occupied the chamber.

Historians Meet and Elect Officers.

CONCORD, N. H., June 15.—The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Historical society was held here yesterday. After the transaction of routine business and the admission of new members, the following were elected: President, Amos Hadley of Concord; vice presidents, Hon. B. A. Kimball of Concord, Hon. G. L. Balcom of Claremont; recording secretary, Hon. Sylvester Dana of Concord; treasurer, W. P. Fiske of Concord; librarian, Rev. C. L. Tappan of Concord.

A Horrible Death.

BOSTON, June 15.—Jeremiah Reagan, a employee of the West End Street Railway company, met with a fatal accident yesterday. At the time of the accident he was driving a horse attached to a dumpcart along Huntington avenue. The horse became frightened at a bicycle, and Reagan was thrown to the ground, the wheels of the cart passing over his head and neck, killing him instantly.

Verdict for the West End Road.

BOSTON, June 15.—Frank M. Cavanaugh, who lost a leg in 1890 while attempting to board an electric car of the West End road in Arlington, and suffered other injuries, was given a verdict of $18,000. The jury found that the agents of the company were negligent in starting the car while the man was attempting to board it. Judge Thompson has now set the verdict aside in favor of the road.

After the Endowment Orders.

BOSTON, June 15.—The Massachusetts legislature made a law which provided that all endowment orders in the state shall cease to do business, and Commissioner Merrill has notified the six companies now doing business that it is necessary that they make a return to him within 30 days of their financial condition. This is the initial step taken to compel these orders to cease doing business.

THE SEVENTEENTH —OF— JUNE

Comes next Saturday, and we propose to make the day a memorable one for all who make a visit to our property at

MANET BEACH.

We want to sell a number of house lots on that day, and we are willing to make some inducements to purchasers.

In addition to our usual custom of giving a free pass on the electric road for the entire season to every purchaser and allowing a commission to all lot owners who introduce purchasers, we propose to make the following remarkable offer:

For every lot sold on the seventeenth we offer a cash credit of ten dollars on another lot to the fortunate one among the purchasers on that day, the method of choosing the winner to be announced on the day of the sale. That is, if five lots are sold $50 credit will be given; if ten are sold, $100; if twenty, $200, and so on, the lucky purchaser to select the lot from any unsold at five o'clock on the seventeenth, credit to be given on the bottom market price of the lot selected.

If we have a successful sale the winner ought to get a good lot free. It is worth trying for, and you get full value for your money anyway in the lot you purchase. Come everybody and bring your friends.

We will furnish free tickets on the electric cars to all who apply to our office in Boston, or at the office of our Brockton agent, Mr. Scott, on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, but we have decided not to issue any free tickets on the Old Colony Railroad, as we regret to say large numbers of people are unprincipled enough to avail themselves of our generous offer, and apply for tickets between Boston, Quincy and Brockton when they have no thought of coming to the beach at all.

If any come to the beach meaning business, however, we will reimburse them for any expense they may incur in getting there.

Read the descriptive article on Manet Beach in another column, and see what has been accomplished.

In a few days, as soon as the cottages are more generally occupied, we shall announce in full our great offer of credit on a lot to be selected by the person receiving the largest number of votes as the most popular resident of the Beach, votes to be with coupons in the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER, and continuing through the season until some time in August. Watch for it and save your papers for the coupons. They will be valuable by-and-bye.

Come down on the seventeenth, become a lot-owner and enter the contest. There will be some fun before the season is over.

Triangle Cycle Club.

The Y. M. C. A. club took its second run last evening, going over to Weymouth and Braintree. On returning, light refreshments were served in the rooms.

A short business meeting was held, President W. B. Holden in the chair. It was voted to adopt the name, "Triangle Cycle Club" the triangle being the national emblem of the Association. Walter McBurnie was elected first lieutenant, and Alexander Black second lieutenant. Light blue and gold were adopted as club colors. A number of matters relative to the success of the club were discussed.

The members are much interested and the club promises to be a success. The club is intended for the members of the Young Men's Christian Association, and of others who care to join. The aim is to have a club which any young man of good moral character can enter, and which shall be free from all objectionable features. One of the most attractive features of the club is the small expense. The association had decided to give all two dollar members of the association who join the club the use of the bath rooms, until October 1st. As the club membership is but fifty cents, it will be seen that the privileges are within the means of all. There will be no regular uniforms. Next Thursday the club expects to visit the Hyde Park Association.

The last entertainment of the Ladies' society connected with the Methodist Episcopal church at West Quincy, was held Thursday evening and a most excellent entertainment it was, although the audience was not as large as could have been desired. The programme opened with a selection by the Norfolk Banjo and Guitar club of Boston, which was followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Emma Wallace, of Fitchburg, and a reading by Miss Gertrude Lovering of Boston. Miss Charlotte Day of Boston then gave a pleasing selection with a guitar accompaniment. These same numbers were repeated in the second part of the programme with the addition of a solo on autoharp by Mr. Leon Baldwin and select readings by Mr. John Rose.

DR. EVERETT'S SUCCESSOR.

Mr. William R. Tyler, the New Master of Adams Academy, the Right Man.

It was briefly noted Thursday that Mr. William R. Tyler would succeed Dr. Everett, as master of the Adams Academy. The Herald has a kind word for the new master. It says:

Mr. Tyler is the son of the late Major William C. Tyler, nephew of General John S. Tyler and grandson of the late Hon. Royall Tyler, formerly chief justice of Vermont. He was born in Boston, Dec. 12, 1852. He was educated at the Boston Latin school and at Harvard College, where he graduated in the class of 1874, among his classmates being Hon. Robert A. Southworth, Hon. Frederick Lawton, Richard H. Dana, Herbert L. Harding, Dr. C. M. Green, E. F. Penhallow and others who have become quite well known in the community. Mr. Tyler took a very high rank in scholarship and had a brilliant social and athletic record, being president of the Athenaeum and O. K. societies, and of the board of editors of the Harvard Advocate.

He was appointed assistant master of Adams Academy by the late Dr. William R. Dimmock, and has continued under Dr. Everett, twice acting as head master during the sickness of those gentlemen. He has succeeded in gaining the respect and affection of his pupils to a marked degree, and is one of the most accomplished teachers in New England of classics, French history and English literature. It is confidently believed that the academy will lose nothing by the change of its head master.

Contrary to general opinion, the academy is not wealthy, and must rely largely for support on the attendance of pupils. Those best acquainted with the school are confident that Mr. Tyler will maintain the reputation it has acquired under its former principals, and that no parent need hesitate to put his son under his care. The closing exercises of the academy will take place on the 27th inst., and Mr. Tyler will begin his term of service next September.

Staley Pitches a Great Game and the St. Louis Men Are Beaten.

Boston, June 16.—The St. Louis presented a different team yesterday, as Wenden was lame, Whistler covering first bag. "Kid" Bannon of Holy Cross team played right field and did very fine work, bringing in the only run for his side by a fly single in the ninth. Staley pitched his best game of the season, with lots of speed, and his opponents could do nothing with him. The fielding was good on both sides. Carroll especially distinguishing himself in left field. Tucker did great work with the stick, as did Lowe and Duffy.

CLOUD OF WITNESSES

Brought Forth by the Defense in the Borden Case.

MR. JENNINGS' TESTIMONY

And a General Summary of the Testimony Offered.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 16.—When the court opened yesterday the prosecution found itself every step blocked by the defense, which interposed objections at almost every question. A druggist was called to testify regarding prussic acid, but the defense interrupted even before he had a chance to tell if it had uses other than as a medicine. The court directed that no evidence be offered on the direct proposition until after the preliminary evidence had been heard, and that was the beginning of the exclusions.

A furrier was called, but Governor Robinson objected to his testimony regarding the cleansing of furs. This man managed to get out the statement that he had never heard of prussic acid being used for cleansing furs, but was choked off so early that he was not cross-examined.

Then came a chemist, who it proved had been sitting up a good share of the night administering the stuff to ants, spiders and insects. They were killed at sight. The chemist said the acid was of no use in cleaning furs, and finally testified that it was dangerously volatile. Mr. Robinson objecting at every pause as religiously as if he was Objector Holman. Finally, he was assured by Chief Justice Mason that his exceptions would be saved, and the Cross-Examination Was Begun. Mr. Robinson established the fact that many compounds of commerce in general use were equally volatile, and brought out the fact that the insects of the night before had given up their lives to science, and that, with careful use, its application in such a case proved beneficial to mankind.

Then Dr. Dolan was called upon the same matter, but was ruled out in almost no time, while Eli Bence was never suffered to show his head in the room. Just how much the prosecution expected to prove by the testimony concerning Miss Borden's attempt to buy this transparent, colorless, volatile poison, which is also a sedative, anodyne and anti-spasmodic and wash in cutaneous diseases, when in a diluted state, probably never will be fully known, but good authorities say that they were prepared to prove that the prisoner made repeated attempts to buy the substance. The question of the right to prove intent, however, was adjudged too fine to prevail in this broad case of circumstantial evidence, and so the acid, a single drop of which will produce asphyxia by a direct paralytic action on the respiratory centers, was Barred Out of the Case. Many seemed to think that the objection to the testimony would prove more damaging in effect than its admission, but the fact that it was reserved for the final throw of the prosecution hardly substantiates such a holding.

Mr. Jennings in his argument emphasized the fact that there was not a particle of direct evidence against the prisoner, and said that the facts from which the opinions in the case must be drawn are motive, weapon, exclusive opportunity and the appearance of the accused. Said he: "The hatchet that Dr. Dolan was so sure had executed the deed has disappeared like the dew of early morning."

Martha Chagnon, Dr. Chagnon's daughter, then took the stand. Miss Chagnon had heard a noise the night before the murder in the Borden yard. She did not think it came from the neighboring ice house, but was not very certain about anything.

Her stepmother heard the same noise, so she was called, but her imperfect knowledge of English impaired her value as a witness. Mrs. Chagnon did not think the noise in question was caused by the dog's unsection of the barnyard bones.

John W. Gronard, a painter, was next called. He painted the Borden's house, Miss Lizzie stood near him.

When He Mixed the Paints in the barn. Mary A. Duffee was called, but finally excused, as her knowledge of dates was found not of the best. Charles Clifford testified that he took a strange man lying on the steps of his house, which is next to Dr. Chagnon's, the night before the murder, and Uriah Kirby also saw him.

Not being able to get much satisfaction from the present members of the police force of Fall River, the defense then produced Mark Chase, a former member of the force, who saw a stranger in front of the Borden house on the awful morning. The stranger had a team.

Dr. B. J. Hardy testified to seeing a young man with a pale complexion, and toward the southward from the same spot about that time.

Mrs. Delvia S. Manley, who was one of those who knew something with certainty, also saw a young man about the place. Jerome Borden, a cousin, said he walked through a spring door into the Borden house after the murder and scared the inmates, but his testimony was excluded.

Walter Stevens, a reporter of the Fall River News, testified to going into the barn.

Hymen Lubinsky, a Semitic purveyor of icecream, testified to seeing a woman come from the Borden barn Aug. 4 as he was passing, and Mr. Knowlton worked over him as energetically in the cross-examination as Mr. Jennings did Mrs. Reagan.

The Most Entertaining Testimony of the day was of two lads, who made even the prisoner laugh. The first was Everett Brown, who went to the Borden house on the day of the tragedy with Thomas Barlow. Young Brown said Barlow hesitated about going into the barn, saying some one would drop a hatchet on him, but he finally did. Barlow when called referred to the stand to "me and Brownie." He said it was cooler in the barn loft than it was outside. The lads finally got put out of the yard, but stayed in front of the house until supper time and then came back, remaining until midnight. Barlow said he thought he might find the murderer in the barn, and when Mr. Knowlton called his attention to the fact that the door was fastened on the outside with a hasp and pin, he still held to his original opinion.

Thus it will be seen that while the in-legality of certain testimony for the defense was shaken.

Certain Facts of Value were established. It is said, for instance, on independent authority, that the loft of the barn is very much cooler than has been reported, being completely shaded by adjacent trees.

An attempt was made just before adjournment to introduce the testimony of Joseph LeMay, the French farmer, living four miles from Fall River, whose story of the discovery of a mysterious foreigner in a secret recess in his woods Aug. 16 has been fully related in the press. Objection was made by Mr. Knowlton, who asserted that time and place were too remote. Mr. Jennings and the police were immediately notified and investigated. The judges reserved decision.

Figuring on the Result. The feeling deepens that Miss Borden can never be convicted; the question now appears to be simply that of a disagreeable verdict.

The anxious woman upon whom the civilized world is looking, presented her never varying appearance to the court yesterday. She had her laughs also go with the others, as if it were their lives, not hers, that swung in the balance, and once was visibly touched by emotion. This was when Mr. Jennings made his argument.

She seemed deeply touched by the earnest plea of the man who has stuck beside her, and kept her face in her handkerchief, instead of her fan. Not until he ceased did she disclose her face, and then began to follow each witness with the interest of one who hopes for life, with death staring from every corner; a death linked with the greatest degradation, and seemingly leaving behind it a curse to expand in ever widening circles.

Another Hatchet.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 16.—A boy named Potter, while looking for a ball, found a hatchet on the roof of John Crowe's barn, which is located just in the rear of the Borden property. Mr. Potter reported his find to the police. The hatchet is an ordinary implement, with hammer head. The handle is weather beaten and the blade covered with rust. Some of the particles being removed, a slight coloring of gilt was disclosed, which would indicate that the hatchet was at one time used as an ornament or was quite new when lost or discarded.

The Navahoos Run Into a Pilot Boat and Is Laid Up For Repair.

BOSTON, June 16.—The steel sloop Navaho was picked up during a dense fog, near Minot's light, in a disabled condition by the tugboat Peter B. Bradley, which assisted her to an anchorage below Boston light. She was afterward towed to this city and anchored off the Atlantic works. She will be repaired there. She left Newport, R. I., on Sunday last at 3:30 p. m., bound to Southampton, Eng., where she was to race with the English yacht. At 2:30 a. m. on Monday, when in the vicinity of the southern edge of Georges bank, she came in collision with New York pilot boat No. 5 in a thick fog. She had her starboard bow stove above the water line; also had topmast carried away and sprung bowsprit. The damage to the pilot boat was not ascertained, as she disappeared in the fog immediately after the accident.

HAS VIRTUALLY CONFESSED.

Fall River Police Are Sure That Correiro Killed Bertha Manchester.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 16.—It is authoritatively stated by the police officials that there is no reason to doubt the guilt of Jose Correiro, who stands accused of murdering Bertha M. Manchester on Memorial day. This statement was made, not for the purpose of creating a sensation, but to allay the excitement in the community.

The watch stolen by Correiro has been found and is now in the hands of the authorities. It was found within three-fourths of a mile of the scene of the murder, in a spot where it had been hidden by the prisoner, who directed the authorities to its hiding place.

The only evidence of guilt found on the prisoner was a blood spot on the shirt, hardly an eighth of an inch in diameter, but among those whose positions make their statements reliable, it is said that Correiro has virtually made a confession. He does not acknowledge, of course, that the brutal murder was in any way premeditated, but it resulted from the strong, passionate fight made by the victim.

CREW'S FATE UNKNOWN.

Loss of the Whaler Sea Ranger—Two Score Men Were Aboard of Her.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 16.—J. H. Bartlett & Sons, agents and part owners of whaling bark Sea Ranger of this port, Wash., stating that the vessel was a total loss. No particulars were received, and the fate of the crew of 35 or 40 men is anxiously awaiting news of the wreck.

It is supposed that the news was brought to Port Townsend by a whaler of the Arctic fleet, which each year put into that port to make preparations before entering the ice packs of the Arctic.

The Sea Ranger sailed from San Francisco March 22 of this year, and was last reported with 70 barrels of sperm oil and 900 barrels of whale oil. She was 373 tons burthen and was built in Rochester in 1856. She was a good bark and is valued, with inventory, at $40,000. She is only partly insured. She was commanded by Captain Charles H. Foley.

An Insane Woman's Doings.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., June 16.—There was a fire in the dwelling on Maplewood avenue, owned by L. M. Finch and occupied by Charles Jones. Damage $1500. Simultaneously with the alarm Mrs. Jones appeared on the bank of the Housatonic river. She ran wildly down the bank and jumped in. When she was dragged from the water, she said: "I am in trouble; let me die." The woman was doubtless insane, set fire to the house and then attempted suicide.

The Cincinnati.

BOSTON, June 16.—The delegates of the General Society of the Cincinnati started on an excursion to Lexington and Concord yesterday. On arriving the society held a session in the town hall, but only routine business was transacted. At the close of the session the society had luncheon. The afternoon was devoted to a visit to Concord, followed by another luncheon, after which the society returned to Boston.

Poisonous Potatoes.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 16.—Five members of a family by the name of Cross, residing at Riverside, were taken strangely ill with symptoms of poisoning. An investigation disclosed the probable cause of the poisoning to be parsnips green taken into the stomach by eating new potatoes. The victims will recover.

FOR LIFE OR DEATH.

Lizzie Borden's Fate Is Now Trembling in the Balance.

OUTLOOK IS IN HER FAVOR.

Facts Concerning the Warrant For Her Arrest.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 19.—The legal battle of the counsel for the prosecution and defense in the Borden murder trial was begun today.

The work of preparation among the counsel in the Borden case had been going on all the day before, despite the fact that it was Sunday. The work was considered one of the essentials of good work to come. Consultations and deliberations and active efforts in the line of blocking out the arguments on an effective basis had been keeping all parties in the city interested, exceedingly busy, while the newspaper men have been interested lookers-on from afar, simply because a nearer approach and an insight into the actual work of the day and evening was an absolute impossibility.

Governor Robinson realized to the fullest extent of his ripe, keen analytical mind that the day's effort must and surely will be the greatest of his legal life.

He fully believes in the justice and truth of the cause he has undertaken, and will devote his best energies to making an impression upon the 12 good men and true such as cannot be readily overcome and entirely obliterated by the fierces invecitive and feting eloquence of Hosea M. Knowlton, his opponent in this legal trial. The governor has the Best End of the Argument.

because it has the ears of the jury last, and it is barely possible that, provided the jury have not the most retentive minds in the world, the words last spoken and heard may fill upon most of the fertile ground. The consensus of opinion here is that Miss Borden will be acquitted in short order or that the jury will disagree. In the former event it is understood that there will be no jubilation, but she will retire from the scene of so much commotion as quickly as possible. In the latter event there may come a new trial or a case of not present later on—she being allowed to go on her own recognizance, provided her counsel stands in the breach.

It may not be fair to assume that the jury has sampled public opinion sufficient to diagnosis its present condition, and yet there is a strong feeling that this assumption will be entirely correct.

If all the people who desired to hear the arguments today were accommodated the court would have needed to have adjourned to some big park where deputies and the local police would be relegated to the nearest woods. When the courthouse doors were opened county street looked as though a circus was coming.

The Story of a Disagreement
among the jurymen is all too true, and originated in the fertile minds of super-inaginative persons. While the surroundings are not particularly conducive to harmony, still it is a fact that exceedingly pleasant relations have been maintained, and it will not be surprising if every June hereafter there should be festive reunion of the Borden jury to commemorate this delightfully bright spot in their career.

The true inwardness of the warrant business is this. When Marshal Hilliard came to the conclusion that it was necessary to closely watch Lizzie Borden he swore out a warrant for her arrest, trying, however, to consult Mr. Knowlton about the matter. The latter, at his summer home in Marion and could not be reached by telephone. When he came up on the day of the inquest Marshal Hilliard had the warrant duly made out and in his pocket. After the inquest the district attorney said, "Have a warrant made out and arrest her," or words to that effect, and the marshal replied that he had one already. But Mr. Knowlton said that this would not do. There must be a warrant out to fill the case, he understanding and appreciating even at that time the very point which Governor Robinson used so effectively in barring out the testimony of Miss Borden at the inquest.

It is fair to state that the first warrant was issued wholly without the knowledge or sanction of Mr. Knowlton, according to Mr. Hilliard's statement, although the latter tried to consult the lawyer before he obtained it. The arguments will probably all be finished tomorrow and the charge will be given Wednesday. It being impossible for the jury to leave the court room after receiving the charge it is considered as not quite fair to start them in on the last stage of the proceedings at nightfall.

Two Locomotives Wrecked.
NORWALK, Conn., June 19.—An engine standing on a side track at South Norwalk, on the Housatonic division of the Consolidated railroad, was run into by a locomotive drawing a mixed train. Both engines were badly wrecked. John Mulvey and the fireman on the train were seriously injured.

DEATH OF DR. CHAPUT.

Circumstances Leading to the Tragedy Still Remain a Secret.

LOWELL, Mass., June 19.—Dr. H. A. Chaput died at St. John's hospital at 11:55 last night, without, as far as known, making any revelation as to the cause of his murder. He had been conversing with his brother and cousin all the evening, but the conversation was in French and nothing is known of what he said to them. The young man Leclerc, arrested Saturday night, was taken over to the hospital yesterday, and Dr. Chaput, who the night before said he was the man, refused to swear to it, saying only that he resembled the assassin. He also refused to make a deposition.

CORPSE PERSPIRED.

The Funeral of John Knox Has Been Postponed For a While.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 19.—John Knox of Blandford, a summer resort about 20 miles from this city, dropped dead Saturday, presumably from heart disease. The remains were taken to his home, the usual preparations were made for burial and the friends were summoned to the funeral exercises.

Yesterday afternoon the body was taken to the Congregational church, the funeral sermon was preached and the last fond look was taken at the remains. The body was taken by the bearers to the grave and lowered, but before the sods were thrown in Dr. Dean asked that one more look be taken, and the body was raised.

To the awful astonishment of all it was found to be covered with profuse perspiration. The friends looked aghast. The doctor ordered the body taken back to the church, and he there made a more thorough examination of it. The flesh was found to have grown soft and pliable, and the moisture continued to exude from the pores of the skin.

He ordered that constant watch be kept over the body, and that he be notified of the least apparent change that took place. The body still remains in its life-like condition, and the watch is being kept up.

A SUICIDE'S RECORD.

He Drove His Wife to Dishonor to Appease His Appetite For Rum.

BOSTON, June 19.—"John J. Mulrennin of Boston jumped from the Brooklyn Bridge, New York, last night and was instantly killed."

Hidden beneath this matter of fact police report there was a story of extreme pathos, of vice, cruelty and carelessness on one side of the family hearthstone and love, devotion and privation on the other. One short week ago this suicide had a wife, devoted to him in all his vicissitudes, with cheerfulness showing itself through the dark, gloomy existence.

Mulrennin lived in Boston at 72 Hampshire street until his wife died a week ago Saturday, theoretically of tumor, but practically by the carelessness and cruelty of her husband, of a broken heart.

The worst feature in this case of human depravity, of the terrible curse of liquor, was the bestial command that the young wife, barely 23, should sacrifice her honor to satisfy his taste for liquor.

It is said that he drove her to an asphyxiation house under dire threats and that this was all that kept the poor little children from starving.

A DRUNKEN SAILOR

Creates Consternation at Newport by Too Free Use of a Knife.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 19.—Christopher Tolisgue, one of the crew of the German schooner Graciosa, became crazy with drink and ran through the streets with a knife in his hand. Several men were attacked by him, but only one and a horse were injured. The man is suffering from a cut in the left chest about four inches long.

After Tolisgue had cut the man, several persons succeeded in capturing him. A party in a third-story window, seeing a crowd roughly handling a foreign sailor, produced a revolver and threatened to shoot unless the sailor was at once released. The crowd thereupon allowed Tolisgue to escape. The police captured him shortly afterward.

Set a Bad Example.

LYNN, Mass., June 19.—Officer Herbert Miller has been suspended, and the committee on police will have a hearing on his case this week. While on duty he got drunk. He was so overcome with the liquor when he reached the police station that he had to be sent home in a team.

Clothing Firm Assigns.

BOSTON, June 19.—An assignment for the benefit of creditors has been made by Edward R. Smith as an individual and as a surviving partner of the firm of Daniels & Smith, clothing. Franklin B. Daniels, senior member of the firm, committed suicide Friday.

Death of a Newspaper Man.

LEWISTON, Me., June 19.—Charles T. Fox, one of the proprietors and business managers of the Lewiston Daily Sun, is dead, aged 29 years. The immediate cause of death was the bursting of an abscess on the lungs. The deceased leaves a wife and two children.

An Obliging Officer.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 19.—Mayor Brock has discharged Special Officer Henry C. Russell, who kept an escaped prisoner at his house all night recently and procured a team for him in which to go to Fall River the next morning.

Springfield Officer Missing.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 19.—Eugene Freeman, an ex-liquor spotter, a special police officer and floor sergeant of the local Salvation army corps, has been missing for nearly two weeks. He has a wife and small child.

Has a Good Constitution.

BOSTON, June 19.—James R. Crawford fell under the wheels of an electric car Saturday night. Although he lost an arm and a portion of his other hand he will probably recover.

Two "Floaters" Found.

PINK PARTY.

About 125 Couples Enjoy Themselves at St. Mary Hall.

Seldom, if ever, has St. Mary's hall presented a prettier or more animated appearance than on Friday evening when the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Mary's Temperance Society gave a "Pink Party." The spacious hall was bathed in the soft rosy glow of innumerable pink shaded lights while the pink costumes of the fair aides and the pink shirts and white ties of their gallant attendants heightened the effect in a no small degree.

The effect was especially noticeable when the grand march was started under the leadership of Miss Nellie Boyd and Mr. J. O'Brien, who were followed by about a hundred and twenty-five couples. These made a very pretty scene as they followed the leaders through the serpentine and seemingly intricate march.

To the following ladies was begun and fair maid and gallant youth regaled themselves in the art of fair Terpsichore until the early hours of morn. At twelve o'clock a bountiful collation of ices, cake and strawberries were served.

To the following ladies is due the success of the affair: Miss Nellie Boyd, Mrs. Grignon, Miss A. Kelly, Miss Mary Sweeney, Miss Mary Falvey, Miss Josie Barry and Miss Maggie Coakley.

A Runaway.

Late Friday afternoon Mr. Abel Nutting, the assessor, hitched his horse in front of Southern's periodical store, but had hardly got inside when a horse belonging to Mr. Harrison Souther came dashing by. In avoiding two children he collided with Mr. Nutting's open buggy, and over it went in the twink of an eye, and his horse was plunging in the wreck while Southern's horse continued on and was stopped without further damage. He had started from Foster street. Mr. Nutting's horse was slightly injured, his shafts broken and harness damaged.

Licker-Field.

Mr. Chas. A. Stecker and Miss Jennie M. Field were married Thursday evening, June 15, at the residence of the bride's mother at City Point, Boston, the ceremony being performed by Rev. D. Harding. A reception followed the wedding and the couple started for a short tour, after which they will reside at their new home on Botolph street, Atlantic, where they will receive their friends Wednesday in August.

A Raid at Randolph.

Officer Knights of Randolph, together with Chief of Police Langley and Officers McAloon and Connolly of this city, paid the illegal liquor dealers of Randolph a visit on Sunday. They first visited the premises of Augustus J. Tirrell and Emery J. Lyons on Vine street, where they captured a pint of whiskey, 50 empty bottles and 10 empty jugs. They then made a call on Edgar Hayden and seized one case of lager, one case of empty bottles, 2 quarts of whiskey, 3 pints of cherry rum and a quart of wine. Mr. Hayden resisted the officers in their search and he was placed under arrest.

Race at Hull.

There was a race Saturday for the fourth, fifth and sixth classes of the Hull yacht club. The Santa Maria and Vanessa of the fourth got so far out of their course that the race in that class was declared off. In the next class there was a lively race all over the course between the two Hanley boats, the Opeechee gaining the lead soon after starting, and holding it till near the finish, when the Hagedorn by favorable tacks obtained the lead and crossed the line 31 seconds ahead of the Opeechee. The latter boat fouled a buoy and consequently waived all claims to the prize which she might have won on allowance, as the Hagedorn, not yet officially measured, is nearly a foot longer on the water line than the Opeechee.

The Dandelion sailed alone in the sixth class.

The grinding still goes on, another bargain wave. Straw Mattings from 15 cents. Carpets from 22 cents up. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

—The Whistler, Wahneta, Nina and Helen won the races of the Commonwealth yacht club in Dorchester bay on Saturday.

Monumental News.

The city council of Boston adopted a resolution Thursday evening in favor of a monument in the firemen's lot at Forest Hill cemetery.

Boston will probably expend $5000 in improving the G. A. R. lot in Mt. Hope cemetery.

There is talk of a monument to ex-Mayor Somers of Milwaukee, Wis. A monument will probably be erected to the ex-Confederate soldiers in Forest Hill cemetery, Kansas City, Ind.

A statue to Commodore Perry is agitated in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Warren S. Cushman, of Woods'ock, O., proposes to erect at that place a monument to the memory of his brother, Julius J. Cushman, of Company A, Second O. V. I., who had both legs blown off at the hips, June 20, 1863, at Hoover's Gap, Tennessee, and who died a few hours after arriving at the field hospital. The monument is to be composed of Logan county cement, a material taken from the ground and crushed and mixed with pure sea sand. Mr. Cushman's idea is to make the monument about 35 feet high—with appropriate figures in bas relief—on top of which will appear the statue of his brother. The respective parts must be modeled in clay, the figures cast in plaster, the cement poured and mixed in moulds and dried so as to stand the storms of years.

AT MANET BEACH.

Weather a Disappointment to Everybody—The Manet Beach Daily.

Saturday was a very disappointing day at the beach. The Rain Maker of Houghs Neck could not be bought off and all day brought down damp discomfiture on the gloomy faced hotel proprietors and few visitors. The people who were to visit the beach were completely discouraged by the weather and few on awakening Sunday were still kept away by the threatening appearance of the heavens.

The yachts which were to go to Nahant on Saturday anchored for the day off Hull and remained there. The old skippers rolled from one leg to the other and declared it to be as bad as the weather they had at Gloucester.

The car men were somewhat relieved of their dam duty, the Seventeenth, by only running hourly trips.

Master Jack Day has the honor of first ride on the new flying horses at Taber's. Many of the sports of Quincy came to the beach now to play the races.

Many of the dance loving public braved the storm to come to the beach to the dances, Saturday night. All had large crowds for so disagreeable an evening. A few of "de boys, see," found out that they didn't exactly have complete control of the beach, Saturday night.

"Bikes" were seen from the Roxbury, Hyde Park, Campello, and other surrounding clubs at the beach, Sunday.

Yachts from the Commonwealth, Hull, City Point and other clubs anchored off the club house, Sunday.

The Exile and Hallidae came booming down for a scrub race, but all the boats were away or at their moorings.

The Wild Waves Say.

That it did rain.

That the sun did not get a chance to smile.

That the weather man must be an Englishman.

That he has not forgotten the result on Bunker Hill.

That disappointment was caused here.

That our courage is good.

That the Fourth of July should certainly be celebrated now.

That weather on the Fourth can be depended on.

That the schools will close this week.

That that means much for Houghs Neck.

That most of the cottages will be open this week.

Kind Words of the Daily.

The Hyde Park Times says, "The MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER is the name of the latest publication from the office of Green & Prescott, of Quincy. The LEDGER is devoted to interests of the summer visitors at Houghs Neck and vicinity, which will be of interest to many Hyde Parkers who spend the summer there. The name of Green & Prescott is a guarantee of the paper's worth."

The Dedham Transcript said, "The MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER came into our sanctum this week, and as we opened its neatly printed pages we could detect the salty flavor about it of the famous beach from which it takes its name. The paper was established in May of the present year, and its publishers, Green & Prescott, are to be congratulated in getting out one of the brightest country dailies in the State."

The Milton News says, "The MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER is the name of a sprightly paper issued by Green & Prescott of the Quincy PATRIOT."

THE SEVENTEENTH.

One of the Rainiest and Most Disagreeable Days of the Year.

In marked contrast to the perfect holiday of May 30 was the Seventeenth of June, Rain! Rain!! Rain!!!

Not a glimpse of the sun all day.

No riding.

No bicycling.

No base ball.

No yachting.

No picnics.

No land sales.

No "nothing."

It was a very disagreeable day, raining almost constantly, and while everybody will admit rain was very much needed, it was unfortunate it should have come on a holiday.

JAY GOULD USED TO SAY, "The time to buy is when everybody wants to sell." That time is now. Henry L. Kincaide & Co. have about 15 delightful Children's Carriages of choicest design. They want to sell them at once to make room for new goods. You can buy them at just about one-half their actual worth.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and sightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

CONCERT AND RECITAL.

A Creditable Programme Given by Pupils of the Music School.

An enthusiastic audience was present at Hancock hall Friday evening to enjoy the grand concert and recital by the Quincy music school orchestra and pupils conducted by J. B. Rossi and assisted by Miss Virginia Bryant, reader. The programme was a varied one consisting of an overture and selections by the orchestra; violin duet Messrs. J. B. Rossi and C. A. Meyers; readings, Miss Bryant; cornet solo, Mr. A. Murphy; violin solo, Master John Black; march, violin quartette, Miss Jennie Laing, Masters John Black, Walter Mitchell and Mr. Rossi.

A MAGNIFICENT BANQUET.

Wound Up the Massachusetts Delegates' Visit to Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Over 5000 people shook Governor Russell by the hand in the John Hancock building Saturday. He was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Russell, General Francis A. Walker, Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer and Miss Anna L. Dawes.

One of the signed rules of the exposition is that no carriages shall be permitted inside the grounds, but this restriction was pushed aside for the governor.

The festivities of the week in which the Massachusetts delegation indulged culminated in a magnificent banquet at the Auditorium. It was given to the visitors by the Massachusetts society of this city.

Governor Russell was of course the first speaker. His effort was more elaborate than his wont. It was a splendid presentation of what the sons of the state have done in the higher and nobler walks in life. The speech was received with great favor.

Governor Russell of Massachusetts, with his staff, the state councillors and the legislators left on their homeward trip yesterday on their special train, delighted with their Chicago reception. Today will be spent at Niagara Falls and Boston will be reached Thursday.

A STEP FORWARD.

Bolivia Has Decided to Do Away With Her Old "Currency."

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The secretary of state in receipt of a dispatch from the United States minister at La Paz, Bolivia, in which he speaks of a curious reform in the currency in Bolivia, only just accomplished. It appears that when bank notes were first issued in Bolivia, there was great dearth of fractional currency.

It consequently became the custom to make change by tearing the bank notes into fractions. The banks received these fractional pieces of paper money, and the custom then inaugurated has continued to the present time. An entire bank note is therefore a rarity in Bolivia. By a decree recently issued the banks are instructed to redeem these fractions of bank notes until June 30, after which they will not be received by the government or by the banks. The substitution of a new and entire bank note for the old fractional notes is now in progress, and holders of torn bills are warned by legal advertisements in the newspapers to present them for redemption before June 30.

Jealousy Leads to a Tragedy.

Gareire was drunk and shot Thill because he joked him about the girl to whom he was paying attention and of whom he was very jealous.

Another Hitch.

LONDON, June 19.—Several of the anti-Parnellite members of the house of commons have received complaints from their constituents for not opposing the government concessions to the Unionists in the debate on the home rule bill. The Parnellites have intimated to the ministry that they will withdraw from the house in the event of further concessions being made.

Dixon and Pierce Matched.

NEW YORK, June 19.—George Dixon and Eddie Pierce have been matched by the Coney Island Athletic club to battle for the featherweight championship of the world and a purse of $3500. The conditions of the match are that the men shall weigh in at 120 pounds. Five hundred dollars of the purse will be awarded the loser.

His Strength Failed Him.

PORTLAND, Me., June 19.—Roscoe Barber, aged 23, and a young man named Johnson were sailing in a canoe in Casco bay, when their frail craft was capsized by a heavy sea. Johnson clung to the boat and was saved. Barber started to swim ashore, and was within 20 feet of Pumpkin Island when he became exhausted and was drowned.

Electricity Started It.

When the officers made their appearance the gang fled, leaving two of the birds, which the officers secured. The land sale at North Weymouth advertised for the seventeenth was postponed, also the ball game.

In a Predicament.

Catherine Larkin a domestic, aged about 23 years, employed in the family of Mr. Horace F. Spear, attempted to commit suicide Sunday afternoon by jumping into a cesspool in the yard of Mr. Rolf. The girl, whose mind is evidently unsound undressed herself and rushing into the yard, removed the covering and jumped in sinking up to her neck. She then began to make an outcry which attracted the attention of the family who removed her from her unpleasant position. Officers watched her all night and this morning she was removed to an asylum.

UNKNOWN MAN

Was With Grace Allen When She Was Last Seen.

BOTH ACTED STRANGELY.

Interesting Statements of Two Somerville Women.

BOSTON, June 19.—Further investigation into the mysterious disappearance of Grace Lillian Allen from Somerville one week ago today has resulted in developments which seem to dispel the theory of suicide.

The girl was seen last Monday night in Somerville walking away from Union square, leaning on the arm of a man whom it is supposed she has kept company with in the past. Two young women, friends of Grace, passed her, and tell a story which tends to confirm the theory that unless Miss Allen has been foully dealt with she is living today within a few miles of her old home.

GRACE LILLIAN ALLEN.

Grace Allen left her home about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, June 12. After leaving her home she came directly to this city, going to the Atlantic avenue station of the Boston and Lynn railroad, where she was seen by a Mr. Davis, who was slightly acquainted with her, at 4 o'clock. At that time she was walking leisurely from the station, giving the impression that she was Waiting For Someone.

At 6:15 she was seen at the corner of Court and Hanover streets by her cousin, John Tozier, and again she acted as if she was looking for some one, as she continually glanced up and down the street in a nervous manner. Mr. Tozier, who is a machinist, had just finished his day's work, and, being in his working clothes, and his hands being covered with machine oil, he did not think it best to approach his cousin.

She was next seen in Somerville that night by two sisters who are old acquaintances of Grace.

These two young women were seen, by a Post man last night at their home, just off Park street. Jointly, they told the following story: "We have known Grace for several years, and having attended several parties and dances with her, we Came to Know Her Very Well.

"Last Monday night we decided to go to Boston, and left our home to take the 7:45 train from the Park street station. We were late in getting home, and as a result, we reached the station just in time to see the red lights on the rear car of the train were to take several hundred feet toward Boston. Having lost the train and deciding that to go by street car we would reach Boston too late to keep our engagement, we started up the street to call on a friend.

"Walking up Park street to Somerville avenue, we met almost at a corner a couple. Their earnest conversation and the way the young woman held on to the arm of her companion

Quickly Attracted Our Attention.

We saw her face, and as she walked by we stopped and both said "Grace Allen!" She did not speak to us.

"It was so funny, you know, that we talked about it walking down the street. The man with her was dark complexioned, had a dark mustache, wore a straw hat and had on a suit of gray clothes. They were evidently headed up over the hill.

"That is the last time we have seen Grace."

The question which at the present time is troubling the family is, who is this mysterious man to whom Grace clung? That is the one point that they want to know.

Triple Drowning Accident.

LAKEPORT, N. H., June 19.—Three young men were drowned at Lake Umbagog, near Diamond Island. Two brothers named Wendell and a young man named Shannon, and another young man named Thompson, were out fishing, when they lost one of their oars, and in reaching for it upset the boat. Three of them immediately went to the bottom, while one of the Wendells clung to the boat and floated ashore.

The Biddeford Labor Trouble.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 19.—Some of the strikers have declared their disinclination to follow the advice of the committee to return to work in the Pepperell and Lagoon mills, but the most of them have gone in. The crews will not be full in any event, for during the strike many men have obtained work elsewhere.

Ran Against Boston Roughs.

BOSTON, June 19.—William O'Brien, 37 years of age, living at Brockton, got into a row with three men at the West End yesterday and was knocked down, badly beaten and kicked about the head, sustaining a badly broken lower jaw. He is at the Massachusetts general hospital.

Injured in a Runaway Accident.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 19.—While driving down Bellevue avenue ex-Governor Wetmore was thrown from his carriage by the running away of his horses. His arm was broken. The coachman was thrown from his seat, but sustained only slight injuries.

Going to Buzzard's Bay.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 19.—Joseph Jefferson is very comfortable. Arrangements have been perfected to take him in a parlor car to Buzzard's Bay tomorrow.

Salem Boy Drowned.

SALEM, Mass., June 19.—Clarence, aged 4 years, the son of Charles H. Horgan, fell off the wharf at the old laboratory in North Salem and was drowned.

Killed by a Pitched Ball.

ALTON, Ill., June 19.—Max Meindal, who was accidentally struck by a pitched ball while at the bat Saturday afternoon, died yesterday. The ball hit him on the left side of the head near the temple, causing a fracture of the skull and rupture of a blood vessel in the brain. Meindal was manager of the Danville baseball team.

Diamond Tips.

The New England clubs are all crying for pitchers.

The Pittsburgh players complain of cool treatment in the eastern cities.

Billy Barnie is scanning the baseball world for one or more pitchers.

Pitcher Bowers has decided not to leave college, and therefore will not join the New Yorks.

Scannell, the New England umpire, is a

Lewiston (Me.) boy. He has done very good work thus far.

The Cincinnati club has signed Pitcher Parrott, who was formerly paired with Catcher Billy Earle.

Kittredge is a Fitchburg (Mass.) boy and does not hail from Marlboro, as the New York Sun man would have it.

The Fall River club has not made a single change in the personnel of its team since the opening of the season.

There seems to be a lurking idea among the Brooklyn baseball cranks that their team is going to win the league pennant.

Manager Ward says that President Young has instructed the umpires to give all the close decisions to the home team.

Rusie, Kelly, Ward and Doyle were responsible for the defeat of the New Yorks on Friday, and the local papers, as a unit gave them a roasting.

Out of 17 runs that the Portlands made against the Lewistons last Friday, 14 of them were earned. Wheeler was the pitcher for the Lewistons.

Jennings, whom the Baltimores secured from the Louisville club, is apparently a very sick man. He has written to Manager Haulon that he will not be able to join the team for some time.

On Friday Rusie gave eight men their bases on balls, and was hit safely 15 times. On Thursday he was the pet of New York; on Friday night he was called the "greatest bluff of the ball field."

Judging by its work on the trip just ended, the Providence club would find it hard to hold its own in the New England league. The New England league has certainly three clubs just as strong.

Serious Sunday Scrimmage.

VIENNA, June 19.—Five thousand workmen, in defiance of a police prohibition, held a meeting in favor of universal suffrage at Weissengasse yesterday. When the police attempted to disperse the meeting they were received with a volley from revolvers and a shower of stones. A commissary of police was killed and five policemen were critically injured. On the other side 25 workmen were wounded.

Convicted of Murder.

KITTANNING, Pa., June 19.—Charles Spaythe, one of the Leechburg bank robbers who, with three others, was charged with the murder of William Shaffer in February last while resisting arrest, was yesterday convicted of murder in the second degree.

Boy Killed by a Policeman.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Joseph Hardwick, 14 years old, was instantly killed yesterday by Policeman Smith. The officer was pursuing a pickpocket and fired at him. Hardwick was running across the street, and the ball struck him in the head.

The Honolulu Bomb.

HONOLULU, June 19.—The malicious use intended for the dynamite bomb captured a few rods from the barracks May 31 is shown by the presence in the package of a phial of fulminated silver with a fuse, such as the natives use in fishing.

Painesville Bank All Right.

CLEVELAND, June 19.—The Lake county bank at Painesville, which was forced to suspend last week because of a run, is solvent. A statement shows the assets were $450,000 and the liabilities $350,000.

Accepts a College Presidency.

ORANGE, N. J., June 19.—Rev. Dr. Rufus S. Gref, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, has accepted a call from the board of trustees of Elmira (N. Y.) college to become its president.

Their Fate Unknown.

BENECIA, Cal., June 19.—Arthur Yerke and Charles Tremmer, young Englishmen in the fishing business near here, have disappeared, and are thought to have been murdered or drowned.

German Election Figures.

BERLIN, June 18.—The election returns are virtually complete. The candidates elected number 315. Of these 101 will vote for the army bill and 114 against it.

THE STRUGGLE IS ON.

Today Will Tell What Lizzie's Fate Will Be.

THE EX-GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

Devoid of Flourish and Full of Tenderness.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 20.—Great as has been the interest and attendance at the Borden trial days previous, not one of them was to be compared to yesterday.

Women fairly fought their way into the courtroom at any price and paid little attention to clothes torn and articles lost in the struggle.

The police force around the building was wisely doubled, but even then it was found utterly incapable of handling the mob. Hundreds of people, one might almost say thousands, were turned away, many of whom, having come from a distance, desperately decided to gain entrance during the noon hour at all hazards.

Within two minutes of the time the doors were opened for the afternoon session, every seat had been taken without perceptibly.

Diminishing the Crowd Outside. It was not long before the crowd learned that there was no stockyard gate at the rear entrance, and very soon there was much of a mob at one end of the building as at the other. Scores of people pushed by the two officers who stood guard at the rear screen door, and filling the hallway, it was found necessary to lock the doors at the stairway.

Inside the scene was worthy of the closing chapters of the crime of a century. There was no such thing as keeping the crowd out, every chink and corner being filled as quickly as if a freshet had burst down the hills. Chairs had to be placed in the aisles and both of the rooms at the sides of the judges' desk were filled by people gazing stand for hours that they might catch the thread of the argument.

When Lizzie Entered the Room the hum sank into a dead silence for an instant. The prisoner was looking the better for her two days' rest, such as they were for her, but few expected from her such composure as she showed yesterday. It has been a most remarkable feature of the trial. Once she covered her eyes, once raised her handkerchief, but except for that she appeared to be the coolest woman in the courtroom.

All the time Mr. Knowlton had the floor she was gazing fixedly at him, while during the four-hour plea of Mr. Robinson, she seemed scarcely moved. Once or twice she glanced up at the long rows of correspondents who for two weeks had been writing her life story, and the look seemed to say, keep on, for it is almost over. Perhaps it was because several of the New York and Boston papers had sent a their women writers for special chapters on the closing scenes, to analyze her moral fiber, picture her reception of the final news.

Governor Robinson's Speech. Those who expected a spread eagle speech from ex-Governor Robinson were disappointed. They failed to realize that this lawyer's hold lies not in his oratory, but rather his easy way of talking, which easily adjusts itself to the task in hand. His plea was entirely devoid of flourishes, but better than that, and that in interwoven with tenderness, and here and there just a bit of humor to enlighten the awful horror of his subject. He talked four hours and forty minutes, and did not seem to tire.

No time was lost by the court in starting the arguments promptly. Mr. Robinson began in an easy tone of voice, and by the time he was ready to pay his respects to the Fall River police force was in good working order. Sheriff Wright had a chance to say a few words, but he was not allowed to do so.

Theory that the law was broken. The paper about it still retained the semblance of its former shape. Regarding the assertion that Lizzie must have seen her mother's body, the attorney took the ground that the rooms were kept dark to prevent the carpets from fading, that the floor of the room may not have been wide open or open at all, and that in the ordinary affairs of life one does not go about like a detective.

"As Lizzie was going to the seaside, to Marion, it was only natural that she should go up in the barn to find lead for finkers," said Mr. Robinson. "They say she killed her parents because there were no comforts in the house. Are your houses all warmed with steam and equipped with a library and piano?"

It was reserved to Mrs. Reagan, however, to receive the most extended notice of the day. "I almost forbear to mention her name," said Mr. Robinson. "She did her own self up so completely that the prosecution declined to again place her upon the stand. Talk about your newspaper scoops—Mrs. Reagan was the worst scoop of all!" He then commented on the flat denial made to the matron's story, and said he would go outside the church, meaning Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, to the reporters, "where truth is," and then he looked over to the newspaper men and smiled as he realized that much of his argument would go in, no matter how badly the remainder of it had to be cut.

Adjournment was made at 1 o'clock. Upon resuming at 2:15 o'clock, Mr. Robinson emphasized the difficulty, if not impossibility, the prisoner would have encountered in changing dresses as has been asserted, her effort to relieve two or three employees of the family of suspicion.

Mr. Knowlton began his argument at 3 o'clock, explaining his official position in the case at length. He said: "This is the saddest day of my life. I would gladly have resigned my office if I could have done so honorably." In making these preliminary remarks Mr. Knowlton softened his naturally rather harsh voice, at some times so much so that he would scarcely be heard, and frequently punctuated his points with gestures. His expressions of consideration were in good taste, and at no time during the case has he created as favorable an impression.

He had hardly more than started on his argument when the clock struck 5, and a recess was called, but it was found that two or three hours more would be needed for him to finish, it was decided to carry it over until today. To summarize the few points the district attorney had touched upon: Youth and sex are no protection against crime.

The Hate of a Woman. Is the more undying; what they lack in strength they make up in cunning and cleverly.

If the assailant in this case had been a man his blows would not have been so numerous and indecisive. Whoever committed the murders was an enemy of Mrs. Borden's and dreaded the approach of her stern but just husband. Lizzie went outside the house that fateful morning to see that Bridget was well disposed of. Do you suppose that the party who intended to kill Mrs. Borden would have written a note calling her away from the very spot where the crime was possible, and do you not think if a "friend" had ever written such a note that he or she would not have answered it before this?"

He made a good point in saying that if the assailant had been a man one blow would have been sufficient, but the crime was incited by hatred, and hatred was responsible for the 18 wounds in Mrs. Borden's head.

He made another strong point by denying Robinson's words that Bridget knew of the plot, as she only knew of the one Lizzie told her. He said this was the testimony right through, and what had been rumor had been regarded as facts.

The chances are that the jury will have the case by 1 o'clock today.

BOSTON VICTORIOUS.

Stivett's Proved Effective In Puzzling the Men From the City of Churches.

BOSTON, June 20.—The first Brooklyn game was played yesterday under very favorable circumstances, and a crowd of over 4000 attended. Stivett and Stein were the pitchers, and the former was very effective indeed, but six hits being made off his delivery. Lowe was injured and Richardson was ill, so both retired from the game, Merritt and Shoch taking their places. Tucker, Long and Stein batted finely. Carroll made one of the most wonderful catches ever seen on a ball field, while the fielding of both teams was excellent as a whole. The umpiring was a trifle unsteady on balls and strikes.

Adams Street.

At eight o'clock a public hearing was given on the order for the widening of Adams street. No one appeared for or against. Councilman Anderson said it was the understanding that the abutters would give the land, and upon his motion the hearing closed. The order was recommended.

A Chemical Disturbance.

The Committee on Finance returned the order for a hose wagon in Ward Six for instructions.

Councilman Moxon said the Committee on Fire Department had reported inexpedient to legislate on the Mayor's recommendation that the chemical be repaired, but without accepting the report, an order was introduced and given a reading. He agreed that it was inexpedient to repair but queried what was to become of the Mayor's recommendation if not accepted or rejected.

Councilman Federhen contended that only the order was referred to the Committee on Finance. Now was not the time to raise a point of order on the report submitted at the previous meeting.

Councilman Anderson believed no criticism on any committee was intended. It seemed the duty of Council to separate papers.

After more discussion by the above gentlemen and explanations by President Bass, the report of the Finance Committee was lost.

A motion to recommit to Committee on Finance was debated pro and con by Councilmen Moxon, Johnson, Adams, Federhen, Holden, Anderson and Holbrook and was lost 6 to 15.

Councilman Moxon moved to recommit to Committee on Fire Department, but after some debate this was also defeated.

The order for $600 for a hose wagon then took its second reading.

Councilman Holbrook moved a suspension of rules which prevailed.

Councilman Moxon hoped if a change of apparatus was to be made that a modern piece would be secured. He favored a combination, chemical, hose and ladder. Ward Six could not be safely covered with simply a hose wagon as there were not enough hydrants.

Councilmen Grindell, Federhen and Williams contended that Ward Six was as well covered with hydrants as the other wards.

Councilman Badger asked Chief Ripley what he considered best for the ward.

Chief Ripley considered chemical would better protect as it was the farthest from the Steamer. Combination piece would be the thing if the city wished to go to expense.

Councilman Federhen and Holbrook favored a hose wagon.

The order was adopted by vote of 20 to 1, the only nay being Councilman Moxon.

Adjournment Fixed.

Councilman Anderson moved when the Council adjourns, let it be until next Monday evening. Carried.

SUMMER SEASON OF WEEKLY TRIP TO THE SEASIDE

The beach has again assumed its wonted state of quietness. Many have come to the beach since Sunday and as soon as the schools close there will be an influx of campers and cottagers. The management of the street railway should make some provisions for the accommodations of regular residents of the beach. Even if the single fare is not reduced, season or weekly tickets should be issued. It is not the transient, but the regular patrons of the road who should be benefited.

There is a surplus of about sixty dollars in the hands of the committee who had charge of the celebration last illumination. Enough could soon be collected to make this a Fourth, which would be a red letter day in the annals of Manet Beach. Now that the Seventeenth was a fizzle, a lively time would redeem the losses of Saturday. This matter should be placed in the hands of a good live committee, who should collect the money and have full control of all expenditures. A ball game and yacht race would be good drawing cards.

Mr. A. G. Hixon and J. J. Wyeth of Sharon and family are at Rock Island for the season.

Captain Perry landed another good haul of cod Monday. The catch amounted to about one hundred and fifty pounds.

Mr. Dunham thinks of calling his new house Pleasant View. Very good taste indeed. Hon. Dexter Faxon, A. M., and Prof. Savage are digging a well for Mr. Dunham.

The trouble at Mr. Taber's dance, last Saturday night, has been misrepresented by some of the people of the beach. One who was present at the time of the trouble would criticize Mr. Taber only in one way. He was altogether too patient with the crowd who annoyed the patrons of his dance hall.

The police patrol should begin Saturday night and not Sunday morning.

The Wild Waves Say.

That we are going to have pleasant weather now.

That there will be many hot days.

That it is cool at Manet Beach when it is anywhere.

That more and more people are finding this out yearly.

That Manet Beach sounds cooler than Houghs Neck.

That nature is reinforced by ice cream and soda.

That there are at least nine fountains at the beach.

That the people dance almost nightly to Houghs Neck.

That the yacht club will begin to hop soon.

That the Q. Y. C. has a rival.

That the people on the Bayside will have a good view of the Quantum races.

That the more attractions the better.

"Bright and Breezy."

The Hyde Park Gazette says, "A large number of the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER, published by Green & Prescott, of Quincy, and of special interest to Houghs Neck pleasure seekers, were distributed in this town Thursday by the letter carriers. The little paper is bright and breezy, and will be specially attractive during the summer months."

The estimate in which Bridgewater citizens hold their public library is indicated by the fact that there are in circulation, among a population of less than 4,500, about 3,800 cards upon which books may be drawn.

The circulation of the 9,000 volumes now on the shelves is rapid; the average issue being little less than 2,000 per month. Of these about 60 per cent. only are fiction, which is an advance upon the average for the state of at least 10 per cent. The reading room, bright, cheerful, and well stocked with periodicals, has attracted as many as 805 readers in a single month.

WHY NOT screen your whole house, parlor, chamber, dining room and kitchen, not stand like a target for the spiteful bites of mosquitoes for the months to come. You can enjoy more solid comfort to the square inch with a set of our screens than you can with hundreds of dollars spent otherwise. The most complete screen ever manufactured, will fit any window. The prices don't pull hard at your pocket. The board of trustees of Kincaide & Co. college to become

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MAN BEACH

HOUGH'S NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means in the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore,

TOOK HER OWN LIFE.

Tragic Death of Miss Laura Mirick of Everett.

IN LOVE WITH A DOCTOR, But Could Not Agree With Him on Religion.

EVERETT, Mass., June 20.—By her own hand Laura Mirick of this place ended her life yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The circumstances which led up to this sad ending of a bright, beautiful and popular young woman, are remarkable. The agent used was poison, the place was her own home; the result death, a distracted family and a shocked community. This act of self-destruction was undoubtedly committed during a moment of temporary insanity, but when the comprehension of the dead dawned upon the poor girl she begged piteously that her life might be saved.

Laura Mirick loved a young physician of Reading, at present nameless. Her love was returned. She was an ardent Methodist, he a materialist. She hoped for and believed in a future life, he believed that when the soul left the grave the end of man had come.

"But why need this disturb the course of love?" argued the man of medicine. "Love transcends all obstacles; it makes the poor man rich, it gives a flavor to life unknown before, and above all it is the very substance of all religions—or should be."

But Laura failed to see. She was filled with love for this man, it is said. But then, Love is blind.

Her religion seemed to preclude the possibility of a union with one whose belief was so different as to the future, and yet morally the same.

For some time she kept him company, it is claimed, but paradoxical as it is, the longer they were close companions, the further apart these different beliefs drew them, till at last, about five months ago, she formally broke off the engagement.

As she saw it her sense of duty had been made clear. Religion conquered love, while death is cheated not.

Since the breaking off of the ties of love Miss Mirick was at times a very Strange Young Woman.

Her actions can be accounted for only as the result of some great mental disturbances. These increased of late, so much so that her health was impaired, and for the past six or eight weeks she remained at home helping her mother.

At times she would break forth in a violent fit of profanity, it is claimed, and when her mother would ask why she said such awful things she would reply that she had a little devil in her breast and she couldn't help it.

Yesterday she went up into the attic and there found a bottle containing a preparation of corrosive sublimate, which had been used to kill rats. She drank a part of it and then, when too late, realized her awful fate. With her last breath she said: "God will forgive me; I could not help it."

Miss Mirick was a very popular young woman. She was 23 years old, a perfect brunette, and possessed of regular and attractive features. She was always a bit odd, and kept very much within herself. Her father is William H. Mirick of 2 Franklin place, and employed at the Corcoran Chemical works. A brother is a civil engineer.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and will be private.

LUMBER FAILURES.

Little Kanawha Company Goes Under and Carries Three Firms With It.

BOSTON, June 20.—The Little Kanawha Lumber company, a Maine corporation, capital stock of $500,000 with $347,000 actually paid in, is financially embarrassed and has been placed in a receiver's hands. Assets, $1,100,000; liabilities, $755,000; consisting of negotiable paper.

The failure of the company has forced the suspension of the long established and prosperous firm of W. H. Leatherbee & Son, of whom the senior partner was treasurer of the company, and also the suspension of the firm of Andrew F. Leatherbee & Co., who have lately succeeded to the firm of Andrew F. Leatherbee. Both these firms have hitherto enjoyed high credit.

It also necessarily involves the suspension of the Trauman Lumber company, which is not a corporation, but a partnership composed of the two above-named firms. These firms finding themselves unable, by means of their indentments for the Little Kanawha company, to meet their paper maturing, made an assignment to Heman W. Chaplin, esq., of this city.

THE LOWELL MYSTERY.

Leclerc Released From Custody For Implication in the Chaput Case.

LOWELL, Mass., June 20.—J. E. Leclerc, arrested on Dr. Chaput's statement that he was the man who stabbed him on Merrimac street, Thursday evening, was released from custody yesterday. Leclerc is the third man arrested on Chaput's statements, and each has been released because of contradictory statements of the doctor. Now, that Dr. Chaput is dead, the case is more mysterious than before. The suicide theory is scouted by some, supported by others. Some incidents point to suicide, others to murder. One of the two men seen to run out of the building shortly after the stabbing, was the man who was attracted by the cries of the wounded doctor and ran down Kirk street to the office of another doctor and returned with him. The body was taken to Montreal last evening by the doctor's brother.

Strikers Confident of Success. BOSTON, June 20.—There are no indications apparent that the men now on strike at the Sturtevant blower works will fail in their effort to establish the nine-hour work day in the work shops of this concern. The action of the Boston Central Labor union in endorsing the strike has given the men renewed courage and they feel more confident than ever that the struggle will result in their favor.

With the third part of "Omega," the work of the French astronomer Flammarion, which appears in The Cosmopolitan for July, the reader is able to grasp something of the great purpose of the author. ## LIZZIE NOT GUILTY.

Decision of the Jury in the Border Murder Case.

A MIGHTY CHEER WENT UP

And a Scene of Wild Excitement Ensued.

New Bedford, Mass., June 21.—"The court orders that you be discharged and go." That is the summary of the last words the state of Massachusetts said to Lizzie Borden.

The great trial which has created so much interest for the past 10 days has at last come to an end. The verdict is in, and the busy court room at New Bedford will sink into insignificance for the present.

MISS LIZZIE BORDEN.

At 4.30 yesterday afternoon the 12 "good men and true" gave their verdict of "not guilty." When they said "not guilty" the court fell as if she was shot.

It was more dramatic than anything a lawyer could have dared to do. If her legs had been moved from under her, she could not have dropped more suddenly.

As she felt tears gushed from hundreds of eyes. That was the end of the greatest of modern criminal trials, and it left the people where they began—asking one another: "Who killed Mr. and Mrs. Borden of Fall River?"

Mr. Knowlton's Argument was of a high order, his points generally well taken, his style dramatic and his earnestness rare. For more than five hours of broiling temperature he held close attention and few far from hopes were ever better led. His work in the case will go much to enhance his reputation, for he grappled with an unpleasant duty when he found law against him at nearly every point.

Judge Dewey's Charge. The court came in promptly at 1.15, every seat in the room being occupied, as usual. The chief justice, in his opening address, told the jury that the case was now before them, and that they were to decide upon the evidence given. He said that the evidence was clear, and that the jury should find the defendant guilty.

Judge Dewey then charged the jury. He read his charge rapidly, and among other things embodied therein was the caution to take a decision only upon the evidence given. Nothing in the prior proceedings can properly influence the jury in this case. It is still further claimed that no action of the prisoner since her arrest can be taken into consideration.

The prisoner is here before you on two charges, one for the murder of her stepmother, and one for the murder of her father. Here the court defined the degrees of murder and said the degree is to be determined by the jury. But here it is claimed these murders were premeditated with malice aforethought. (The definition of murder in the first degree was fully made here by the court.) The government claims that you ought to find that these murders were deliberately premeditated.

In considering the evidence you must needs have several legal principles in your mind. One is that of the presumption of innocence, and this presumption is to be considered in the light of evidence, and it is a principle founded upon that beneficent law which says every man is innocent until he is proven guilty. The character and previous life of the defendant must always be taken into consideration, and I understand the government allows that there is nothing in defendant's past life, previous to arrest, to be doubted. It was not a negative, but an apparently positively good life.

Evidence has been introduced to show that she had unpleasant relations in her family. If it is shown that Mrs. Borden died first and her father left no will, these two sisters are the heirs at law. Taking all the facts into consideration, is it a fact there was any motive for Lizzie A. Borden to make away with her parents? If you find she was under any actual motive then you take this into consideration. The court further said that in judging wisely there must be

No Magnifying or Belittling, to make anything fit in where it seemingly ought to. Caution was to be observed in taking into consideration the words of Mrs. Gifford, remembering that this young woman was not a philosopher, and Mrs. Gifford's testimony must not be detached, but all must be taken into consideration, and the general tenor of this Judge Dewey charged the jury to weigh the evidence so as to see whether defendant's permanent state of mind showed a motive for the crimes. Every material allegation in the indictment must be proved beyond reasonable doubt, that is, to a moral certainty.

He compared direct and circumstantial evidence, and said that failure to prove an essential fact would be fatal, but failure to prove a helpful fact might not be fatal. He said that the jury should weigh the evidence so as to see whether defendant's permanent state of mind showed a motive for the crimes.

At 3.30 the jury retired in charge of the officers. The witnesses in the case were then discharged and counsel agreed upon the articles of apparel and weapons that should be taken to the jury room.

The jury filed into their seats at 4.30 and were polled. Miss Borden was asked to stand up, and the foreman was asked to return the verdict, upon which he announced, "Not Guilty."

After the verdict had been received, District Attorney Knowlton moved that the other cases against Lizzie Borden be not pressed, and the order of the court was to that effect.

Chief Justice Mason then gracefully thanked the jurors in appreciation of their work and faithful service and reminded them that the preparations taken with them, which may have seemed irksome at the time, were solely in the interest of justice, a fact which they undoubtedly realized now.

The jury was then dismissed and court adjourned till Monday next, when the regular criminal session will be opened. The closing scene in the trial was in direct contrast with those which had preceded it. Herefore, all had been decorous and dignified court in the country. But when the verdict of "not guilty" was returned, a cheer went up, which might have been heard half a mile away through the open windows, and there was no attempt to check it. The stately justices looked straight ahead at the bare walls. Sheriff Wright was powerless to wield the gavel which lies ready for his use. Not once during the tremendous excitement, which lasted fully a minute, did he make the slightest sign of having heard it.

Miss Borden's Head Went Down upon the rail in front of her and tears came where she had refused to come for many a long day as she heard the sweetest words ever poured into her willing ears, the words "not guilty."

Mr. Jennings was almost crying, and his voice broke as he put his hand out to Mr. Adams, who sat next to him, and said, "Thank God," while Mr. Adams returned the pressure of the hand and seemed incapable of speech.

Governor Robinson turned to the rapidly dissolving jury, as they filed out of their seats, and gleamed on them with a kindly interest in his kindly eyes and stood up as Mr. Knowlton and Mr. Moody came over to shake hands with the counsel for the defense. As soon as possible the room was cleared, although it was a hard task, since everyone wanted to shake hands with Miss Borden.

When the spectators had finally gone, she was taken to the room of the justices and allowed to recover her composure, with only the eyes of friends upon her and the caresses of devoted admirers.

At the expiration of an hour she was placed in a carriage and driven to the station, where she took the train for Fall River. She will stay there for a short time, but it is not believed that she will live there permanently.

The News at Fall River. FALL RIVER, Mass., June 21.—The news of Lizzie Borden's acquittal was received with the greatest surprise in this city. Even her warmest friends and most ardent supporters dared not hope anything better than a disagreement, after reading the district attorney's forcible argument in behalf of the government.

When it was flashed over the wires that the prisoner had been acquitted, the greatest excitement prevailed. From the streets the whole topic of conversation was the acquittal of Lizzie Borden.

A reporter entered the house and was granted an interview with Lizzie, through an introduction by a friend, who accompanied him. The party, which included Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, Emma and Mrs. Lizzie Borden, Joseph A. Bowen and Mrs. Jubb, was seated in the drawing room. Lizzie said, "I am the happiest woman in the world." She did not care to dwell upon the subject of the trial, and said that the whole party had agreed not to discuss that subject.

Lizzie is looking better than ever before. She was dressed in a black silk dress and was smiling pleasantly while conversing with everybody. She said she had a pleasant journey from New Bedford, being on the road a little over an hour.

About the street corners groups gathered, discussing the all-absorbing topic, and the general feeling is surprise, bordering upon indignation.

No Let-Up. WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., June 21.—The forest fires along South Shore and Northern Pacific railways are still burning and at Sanborn & Lampson's lumber yard, and several dwellings have also been burned. Conductors on the South Shore report Ewen, Mich., entirely devastated.

A DEFECTIVE SWITCH

Causes a Bad Disaster on the Manhattan Beach Road.

NINE PERSONS ARE KILLED

And a Dozen Out of the Hundred Injured May Die.

NEW YORK, June 21.—A Manhattan beach train, loaded with hundreds of passengers on the way from Sheephead bay track to the Bay Ridge ferry last evening, was wrecked at the Ocean parkway tunnel at Parkville. Over 100 persons were seriously injured, 9 were killed, and a dozen may die from the effects of their injuries. Those killed were:

Patrick Daly, court officer in Third district police court, New York, crushed to death beneath a car in the tunnel.

William Pringle, residence unknown, was killed.

Robert Curry, New York policeman, 633 West Fourteenth street, died in half an hour after the accident.

Henry Spink, city marshal, attached to Jefferson market court.

Unknown man.

P. J. McDonnell of Philadelphia died at Seney hospital.

Fred Johnson, West Seventeenth street, this city.

A. unknown man also died at Seney hospital.

Bartholomew, died at the same institution.

The Train Was Derailed at the entrance to the tunnel under the Parkway boulevard, Parkville, by a defective switch. Four cars went off the track. Men who rode upon the steps of the open excursion cars were hurled against the side of the tunnel and ground under the wheels.

All the ambulances of the Brooklyn hospitals were called out to carry the injured to hospitals. The injured were those who were riding upon the steps and those who jumped.

The track is double, but in the tunnel the two tracks come together. To the south of the tunnel about 100 yards is a switch operated from a tower on the west side of the tunnel.

This switch consists of two lengths of rails and the last switch in the tunnel should be the switchtender see that two trains were likely to collide in the tunnel he could throw the west bound train from the track into the ditch by means of the switch. Switchman Garry, 21 years old, was in charge of the switch when the accident occurred. A youth with a bicycle says that as the train approached the switchtender

Started Up From a Sleep and pulled a lever, and the rumble and jar of the four derailed cars was heard.

There is a ditch on the right hand side of the track, and the embankment rises abruptly at an angle of about 50 degrees. The men who sat upon the steps on the right hand side of the cars were jammed against the earth, and their feet and legs were caught under the steps.

General Superintendent Blood was at the scene within 30 minutes after the accident. He took off his coat and directed his attention to the railroad men.

Switch Operator P. S. McGarry was arrested and taken to Gravesend. He took his arrest in a dazed sort of a way.

The accident delayed trains more or less on all the branches of the Long Island railroad. At Coney Island the story of what had happened was known long before the last train left. This made most of the passengers timid, and as a result when another accident happened to one of the trains running from the race track while it was running into the depot, there was considerable excitement.

The accident consisted of a engine and eight cars. It was loaded as full as possible with passengers. As it entered the last switch in the yard four of the cars left the track. As the cars went bumping over the ties the passengers leaped from their seats. The train was running slowly, however, and no one was injured.

A Courageous Woman. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 21.—A New Orleans limited passenger train bound for Chicago with eight loaded coaches, when near Rantoul, running at a high rate of speed, was flagged by a woman, who informed the crew that a short distance ahead of them a trestle had burned out. The passengers made up a handsome purse of money and presented it to the woman.

Prices for western beef cattle, pr 100 lbs.—Choice, $13.00; second quality, $12.00; third quality, $11.00; poorest grade of coarse oxen, cows, bulls, stags, Texans, Colorado, etc., $10.00.

Northern and eastern beef cattle, pr 100 lbs.—Choice, $12.00; first quality, $11.00; second quality, $10.00; poorest grade of coarse oxen, cows, bulls, stags, etc., $9.00.

Northern and eastern beef cattle—The supply showed no material change from last week. The grades received were a trifle better than last week, and a little better prices were received for the best qualities. The reason for the increase of the supply of the best quality cattle was the demand made for them by exporters. Some very excellent northern cattle were sold for 5¢ cents.

Milk cows and springers—The supply of milk cows is the heaviest seen for the past three months. A considerable number of these cows consist of small ordinary cows brought from the northern part of Maine and do not sell for very high prices. The supply of good cows is heavier than last week and the price is off on common and ordinary cows about $1 per head from last week.

Veal calves—The supply of veal calves was not materially different from that of last week, but the supply is a bit better and prices, if anything, are inclined to be stronger. Six cents is the top price for the very choicest calves, but the range of the market is from 4½ to 5¢.

Sheep and lambs—The general tone of the market is characterized, if the offerings are considered, by dullness. The prices are not materially different from those received one week ago, but just a trifle on the sag.

Swine—Values are quoted at $10.00 to $11.00.

THERE is general satisfaction with the verdict in the Borden case, although it will remain an open question with some as to the guilt of Miss Lizzie. These, however, have no hesitation in saying that if guilty she will pass few happy moments and that she will suffer more than if hung. The verdict is "not guilty," and was not wholly unexpected. Very few expected on the evidence that she would be adjudged guilty, but many looked for a disagreement. Her declaration of innocence just before the charge to the jury was calm and deliberate, and the jury believed her. But it remains a very mysterious crime, and the trial will always be remembered as a famous one. May Miss Borden live to assert her innocence beyond a doubt is the wish now of her friends, and it is remarkable how many well wishers she has.

THE VERDICT in the Borden case was announced yesterday at 4.35 and was bulletined at the LEDGER office about five o'clock, the news being received by a special dispatch of the American Press Association. Many were inclined to doubt the accuracy of the news because it was so far ahead of the Boston dailies. Neither the three or five o'clock editions announced that the case had been given to the jury and Newsdealer Souther did not receive a Boston paper with the verdict before 7 P. M. It was one of the times when the LEDGER was two hours ahead in giving the news, and giving it correctly too.

SIX PLAYGROUNDS.

Twelve to Sixty Acres to be Dedicated to Children

IN THE CITY OF QUINCY.

A Generous Appropriation of $50,000 Contemplated by Council.

Another example of the liberality of the city to the rising generation is shown in the movement to secure playgrounds in each of the wards. Quincy has obtained renown for its public schools, and it is also providing new and modern buildings adapted alike for the health and comfort of the school children. The school yards are generally of good size and larger than in most cities, that for the new High school being two acres, but Quincy proposes to do even more. It will doubtless avail itself of the new act of the Legislature, which has just adjourned, and dedicate to the children forever, tracts of land in each ward for playgrounds.

In the City Book for 1892, which many have not yet seen, the Park Commissioners said "So far as large reservations, are concerned Quincy is now better provided, through Merry Mount park and Faxon park, than a great majority of other cities similarly placed. Nevertheless some provisions remain to be made for playgrounds."

There are in the former about 75 acres and in the latter about 20 acres. In the words of a former report: "Merry Mount park is so rich in natural beauty, that when it is properly laid out on a regular plan, it will be one of the handsomest public pleasure grounds in the Commonwealth."

Faxon park from its high elevation is also destined to become popular, and is now the resort of many.

It is a fact that Merry Mount and Faxon parks are not located handy to the villages so as to be easily accessible for children, and it will be difficult to find grounds in the centre of some wards that will be, but there are a growing demand for these spots for the children, the school children, where ladies and nursery maids can take the babies.

The order reported by the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, Councilman Shackley, Baker and Badger is upon the lines recommended by the Park Commissioners and Mayor Fairbanks and reads as follows:

ORDERED.—That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) be and is hereby appropriated, and so much thereof as may be necessary be expended by the Park Commissioners of the City of Quincy, in the purchase of land for public playgrounds in the several wards of the city. The said playgrounds to be conveniently located and in no case to be less than two acres or more than ten acres each in extent.

The City Treasurer is hereby authorized to borrow the sum of fifty thousand dollars, ($50,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be known as the "Playgrounds Loan," and to issue therefor bonds of the city; ten for one thousand dollars ($1,000) each, one to become due one year from date of issue and one to become due at the end of each succeeding year until all are paid, and twenty of five hundred dollars ($500) each, one to become due five years from date of issue and one to become due at the end of each succeeding year until all are paid. Said bonds to bear interest at a rate of not more than five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and to be paid principal and interest in U. S. gold or its equivalent. Said bonds to be issued under the provisions of Sect. 3, Chapter 225 of the Acts of 1893.

Special financial arrangements have been granted by the Legislature of 1893, from which the LEDGER has previously quoted. As outlined in the order above but $1000 will come due in any of the next ten years. Interest included the amount will not exceed $3000 annually, and will not increase the tax rate over twenty cents.

Miss Lord gave a delightful reception at her home on Hancock street, Wollaston, on Tuesday evening, to her guest Miss Church of Connecticut. Miss Raymond assisted in receiving. A large number of Wollaston's society young people were present.

The grinding still goes on, another bargain wave. Straw Matings from 15 cents. Carpets from 22 cents up. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

The prices don't pull hard at your purse strings, 35, 40 or 45 cents according to size. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

THE BEACH WANTS WATER.

Water All Round Houghs Neck But Drinking Water is Scarce.

The water question is still a topic of interest to the residents of Manet Beach although the City Council seem to have forgotten it. Much dissatisfaction is expressed by property holders of the Neck. As one of the taxpayers says: "We are called upon to pay our tax, which we do cheerfully, but if we demand any improvements no notice is taken of us." Manet Beach turns into the city treasury quite a sum annually.

Summer visitors are beginning to arrive at the well known hotels. This weather will drive the city people to the shore. Miss Eva M. Cushman is at the Linden. Mrs. Ella V. Harris has registered at Pierce's. Many come to Mears for a cool afternoon and lunch before starting for home.

The piano has arrived at the club house. It was necessary to take it to pieces in order to get it up stairs. The hop scheduled for the 20th of this month will be postponed until the 30th.

The second race of the Quincy Yacht club will be sailed off the club house this afternoon. There is a good east wind.

The poles for the telephone wire are being placed on the side of Sea street. It will be in operation at the end of the month.

Another large catch of cod was landed Tuesday. Fresh fish may now be found at the Dairy Crockett market by any one in need of the finny tribe.

"A Good Investment."

The Canton Journal says, "The MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER is a new sheet strong with the salt breeze, that comes to our table this week. It is readable and workmanlike, and well supported by the advertising fraternity who will undoubtedly find their patronage a good investment."

The Wild Waves Say

That Houghs Neck should have one of those playgrounds.

That land for sports is becoming scarce.

That it will soon be all gone.

That the flats near Great Hill would make a good marine park at small cost.

That this may not be the most desirable spot.

That as we are providing for the future it should not be so near the extremity.

That near the old Littlefield house is the coming centre.

That the whole road to Quincy will be built up within twenty-five years.

Another Land Sale.

The North Weymouth Land Co. advertise a sale for Saturday at 3 o'clock. Previous to the sale at 2 o'clock, Caterer Nasi will serve a clam bake free. The company has been rather unfortunate in its auction sales in the past as upon the days they were to hold them the weather has been such that a sale was out of the question. The company's land is situated on one of the most beautiful residential sections of the state, having a magnificent view and being easy of access as the cars of the Quincy & Boston street railway pass the property. It is hoped that the man who regulates the weather will smile on Saturday and give the company a pleasant day.

Previous to the lecture and concert at Guy's Coliseum this evening, the several Irish societies will have a short parade. The line will form at Cahill's hall, Water street, at seven o'clock, and move in the following order:

VISTAS AT THE FAIR.

Wonderful Views Which Entrance the Senses.

PANORAMA OF WHITE AND GREEN.

Beautiful Views Which May Be Seen from Various Points of Vantage at the Great World's Columbian Exposition—View from the Colonnade Looking North—A Fascinating Show.

WORLD'S FAIR, June 9. —[Special.]— One of the charming features of the exposition is the large number of vistas which it contains—spots from which one may look forth and behold views which entrance the senses and delight the eye. Wherever one goes about the 700 acres of the fair grounds such scenes are constantly unfolding themselves. Many times in a day the visitor is tempted to pause and drink in the beauty of some spectacle which had hitherto escaped his observation. This is one of the tests of architectural and landscape art. No designer could be expected to plan vistas as a primary idea. That would be mere scene-painting and unworthy the higher art. But in such a combination as this exposition, where all effort is on such a large scale and there is such dependency of one feature upon another for excellence of effect, a work that did not present charming vistas would lack complete success. They are inevitable incidents where there is true beauty in the massing.

The wealth of such views presented here is but another proof of the commanding genius which designed this work. Perhaps it may seem to you, dear reader, that it is rather late in the day for me to enlarge upon the outdoor glories of the fair. The architectural and landscape features are the first things here to be described to the public press and in the illustrated magazines and weeklies. But let me tell you that until this month of June, this month of freshness and flowers, no one had ever seen the Columbian exposition at its best. For the first time in its career it is full-blown and ripe.

Now it has not only the beauty which verdure and sunshine alone can give it, but the additional charm of masses of people constantly moving to and fro on both land and water. It is now an animated landscape. The figures are in the picture, and grand and impressive as it was before the people came, there is contagion in the presence of a host of admirers, infection in the enthusiasm of the multitude. It is no wonder to me that half the friends I meet here tell me they put in the first two or three days outside the buildings, roaming through the park, riding over the placid waters of the lagoon, realizing, or at least endeavoring to do so, the unprecedented grandeur of the whole.

The greatest thing in the fair is the buildings which contain it," is an expression which I have so often heard during the past six weeks that it has become trite. That is the way in which people are impressed. The majority of them are discouraged the first time they enter one of the palaces for a look at some of the exhibits. This disappointment is not in the interior show considered as a whole, but in its magnitude and in the oppressive realization which overcomes one at this moment that he can never hope to see it all. There is so much of it—it is spread over such a vast area—one can never go through it section by section, aisle by aisle, exhibit by exhibit, article by article. The utter hopelessness of this task repels at first. So it is that nine visitors out of ten remain but a short time in the building which they may first have entered. They come back into the open, the sunlight and the fragrance, and feast their eyes upon the ensemble. Here is something which they are able to see, and see quickly, for it is a panorama of white and green spread before their eyes.

Fascinating as the outward show is at a single glance, one must travel about for many a day before the full glory of the picture is impressed upon one's mind. Indeed, the beauty of the whole is the magnitude of the buildings, is some thing which "grows upon" every visitor. This is to say, day after day your admiration and your enthusiasm increase through familiarity of diminishing. The first thing you know you are in love with this spectacle, and like the true lover you see new lines of beauty in your sweetheart every time you meet her. Suppose some fine, fresh morning you get a glimpse of her head through a blooming rose bush in the garden. You may have seen the head a thousand times before, but this vista seems to endow the white brow, or the golden hair, or the profile with charm which you had never before discerned.

You will never thoroughly appreciate the exposition scene until you have had some such glimpses of it, till you have feasted your eyes upon its vistas. Stand at the Colonnade, for instance, for a moment. That is at the southern end of the grand canal. The Colonnade is of itself a beautiful structure. It is purely classical, and looks as if it might have been transplanted from Athens or Venice. Sometimes it is called "The Screen." Do you know why? Well, the scene to the north is Venetian, in its architecture, its statuary and in the movement of the gondolas over the surface of the canal. To the south are the live stock sheds and the exercising amphitheater. It would not do to mix the Venetian scene and the horse barns, because there are no horses in Venice. Hence the "Screen."

Stand at the Colonnade and look to the north. The vista is unapproachable. It follows a line of water, broken in half a dozen places by bridges which curve over the channel with the true line of beauty.

Underneath them the boats and gondolas are fitting, and over them streams of happy people are constantly passing. Farther along are the green trees and the flowers of the wooded island. In the extreme distance is the great height of the Illinois building and the more beautiful dome of the Art Palace. The foreground of this picture is misty, for there the fountains spray the air. Around the corner of vast Machinery hall come the swelling strains of music. The sight-line from this spot is encased by walls of ivory. Fore of the greatest and noblest buildings in the world—Machinery, Agriculture, Electricity, and Manufactures—ranging themselves either side the view.

There are many such vistas here, and one never tires of them. Another is that to be seen looking south from the rustic bridge which crosses the lagoon at the northern end of Horticultural hall. At the right is a long stretch of water leading down to the richly-tinted Transportation building, the only exposition structure which is not ivory white. At first glance visitors do not like the coloring of this building. It seems garish and inconsistent with the surroundings. But like anything else here it works itself into your affections. In a day or two your prejudice against it is overcome. A day or two more and you are enthusiastic over it, for it adds a bit of warmth and color to the scene which only emphasizes the whiteness and the purity of the neighboring structures.

But this is not the vista to be seen from the bridge to which I desired to call your attention. Under your feet is one of the gondola stations, and a number of the craft are at rest there, the gondoliers basking in the sun and smoking pipes or cigarettes from the most aromatic of the woods. Just beyond lies the leafy expanse of Wooded island—the wooded island which impresses me as much as anything else in the exposition with the genius of man and the power of money. Only a year or so ago this island when it was nothing but a mass of black mud thrown up by the big steam dredges. There were no trees upon it, no verdure or flowers. No one seeing it then could have foreseen what it is now, no matter how much he strained his imagination. Now it is a little paradise. You smell the fragrance of the flowers, and watch the water fowl and birds at their sports. Through the branches you dimly perceive the logs of the hunter's cabin, and over them your eye beholds the glorious dome of the Administration Building. Now it is a little paradise. You smell the fragrance of the flowers, and watch the water fowl and birds at their sports. Through the branches you dimly perceive the logs of the hunter's cabin, and over them your eye beholds the glorious dome of the Administration Building. Now it is a little paradise.

Go down to the peristyle and stand where two of the great columns of that magnificent structure will frame you a picture looking to the west. The Golden Republic has her back to you, and you will note the perfection of her massive drapery. Though of stupendous size, she has the grace of one of the marble Madonnas in the Palace of Fine Arts. She is looking in the same direction you are—at the Administration building, which is a thing of beauty, a creation that completely satisfies and rests the eye and the soul from whatever point it may be viewed. Your picture comprehends but a part of the basin, with its moving spectacle, and perhaps but a glimpse of the plaza at the right or left, along which thousands of people are sitting or walking, with the lake front of the giant structure, vast in expanse and altitude, but symmetrical as a babe. In the distance the vision is lost amid a bank of domes, towers, minarets, and trees—the circular annex of Fisheries, the varied elevations of the foreign buildings, and, finally, bits of the Art palace and the many state buildings which lie beyond.

You will see these and hundreds more entrancing vistas when you come to the fair. And having seen them and delighted your senses with them, you will not only pardon the enthusiasm of one who has been here a long time only to have his admiration constantly increased, but will thank him for directing your attention to these perspectives of perfection.

OF Interest to Women.
The exhibits of Spain and Belgium in the Woman's building are very fine, the Spanish being the more elaborate and attracting the most attention from its location in the center of the south pavilion, and the Belgian being the more refined and gold and silver and the varied nature of the exhibits. There are some magnificent gold embroideries, and fine laces in every design and for every use. There are tiny manikins in native costume, and carved woodwork in rich and rare devices, one beautiful vine-covered cross being perhaps the finest. Not only has old Spain sent of her costliest and best to lay as tribute at Columbia's feet, but new Spain has joined her, many beautiful specimens of needlework done in Havana being in the collection. Belgium's exhibit consists principally of paintings and the rare laces for which Brussels has always been noted and which are priceless.

Twelve young men of Bordentown, N. J., are going to the exposition in a freight car fitted up with sleeping bunks, a cooking range, and a well-stocked commissary department. The car will be attached to a freight train.

Monumental Notes.

A German monument will be erected in Baltimore, Md.

The Beauregard Monument Association of New Orleans is raising funds for a monument. Gen. John Glynn, Jr., is treasurer.

There is talk of erecting a soldier's monument at Westfield, Pa.

The Boston Herald says the monument to the late Gen. Cook, at Arlington cemetery, Washington, seems like Cook, rugged yet graceful, simple, strong, stable, honest and original. It is one great gray granite boulder, more than twice as long as it is broad, set squarely on a low pedestal of the same stone. It is rough and irregular on top, but the four sides have been smoothed.

THE BORDEN JURY.

Foreman Richards of Attleboro Interviewed.

NO ROW AMONG THE JURY.

They Talked Over the Evidence Day by Day.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., June 22.—Charles Richards, foreman of the jury which declared Lizzie Borden to be not guilty of the murder of her father and stepmother, arrived at his home here yesterday. A reporter who called at his residence shortly after his arrival was pleasantly received, but Mr. Richards did not care to talk on the secret doings in the jury room. "After we had reached the conclusion," said he, "we agreed among ourselves not to say anything as to how we reached our decision, and I consider the promise then made to be as binding as if I had been under oath. As a jury, we had all the 16 days we were together not an unpleasant word was spoken all the time. That story of a row among the jury existed only in the mind of the reporter who wrote it.

"We arrived at our verdict," said Foreman Richards, "on the evidence. The government did not prove its case. The arguments had little weight, although they helped to clear some things in our minds. We talked over the events day by day as we assembled in our apartments at the Parker House, but had no argument, nor came to any sort of an agreement previous to entering the jury room Tuesday afternoon. At once after the door closed on them, with a deputy sheriff guarding it, an Informal Ballot Was Taken to get the jurors' general opinion. The case was then considered, after which a formal ballot was taken. We had all the skulls, hatchets and things introduced, but it was not necessary for us to waste any time in examining them.

"When the verdict was announced in court, it felt like a bullet struck Lizzie, who could not have dropped quicker in her chair. It seemed as if every person in the room cheered. All the way out of the courthouse and on the street people stopped to congratulate us. About the first thing we did was to go to a photographer's gallery and have our pictures taken."

Asked in regard to the published statement that the jurors freely patronized the saloons and got intoxicated, Mr. Richards said they were men and went to saloons as other people did. Of their treatment of the jury had no cause for complaint, although most closely guarded in eight rooms in a partitioned off part of the hotel.

Mill People Advised to Go to Work Pending Negotiations.

BIDDEFORD, Me., June 22.—There is a break in the ranks of the Pepperell and Lescage strikers, which will probably result in most of them returning to work in the mills today.

A mass meeting last night was addressed by William Ross of New Bedford, Mass., secretary of the New England Mule Spinners' union, who advised them to return to work and let their committee continue its conference with Agent McArthur with a view to procuring an increase in wages.

The strikers' committee endorsed this advice, but some of the strikers rebelled and declared their intention of staying out longer. The committee declined to serve further, and left the stage. ## A TAME AFFAIR.

Boston Defeated Brooklyn and Thereby Won the Rubber.

BOSTON, June 22.—The last Brooklyn game in Boston was rather a tame affair, neither club exhibiting very much life, especially the Brooklyn. They were at the mercy of Stivets, while Haddock was absolutely ineffective, and retired at the beginning of the Boston's fifth. Lovett, who took his place, pitched a slow ball, which the Boston players found puzzling. Carroll made fine catches in left field. Nash, Tucker, Long, Stovey, Corcoran and Merritt fielded well.

An Address by the Hon. Thomas J. Gargan of Boston.

There was an enthusiastic gathering at Guy's Coliseum Wednesday evening of sympathizers of the "Home Rule Bill" for Ireland, to listen to a concert and lecture held in aid of that cause by the several Irish societies of this city.

The several societies assembled at Cahill's hall and headed by the City band which volunteered its services marched via Franklin, School and Hancock streets to the hall, the societies in line being Division 4 and 5 of the A. O. H., the John Boyle O'Reilly club and the St. John's C. L. & A. Association. The procession was led by Patrick S. Morris, J. J. Byron, Thomas Murphy and D. Cremmins.

The exercises at the hall opened at 8 o'clock, at which time there was seated upon the platform, Mayor Fairbanks, Senator John F. Merrill, Hon. William A. Hodges, Hon. Thomas J. Gargan, Daniel Sullivan, and James Kieley of Boston, William F. Powers, Dr. S. M. Donovan, James F. Burke, Rev. F. A. Friguglietti, Rev. A. F. Roche, J. W. McNamara and John Cavanagh.

Mr. Burke called the meeting to order and introduced Mayor Fairbanks as the presiding officer of the evening. Mr. Burke in his opening remarks said that Division 5, A. O. H., and the John Boyle O'Reilly club had each contributed $50 to the Home Rule fund.

Mayor Fairbanks in accepting the position of presiding officer said within your hearts there is a reverence for that little isle across the sea, although you are loyal to this country. Your hearts are in the cause and you are willing to give support and aid to those of the British Parliament who were endeavoring to obtain local self government for Ireland. He paid a glowing tribute to Hon. William E. Gladstone and hoped the struggle would soon be at an end, and may peace and prosperity come to the good people of Ireland.

The choir of St. John's church then sang a chorus.
Mrs. Ita Welsh Donovan and Miss Mary Frances White were then introduced and these ladies in solos sang several well known Irish airs.

Hon. Thomas J. Gargan was then introduced and spoke for an hour. He was born in Boston, yet there was a melting in his heart for that other land where rest the ashes of his ancestors. He then went into the question of Home Rule for Ireland and its history up to the present time. He told of the great men that had been raised up for the cause of Ireland, the first being in 1790, in Edward Burke; then came Henry Grattan. He told what these men had done for the cause of Ireland. Then came that extraordinary man, Daniel O'Connell. In 1809 the Irish people got the disestablishment of the Irish church and just as sure as the sun rises this bill will succeed. In closing the speaker told why it was that money was needed for the Home Rule bill.

At the close of Mr. Gargan's remarks Miss White gave another solo and was followed by Mr. James Keiley who spoke briefly, the meeting ending with a chorus by the St. John's choir.
Miss Margaret Garrity acted as accompanist.

BRAINTREE.

Wednesday was the annual commencement day at Tufts college. Mr. L. W. Arnold of this town was one of the graduates, and some of his friends were present and enjoyed the exercises. Mr. Arnold's contribution was on "The origin of sentiment of nature in French literature." The degree of A. B. was conferred on the first girl graduate. About 400 partook of the commencement dinner served in Goddard gymnasium.

Frank R. Arnold of this town, a senior at the Maine Medical school was on Wednesday elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity.

Woman's Influence.

Delicate women may exert much influence, but little in comparison with what it would be with abundant health.

The wife wants health that she may be the companion of her husband and her family.

Beware of dizziness, sudden faintness, irritability, backache, nervousness, extreme lassitude, depression, exhaustion, excitability, and sick headache.

These are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus or womb; they are danger signals, which warn you to avoid a life of misery. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound goes to the root of the trouble, and drives disease from your body.

CHAMPIONSHIP REGATTA.

The Beatrice, Opechee and Imp Win in Their Respective Classes.

The second club race of the Quincy Yacht club was sailed Wednesday and a pretty race it proved to be. The light breeze which had been blowing all day freshened into a stiff northeaster shortly after the boats started and there was no lack of wind.

The preparatory gun was fired at 3.30 and five minutes later the first class were under way, the boats crossing the line in the following order: Beatrice, Gypsy, White Fawn, Moondyne and Adolph. As the boats rounded the buoy the White Fawn fouled the Beatrice but the latter boat drew away and led the class all the way round and finished with a good lead. Commodore Cavanagh did not sail in her but contented himself in sailing over the course in the Don and watching his pet.

The entries in the second class were the Opechee, Auris, Magpie and Vision. Commodore Faxon's new boat did not do as well as in the last race. The Opechee led the way with the Magpie at her heels. Capt. Barker's boat continued to gain, however, and upon crossing the line the first time round she led the Magpie 45 seconds and the Auris one minute, with the Vision 40 seconds behind. The boats held the same relative positions the second time round and finished in that order. Upon rounding the buoy the first time round, the Auris parted her stay which handicapped her somewhat.

The little boats had their fun as well as their larger sisters, and they got away well bunched with the exception of the Flora Lee, which was late in arriving and did not finish. The Don also drew out after going over the course once, leaving the Imp, Dandelion, Sunbeam and Primrose to fight it out among themselves. Upon rounding the home buoy the first time round the Primrose led the Imp forty seconds, and the latter boat led the Dandelion one minute, forty seconds. The Imp, however, gained on her rival and finished six seconds in the lead.

Unfortunately several of the boats have not been measured, but as they stand on actual time the Beatrice, Opechee, and Imp receive prizes of ten dollars and a leg in the championship cup, and the White Fawn, Magpie and Primrose five dollar prizes.

THE CLASS OF '93.

The First to Complete the Four Years
Course

AT THE QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL.

An Excellent Programme Given—Brief
Abstracts of the Literary Parts.

Ex vita scholae in scholam vitae.
Never before has a hall been found in the city which would comfortably accommodate those who wished to attend High school graduations, but it had been a very rainy day and there was little let up all night, and it is surprising that the audience was as large Thursday evening as it was. Others would like to have attended had they been fortunate enough to obtain tickets, the whole house being reserved.

Suspended over the platform on a corn colored banner was the motto in daisies, "Ex vita scholae in scholam vitae," and there were a few floral decorations. The graduating class occupied chairs on the platform and the other classes the entire front of the hall.

The Programme
Was a pleasing one and is given in full below:

Abstracts

Of the literary parts follow. Each member received hearty applause, particularly Mr. Callahan's declamation. There was a marked absence of essays and notes, all the parts being committed to memory, and given in an easy manner without hesitancy.

Miss Eva G. Reed, the valedictorian, was prevented by illness from being present. The music was very good, and it is a fact that the boys were heard in "The Sailors' Glee." The violin obligato and solos of Mr. Walter E. Loud were much admired and he responded to an encore.

The Salutatorian

First called attention to the fact that the four years had swiftly flown and that the time had arrived for the Class of '93 to bid adieu to school life. The fitness of the present season for the occasion was then shown. The friends, city officials, and citizens who had assembled were cordially welcomed. Then the parents of the graduating class were greeted, and gratitude expressed for their loving care and guidance.

The salutatorian next welcomed the school committee and superintendent and spoke of their able management of the schools of our city and said that their zealous efforts in behalf of the High School were highly appreciated.

Greetings were extended to the schoolmates and best wishes tendered them for a successful course. The teachers were then welcomed most heartily.

The salutatorian spoke of the long and patient labors of the teachers, of the many rough places in the paths of knowledge over which the teachers had helped the scholars, and of the noble example which had ever been held before the school. She said that words could not express the pupils' thankfulness for the many favors received from their teachers.

Lastly, the salutatorian welcomed her classmates and said, though they must sever their ties of companionship, those of friendship could never be broken. She said they were standing on the threshold. Behind them was the "school life" they had just finished; before them "life's school" in which their was "something yet to be attained." She urged them to enter upon their life work with a determination to succeed, and to waste no opportunity for ennobling themselves and shedding an influence for good around them.

The Latin Translation of Miss Nellie E. Murphy was taken from Virgil's Aeneid, Bk. II. Lines 588-633. At the beginning of this passage, Aeneas is lamenting the destruction of Troy, and madly exclaiming against its cause, Helen, wife of Menelaus, the king of Sparta. While he is thus excited, his mother, the Goddess Venus, comes to him and asks the cause of his wrath.

She asks him to look for his father, Anchises, his wife, Creusa, and his son, Ascanius. She tells him that the Grecian army is hovering near them, and that they would have perished, but for her care. She also tells him that he should not be angry with Helen and Paris, for although they were the cause of the Trojan war, their guilt only fulfilled the decree of the Gods. She then draws away the mist from his eyes, and shows him that it is the divinities who have destroyed Troy. She tells him to hasten his flight, and promises that she will lead him to his father's home. She then vanishes, and Aeneas is once more alone, with a more subdued spirit. He is still watching the Gods as they complete the ruin of Troy.

Finally, all Troy seems to him to sink into ashes. Troy is compared, in its downfall, to an ancient ash on the mountain top which the farmers are eager to destroy, and which, weakened by repeated violent attacks, at last is utterly demolished.

The Address to Undergraduates.

Miss Adeline Cashman gave advice to the lower classes and good wishes for their future.

The pupils were advised to take the four years' course, to exert all their energies to maintain the Golden Rod, both in sending in articles for it and in securing the payment of subscriptions, and also to work faithfully for the Debating Society.

The Class of '94 as they succeeded the seniors were advised to continue the good work begun by them; to read Cicero, "The Merchant of Venice" and "Hamlet;" and to learn thoroughly their geography and history, map questions included; to take all the prizes at the prize contest; and to keep the floor in good condition. The young ladies were asked to induce the young men to remain, and the class as a whole were congratulated upon the good condition of the books, which they received. The class of '95, were advised to be faithful to their studies that they might enjoy them.

The Class of '96, were urged to study well, and then not to be timid in answering, when called upon. In view of their approaching admission to the debating society, they should strive earnestly to do their best, and so show their appreciation of the honor.

The Debate.

Miss Margaret A. Farrell opened the affirmative side of the debate, "Resolved: That Lowell is a greater poet than Longfellow." She said in brief: Lowell is our representative man of letters. He is well versed in many subjects. He is a brilliant and original writer. He developed several styles in which he wrote poems of many kinds. His most popular and original verses are the "Bigelow Papers." His biography is written in his poems.

He had a vigorous and well trained memory. The old saying that "memory is the mother of the Muses," found illustration in his work. He was a wise judge of literature and life. A feeling of nobleness is inspired in us by reading some of his verses. Maxims are found in many of his poems.

Between 1845 and 1865 by his stirring, patriotic poems he spurred onward the men who were fighting for home and country. The ode recited at the Harvard Commencement, is the noblest heroic ode of any American author. His love of nature is shown in many of his poems.

Lowell is New England's representative. He saw beauty in her common garb and speech. He has trusted wholly to his inspiration which never failed him.

Miss Nutting for the negative said: Longfellow is "The bard whose sweet songs more than ought besides have bound two worlds together."

No estimate of Longfellow either as a critic or a poet can be just that makes small account of his character. The man was greater than the poet. The London workman thought it an honor to kiss his hand. He used his culture not to veil a word but to make it clear, and the people could understand his writings.

"Evangeline," "the flower of American idylls," is a beautiful and pathetic tradition of American history. Longfellow's descriptions throughout the poem are wonderful. "The Courtship of Miles Standish" is a companion piece to "Evangeline." The poet gives us a romantic picture of the Plymouth settlement with its round of daily life. From "Hiawatha" we learn the ways and customs of the Indians. Longfellow was the first to make verse successfully from the Indian myths and traditions. His poems are all a household service. While Lowell's works show great

MANY GRADUATES.

Over 200 Complete the Grammar School Course

IN QUINCY PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The First Graduates from the John Hancock and the Lincoln.

Today the public schools of the city close for the long summer vacation, and from the grammar schools will be graduated 213 young ladies and gentlemen. This is the largest number in the history of Quincy, and is a gain of 38 over last year. By the table below it will be seen that the total is increasing rapidly. From less than 100 in 1887 it is now in 1893 over 200, a gain of 115 or more than double in six years.

The John Hancock is for the first year a full graded school, having previously been only a primary, and there is also the new Lincoln. The former graduates 9 and the latter 14.

The Adams heads the list with the largest class ever graduated from a Quincy school. The classes at the Quincy, Washington and Wollaston are larger than in any previous year, while the Coddington and Willard are not up to high water mark. Here is a summary for seven years:

	1887	1888	1889	1890	1891	1892	1893
Adams,	22	15	20	27	34	40	42
Coddington,	18	25	29	27	25	31	26
John Hancock,	0	0	0	0	0	0	9
Lincoln,	0	0	0	0	0	0	14
Quincy,	11	20	14	24	18	23	28
Washington,	17	14	16	18	19	23	27
Willard,	17	26	31	29	27	32	32
Wollaston,	13	13	13	21	20	27	35
	98	113	123	146	155	175	213

A list of the graduates follows. For the first time the Wollaston school stands second in the number of graduates, and the Coddington is the lowest of the old schools.

Then it gives the High School mice to the '94s, with the command to feed them well. The management and editing of the Golden Rod is given to students qualified to perform such duties. The privilege of holding their class meetings on the stone wall and the honor of carrying out the challenge of the Hyde Park Debating Society are given to the '94s. The books of the class are left to the school. Several articles are given to the teachers and pupils, among which are a seventy-five thousand dollar school house and the Butler lot to the principal, Mr. Frederick Allison Tupper.

Presentation of Diplomas.

As noted above illness of the valedictorian prevented her being present. Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan of the School Committee in presenting the diplomas paid Miss Reed a high tribute and spoke of her high percentage. He regretted that there were not more young men in the class that he might direct their thoughts to the duty of citizenship. The female portion of the class carried off the honors and he regretted they could not be considered the equals unless under suspicion referring indirectly to Miss Lizzie Borden. He desired the graduates to continue their studies. The same conditions for success existed in life as in the school. Be honest and reap the reward. Establish a standard of right, that when disappointments and bereavements come, the consolation will be perfect. He congratulated the graduates on their achievements, and the teachers for their work.

The class ode, written by Miss Catherine O'Brien, was sung, completing the programme.

It is the intention of the DAILY LEDGER to publish in full in a few days the essay, "Quincy as an Historical Centre," also "The Class Will" and others.

WHY NOT screen your whole house, parlor, chamber, dining room and kitchen, not stand like a target for the spiteful bites of mosquitoes for the months to come. You can enjoy more solid comfort to the square inch with a set of our screens than you can with hundreds of dollars spent otherwise. The most complete screen ever manufactured, will fit any window. Obtained Money and Goods
by False Pretences.

BOSTON, June 23.—Frank McGraw, alias "Jimmy" Hill, alias Frank Hayward, who had been looked for by the police of three or more cities, is at last safe under lock and key at the Joy street station. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by Special Officer Abbott of station 3 and Special Officer Enwright of Malden.

For a young man, being only 19 years old, McGraw bids fair to become one of the greatest confidence men in the country unless he mends his ways. He was arrested upon a warrant charging him with the larceny of a horse, buggy and harness which he hired from R. C.
Knowles of Cambridge more than a week ago which

He Failed to Return.

With this team McGraw drove into Malden over a week ago and put up at the Hotel Victoria, the swell hotel of the city, under the name of D. Hill. He claimed to be the son of Millionaire Hill of New Bedford, and, as he was well dressed and had plenty of money, his story was believed. Under these circumstances the young man was well received everywhere in town, got into the best society and finally swindled everybody right and left.

The second day that "Hill" was in Malden the horse that brought him there went lame and he took it from the stable, saying that he was going to send it to his father's stable in New Bedford. He next had a pair of put into the Goddard stable, and, getting a nice pair of black horses, in Mr. Davis' stable, purchased them by word of mouth and for his remaining stay in the city drove about to the beaches and elsewhere with this team. He

Borrowed Money in Various Sums from Mr. Davis, also from the hotel proprietor and tradesmen from whom he obtained goods on credit, as well as from young men with whom he became acquainted.

Special Officer Abbott went to Malden on Tuesday in search of this fly young man, but failed to find him. The hotel keeper thought he had considerable of "Hill's" property locked into a private room, but found on entering the room that the young man had been there before him and had taken everything but a new trunk he had purchased, on credit of course, and that was empty.

Hill had fled from Malden on Monday night and had come to Boston, where he put up at the Coolidge House under the name of Frank Hayward. His baggage was found at the Boston and Maine railroad station and a watch was placed upon it. In the afternoon a messenger called with the checks for the two large valises, and he was followed to Bowdoin square
by the officers, who saw him turn the stuff over to "Hill." The latter was thereupon arrested.

Was Fond of Driving.

At station 3 the young man gave his right name as Frank McGraw and his home as at 6 Perry street, Cambridge.
The harness and buggy of Mr. Knowles was recovered in a stable on Everett street, and the horse was found in the possession of an unknown man. A horse and team that McGraw hired in Cambridge yesterday was also recovered by the officers in a stable on Pitt street.

McGraw is also charged with the larceny of a team from A. F. Harrington of Newbury last Friday, he hiring the outfit there and failing to return it at the expiration of the time for which it was hired. This team was also recovered in a Merrimack street stable.

McGraw will have a hearing in the municipal court on the charge of the larceny of the team from Knowles, and after this case is settled the Malden police will take him. The valises taken from the depot and found in McGraw's possession contained property valued at $100, most of which was obtained from the Malden clothing.

McGraw's parents say that while their boy has never before been arrested that he has caused them great sorrow by his questionable actions and much expense to save him from suffering the consequences of his numerous escapades.

TO RESTORE HARMONY.

Connecticut Congregationalists Want a Change in the American Board.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., June 23.—At the session of the general conference of the Connecticut Congregational churches a communication was received from the Nauvutuck Valley conference asking that the American board be requested to make a change in the management. The conference passed the following:
Resolved, That the conference respectfully request the American board at its next meeting in its election of officers to plan to secure such harmony as will tend to re-establish the venerable society in the affections and confidence of the churches, thus securing their unhesitating support and co-operation.

A committee of three was chosen to present the resolution to the next meeting of the American board at Worcester.

VERMONT'S NEW BISHOP.

Rev. Samuel Hart of Trinity College Elected on the Fourth Ballot.

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 23.—Rev.
Samuel Hart, D. D., of Trinity college, Hartford, was chosen bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the diocese of Vermont, to succeed Rt. Rev. W. H. A.
Bissell, D. D., deceased. The special convention met in St. Paul's church, 27 out of 29 clergy in the diocese being present.
The 42 parishes were represented by 87 lay delegates, nearly every delegation having its full quota.

The convention was held with closed doors. The proceedings of the convention were harmonious, and the result was reached on the fourth ballot by the conference of the clerical and lay bodies.
Previously, subsequently, the election of Dr.
Hart was made unanimous by a rising vote. Rev. J. Isham Bliss, D. D., president of the standing committee of the diocese, was presided.

The newly-elected bishop was born at Saybrook, Conn., in 1845, graduated at Trinity college, Hartford, class of '66, and from Berkeley Divinity school at Saybrook. He was ordained by Bishop Williams. Dr. Hart is at present secretary of the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States and the official custodian of The Book of Common Prayer. He is a professor in Trinity college. Dr. Hart is a ripe scholar and a man of marked ability. He stands high in the Episcopal church and is widely known in church circles.

NEW BUILDING SCHEME.

Quadrangle and Park Which Will Do Much to Beautify Yale.

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—Yale university has this season started upon a scheme of building that is novel in this country and which promises to add greatly to the attractiveness of the college. It is the preparation for a great quadrangle, which,
with its buildings, the authorities have had laid out by their architects, J. C. Cady & Co. of New York. The site is the large plot of ground between the divinity school and the new gymnasium, the greater portion of which has been for a long time the property of the college, but only recently has it been able to secure one or two little pieces necessary for the completion of the scheme.

As laid out, two lines of dormitory buildings will run from Elm to Wall street, a distance of nearly 500 feet. They will be separated by a parkway or court, 100 feet wide, which will be closed at the ends by high wrought iron fences of handsome design, that on Elm street having an ornate stone lodge in the center of its space. This parkway will in time be laid out with turf, flowers and trees, giving a beautiful outlook to the windows facing upon it and having a measure of seclusion not belonging to the ordinary street.

AN INGENIOUS SWINDLE

By Which New Haven Parties Have Fleeced Unsuspecting Westerners.

NEW HAVEN, June 23.—A year or more ago the facts of an extensive land swindle came to light, by which western people had been victimized through purchasing bogus deeds of land supposed to be located in New Haven. Two more such cases are now announced. The victims this time are A. W. Street & Co. of Chicago and J. P. Ross of Peoria, Ills. These people had purchased deeds to property, the location of which was minutely described in the instruments. As a matter of fact, however, the property does not exist, and the parties in question are out several thousand dollars. An investigation made a year ago showed that the parties doing this work were quite familiar with the city, and the new disclosures show that they are still in the field.

Summer Resort in Danger.

DENVER, June 23.—Forest fires have been raging on the Greenhorn mountains since Monday night. They have burned over several miles of ground and have entirely denuded Mount Carlos, the highest peak on the range, the blaze being visible 30 miles away. The fire is within three miles of Buelah, which is a pretty summer resort of 500 people. The only thing which will now save the town is a change of wind or a rainstorm.

Gaudaur's Offer.

TORONTO, June 23.—Gaudaur and Han-lan have deposited the final $400, making a total of $1000 a side, for their three-mile race at Orillia on July 23. Gaudaur also deposited $500 forfeit for a race with Stansbury for a purse of $2500 and the championship of the world, to be rowed at Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, Mass.
If Stansbury will row the race at Barrie or Orillia, Gaudaur will allow him $500 for expenses.

Bank Cashier Arrested.

FLORENCE, Ala., June 23.—Cashier Carr of the Tusculum Banking company is under arrest. Carr had just returned from New York and claimed to have sufficient money to pay the suspended bank. Instead of this he made a proposition to compromise. It is now thought the bank will only pay 15 cents on the dollar.

That Settles It.

BROOKLYN, June 23.—Police Commissioner Hayden has announced that he will neither dismiss or discipline any of the policemen who participated in the arrest of Captain Anderson and the other Viking men and that the incident is ended so far as he is concerned. He regrets, however, that the affair occurred.

Doings of Scrappers.

CONY ISLAND, June 23.—In the athletic club house last night Mike Leonard knocked out George Reynolds in nine rounds; Billy Ernst put Billy Vernon, the "liverstraw brickmaker," to sleep in eight rounds, and Joe Butler, colored, gave Jim Daly, Corbett's ex-sparring partner, his quietus in six rounds.

Trouble in Store.

PITTSBURG, Kan., June 23.—The conference between the committees of employers and striking miners was fruitless.
No agreement could be reached. It is believed the employers are arranging to import negroes from the south to take the strikers' places. In that event trouble is sure to follow.

Caused by Carelessness.

RAHWAY, N. J., June 23.—An explosion in the purifying room of the Rahway Gas company's works nearly wrecked the building, slightly injured three men and seriously burned a fourth. The explosion was caused by a lighted lamp being held too near a pipe while making repairs.

Not Satisfactory.

LONDON, June 23.—Interviews with Justin McCarthy and other Irish leaders show that they are disappointed over the proposed alterations in the financial clauses of the home rule bill. A party conference will be held to consider the matter.

Stanford's Wealth.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—A careful estimate of the late Senator Stanford's property indicates that its value is somewhere in the neighborhood of $35,000,000, on which there is an annual income of perhaps $3,000,000.

Duke and Princess Wed.

THE HAGUE, June 23.—The Grand Duke of Luxembourg was married to the Princess Maria Anna of Braganza yesterday.
Both the bride and groom are middle-aged, and the prince is a woman hater.

Killed by Lightning.

REDBANK, N. J., June 23.—Mrs. Daniel F. Pothenus was instantly killed by lightning near Clinton Falls. Her body was much discolored and the buttons on her clothing and shoes were torn off.

In the $10,000 suit of Joseph Wheel of Westfield, Mass., against Dr. J. H. Liverpool of Boston, for alleged malpractice, the jury in the superior court returned a verdict of $800.

Near Southworth, N.H., a freight consisting of 30 cars, mostly loaded with ice, broke apart and came together. Thirteen of the cars left the iron, and were piled up in a confused mass. No one was hurt.

A TALE OF CRUELTY

As Told by a New Bedford Whaler to a Reporter.

APPEALS FOR FOOD DENIED.

Tried to Get In Jail to Get Better Treatment.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 24.—Three officers of the wrecked whaling bark, Sea Ranger, arrived at this port yesterday from Port Townsend, Wash., by rail. The men are Third Mate James C. Lombard Nantucket of Fourth Mate Thomas D. Rice and Boatswain John Rogers of this city.

Mr. Rogers says he has been shipwrecked three times, but never before has he met with such outrageous treatment by white men, as he and the crew of the Sea Ranger met with at Sitka, Alaska.

Story as Told by Rogers.
"We were putting into the island of Kayat May 26," said Rogers, "to land a dead shipmate, when we struck a sunken ledge, and in less than an hour had to leave the ship with only what we carried on our backs. We had to row 14 miles to find a landing place, and were finally taken into a settlement by George Berry, an English trader, and with him waited until June 2, when steamer Crescent City arrived from Ounalaska and carried us to Sitka."

"We arrived at Sitka on June 5. There were 30 men of us, all told. The governor of Alaska was away, but the acting governor was seen by Captain Foley of the lost Sea Ranger."

"He told the captain he could do nothing for us, and he did nothing. We wanted food and had no money."

"There were in the harbor of Sitka three United States cutters and two American men-of-war—the Mohican and Ranger. Captain Foley saw Captain Ludlow of the Mohican, and implored him to do something for us in procuring food and other necessities. He told Captain Foley he could not help us, and told him to draw on the owners of the Sea Ranger. Captain Foley, by signing for $30 worth of rations for one week for the crew, was able to keep the men from starvation."

"Steamer City of Topeka, from Port Townsend, arrived at Sitka on June 10. The governor was on board, but was unwilling to do anything for the shipwrecked men. The captain of the City of Topeka refused to take them to Port Townsend, as they had no money to pay their passage."

"The men became desperate, and began to plan to do some outrage in order to get in jail, where they would at least get something to eat and shelter. Captain Ludlow was again asked for aid, but would do nothing without pay."

"Captain Foley pawned the ship's chronometer and managed to get enough money together to take himself, his five officers and his son to Port Townsend on the City of Topeka. The remainder of the crew were left at Sitka."

"The night before leaving Captain Foley again asked Captain Ludlow of the Mohican for food for the men he was obliged to leave behind, but was refused. We arrived safe at Port Townsend and Captain Foley reported the matter to the authorities at Washington."

Concerning Moody Merrill.
BOSTON, June 24.—It has been said that Moody Merrill, missing for the past month, left for Canada the day after Halifax May 27. It is claimed that he was seen going on board by a party knowing him very well, and that he was accompanied to the boat by Winthrop Merrill, Mr. Webber, his clerk, and Miss Smith of the Hotel Bellevue. There is no evidence to sustain the statement further than the hazy conjectures of under officers of the steamer. No record is on the books, and no one remembers selling him a ticket. Miss Smith flatly denies knowing anything of the matter. No one else has come forward to back up the story.

Trying to Save Corroto's Neck.
FALL RIVER, Mass., June 24.—A good many people here wonder why the counsel for Corroto did not waive examination at the start, Thursday, instead of taking a whole morning to make up their mind that the prisoner has no case. It turns out to be a shrewd move of Lawyer Swift and for a fixed purpose. He could not hope to free the accused after all he has said about the case. He did plan to lighten the charge, however. He will insist that the crime was not one of murder in the first degree, but of manslaughter, and if he succeeds in doing this he may save the neck of the prisoner.

Lizzie Borden's Sympathizers.
FALL RIVER, Mass., June 24.—Lizzie Borden's daily mail is something extraordinary, and is a revelation to the local postoffice authorities. At least 200 letters were received at her home yesterday by the man who resides in the house, and makes frequent visits to the postoffice during the day. A great many of the letters come from members of the Christian Endeavor and the W. C. T. U. societies throughout the country, nearly all of the large cities being represented. The girls have not stirred out since their arrival home, but are kept very busy receiving callers.

Prince's Property Attached.
SALEM, Mass., June 24.—A special attachment has been recorded at the court house, in an action of contract brought by Meah Dyer, Jr., of Boston, against C. A. Prince for $15,000. The property attached as Prince's is the Manchester property conveyed by C. A. Prince, by deed of May 17, to Morton Prince and by him conveyed to Edward Ellerton Pratt.

People's Party Convention.
ROCKLAND, Me., June 24.—Chairman Hobbs of the state committee has issued a call to the People's party of Maine to meet in convention in this city June 29, to discuss the political situation and to formulate plans for the campaigns of '94 and '96.

Burglars Wanted In Manchester, N. H.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 24.—Herbert Knight and Frank LeClair, the men whom the Waltham police chased Wednesday afternoon, are wanted in Manchester, N. H., for breaking and entering. Knight eluded the officers, but LeClair was captured and is at the present time in jail here. When searched at the police station LeClair had several watches and a number of rings in his possession, and it is now known that he got the stuff in Manchester. LeClair will be turned over to the New Hampshire authorities.

South Boston Matricide.
BOSTON, June 24.—A new indictment for the murder of Mrs. Catherine Brown, alias O'Malley, was returned yesterday against Thomas A. Brown, her son, by the Suffolk grand jury. The present indictment contains three counts, and the only difference from the first indictment is that it does not allege that she died instantly from the blows inflicted. Brown has not yet been arraigned on the new indictment, but will in a short time.

Death From Exposure.
HAYESVILLE, Mass., June 24.—The body of a man, apparently a laborer, was found yesterday morning at the side of the Boston and Maine railroad track, near the Winter street crossing. The body was subsequently identified as that of Michael F. Kiley of 31 North Federal street, Lynn. He was a drinking man, and it is supposed that he died from exposure.

McDowell to Have a Second Trial.
BENNINGTON, Vt., June 24.—Henry McDowell, charged with the murder of John Crowley, in whose recent trial the jury disagreed, was taken to Windsor yesterday to be confined in the state prison until December, when he will have his second trial. It is said that the state has already found new and important evidence to put against him.

Rhode Island's Election.
PROVIDENCE, June 24.—The first of the briefs to be presented to the supreme court in relation to the questions submitted by the house of representatives has been prepared by William P. Sheffield of Newport, representing the governor and the senate. The Democratic brief will probably be ready today. There will be two more for the Republicans.

Two Thousand People Thrown Out.
HAYESVILLE, Mass., June 24.—The engine of A. J. Jacques' shoe factory broke down this morning, stopping all the power. About 2000 persons employed in the different manufactories whose machinery was run by power from this engine are thrown out of employment. It will take several weeks to make necessary repairs.

Judge Blatchford Holding His own.
NEWPORT, R. I., June 24.—The local attending physician, Justice Blatchford as comfortable and his real condition has changed none for the past two or three days. He is still within the danger line, but his remaining in his present condition is favorable to him, for he is gaining greatly needed strength.

Superintendent Jones Resigns.
WOONSOCKET, R. I., June 24.—W. S. Jones has resigned the superintendency of the central division of the New York and New England railroad, to take effect July 1.

Nearly All Back at Work.
BIDDEFORD, Me., June 24.—The back-boys have all returned to work, and the Pepperell and Laconia mills were running yesterday with nearly their full crews.

Burglars at Vinalhaven.
ROCKLAND, Me., June 24.—Burglars cracked the safe in the office of Lane & Libby, fish packers, at Vinalhaven and obtained $500.

Death of Mrs. Parke Godwin.
BAR HARBOR, Me., June 24.—Mrs. Godwin, wife of Parke Godwin of New York, died yesterday morning.

It is not certain that Rev. Samuel Hart, D. D., of Hartford, will accept the Vermont bishopric.

There are 70 candidates for admission to the freshman class of Bowdoin college, Brunswick, Me., next fall.

In the apportionment of the county tax for this year, Lawrence's (Mass.) share amounts to $38,491.97, which is $11,351.12 more than was paid by that city last year.

Miss Annie R. Chadwick of Exeter, N. H., died yesterday noon, aged 41. She was the only daughter of the late Captain John Chadwick, and of the highest social prominence.

Barnes Bros., art dealers at Birmingham, Conn., sleep in their store, and Thursday night two masked burglars entered the place, covered them with revolvers and searched their clothing, taking $20 and valuable papers, and then escaped.

Clauses Omitted From Ireland's Proposals.
LONDON, June 24.—The new financial proposals in connection with the proposed establishment of an Irish parliament were issued yesterday. The original clauses—10, relating to a separate consolidated fund and taxes; 11, relating to hereditary revenues and income tax; 12, relating to the financial arrangements as between the United Kingdom and Ireland, and 13, relating to the treasury account of Ireland—are omitted from the new proposals.

SHOCKING DISASTER.

The British Battleship Victoria Sunk In Collision.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES LOST.

Calamity Occurred Off the Port of Tripoli.

LONDON, June 24.—The new ironclad Victoria, built by the Armstrongs, was rammed Thursday by the Camperdown while maneuvering off Tripoli, going down immediately. Four hundred of the crew and officers, including Rear Admiral Tyron, perished. The Camperdown struck the Victoria just before the fore barbette, and the latter tilted quickly and turned bottom upward, then pitched downward, head first.

The Victoria was an all-steel turret ship 340 feet long, 70 feet wide; mean draught, 29 feet 9 inches; of 10,470 tons displacement and 14,000 horsepower. Her side armor was 18 inches thick, and she mounted two 11-ton guns (in turrets), one 20-ton gun, 12 five-ton guns, besides rapid-fire and machine guns. She was fitted with ram torpedo tubes and all modern appliances. Her normal speed was 16.7 knots, and 17.3 under forced draught. She could stow 1200 tons of coal in her bunkers, and her radius of action at 19 knots speed with her full complement of coal was estimated at 7000 knots.

The Camperdown is also a first-class twin screw battleship. She is of 10,600 tons and 11,500 horsepower, and carries 10 guns.

A dispatch received at 2 o'clock this morning from Beyroot says that the collision occurred at 5 p. m. Thursday about seven miles from Tripoli. The vessels were almost at right angles when the Victoria was struck. Those on the Victoria's deck at the moment of the collision scrambled away and were rescued by the boats from the Camperdown and several other vessels. The men below had not time to reach the deck. The sudden heeling of the Victoria caused her to begin to fill immediately, and no escape was possible. She went down in 80 fathoms of water.

It is difficult to obtain the names of the men rescued, as they are aboard several vessels, and so far all efforts have been devoted to recovering bodies. Shortly after the collision of the vessels bodies were taken from the water. They were buried last evening with military honors at Tripoli. The Camperdown was severely damaged forward in the collision. Temporary repairs will be made, and then she will start for home. It is said here that several times the Victoria had shown signs of weakness in her steering gear. One theory is that on the account of this weakness she became unmanageable and could not be got out of the Camperdown's way.

Lord Brassey on the Disaster.

In discussing the disaster last evening Lord Brassey, sea time secretary of the admiralty, said that the sinking of the Victoria supplied a strong argument against building more big men-of-war. It was evident, he said, that the Victoria's armor afforded her no protection from the Camperdown's ram. While not convinced that smaller vessels were safer than the larger ones, he thought it wiser to distribute the country's naval strength among many less pretentious men-of-war rather than among a few monster battle ships. It was poor policy to put so many eggs in one basket.

A Court Circular issued last evening says that the queen received the news with the deepest grief and that "her heart bleeds for the many homes plunged into mourning."

Sympathy From Germany's Emperor.
The Duke of Edinburgh has received this dispatch from Emperor William II: "Words cannot express our horror. We all sympathize with your comrades. As token of our sympathy your ensign is flying from the masts of our vessels, with our own ensign at half mast, according to my orders."

The duke replied: "The British navy and nation feel deeply the sympathy expressed by your majesty and our brothers of the German navy for us in this great disaster."

President Greenhut's Statement.
CHICAGO, June 24.—President Greenhut of the whiskey trust said last evening: "The money derived from the sale of the $1,000,000 of bonds the other week has enabled the trust to meet all special demands against it and put its business in shape. We have quieted the alarm of the holders of our rebate certificates by the deposit of $2,000,000 of bonds, and we have no more trouble from that source. The experience of W. W. Johnson & Co., who were reinstated, is likely to deter other distributors from attempting to leave the trust. The only contention we have now to deal with is the slow moving quo warranto proceedings."

"Shang" Campbell Sentenced.
BOSTON, June 24.—"Shang" Campbell, the self-confessed professional thief, was sentenced to four years at state prison by Judge Bishop, in the superior criminal court, for the larceny of $400 from one Wright at the National Bank of the Republic Oct. 4, 1893.

Dr. Graves' Case.
DENVER, June 24.—Judge Macon, attorney for Dr. Graves, filed with the clerk of the supreme court a petition for the doctor's release on habeas corpus proceedings. The petition sets forth that postponement of the trial over two terms of court is contrary to law.

Breckenridge Engaged.
WASHINGTON, June 24.—The engagement of Representative W. C. P. Breckenridge of Kentucky and Miss Madeline Pollard, who is now a guest of Mrs. Blackburn, is announced.

Rumor That India's Mints Will Close.
LONDON, June 24.—It is rumored that the Herschell committee proposes to close the India mints, but only conditionally on the repeal of the Sherman act.

THE SCHOOL CENSUS.

Taken by a New Man and the Total Slightly Smaller.

OVER 4300 FOUND HOWEVER.

Prospects for the Future—Interesting Comparisons With Past Years.

Superintendent Lull furnishes the following result of the school census as taken by Mr. D. Vinton Pierce:

Age	Centre	Point	West	South	Atlantic	Wollaston	Total
Five	69	37	193	158	56	58	571
Six	69	48	184	171	41	49	562
Seven	60	32	149	132	39	34	446
Eight	39	35	137	101	37	46	395
Nine	55	28	128	115	42	48	416
Ten	46	30	123	108	32	43	382
Eleven	53	26	101	81	35	40	336
Twelve	43	38	124	93	32	27	337
Thirteen	54	30	107	77	34	42	344
Fourteen	69	54	137	138	54	59	511
Totals	557	358	1383	1174	446	446	4320

The result shows a decrease of 57 over that of 1892, which is accounted for by Enumerator Pierce as follows: He says in his canvass this year he found many cases where children who were but 4 years of age last year, were taken as 5. He also found several instances where dead children had been taken and then there were others who were between the ages of 15 and 25 years who had been taken as 14. The total number taken in 1892, whom he claims should not have been, was 746 and the districts in which these were found was as follows: Point 62; Atlantic 69; Wollaston 45; Center 120; West 200; South 250.

If we take the 746 from the total returned last year it will show an increase for 1893 of 689.

It is not probable that Quincy is going behind in the number of its children, and if it was the taxpayers would rejoice. It is only a difference in the enumerators, for it is a fact that in every year when any one else than Mr. Fellows takes the census there is a falling off. This was very noticeable so in 1885.

A glance at the births in the city during the past few years will show that a good sized army is trudging along and will keep the school ranks more than full. It will be noticed that there are more school children of a given age than were born in the city.

The school year and fiscal year do not agree, but are sufficiently accurate. The recent census shows 571 five years of age, yet in 1887-8 only 450 were born and 100 or more died before they were a year old. School authorities can therefore safely reckon on from 100 to 200 more than are born here, and the statistics of births are as follows:

Born in 1885,	388
Born in 1886,	447
Born in 1887,	441
Born in 1888,	451
Born in 1889,	586
Born in 1890,	570
Born in 1891,	619
Born in 1892,	612

Briefly stated there will be 600 to 800 new pupils each year for the next five years, while in the highest grades to graduate or leave school there will be 300 to 400. It looks as though the gain of 300 to 400 per year would mean a new eight-room school-house every year; at the outside, every other year. West Quincy needs another one now.

	1883	1893	Gain
Centre,	388	557	169
Point,	337	358	21
South,	523	1174	651
West,	706	1383	677
Wollaston,	213	446	233
Atlantic,	279	402	123
	2446	4320	1874

It will be seen that South Quincy made the largest gain and doubled its school population.

The Wollaston district was the only other to double its population and nearly equalled the South in percentage. The West however has led each year and the South and Centre have been respectively two and three.

The Point district which was fourth until 1890 was passed that year by both Atlantic and Wollaston, and continues to foot the list.

Wollaston passed Atlantic in 1892 and is now fourth leaving the latter fifth as ten years ago.

The following table gives the census by district for five years:

	1889	1890	1891	1892	1893
Centre,	481	485	522	522	537
Point,	333	325	337	337	338
South,	927	1,024	1,158	1,281	1,174
West,	1,108	1,161	1,281	1,407	1,383
Wollaston,	313	322	355	416	446
Atlantic,	314	338	382	394	402
Total,	3,495	3,665	4,045	4,377	4,320

FILTRATION OF SEWAGE.

A Successful Exhibit of a New System at Fitchburg Last Week.

Mayor Fairbanks in a communication to the City Council Monday evening called attention to the new sewage system at Fitchburg of which there is soon to be a public exhibition. He recommended that a committee be appointed to be present, and the Council took favorable action.

The Sentinel in speaking of an exhibit to the city officials on Friday describes the works as follows:
The plant consists of a building, 30x60 feet, with front elevation of 30 feet, and the movable filter bed which travels upon a circular track 459 feet in circumference and 6 feet wide. In the building the boiler and engine room are each 12x30 feet, while the machine proper occupies nearly all of the remaining space with the exception of a passageway.

The sewage is pumped up about 30 feet and discharged upon a belt constructed of galvanized steel wire with quarter-inch meshes. The width of this belt is 3 1-2 feet, the length is 150 feet. This permits the free passage of water, but retains the coarser material which is delivered into a chute which conducts it to the furnace, when it is dried and consumed as fuel. The water passes through this first belt twice and then falls on a "spray" belt constructed of hard drawn copper wire running lengthwise, across which are woven half-inch bands of crimped copper ribbon which forms a barrier against the direct passage of the water, but causes it to percolate through in the form of spray.

Matter, which may have come through the first belt is again subjected to brushes which divert it into shutes.

Such secretions as the brushes fail to remove are thoroughly displaced by blast pipes which force strong currents of air obliquely through the meshes. The water now being in the form of spray becomes oxidized by the pure air and the foul gases are drawn upward by an exhaust fan and forced into the furnace where they are burned.

The sewage having passed through four strainers and the aerating chamber falls upon the moving filter bed and is carried around the circular track. This bed is in reality a huge car loaded with coke and sand to the depth of 1 1/2 feet. The water passes through this sand and coke and falls upon a stationary filtering bed from the bottom of which it is conducted by drains, in a thoroughly clarified state into the river.

The trial on Friday, so far as demonstrating the correctness of the theory of the inventor, was an unqualified success. The entire output of one of the city's main sewers was for several hours handled easily and the water perfectly filtered.

It will however, be necessary to operate the machine for several weeks or months in order to completely demonstrate its practicability. The cost of operation, the effect of cold weather upon the movable filter bed, the action of the salts upon the materials of which the belts are constructed, and several other matters must be taken into consideration. All who witnessed the trial on Friday were much pleased with the showing made, and Manager Black, who is also the inventor and builder of the machine, was the recipient of many congratulations.

HEADLESS BODY FOUND.

The Skull Found by Councilman Moxon. May Belong to It.

Boys at Atlantic beach, at the foot of Appleton street, yesterday afternoon, found the trunk of a man which had evidently been washed ashore by the storm. The body had been in the water a long time, as the head, arms and legs had been eaten off.

The body was dressed in a navy blue sailor's shirt and part of a pair of pants, in the pockets of which was a knife, two-foot rule and a 1891 diary. The latter, however, was so wet that it was impossible to read the writing, although a name that looked like "Potter" was upon the fly-leaf. The diary will be dried out and an attempt made to ascertain the identity of the remains by it.

The remains are now at Hall's Undertaking rooms.

A few weeks ago, it will be remembered, that Councilman Moxon discovered in the Neponset river a skull, and it is possible that it belonged with this headless body.

LATER.—It has been ascertained that the body found floating at Atlantic beach Friday afternoon was that of Willard T. Potter of Cambridge. The unfortunate man went out in his boat last summer and never returned. His friends at Cambridge will visit Quincy this afternoon and arrange for its interment.

—The graduation exercises of the High school at Hingham last evening included the "Cantata of Ruth."

—There will be a bicycle tournament at the Brockton Fair Grounds, July 4. Prizes aggregating in value between $400 and $500 will be offered. Some fast riders are expected to participate.

The World's Fair and its varied scenes occupy the opening pages of Current Literature for July. This is the second of the World's Fair numbers. As the great display becomes more complete the novelty of it grows also. Nothing could be more interesting than the excerpts here gathered together, or the kodak and other views taken on the grounds. To those who cannot go to the Fair there could be no more complete picture given of it than promises to be gleaned from the five successive special numbers of this magazine.

Lawn Hose. Prices cut almost in two. 10 cents per foot. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

MANET BEACH.

Indoor Amusements Are in Order and the Ledger Contributes a Game.

News is quiet this stormy weather. A pleasant Sunday is hoped for. A championship race of the Hull Corinthian club is scheduled for this afternoon. Three bicycle clubs, the Cambridge, Rovers and Cambridgeports, announce a run to Houghs Neck on Sunday.

MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER—that's the name of it, but not all of it. Green & Prescott are the publishers; a lively, breezy, well edited and newsy two cent sheet, gotten out for the special benefit and delectation of the people of Houghs Neck, among whom, we are proud to say, there are not a few of the best families of Braintree, sojourning there during the summer season. To command success is to be worthy of it; just what the MANET BEACH DAILY LEDGER is!—Braintree Observer.

The Wild Waves Say
That it may clear off.
That this is doubtful.
That "May bees" don't fly this month.
That June bugs are scarce.
That we have had rain enough.
That children do not reign yet at Manet Beach.

That this weather is keeping them away. That they will be here before the Fourth of July.

That this is only ten days off, a week from next Tuesday.
That they will expect a good time on the Nation's holiday.
That they should have it.

"Advice Gratis."
A rainy day at the seaside cottage often causes a demand for entertaining indoor games in which all can take part. "Advice Gratis" is perhaps a new game to many, and will be found provocative of hearty laughter. Each player being provided with a slip of paper writes upon it a few words of advice in the form of an appropriate quotation, an original bit of instructive information, or one of those familiar epigrams of wisdom known as proverbs and aphorisms. These folded slips being well shaken up in a basket or hat, are distributed and each player reads aloud the one he has drawn, first declaring his opinion of the advice contained in it. For instance Mr. W. announces that his is "very appropriate," and then is obliged to read: "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise." Miss X. is sure that her's is "excellent," and so it is, for it bids her "Think more and say less." Mr. Y. considers his "very good," but after reading "Be wise with speed; a fool at forty is a fool indeed," he prefers a general rather than a special application of the quotation; while Mrs. Z., who declares her's to be "very bad advice" changes her opinion when she reads a few lines adapted from Lowell for the occasion:

"Let naught that sets one heart at ease,
Or giveth happiness, or peace,
Be low-esteemed in your eyes."

In this game, as in most others, good nature is both necessary and charming. To laugh heartiest when laughed at, to take everything as it is meant and not as an intentional thrust, argues a sound mind and a sweet temper. And the player who writes a particularly spiteful bit of advice, hoping that it will hit—he knows where—must remember that it is quite as likely to come home to himself as to fall where he wished to have it.

CLASS RECEPTION.

A Merry Evening Passed by the Quincy High School Graduates of 1893.

The sweet girl and gallant young gentlemen graduates composing the Class of '93, Quincy High school, as has been the custom of the graduates of this school for many years, gave a reception last evening, at Faxon hall, to their many friends, and it is safe to say that nearly all who were fortunate enough to receive cards embraced the opportunity to be present, the extremely unpleasant weather in nowise interfering with the attendance.

The young ladies presented a perfect picture of youthful happiness arrayed in light evening costumes of various shades, while the young men appeared at their best attired in the conventional black dress suits.

About the hall at intervals were large clusters of roses and peonies, and upon the southerly end of the hall suspended upon the wall was the class motto, "Ez vita scholae in scholam vitae," worked in daisies on a corn-colored banner. Beneath this banner sat the stately matrons, Mrs. F. A. Tupper, Miss Elizabeth Southern, Miss Madeline Fish and Miss Winifred Stone, who had a pleasant word and smile for all.

Mr. Frederick A. Tupper, principal of the school, also sat near by and looked quietly on while those who had but so recently passed from beneath his watchful eye were making the most of the evening, which would pass only too soon, and then those who for four short years had been almost daily companions would separate, each to go their way and face life's stern realities, to make their mark in the world. Though they have now become separated, the many pleasant associations connected with the happy days spent in the old High school will never be entirely effaced from memory.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock when Bryant's orchestra commenced the march which was to set the dance in motion and Mr. Joseph J. Callahan and Miss Carrie Baker went forth with nearly sixty couples. From this time until midnight the festivities continued with only a short intermission when Caterer Wales served ices and cake.

Mr. Joseph J. Callahan was floor director and he was ably assisted by Mr. George Field, Mr. Charles Hobart, Mr. John Readon and Mr. Arthur Curtis.

CROWDS POURING IN

Fair Weather and Large Attendance Prevail at the Fair.

A DISCUSSION ON SILVER.

The Fair's First Sermon to Be Preached Tomorrow.

CHICAGO, June 24.—A merry tune was hummed all day yesterday by the turnstiles at the World's fair, and it was evident early in the action that Thursday's big record of 127,000 would be closely pressed.

By 3 o'clock over 73,000 admissions had been paid, and the crowd appeared to be made up of strangers who looked upon the fair for the first time.

There were no special attractions to mass the crowds in any one place, so the visitors were scattered from the entrance to the Midway plaisance to the southern end of the grounds.

The weather was perfect, a cool breeze tempered the heat of the sun, and in the shade of the big buildings thousands found perfect comfort.

Musicians In Session. Amateurs in musical affairs held a long session in Music hall yesterday. Recital hall was crowded when the fifth session of the national convention of women's amateur musical clubs began. In the audience were visitors from every city in the country, and many foreigners were present. The program rendered was an excellent one, the leading participants being music clubs from Dayton, O., Detroit, Chicago and Seattle.

Silver Discussion. The announcement of the appointment of Alfred Southworth as postmaster of Braintree, over the head of the present incumbent, Mr. N. R. Procter, who has held the position satisfactorily to the general public for a good many years, caused quite a ripple of excitement all over the town last night. To a large degree it was the unexpected that had happened. Possibly Mr. Procter's friends may take steps to induce the administration to retain him.

The Braintrees will play the John C. Paiges on the Common today, and after that they will play with strong teams, such as the Norwoods, North Abingtons, North Weymouths, Mill Streams, Fitzburgs, Roxbury Athletics, and such strong teams, "be people attending these games will be more than pleased to learn that all the management wants now is support from the people of the town, and Braintree will "be in it."

Graduation exercises at Thayer Academy this afternoon.

There will be Episcopal service in Mayflower Park Chapel, by Rev. William Hyde, of Weymouth, on Sunday, June 26th, at 3.30 p. m. All are invited.

The Universalist society will observe Children's day by a Sunday school concert in the Town Hall tomorrow afternoon at half past two. All are cordially invited.

BRAINTREE.

Thursday night the graduation exercises in connection with the High School took place at the Town Hall. The weather was rainy and unfavorable to a general turnout.

The hall was brilliantly lighted and the platform decorations made it a complete bower of beauty; amid such charms why should the audience not feel happy, happy because of their surroundings, happy in the occasion that had brought them there, and happy in the knowledge that the "heavens dropped fatness," on a parched earth."

The floral decoration of the stage or platform was all in excellent taste, while the furnishings were in a style never before seen on any former occasion. The graduates used to occupy the platform and did this time, but they were usually accommodated with plain cane chairs, to sit on, Thursday night they sat in gorgeous and richly upholstered arm chairs, arranged in drawing-room fashion like so many eastern princesses.

The present week has been a busy and exciting one, both with the school board, Superintendent of schools, teachers and pupils. The work of education is an arduous and trying one. Without these, enthusiasm and an aptness for it on the part of those engaged in it, failure, partial failure at least, must be the result.

The graduation of the South High class of '93 was held at Fogg's opera house Friday evening.

Children's day will be observed at the M. E. Church, East Weymouth on Sunday. The funeral of Mr. J. Edward Kerivan of North Weymouth, who died on Thursday, was held this morning from St. Jerome church.

Mr. Alvin B. Derby, a native of South Weymouth, died in Riverside, Cal., on Tuesday of typhoid fever, and his daughter, Miss Edith, of Bright's disease, the previous Thursday.

Dr. W. A. Drake will present the diplomas at the graduation of the Athens grammar school, to be held in the Pilgrim church next Wednesday evening. The closing exercises of the other grades will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Columbian Bell.

The Columbian bell was successfully cast in Troy on June 22, in the presence of about one thousand spectators. The material used to make the eighteen thousand pound bell, comprises twelve thousand pounds of copper, three thousand pounds of tin, about two hundred pounds of pennies, one thousand pounds of bell material, mostly copper selected from relics, gold by the quart and silver by the peck.

Many of the relics received could not possibly be used in the material, but in order to preserve the sentiment things have been taken from every source of these offerings.

It was arranged that Mrs. Grover Cleveland was to press the button at Buzzards bay to start the machinery in motion, but the plans disarranged and Mrs. Cleveland had no part in the ceremonies.

The candle power of searchlight is reckoned by the hundred millions.

The prices don't pull hard at your purse strings, 35, 40 or 45 cents according to size. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Monumental News.

Camp 254, P. O. S. of A., of Lebanon, Pa., has decided to erect a monument in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery, and has appointed a committee.

The New York State Gettysburg monument will be unveiled July 1. It will be surmounted by a statue of "Victoria."

The monument cost $65,000.

Pennsylvania is asked to erect a monument on the site of the old cherry tree which marked the corners of Clearfield, Indiana and Cambria counties, and also marks a corner in the original purchase of the Indians in 1768.

Mrs. Lucia Foskit, widow of Dr. Stebbins Foskit, announces her intention to give Wilbraham, Mass., a soldier's monument to cost about $3,000.

Noticeable monuments of Quincy granite have been erected at Stockton Springs, Me., to Miss E. M. Hiehorn; and at Unity, Me., on the Berry lot.

Arthur J. Taylor of New York has offered $500 toward a soldiers' monument at Huntington, Mass. The proposition will be considered by the Huntington Cemetery Association July 1.

The Minneapolis Journal says, "The committee of Minnesota veterans appointed by the legislature to expend $15,000 in erecting appropriate monuments to the gallant dead of the 2d Minnesota Infantry and 2d battery on the battlefield of Chickamauga has organized by electing Gen. J. W. Bishop chairman and Dr. A. W. Spaulding secretary. In September the committee expects to visit the battlefield for the purpose of locating the monuments. The society of the army of the Cumberland will meet in Toledo in September and the commission will attend and visit the battlefield afterward in company with commissions appointed by other states for the same purpose, Ohio and Wisconsin among them. These commissioners will lighten their work by conferring and exchanging views. Under the legislative bill $3,000 of the $15,000 goes to the battery, and it has been agreed that this sum will be used in a single shaft, probably of granite. The remaining $12,000 will be divided as follows: $6,000 for a monument on Snodgrass ridge, $3,000 for a monument on Kelly's farm and the remaining $1,500 for a monument near the ridge road where the battle began. The Minnesota commission hopes to have the monuments ready for dedication by a year from September."

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in a few days. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

better known locally perhaps as

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

THE BABY IN A SLING.

How One Man Managed It at the World's Fair.

SOME GOOD ADVICE TO VISITORS.

Take It Easy, Don't Try to Do Too Much. Wear Simple Clothing and Heavy-soled Shoes. Leave Small Children at Home but Take All the Larger Ones—The Ohio Idea.

WORLD'S FAIR, June 16.—[Special.]—Some of the people who come to the fair have queer devices for securing the comfort of themselves and children. The quaintest thing in this line that has fallen under my notice was the method a man employed for carrying a baby about the grounds with him. He had made a sort of sling or cradle out of a piece of leather and a couple of shawl straps, the sling being nicely cushioned. When he put this contrivance about his shoulders he was able to nestle baby in it, the little one reclining on his breast and leaving his two arms and hands free to assist the remaining members of his family as they went on their rounds. It was easy for the man and easy for the baby. The precious mite was asleep when I saw it, and looked cool and comfortable, which it could not have been if carried in the arms. Many people stopped to look at this novel method of carrying a baby, and the man was much admired both for his ingenuity and his courage. Not every husband and father would have the nerve to put such a plan into execution, even if he thought of such a thing. As a rule men are too proud to undertake innovations, especially where a baby is concerned. This father, however, seemed to be proud of his achievement, and I heard more than one woman praise him and say he was a husband worth having.

The people who visit the fair do get so tired. It appears to me I hear more talk of fatigue than of anything else. This is particularly true among the women visitors. They walk and walk—often five times farther than they ever walked in the same time before—and what with the crowding and pushing, the craning of necks and straining of eyes, are utterly worn out before they know it. Now that the weather is pretty warm visitors cannot be too careful. It does not pay to overwork one's self in the praiseworthy cause of sight-seeing. Today I heard one woman say, when urged by her husband to go with him into the Art palace to see some of the beautiful pictures there: "I wouldn't walk a block now to see the streets of the golden city."

Women become so exhausted that they throw themselves down upon the grass wherever they can find an opportunity, and there are many places—this which may be done, with no "keep off the grass" signs to make afraid of the children—to intimidate. A great many Chicago people, or visitors from near-by towns, take their luncheons to the fair with them, and seeking some cool and grassy spot make a picnic party in the middle of the day. Some visitors even have the courage to take their lunch-baskets into one or other of the restaurants, and spread their contents upon the tables. I would not advise imitation of this plan. At the German village and in some of the other places where food is sold notices are posted that lunch-baskets must not be opened on the premises. If you were running a restaurant here you would not want people to come in and spread their home-made luncheons on your tables, would you?

Today in the Moorish restaurant I saw three women and two children gathered about a table on which they had dumped the contents of their large basket. No one said a word to them, and they were permitted to eat in peace. But when they called a waiter and ordered one glass of milk and one cup of coffee he shook his head as if he could not understand what they wanted. They called another and he failed to respond. They tried five or six waiters in succession, and could not get even a glass of water. I did not blame the waiters very much, though I could see the women were furious.

The best advice I can give people who intend visiting the fair is to take things easy and don't try to do too much. You can never see all there is to see, anyway, and there is no use of struggling so hard to do so as to wear yourself out. Pause often to rest, and hire a wheel chair now and then. Or take a ride on one of the electric launches or the elevated electric railway. Either is cooling and refreshing. It pays to spend enough money for these comforts, and for proper and wholesome food, to keep yourself in good form, for if one is feeling dragged out he cannot enjoy the things which he may have come a long distance to see.

A mistake which many visitors make is that of walking too far to the fair. Perhaps they live in a hotel or lodging house a mile or a mile and a half from the gates. If they do not chance to be near a line of street cars they walk the distance in the morning, only to arrive at the fair pretty well fatigued at the very commencement of their day's work. This is bad policy. Comfortable covered carriages are constantly plying to and fro between the hotels within a radius of a couple of miles of the fair gates, and the charge is only a quarter for the long distances and in some cases but 15 cents for the shorter rides. Money spent in this way is money well spent, for it brings you to the fair fresh and cool.

Do not bring your best clothes to the fair. Dress neat and as comfortably as possible. This is no place for fine feathers. The richest people of Chicago visit the fair attired very simply, and it is only the foolish who try to show here the finest things in their wardrobe. Above all, do not wear thin-soled shoes. This warning, if heeded, may save many a woman the torments of sore feet. Wherever one goes in the grounds or the World's fair district you may see men and women, particularly women, limping about as if they were cripples. Many of the walks in the fair grounds are gravelled, and while easy enough to walk upon for those whose feet are properly shod are sure to bring anguish to the soles of those who insist upon seeing the fair in this way.

Visitors will do well to make the building of their state their headquarters during their stay on the grounds. Nearly all the states have handsome buildings here, fitted up with all sorts of conveniences. At these buildings you are sure to meet friends from your town or neighborhood, and many pleasant reunions take place on the broad and shady piazzas of these commonwealth club houses. The Ohio building has set an example which it would be well for all the other state building managers to follow.

At the Buckeye headquarters a book of registry is kept, as at all the state buildings. But the Ohioans go further. They have two or three quick-witted and nimble-fingered young ladies at the desk, and whenever a visitor from Ohio registers they fill out a little slip which shows the new comer's name, home address, Chicago address, and how long he expects to stay in the city. An index by towns, cities and post-offices is kept in a systematic manner by these young ladies, and they are able to turn without a moment's hesitation or delay to any locality in which callers are interested. Suppose you live at Columbus, O., and are anxious to know if certain friends of yours are in Chicago. You go to the desk, take a little yellow blank or "inquiry slip," and when you have filled in the name and address it reads like this: "Is Mr. John Smith of 444 High Street, Columbus, O., registered?"

In a moment or two the young woman will hand you back your ticket filled out as follows:

"Registered June 10 to stay about eight days. Chicago address, Chicago Beach hotel."

Then if you want to communicate with your friend you know where to find him. This method saves all fumbling over the registry books, which is such a nuisance, usually, at headquarters used by a large number of people. The system is carried to still greater usefulness. A postoffice is maintained in the building, through which you may reach your friends if they call for mail, as every visitor should do at least once a day. Suppose, again, you wish to know if any friends of yours from Columbus are at the fair. The clerk will hand you the Columbus list, all written out on a large card, and in a moment you may ascertain who are in town from your city, when they came, how long they are to remain, and where they are staying.

People who are making their arrangements to come to the fair should if possible leave all small children at home. Children of six or seven years or younger are able to derive but little benefit from the exposition, and it is some expense and more bother to bring them along. But all other children should have a chance to see the great fair. It is better than a school. The managers of the enterprise were wise to reduce the admission fee for children under twelve years of age to 25 cents. Already the attendance of children numbers four to six thousand daily, and as soon as the schools are closed tens of thousands of boys and girls will visit the grounds every day.

BABY IN THE SLING.

day. In the end the exposition will profit financially by this concession to the small people of the land. It will be remembered the management of the Centennial exposition did not do this until very late in the year, and they not only lost money by their delay but deprived many thousands of children of the benefit to be derived from frequent visits to the great educational show.

There has been a great deal of talk in the newspapers about small attendance at the fair, but the Chicago exposition is one of the greatest successes in this respect the world has ever seen. The present attendance is about eighty or ninety thousand per day, and frequently the totals run much above this. The attendance for May was a million in round numbers, or an average of 37,000 per day, whereas the average at the Philadelphia exposition during the same month was less than 50,000. During the month of June the total number of admissions at Philadelphia was only 700,000, or less than 27,000 per day, while the Chicago attendance for this month is likely to average seventy or eighty thousand per day. It is an odd fact that at the Centennial the attendance during July was less than in June, while here the managers expect to have during July an average of at least 150,000. This will be the first of the great vacation months and a perfect flood of people will then be pouring into Chicago. The vacation season was not such a general institution in 1876 as it is now, and this had much to do with the small attendance at the Philadelphia exposition during July and August. All the signs are that the Chicago fair is to be the most successful ever held in point of attendance as it certainly is the greatest of fairs in all other respects.

A VIGILANT OFFICER

Frustrates an Attempt at Murder on a Fall River Line Steamer.

Boston, June 26.—People who came from New York on the Fall River steamer Puritan Saturday night relate a thrilling incident which occurred during the trip, and one which, had it not been for the vigilance of one of the officers of the boat, might have ended in a tragedy. It was about 9:45 when Assistant Purser West was walking about on deck. He had gone to the bow of the boat and turned to make his way aft, when his attention was attracted by a couple who were advancing at a rapid rate to the starboard side of the boat.

The man seemed to be talking in an excited manner, and had his right arm around the waist of the woman. He hurried her to the rail, and with his left arm tightly clasping the stanchion he was in the act of throwing her overboard when Mr. West came upon the pair, and with the assistance of a deckhand, succeeded in getting the couple back from the rail. The young woman was badly frightened, and was assisted to the ladies' cabin. When assigned to a stateroom she registered as Miss Madeline S. Carleton.

The man is described as being about 35 years of age, with dark hair and mustache, and having every appearance of respectability. He received a strongly worded lecture from the men of the steamer, and spent the remainder of the night in walking the deck.

The Puritan arrived at Fall River on time, and the couple were seen to join each other and board the train as though nothing had happened.

FOUND IN A SWAMP.

Two Boys Come Across the Dead Body of an Old Veteran.

Beverly, Mass., June 26.—Two Wenham boys, Benjamin C. Quincy and John Cross, were walking through the Topsfield end of the Wenham swamp when they came upon the badly decomposed body of a man, which bore every evidence of having been there a long time. Soldier's discharge papers, bearing the name "John Hoyt of Wenham," were found upon the body.

Hoyt was about 62 years old and for some time had been an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Togus. Through the past winter and spring he had been boarding in Haverhill. He had been in the habit of making trips to Wenham to visit friends, and it is presumed that he attempted to go through the swamp and was lost, or an accident happened to him.

There was nothing about the body or surroundings to give a clue to the cause of his death. He was last seen in Wenham April 11, but no one knew he was missing. The boys notified the Topsfield authorities.

SCORE SIX TO FIVE.

The features were the battery work, Whelan's batting and the fielding of Pitts, Dolan, Stack, Murphy and Faircloth. The score:

North Weymouths Down their Old Rivals, the Institutes.

BATTERY WORK A FEATURE.

An Extended Report of the Game by Innings—Other Games.

The first game of the season between these old-time rivals was played Saturday afternoon, at the Sea street grounds, North Weymouth. It was not an ideal day for ball tossing as it was cloudy and threatening rain, nevertheless a thousand people turned out to see the sport. The game was advertised to begin at 3.30 but a delay was occasioned by the nonappearance of some of the players. The home team was weakened by the absence of Captain Rutherford. His place was taken by McCormick. He handles himself like a ball player but cannot begin to fill "Ruddy's" shoes.

Game was called at 4.00 o'clock with the Institutes at the bat. McCarthy was given a base on balls. Murphy hit to Pitts but Jim fumbled and both men were safe. Kiley drove a hot one through McCormick's legs and the bases were full with no one out. Stack was hit by a pitched ball, forcing in McCarthy.

Corridor Shot a Liner at Pitts who touched third before Murphy could get back. Kiley stole third and scored on a poor throw by Carr. Bagley struck out closing the innings.

Pitts went out Whelan to Murphy. Faircloth was hit by a pitched ball. Carney lined out a single scoring Faircloth and a wild pitch sent McCormick across the plate a moment later. Dolan was out on a ground hit to Murphy, and Bates was thrown out at first by Kiley. Score 2 to 2.

Dolan made a pretty one-handed stop off of Bass and threw him out at first. Whelan hit safe to centre. McCarthy was safe at first on McCormick's error and a poor throw by Carney scored Whelan. McCarthy stole second. Murphy singled to left and stole second but was doubled up a moment later, McCormick taking Kiley's fly and touching second and the inning closed.

Carr struck out. Duffy made a hit and took second on a short passed ball. Dunn was given a base on balls and both scored on.

A Very Wild Pitch.

Pitts went out Bass to Murphy and Faircloth flied out to Kiley. Score 4 to 3 for North Weymouth.

Stack took first on balls, Corridor struck out, Lamp flied to Carr, Bagley was given four bad balls but got no farther as Bass flied out to Bates.

McCormick flied out to Bagley, Carney got his base on balls. Dolan's single sent him to third, and both scored on Bates' hit. Carr reached first on Whelan's error, Duffy struck out and Dunn was retired, Lampe to Murphy. Score 6 to 3.

Whelan opened the fourth with a slashing two bagger over Bates' head, McCarthy fouled out to Faircloth, Murphy sacrificed to Faircloth, advancing Whelan to third, Kiley hit to Carr, who fumbled, and Whelan scored. Kiley was caught napping at first, but Capt. Murphy claimed a balk, and after considerable wrangling, it was allowed and Kiley took second. Stack was an easy third out Pitts to Faircloth.

Pitts sent a fly to Bagley, Faircloth was thrown out at first by Whelan and McCormick struck out. Score 6 to 4.

Fifth Inning.

Corridor was hit by a pitched ball, Lampe struck out, Corridor in the meantime having stolen second and third, Bagley was sent to first on balls, Bass hit to left and Corridor scored, Whelan hit to Dolan and was out at first. McCarthy followed suit.

Carney fouled out to Stack, Dolan hit one right into Murphy's hands and Bates struck out. Score 6 to 5.

This closed the scoring. Both sides were quickly retired in the sixth, Murphy was an easy out, Dolan to Faircloth, Kiley fouled out to Carney and Stack struck out.

Carr and Duffy both fell victims to Lampe's curves and Dunn fouled out to Stack.

In the seventh Corridor led off with a single and excitement began to run high, Lampe hit to Carr, forcing Corridor at second. Bagley failed to get his eye on the sphere and struck out again. In the meantime Lampe had got around to third, and with Bass at the bat it looked like a run but Lampe,

Anxious to Score the tying run, attempted to run in on Carney's return of a pitched ball and was thrown out at the plate.

Pitts popped up a fly which Whelan captured after a short backward run. Faircloth hit along the third base line. McCormick struck out and Carney forced Faircloth at second.

In the eighth Bass flied out to Bates, Whelan was out, Pitts to Faircloth. McCarthy hit up an easy fly for McCormick. Dolan struck out, Bates flied out and Carr was out at first, Whelan assisting.

The Institutes came in for their last chance, Murphy struck out, Kiley was retired at first by McCormick, Stack hit to Pitts and the game was over.

The game was loosely played and full of costly errors but was rendered interesting by the closeness of the score.

The features were the battery work, Whelan's batting and the fielding of Pitts, Dolan, Stack, Murphy and Faircloth. The score:

SUDDEN DEATH.

A Well Known Resident of Wollaston Dies of Heart Failure.

Mr. Jonathan G. Merrill, an old and esteemed resident of Wollaston, died suddenly Saturday night of heart failure. On Thursday Mr. Merrill was taken suddenly ill at Tucker's drug store and was removed to his home. No serious results were apprehended by his family, as he gradually rallied and on Saturday he was able to be about the house, until within a few hours of his death.

Mr. Merrill was born at Campton, N. H., in 1830 and in 1876 settled in Wollaston. He was the superintendent of the Magnesian Calcite Fireproof Company of Boston. He was a member of Bethesda Lodge, I. O. O. F., of South Boston.

A widow and daughter survive him, Mrs. Charles T. Baker of Wollaston. Mr. Merrill was a brother of Moody Merrill of Boston.

The funeral will take place from his late residence at the corner of Safford street and Central avenue, on Tuesday afternoon, at two o'clock.

Children's Sunday.

The Wollaston Unitarian Society observed children's Sunday yesterday forenoon. The church was profusely decorated with potted plants, ferns, roses and other flowers. The Rev. H. L. Wheeler gave an interesting informal talk to the children, taking for his text the words of Christ, "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister. There was special music by the quartette and the Sunday School.

Lawrence Starrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. White; William Allard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Merrill; and Arthur Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fenno, were christened.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Kelley and William Cowen were arraigned for being tramps at Holbrook and sent to the State farm at Bridgewater for six months.

Kelley and Cowen applied at the Holbrook lockup Saturday night for lodging which was readily granted. When the keeper left them for the night he told them they might go into any cell they desired with the exception of one, which they were told not to enter. The two men partially obeyed the order but curiosity finally getting the best of them they looked into the forbidden cell and found there a number of gallons of whiskey which had been seized by some of the officers. The temptation to see what kind of liquor Holbrook people drank proved too strong for them, and the result was that when keeper Bean returned in the morning he found two drunken brutes.

THAYER—DICKIE.

A Quincy Man Weds a Fair Maid of West Philadelphia Last Thursday.

A very pretty home wedding was that of the marriage of Mr. John Adams Thayer, Jr., formerly of Quincy, and Miss Marie E. Dickie at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Amanda F. Dickie, 33 North 30th street, West Philadelphia, Pa., on Thursday evening, June 22. The ceremony took place in the parlor which was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and flowers.

The bride was given away by her uncle Mr. Morris L. Fell, of Doylestown, Pa. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Alice Dickie. Mr. J. F. Turner, of Plymouth, Pa., officiated as the best man. The bride was attired in white china silk and carried a white kid prayer book, the gift of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Fell, Samuel A. Firman and Miss Florence Fell of Doylestown, Pa.; Miss Annie E. Shaw, Lahaska, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Slade, Miss Helen Slade, Quincy, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Silas Carey, of Newton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. K. Curtis, Mr. Edward Bok, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wolford, Mr. and Mrs. Githens, Miss Jennie Churchman, the Misses Barn Miss A. Finnigan, and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Jamieson, of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Haig, of Merchantville, N. Y., Mrs. E. Kirk, Miss Florence Kirk and Mr. Edward Blackfan of New Hope, Pa.

CLASS RECEPTION.

A Pleasing Innovation by Atlantic Graduates—Presentation to Principal.

Music hall, Atlantic, held a pretty party of rosy cheeked boys and girls last Saturday evening, the occasion being the reception of the graduation class of the Quincy school to their parents and friends. The windows of the hall were draped with heavy blue portieres and were trimmed with an abundance of daisies and ferns which contrasted prettily with the white dresses of the girls of the class.

The reception was from 8 to 10 o'clock and the time between these hours was pleasantly passed.

Miss Annie Holden Fiske of Boston, a talented elocutionist gave several pleasing selections and the Albulian quartette, composed of Misses Annie Hall, Annie Briggs, Alice Coe and Lelia Moxon, also contributing to the entertainment. Refreshments were served and there was music by a local orchestra and dancing.

There was also a little surprise party, for while the enjoyment was at its height, Master Thomas Edwards stepped forward and in a clear voice delivered the following address to Mr. Charles F. Merrick, principal of the school.

"During the school year, now closed, in which we have been under your instruction, we have learned to love and respect you, and we now wish you to accept as a slight token of our esteem this chair, and we trust that you will enjoy it in the using as much as we in the giving."

It is hardly necessary to say that Mr. Merrick was surprised and pleased at this unexpected turn of affairs, and that in the few words of response he thanked them one and all for their gift and assured them that he hoped in the future to pass many hours of solid comfort in the chair.

Reception by grammar school graduates is an innovation but it proved such a success that it will doubtless become an established custom with the Quincy school.

The ushers for the evening were Roscoe Eaton, Gerald Sullivan, Emma Curtin and Helen Bemis.

THREE SHOTS FIRED.

A Boston Physician Killed in His Own House.

A PREMEDITATED MURDER.

People Who Know Him Think He Is Insane.

BOSTON, June 26.—Dr. W. F. Wardwell was murdered at his home in Florence street, Roslindale, at 4:25 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Amos I. Morse, who resides with his wife at 25 Revere street in this city. At the hour named Morse rang the doorbell of the doctor's residence. The doctor's wife answered the summons, and the man said he desired to see the doctor.

Mrs. Wardwell invited the caller to step inside, and Mrs. Wardwell went upstairs after ushering the man into the sitting room.

The doctor came down stairs and entered the room. At that moment Mrs. Wardwell was startled by the rapid reports of a pistol. She rushed down the stairway and discovered her husband lying upon the carpet. She spoke to him. He did not answer. He was dead.

The murderer had fired three shots at the doctor, and Well Meant to Kill Him.

After Morse had killed the doctor he rushed out of doors and ran down Florence street, closely pursued by Mrs. Wardwell, shouting "murder," and screaming to pedestrians to stop him.

Several young men gave chase after Morse, and he, thinking he was to be captured, turned in a most deliberate manner and fired a shot at his pursuers. They stood for a moment, and Morse started off on a run again. The crowd of young men continued the chase. They closed up on him, and he turned again and drew his revolver. He fired another shot. His revolver was then empty.

The crowd chased the murderer hotly as he ran down Washington street. When he had gained Keyes street at Forest Hills Patrolman Delaney captured him.

Morse, after he had been tucked away behind the bars, said that he had no regrets and that he had only done what any man should do whose home had been broken up; whose wife's affections had been alienated. That was the charge he brought against the doctor. The murderer had secured his revenge the muzzle of a new bullock revolver.

Is Morse Insane?
When Mrs. Morse heard the news she fainted. Upon being told that her husband had been injured Dr. Wardwell she instantly inquired: "Has he shot him?" When she recovered somewhat from the shock she exclaimed: "Why did he not kill me instead?"

Mrs. Morse said she had known Dr. Wardwell, as had her husband, for several months, but had not seen him for several months.

Mrs. Morse was married five years ago, and has since had an unhappy life, although the couple's troubles have not been generally known of until within a year. Morse had been an elevator man for several years, first at R. H. White & Co.'s store and afterwards at the Equitable building.

Evidently Morse intended to commit the deed, for when he left his work at noon, he said he should not be back that afternoon with an air of mystery, adding to the assistant janitor that he wished he would collect his pay Monday and see that his (Morse's) wife got the balance after paying $5 to Mr. McKay, a tenant in the building. Morse was regarded by his associates as a quiet man with a dangerous temper.

Victim Was Very Popular.

Dr. Wardwell was 32 years old, and graduated from the Boston high school and also the Harvard medical school. After that he went to the Massachusetts general hospital and then to the Providence, where he met his future wife, then known as Miss Amy Canfield, a nurse. For over three years he had lived in Roslindale, where he identified himself with many local interests, being a member of Longfellow lodge of Old Fellows and of the Masons, having taken his third degree in that order last Monday night. He also belonged to the Knights of Honor.

The autopsy shows that one bullet entered the doctor's face below the left eye and imbedded itself below the left of the brain. A second entered one side and lodged in the intestines. The third went up through one kidney and a lobe of the heart, finally coming out through the other side.

No satisfactory reason has yet been advanced for Morse's crazy deed. The doctor's personal character has been above reproach, according to the testimony of every resident of Roslindale, and Mrs. Morse is also highly spoken of.

Since the murder, many of Morse's neighbors at his former residence in Dorchester recall his erratic disposition during his residence there. The neighbors regard him as slightly demented, as he at times committed minor acts that could not be otherwise construed than as originating from an unbalanced mind. But he has not feared.

WEYMOUTH.

The Land Sale of the North Weymouth Land Company Well Attended.

Solomon Ford lost a valuable horse Saturday night.

An interesting story and the full score of the ball game will be found in another column.

Mr. John F. Lee, one of East Weymouth's wealthy and prominent citizens died Saturday in his 70th year. For many years he carried on the grocery business and has for 30 years been a member of Crescent lodge of Odd Fellows. Two married daughters, Mrs. Thomas B. Davenport of Quincy and Mrs. E. W. Shackford of East Weymouth survive him.

William T. Potter, the man who was found floating in the water at Atlantic last Friday, was a nephew of Mr. Jeremiah Spender of Norton street.

Quite a party of Quincy and Weymouth people attended the sale of the North Weymouth Land Co., last Saturday. While all did not purchase they had an opportunity to inspect the land which is really very prettily situated and is destined some day in the near future to become one of the most popular residential resorts along the South Shore for besides its many natural beauties it has the advantage of being easily accessible by means of the electric cars which pass the property, with Quincy one of the most rapidly growing cities in the commonwealth, and from Quincy by steam railroad to the hub of the State.

The first thing on the programme Saturday was a clam bake which Caterer Nash had prepared in the grove situated on the property and the manner in which the baked clams, chowder and coffee disappeared was proof enough of its quality without any further words of praise.

Auctioneer Packard then opened the auction but bidding was slow and the first lot sold No. 108 was purchased by John A. Avery of this city for 2 1/4 cents per foot.

Lot 97 with house was next sold and this was purchased by Benjamin J. Weeks for $2,550, although it is understood that it has passed from his hands since that time to Mrs. E. H. Benson of North Weymouth.

Lots along the shore were the next sold and these brought somewhat better prices, being sold to the following parties:

No. 218 1-2 to Mrs. Flora Holbrook of Brockton; No. 280 and 282 to Benjamin J. Weeks, No. 281 to John R. Graham, and No. 111 to W. G. A. Pattee, all of Quincy.

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in a few days. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

better known locally perhaps as

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore,

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

SUNDAY AT SEASHORE.

A Great Day at Manet Beach for Bicycles, Yachting and the Cars.

The large fourteen bench car was very well patronized yesterday.

The prospects of a warm Sunday encouraged some of the residents of surrounding towns to take a day at the beach.

The steady easterly which was blowing enticed many yacht owners to shake out their wet canvas for a spin down the bay.

The Moondyne, Don and Adolph were the first boats moving in the morning. The Beatrice lay at her mooring with the sail flapping impatiently in the good whole sail breeze. The topsail did not sit flat enough for her skipper. After a few alterations a satisfactory fit was made, and, taking starboards tack, went booming off toward Hull looking for the Hallides.

Numerous boats of the mosquito fleet came spinning down West Way, some going to Nantasket and some stopping at the club house.

The barge Clinton made several trips by the beach.

On land, dog-carts, double and single seated carriages and barges brought, with the assistance of horses of course, crowds of people. Toward five o'clock the wind freshened and people began to hasten home.

The Cambridge Rovers substituted a run to Nahant for that to Houghs Neck.

The newly formed Jamaica Plain club was here Sunday afternoon.

A volunteer fire company whose object is to man the chemical, is being organized at the beach. For further information apply to Capt. Al. Taber, Bell street.

Will all the families who come to the beach make use of the news box at the Post Office? It will be of great benefit to visiting friends to know exactly where you are located.

Several of the permanent residents of Manet Beach have been appointed special police.

The 'phone wire will be placed on the poles next week.

Mr. Ferris should be complimented on his work in photography. He certainly makes the best tin-type we have ever seen. Mr. Ferris is an artist in his line.

Cottages are being opened and cleaned for the reception of the occupants who are expected next week. A list of all residents will be found in the LEDGER. Certain sections of the beach will be canvassed each day for new arrivals. If you wish your friends to know you are at the beach don't neglect to inform the DAILY LEDGER of its reporters.

"Most editors," says an exchange, "are acquainted with the man who takes more papers than he can read, and consequently has no use for his local paper. But let him get into trouble and he rushes to the local paper to help him out. If his wife or baby dies, he wants a column obituary, yet he is taking so many papers that he cannot help his local paper by subscribing for it, and if you accommodate him with a free notice, he has to borrow, beg or steal the paper to read it."

Enjoying Their Twenty-Fourth Annual Reunion.

An Interesting Outline of Their Doings on the Battlefield.

BOSTON, June 27.—The Hub gave a cordial and hearty reception to the veterans of the Army of the Potomac upon the occasion of their assembling here today for their 24th annual reunion—men whose valor helped save our Union and preserve our national integrity. They found the old commonwealth as patriotic as 30 years ago, when she sent 160,000 of her loved sons to the front in the services of the Union.

The reunion has called to the city many eminent men who have won renown not only in the field of battle, but in the more peaceful pursuits of business life, and many pleasant and not a few thrilling memories will be recalled by the assembling of the veterans—now "veterans of time as well as of war."

The Exercises of the Reunion opened at Faneuil hall this morning at 9 o'clock with a reception to the members. At 10 a. m. an artillery salute was fired on the common, and at the same hour there was a meeting of corps associations in Faneuil hall.

At 11 a. m. the annual business meeting with the election of officers and other important matters was held in Faneuil hall. This completed the morning exercises.

At 1 o'clock a society embarked on the Mayflower for a trip down the harbor, tendered by the city. A landing will be made at Fort Warren. Refreshments will be served on the boat.

An Honorable Record.
The Army of the Potomac was one of the seven great departments or "armies" that conducted in a large measure the operations of the troops of the war of the rebellion. The other divisions were known as the Army of the Cumberland, Army of the James, Army of the Tennessee, Army of West Virginia, Army of the Ohio, Army of the Gulf and Army of the Frontier.

"The Army of the Potomac was the most important of all the armies and had a duty to perform," said a writer in the American Tribune. "First to defend Washington against the powerful army which the rebels had assembled about it, and second, the duty of annihilating that army and capturing Richmond."

On May 27, 1861, General Irvin McDowell was appointed commander of the Department of the Potomac, which at that time was called the "Department of Northwestern Virginia." The field embraced all that part of Virginia east of the Alleghany mountains and west and north of the James river, excepting Fort Monroe and its immediate vicinity.

After the battle of Bull Run the disorganized condition of the military in the field demanded immediate attention and reorganization. General McDowell did not come up to expectations. It might be noted right here that at that time nobody came up to the requirements.

General Winfield Scott was physically incapacitated from taking his place in the field, so he selected General George B. McClellan for the important office. General McClellan assumed command in July.

It was Napoleon's Theory that all national capitals should be strongly fortified against possible attack, and acting upon this theory, two forts, Runyon and Corcoran, had been constructed so as to command the long bridge and aqueduct, and Fort Albany laid out where it could command the Columbia, Aqueduct and Alexandria roads. As soon as General McClellan assumed command he had these plans enlarged upon by a series of earthworks thrown up between Forts Corcoran and Albany, within supporting distance of each other, and other works thrown up controlling all the principal routes leading to Washington from the north.

The operations of the Army of the Potomac were confined to a comparatively small territory between the Appomattox and Susquehanna rivers, but the fiercest fighting of the whole army lay inside the limits of that territory.

General McClellan was relieved on Nov. 7, 1862, and General Ambrose E. Burnside assumed command. On Jan. 26, 1863, General Burnside was relieved and General Joseph Hooker took command. On June 28, 1863, General George G. Meade was assigned to that command, then an almost unknown man. On Dec. 31, 1864, he was relieved by Major General John G. Parke, but was reinstated on Jan. 11, 1865, and remained until the close of the war.

The Principal Battles participated in by the Army of the Potomac were: Bull Run, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Gettysburg, Seven Days, Battle of Richmond, including Fair Oaks and Seven Pines, Malvern Hill, Second Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Mine Run, Wilderness, Spottsylvania, North Anna, Cold Harbor, ten months' siege of Petersburg and pursuit and capture of Lee.

It varied in numerical force from 75,000 to 150,000 men and lost about 28,000 killed—the greatest loss sustained by any one army during the war. It fought more battles in a shorter period of time and sustained greater losses in every way than any other army ever mustered in this or any other country.

EASTERN CLUB REGATTA.
The Wind Falls and the Volunteer Drifts in Ahead of the Mayflower.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 27.—The Eastern Yacht Club held its annual regatta off Marblehead, with a good easterly breeze to start with, which held during most of the race, but flattened out miserably at the finish.

The course sailed was the 33-mile triangle, from Half-Way rock to a buoy off Nahant Head, then to the Eastern Yacht club turning stake, then to the Whistler off Gloucester, and to the finish line at Half-Way rock.

There were six starters, the first-class schooner Volunteer, Mayflower and Marguerite, the fifth-class sloop Wasp and Harpoon and the seventh-class sloop Handed, which, having no competitor, was forced to sail against the 46-footers.

As the yachts approached the outer mark the wind lightened. The boats rounded in this order: Mayflower, Volunteer, Marguerite and Wasp, and here off a bit for Eastern Point. The Mayflower began to gain, and the Marguerite quickly outgassed the Volunteer, so that she rounded the next point ahead. The Mayflower seemed a winner, but on the home stretch the wind fell flat and the Volunteer, managed by good drifting or better luck, to slowly creep by the other boats and come in first. Her corrected time shows a lead of over 15 minutes, but before the wind fell she was a beaten boat.

The Marguerite took second place on the Wasp. The Wasp was about four minutes ahead of the Harpoon at the outer mark, 12 minutes at Eastern Point and 18 minutes at the finish. The Volunteer won $100, and the Wasp $75. The Puritan cup for the boat making the fastest time over the course was awarded to the Wasp.

A GENUINE SURPRISE.

Anarchists Schwab, Fielden and Neebe Released From Prison.

Governor Altgeld's Reasons For the Pardon.

Action Generally Meets With Approval of Chicago Officials.

JOLIET, Ill., June 27.—Never before in the history of the northern Illinois state penitentiary has there been such a sensation at the prison as took place yesterday afternoon when the pardons of the anarchists were handed to Warden Allen.

Edward S. Dreyer, a Chicago banker, arrived from Springfield with the pardons for Michael Schwab, Samuel Fielden and Oscar Neebe, at 3:30. He went direct to the penitentiary and told the warden that he had in his possession the pardons of the trio of anarchists now confined within the walls of the penitentiary.

Warden Allen sent for Neebe, Schwab and Fielden, and at 4 o'clock the three walked into the warden's office, where they were met by Warden Allen and Mr. Dreyer. Mr. Dreyer first told them he had their pardons. They were surprised, and they expressed their thanks to Mr. Dreyer and Warden Allen. The faces commenced to brighten up and they were the happiest men that ever left the prison. They all declared that they were innocent men and that they were innocent men and that they were innocent men and that they were innocent men.

Had Been Illegally Punished.
They were then taken to the clothing room and rigged out in citizen's suits, and then they were taken to the dining room where supper was served at 8:20. They walked into the prison office and were given tickets to Chicago, and they bid the warden good bye. They then left for their homes in Chicago. Excitement was at a high pitch all about the penitentiary, and as they left all cast a look upon them. Schwab, Neebe and Fielden's records as prisoners are good. They obeyed all orders of the guards and worked hard and faithfully during their entire term.

General Altgeld's Statement accompanied his pardon of the imprisoned anarchists. It contained 17,000 words. The governor reviews the history of the Haymarket meeting of May 4, 1886, in detail, and says the basis of the appeal for pardon was the petition signed by several thousand merchants, bankers, judges, lawyers, and other prominent citizens of Chicago, which, assuming the prisoners to be guilty, stated the belief that the prisoners had been punished enough, but a number of them who have examined the case more carefully, have their appeal on entirely different grounds and assert:

First—That one jury which tried the case was a packed jury, selected to convict.

Second—That according to the law as laid down by the supreme court, both prior to and again since the trial of this case, the jurors, according to their own answers, were not sworn to find the defendant guilty or not guilty, but to find the defendant guilty or not guilty, and the trial was, therefore, not a legal trial.

Third—That the defendants were not proven to be guilty of the crime charged in the indictment.

Fourth—That as to the defendant, Neebe, the state's attorney had declared at the close of the evidence that there was no case against him, and yet he has been kept in prison all these years.

Fifth—That the trial judge was either so prejudiced against the defendants, or else so determined to win the applause of a certain class in the community, that he did not grant fair trial.

The governor's statement sustains the five specified points in the appeal referred to and says that the facts tend to show that the bomb was thrown as an act of personal revenge, and that the prosecution never discovered who threw it.

Speaking of Judge Gary, he says: "It is further charged with much bitterness by those who speak for the prisoners that the record of the case shows that the judge conducted the trial with malicious ferocity and forced eight men to be tried together," etc.

The Sentiment in Chicago.
CHICAGO, June 27.—Regarding Governor Altgeld's pardon of Fielden, Neebe and Schwab, Captain W. H. Black, who was the leading counsel for the defense in their trial, said: "This pardon will not weaken the law, but will strengthen it and will increase the respect for the law in the minds of the people."

Frank Walker, one of the state's counsel in the case, said: "The only effect the pardon might have, might be to lessen the fear of punishment in the minds of men like them. But then, fanatics never know fear."

Generally speaking, the pardon of the three men met with the favor of the city officials who cared to express an opinion. Mayor Harrison expressed his feelings in the single word, "Good."

Chief of Police McClaughy said he did not believe either Schwab or Fielden, whom he knew well at Joliet, had any direct connection with any purpose to destroy life.

Judge Collins said: "The evidence against the convicted was patiently heard and carefully weighed, passed regularly from the trial court to the highest tribunals, and I think the people are agreed that this should have been accepted as final."

BOSTON, June 27.—A staging on which Joseph A. Walker and Martin Flynn were standing while at work shingling a house on A street, gave way and both men fell to the ground, a distance of 40 feet. Walker sustained a contusion of a hip and a broken nose, and Flynn was also badly injured.

A Maine Mystery.
BIDDEFORD, Me., June 27.—Charles B. Witham was found dead in Saco Friday night, and Witham's parents are inclined to the belief that there was foul play.

Witham lived with the wife of a Haverhill man, and the latter is the person whom the parents of the dead man suspect of being connected in the murder.

Street Railway Petition.

Councilman Holden presented the petition of the Manet Street Railway for permission to cross sidewalk on Sea street at the junction of Sheenen and Winthrop street. To Committee on Streets.

Walker Street Hearing.

A public hearing on the order laying out the extension of Walker street to Newbury avenue was given at 5 o'clock.

Councilman Badger appeared as one of the petitioners in favor of the order and hoped all those benefited would be assessed.

Two other abutters also favored. They had bought land understanding the street was to be extended.

The hearing closed and the order was recommended to the Committee on Streets.

Leave to Withdraw.

The Committee on Streets reported leave to withdraw on the petition of the Manet Street Railway to be relieved of the burden of paving the triangle as contained in the order permitting connection with the Quincy and Boston tracks. Accepted.

Sidewalks for Schools.

The Committee on Streets had the order for sidewalks at the Wollaston and Willard Schools slightly amended, when it was passed to be ordered.

Water Street Crossing.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for a public hearing to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad and others on abolishing the grade crossing on Water street. Adopted.

Grade of Cross Street.

Hall Place Extension.

At 8.30 a public hearing was given on the order widening Fuller's lane.

Councilman Donaher, an abutter, opposed, not deeming it a necessity. Those who will be benefited cannot be reached by assessment. It will cause injury to abutters, as it is proposed to take 18 feet. Mrs. Donnelly must move both her house and barn. It might very properly be postponed a few years. Hall street should first be extended through to Adams street.

In reply to Councilman O'Connell he said he had signed the petition under a misunderstanding. It was to please a neighbor. He did not wish to waive any right, and wanted full compensation for land taken.

Councilman Shackley favored the order. His property would be benefited as much as any, and he expected to pay the largest assessment. It was a public way and should be wide enough for two teams to pass.

The hearing closed and a motion was made to recommit. A motion of Councilman Rooney to indefinitely postpone took precedence and was declared carried, but there was some talk pending verification and it was lost. The original motion prevailed.

Squantum Street.

Councilman Holbrook offered an order that the boundary lines and grade on Squantum street to the Milton line be defined. Adopted.

Flying Horses on Sunday.

Councilman Lennon offered a resolution requesting the Mayor to instruct the Chief of Police to take steps to prosecute J. D. Taber for violating the city ordinance by running flying horses on Sundays.

Clerk of Committees.

Councilman Holden offered a resolution that the Committee on Ordinances frame an ordinance establishing a clerk of committees, defining the duties and establishing a salary.

Councilman Robbins spoke in favor, as a clerk was necessary for the speedy dispatch of business in committees.

Councilman Federhen claimed it was a political freak to establish a new office for the city to pay for.

Councilman Robbins did not know anything about last year, but he knew it was a custom to have clerks of committees. It was not a political move.

Councilman Holden. The Mayor has nothing to do with this order and had not been spoken to about it, notwithstanding the usual flings from a certain quarter.

Councilman Sherman thought the order should pass.

Councilman Moxon believed it an improvement to have the records of committees kept for reference. Such a man as a clerk would be able to give important information.

The resolution was adopted.

Winthrop Avenue.

At this point the public hearing on establishing the grade on Winthrop avenue was called but as no one appeared for or against it the hearing was closed.

Locations Granted.

The order granting a location to the N. E. T. & C. Co., on Hancock street, was passed to be ordered.

The order granting a location to the Q. E. L. & Power Co. was passed to be ordered.

Adjourned at 9.53.

A NUISANCE.

An Eyesore which the Citizens of West Quincy would like removed.

There is a nuisance at West Quincy that has been an eyesore to the citizens of that ward for two years. It is the building on the corner of Copeland and Cross streets that was partially destroyed by fire. It is too far gone to repair and the only thing it is fit for is kindling wood. Of late the boys have taken possession of the building and it has become more of a nuisance since their advent, for they have covered the outside with crudely constructed signs which reads "Temperance drinks," "Summer resort," "Wines and Liquors," "The young regulators are the boys," and many more equally as bad, all of which form a striking contrast to the neat bulletin board on the front of the building upon which is painted the words "M. E. church."

Not content with covering the outside with signs, the boys have pushed long poles through the roof from which are suspended large pieces of cloth with characters and letters painted upon them. One of these banners informs passers by that the house is called "The New Vendome."

Parties in the past have tried to buy the building to remove it, but have not succeeded, and as all peaceful means have failed the proper authorities should see that it is torn down as the Fourth of July is approaching and while peaceful citizens are sleeping quietly these same boys may take it into their heads to apply the torch and if there should be any wind at all there would be great danger of a conflagration, as Smith's new block is quite near.

It is said that the Chief Engineer has power if he considers the building unsafe to order it torn down, and as it is certainly dangerous it is hoped that Chief Ripley will look up the law on that point, and if he has the power see to it that the nuisance is removed.

Think of the Fun

Of it—a fire full blast while you're winking once. The cooking done—a fire out while you're winking again. No dust, no ashes—heat just where you want it, when you want it, as much as you want of it. Oil stoves, no smoke, no odor, cooks the food, not the cook; one burner, 50 cents; two burners, $1.31; three burners, $1.87. Ovens and all the paraphernalia, the prices one-third cheaper than any other market price. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

Doctor Everett.

At the close of the exercises Dr. Everett said he could not let his last public occasion go without a few words of farewell. It was a little over 15 years since the death of one of the best masters of the most saintly christian character, one who had given his life to the school, had died. His death called him suddenly to this post.

It was for you and not for me to say how the work had been done. He was an old fogey who believed in going back to the educational methods of years ago. He had tried to care personally for every pupil in the school and if he was not trained for a teacher he loved the scholars every one of them. He then paid a glowing tribute to the founder of the school.

He had tried to follow in the footsteps of Adams and to make the scholars realize what it was to be instructed here. He had now been called to another sphere and he hoped the people would not believe him a bad man. Dr. Everett then spoke of Prof. Tyler as one who had been associated with the school for 19 years and urged the people to stand by him and put their hands in their pockets and give a lot more money than you gave me. You should build that school up so that our younger neighbors should not grow over us.

He will fill the gap and correct my blunders. I ask of him and of you that when better work than I have done is done, that my name will sometimes be remembered here, for as long as I live I shall love and fight for this place as I always have done.

A Sunday Nuisance.

Editors of the Ledger:

DEAR SIR: Can nothing be done to stop the wheelman from making a loading place of our drinking fountain, especially on Sunday morning when people are on their way to church? Their loud talk can be plainly heard in the Unitarian Church and is an annoyance that should be averted at once. Where are the police? Is it not in their power to stop this, or will the people be obliged to put up with it Sunday after Sunday? If our Deputy of Police would endeavor to remedy this trouble instead of sitting with his chair tilted back against the City Hall all day, he would confer a favor to church goers.

Yours truly

A POLITICAL TANGLE

Which Is Causing Some Apprehension Among Rhode Island Democrats.

PROVIDENCE, June 27.—Leading Democrats here are considerably disturbed over the report that when the supreme court decides the legislative controversy in favor of the Democrats, as it is expected to do, two Democratic members will cast their votes for the Republican state ticket. When the assembly met at Newport there were 24 Democrats and 54 Republicans, and the Democrats unseated enough members to make a majority of one.

Since that time complications have arisen in the federal nominations here. Senator Champlin of Block Island was a candidate for the United States district attorneyship, but he was not in favor with the ex-Mayor Honey faction, and Honey's candidate was appointed by Attorney General Olney.

Before the office was filled the two Block Island members waited upon the Honey faction, and notified the leaders of what the consequences would be. The Block Island members confirm the story that they will vote for the Republican ticket.

To offset this loss of Democratic members, who are required to make a majority, the Democrats have called a meeting of the election committee of the house to consider further contested cases. The committee will have four or five more seats to declare vacant. He also says that it makes no difference whether there is a special session or not—Republican members from East Greenwich, East Providence and Pawtucket will have to go.

This move is for the purpose of putting the Democratic majority of a joint ballot beyond doubt, even without the Block Island members.

RUMORS AND THEORIES

In Regard to the Sinking of the Victoria by the Campedown.

LONDON, June 27.—Admiral Boscawen's theory that the disaster to the Victoria occurred during the fleet maneuver of changing columns proves to be correct. Telegrams confirm this, and the rumor goes that the collision was not altogether unconnected with Admiral Tryon's introduction of a more expeditious system of signaling, drawn up by himself. Under this system it is agreed that should any accident have occurred either to the steering apparatus or to the engines a disaster would have been inevitable, as at one point while passing each other the ships are only 200 yards apart.

Admiral Tryon's objection to the old system was well known, and during last year's maneuvers he frequently expressed his dissatisfaction, contending that the present process, whereby no signal from the admiral was acted upon until all the fleet had repeated it, would be most irksome in battle, when rapid movements would be imperative.

Our newspaper has started the theory that the disaster was due to attraction by the electricity used on both vessels for lighting purposes, but discreetly refrains from further explanations respecting this unique suggestion.

It has been definitely decided that Rear Admiral Markham, who was second in command to Vice Admiral Tryon at the time of the accident, will be tried by the court-martial that will sit at Portsmouth. Rear Admiral Markham's flagship is the Trafalgar, but his flag had been transferred to the Campedown and he was in charge of the maneuvers of the fleet at the time the collision occurred.

A SECOND PETITION

Has Been Filed by James A. Trefethen, Asking for a New Trial.

BOSTON, June 27.—James A. Trefethen is anxious to be tried again upon the indictment charging him with the murder of Delena Davis. His counsel have made two applications for a trial to Chief Justice Mason of the superior court. The first was made in May and sought a trial in June. It was not granted, for the reason that the Borden trial had previously been assigned for this month, and it would consume the time of the judges. At the time of the Borden trial an application for a trial to begin July 11 was made. This seems likely to be unsuccessful, because of the condition of ex-District Attorney Conney's health. He is just recovering from a long sickness and it is feared that the strain of a trial like that of the Trefethen case would be too much for him. The last petition has not been finally passed upon.

Dr. McGinn Speaks.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Speaking of his trip to Rome, Dr. McGinn said that the object of his visit was not to arrange a settlement of his difficulties with the church. That had already been done. "My visit was merely to confirm the terms of settlement and to fill the promise made to visit the pope and receive his congratulations and pay my respects to him. My visit was most satisfactory."

Silver is Away Down.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Silver is lower than ever. The London price regulates the price of silver throughout the world, and the price there is 50 pence an ounce or about 73 cents an ounce, United States money, counting in the exchange experts.

Drank Carbolic Acid.

A GOOD START.

Boston Begins Its Western Series by Defeating the Louisvilles.

LOUISVILLE, June 27.—The champion Louisvilles were here on their first visit, and a pretty good crowd assembled to welcome them. The Colonels made a bluff, and the Bostonians kept coaxing them, and finally called them. On the "show down" the Bostonians displayed, to the astonished gaze of the Colonels, a great hand. The Louisvilles made a couple of costly blunders, and gave the Bostonians two good cards, which were used for all they were worth.

MANNED BY STUDENTS.

The Viking Ship is Now on Her Journey From New York to Chicago.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Viking ship left her anchorage at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, and started on her trip to Chicago. She hoisted her red and white square canvas and went sailing up the Hudson without any assistance from a navy yard or any other tug. There was little demonstration beyond a salute from the Miantonomoh and the tooting of whistles and dipping of flags from the crafts in the river. A party of college boys left on the boat. They will help Captain Anderson and his crew to row the vessel in case its big oars are used. They came from Yale, Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It is expected to make stops at Newberg, Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit.

PASSED A BUSY DAY.

Potomac Army Survivors Make General Miles President.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST MADE

Against the Desecration of the Gettysburg Battlefield.

BOSTON, June 28.—It is fortunate for the business part of the 34th annual reunion of the Grand Army of the Potomac that the men who had the business to transact are used to considerable noise. The First Regiment band, stationed in the balcony at Faneuil hall, kept pouring patriotic airs down upon the assemblage of 700 enthusiastic veterans, who proceeded with what they had to do as though everything were quiet.

GENERAL MILES.

The annual meeting of the entire association was called to order in the main hall by General Horace G. Porter, who refrained from making a formal speech, but indulged in some humorous remarks. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and accepted. The next business in order was the choosing of a place for the next meeting. The secretary had a letter from the mayor and city council of the city of Fredericksburg, Va., cordially inviting the association to hold their next reunion in that city and pitch their tents upon the old battlefields, and guaranteeing to them the hospitality of the city. This letter aroused great enthusiasm, and a motion was at once made that the invitation be accepted. As the bylaws provided that at least three cities must be named and the matter decided by vote, the motion was withdrawn. New London, Conn., and Concord, N. H., were named and the three places referred to a committee of five, which reported.

In Favor of Concord, N. H.

The report was accepted and the next meeting will be held there.

The report of the treasurer showed the sum of $1352 in the treasury and all bills paid. While dealing with matters of finance, Major George P. Edgar made a motion that the fee for life membership be reduced from $20 to $10. The motion was carried.

Resolutions of thanks to the city of Boston for appropriating $1500 for the entertainment of the association were accepted and applauded. An invitation was received from the Bunker Hill Monument association offering the free inspection of the monument to the members of the association and their friends.

The event of most interest during the morning session was the election of officers. According to the rule established, each corps nominated a candidate for president of the society. There were three nominations, General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., General Calvin E. Pratt, and General Oliver O. Howard. The last two were finally withdrawn, and General Miles was elected by the casting of one ballot by the secretary.

General Horatio King of Brooklyn was elected recording secretary and Colonel Samuel Trusdell of New York treasurer. General George H. Sharp was chosen corresponding secretary.

The following resolution was offered by Colonel A. M. Clark and so amended as to recommend that the United States government purchase the Gettysburg field and set it apart as a public park. The resolution as amended was accepted.

Resolved, That this society has learned with deep indignation that a private organization has dared to desecrate the field of Gettysburg, consecrated by the blood of so many of its comrades, and desire hereby to record its solemn protest against any such vandalism and to call upon those who may be in authority to arrest it.

After passing a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, the meeting adjourned at 12:15 and the members proceeded to the steamer Mayflower, chartered for their use by the city of Boston, for a trip down the harbor. They had luncheon on board the boat and went around by the navy yard and to Fort Warren. The return was made late in the afternoon.

The Evening Session.

The veterans held possession of Faneuil hall last night. There was the "Star Spangled Banner" "Marching Through Georgia," the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Dixie," "Yankee Doodle," and "On to the Old Camp Ground," and there was cheering and eloquent patriotism. There were mostly gray heads and white beards in the audience, gray heads and white beards on the platform.

At 8:10, while there was a bustle at the door and a glint of gold regimentals down the aisle, the band played "Hail to the Chief," and Governor Russell walked smilingly to the platform, escorted by General Porter, followed by a brilliant trail of 15 uniformed Russian guests from the warships and a score or more of great men of the war, with Grand Army badges on their coats as their only distinguishing mark, yet the veterans gave them recognition with shouts and cheers and wild hat waving.

Chaplain Horton made the opening prayer. Then the orchestra played "Departed Days," and many of the gray heads remained bowed in meditation till there arose the tall, twinkling-eyed man with the bristling gray moustache and the array of badges, President Porter, to introduce "the distinguished, accomplished, overwhelmingly popular magistrate of this commonwealth."

The governor then made his speech, which was earnest and to the point and not too long, and brought out applause at all the periods.

Next General Porter, and the twinkle in his eye had not belied the man. He told funny stories; he was sarcastic about Boston on general principles, but he stood right up to testify to the whole-heartedness of its hospitality; he quoted Shakespeare and scripture, but it was a fine speech and the veterans cheered it all through.

A slender, scholarly, gray-blond mustached man in gold eyeglasses and evening dress stood up—Richard Watson Gilder. He read his poem, and it was verse to make one's heart beat quicker.

A solo by Comrade Joseph L. White, "We Old Boys," was heartily enjoyed by the audience, who sang each time the chorus.

The Oration by Rev. Arthur Little, D. D., closed the exercises. It fought the war over again; it reviewed the army life and finally the phrase once coined in iron, "All quiet on the Potomac," by the stay-at-home critics of the mighty, sure, but slow moving host. "It sounded bitter then to your soldier ears, but now it has other meaning. Thanks to your sacrifice and bravery it is 'all quiet on the Potomac' now. There waves the flag from the Capitol over one nation, uniting all soldiers. There sleep 6000 of our boys, and their graves are pilgrim shrines. All quiet on the Potomac now."

"Now," said General Porter, with quick cheerfulness, "we will close by singing 'Marching Through Georgia.' All those who do not stand up and sing will be subject to courtmartial and will probably be executed before daybreak."

So "Marching Through Georgia" broke the echoes through Faneuil hall, and the vets went out into the night hurrahing "From Atlanta to the Sea."

DROWNED HERSELF.

Mrs. Woods' Orth Objected to Being Put Under Guardianship.

PORTLAND, Me., June 28.—The woman found drowned in Wormwell's brook, East Livermore, Monday, was Mrs. Mary Woolworth of West Gardiner, who had been visiting her sisters, Mrs. Gilbert Young and Mrs. Nathaniel Brown.

Saturday night she received a letter citing her to appear before the probate court at Augusta for the purpose of having a guardian appointed, it being the second time her children had attempted to have her put under guardianship.

She talked the matter over with her sister and said her children could have her property if they wanted it, but they should see that she was taken care of. It is supposed that she thought the matter over until, in her despondency, she decided to take her life. She was 55 years of age.

HERO OF THE NAVY.

Unveiling of the Admiral Farragut Statue at Boston.

AN IMPOSING PROCESSION

Furnishes One of the Most Interesting Features.

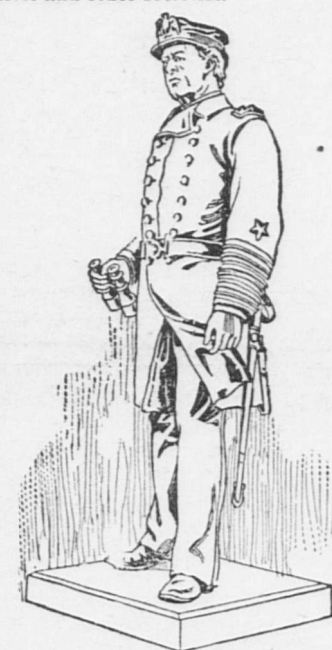

BOSTON, June 28.—Today is a red letter day in the history of Boston's peninsula, it being the day selected by the city government for the unveiling of the statue of Admiral Farragut, which has been erected on Marine park, opposite the foot of East Broadway.

The district is in its holiday attire; patriotism is rampant, and the affair is truly one befitting the occasion—to honor the name of the illustrious officer whose 22 years of service in the United States navy has never been equalled.

The Procession

Forty-four girls and 55 boys were selected from the schools to take part in the parade, the girls representing the states in the Union, riding on a float, symbolical of the Hartford, Admiral Farragut's old flagship, the boys being attired as marines and acting as body-guard. The mayor consented to the appropriation of an additional $1000 to be used in defraying the expenses of the naval battalion, the 100 cadets of the nautical training ship Enterprise, and the marines and sailors of the United States vessels San Francisco and Vesuvius.

The procession consisted of eight divisions. In the first were the navy representation, the naval brigade, schoolship boys and the Naval Veteran association; in the second, the military; in the third, the Grand Army organizations; in the fourth, the surviving members of the U. S. S. Hartford, who fished Farragut to the mast, four members of the governor's staff, delegations from the Russian war vessels, delegations from the state legislature, the Army of the Potomac, Boston Citizens' association and representatives of the city government. The other divisions were made up of yacht clubs and other organizations, civic and other societies.

THE FARRAGUT STATUE.

A feature of the parade was the appearance of the only surviving officer of Admiral Farragut's personal staff, B. S. Osborn, who was fleet signal officer during the engagement at Mobile bay. He is a resident of New York city and at present rear admiral commanding the National Association of Naval Veterans of the United States as army.

The procession formed on West Fourth street, between A and C streets, right resting on A street. It passed through Fourth street, Dorchester avenue and Broadway to the statue.

The Ceremonies of Unveiling begun with music by a band, followed by an admiral's salute of 17 guns from battery A. The troops came to a present arms while Alderman Flood's daughter unveiled the statue. The statue was covered with drapery in the customary manner, and the pulling of a single cord allowed the drapery to fall and reveal the bronze figure.

A poem by Henry O'Meara was then read, after which ex-Governor Rice delivered the oration.

The Massachusetts training ship Enterprise was anchored off City Point, between Thompson's island and the Marine park pier. At the unveiling of the statue an admiral's salute of 17 guns was fired by battery A from the Marine park, was taken up by the battery at the Charlestown navy yard, and in turn by the San Francisco and Vesuvius and the two Russian vessels, the Dimitri Donskoi and the Rynda.

The Ship Great Admiral, named in honor of the hero of Mobile and New Orleans, is in port. She has for a figure-head an excellent image of Farragut. The vessel is in command of Captain J. F. Rowell, and was decked with flags and bunting, in recognition of the day's event.

Among the invited guests who were present during the celebration were Loyal Farragut, a son of the admiral, and Captain John W. Watson of the San Francisco.

Several hundred yachts were present at the unveiling exercises. They were anchored in line in Pleasure bay between the pier and Castle island. The Mosquito Fleet club and the Commonwealth club participated, and the yachts were handsomely decorated for the occasion. After the salute was finished fleet maneuvers were directed from the flagship Navarch by signal officers.

The End Not Yet.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The famous Fawcett weather will case is in the courts again, and the estate is more complicated. A host of lawyers appeared before Surrogate Ransom and argued for and against the distribution of $2,500,000 among colleges and other institutions. Surrogate Ransom reserved decision.

WITH THREE clubs tied for first place the struggle for the league pennant is becoming more interesting.

THE ADAMS STREET appropriation is not very modest after all. Rather expensive street widening.

THE $50,000 order for playgrounds has encountered no obstacles as yet, and it has passed two readings.

LET THE street improvements be continued under the betterment act. Cottage avenue should be widened and put in good condition.

QUINCY HAS an interest in the Admiral Farragut statue dedicated at Marine Park, South Boston, today. The pedestal is of Quincy granite, and Senator Merrill is one of the committee of the Legislature to represent the State.

A GENERAL SHAKE UP will take place on the Old Colony railroad, or as it is now, a part of the Old Colony system of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford, and many tried and true officials will not be directly in charge of the Old Colony. They are elevated and also the name "Old Colony" which now applies to the whole system east of New London. This leaves the main line through Quincy in the "Plymouth division" with a new superintendent, Mr. Sanborn, and other changes. Heretofore we have been on the main line, but it is hoped the city will not suffer by the change. It will doubtless be a case where one of the branches will become larger than the young tree, particularly when the old Plymouth road becomes four tracks.

New Delivery Wagon.

It would be hard to find a happier man than John W. Mason as he appears attired in a bran new suit of smooth clothes pushing the reins of the fiery steed attached to Johnson Bros. new delivery wagon. Even the horse seems to feel the impulse as he dashes proudly up to the doors of their many customers with poultry, produce and provisions. The new wagon made its appearance Tuesday and is very handsome. The running part is painted in vermilion. The body has two panels, the lower of which is painted in ultramarine blue and the upper in lake. These panels have letters of gold which tell what line of goods the firm carry and their address. A light covered top completes the turnout, the sides of the top bearing the letters "Johnson Bros. Market." The interior of the wagon is finished in natural wood and taken altogether it is as handsome a turnout as one wants to see.

Sewing in the Schools.

We have examined the exhibit of sewing made by the grammar grades of our public school with considerable interest and satisfaction. It has been taught but one year and the progress is very satisfactory. They hem, patch, sew on buttons, darn and sew tares, and also some feather stitching. Some of the latter done by boys of the Atlantic school was exceedingly good. The instruction is valuable and will be appreciated by many in after years.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The cycle club will visit the Hyde Park Association Thursday evening. A full turnout is desired.
Members and friends of the Association will be glad to learn that Dr. E. R. Johnson has been engaged as physical director for another year.

HIGH SCHOOL ESSAY.

"Quincy as an Historical Centre," by Miss Catherine T. O'Brien.

In considering the greatness of a place we may note its principal industries and their success, the quality of education furnished its distinguished men, their deeds and their influence of such deeds at home and abroad.

As we examine the history of our city in these respects we find that it possesses most remarkable characteristics.
Quincy "Granite," as it is frequently called, is in reality syenite, for although it possesses two of the elements of granite, it varies in the third, containing hornblende instead of mica. It was quarried father back than 1752, but was not used for any thing costly until the erection of King's chapel the construction of which was begun that year.

In 1822 the Bunker Hill monument constructed of Quincy syenite, was erected. Ten years later the quarries furnished material for the building of the Boston Custom House. This building is constructed in the form of a Greek Cross, with its interior of pure Doric style, built completely of Quincy syenite. The pillars of the Unitarian church were the first shafts quarried and worked in Quincy. To the south, to the west, you will find Custom Houses, Exchanges and other buildings of note, built completely of Quincy syenite. The quality of the stone has no equal in ancient or modern time. The industry affords employment to the majority of Quincy workmen. Quincy syenite is now principally worked for monumental purposes.

Quincy claims the honor of possessing The First Railroad in America. It was built for the purpose of carrying stone for the construction of Bunker Hill Monument.

How well American citizens prize tokens of Revolutionary times. The old Adams mansions which give the style of home buildings in the days that tried men's souls are among Quincy's best possessions. Quincy inhabitants have ever been foremost in advancing education in America. When they had built church, they turned their minds to the education of their children. Seconded by the faithful work of their descendants have been the efforts of our forefathers. Quincy's public schools equal any schools in America. Our city reaches out education as a gift to all her inhabitants.

But man is greater than material prosperity or educational systems. With regard to his body he is classed with the lower animals, but his intellect raises him above the animal kingdom. Where does Quincy stand in the production of great men? Foremost with a few of American cities. The deeds of her great men live in her memory.

Quincy furnished America with two presidents. Second on the presidential roll is written the name of John Adams. In history shall his name still live, and beside it the name of his birthplace, Quincy.

He was born in the northerly mansion. He was noted for being a bright lawyer, chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, and a delegate to the first Continental Congress in 1774. At the court of France, at the court of Great Britain, we find him working faithfully for the welfare of his country. These, it must be remembered, were delicate positions, for America then was young. He reached the Summit of American Fame.

for he became president.
His son, John Quincy Adams, was born in the southerly mansion. He like his father followed the profession of the law and was prominent in foreign affairs. For we find him at the Courts of the Netherlands, Berlin, Portugal, and St. Petersburg. The Senate claimed him as a member of its wise and dignified house. A graduate of Harvard, he became a professor of rhetoric and oratory in that institution. Emulating his father's example he too became president of the United States. The remains of these two presidents were buried in a granite tomb under the portico of the Unitarian church, of which they were members.

When the committee had succeeded in completing the Declaration of Independence, John Hancock was the first to sign his name to that famous document, in which were written the words, "America ought to be free." Who was Massachusetts first governor? John Hancock. His life was given to free his country and to relieve the poor and suffering.

For twenty-eight years John Quincy Adams represented Quincy at the General Court. Every generation has had in it prominent representatives of the Quincy family.
These are but few of the many distinguished men to which Quincy in her peaceful years looks backward with pride and with hopes of future greatness. But what shall we say of the many heroes, who left home and loved ones to fight in the Revolutionary and civil war. Richly do they deserve a place on the roll of immortal fame, where they shall forever remain in the fond memory of a grateful nation.

"Ancestral deeds 'tis well to honor thus;
So shall the later ages honor us."

—Chelsea will pay its clerk of commitments $500.

Oil stoves, no smoke, no odor, cooks the food, not the cook; one burner, 50 cents; two burners, $1.31; three burners, $1.87. Ovens and all the paraphernalia, the prices one-third cheaper than any other market price, Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

OLD COLONY SYSTEM.

But Quincy will be on the Plymouth Division by New Arrangements.

After July 1 the new order of things caused by the consolidation of the Old Colony with New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad will be complete. Many changes of officials, divisions, etc., are contained in the general orders just issued.

The general officers will be:
President Clark.
Lucius Tuttle, vice president, with general authority.
C. S. Mullen, second vice president, in charge of traffic.

J. R. Kendrick, third vice president, will manage Old Colony system.

H. M. Kochersperger controller.
George L. Connor passenger traffic agent.
For convenience and efficiency in the operation of the property, all of the company's lines west of New London will be known as the New Haven system, and all of its lines east of New London will be known as the Old Colony system, the operation of each system to be under the direct charge of a general superintendent.

The Old Colony system will be managed by E. G. Allen, general superintendent; J. N. Lander, superintendent of motive power; L. N. Marshall, superintendent of Providence division; F. G. Spencer, superintendent of Worcester division; J. B. Gardner, superintendent of Stonington division; C. A. McAlpine, superintendent of northern division; J. C. Sanborn, superintendent of Plymouth division; A. S. Ackley, superintendent of Taunton division; J. H. French, superintendent of Cape Cod division; C. Peter Clark, general freight agent; George L. Winlock, assistant general freight agent; J. M. Williams, general eastern freight agent; A. C. Kendall, general passenger agent; O. H. Briggs, general eastern passenger agent.

Quincy will be on the Plymouth division, Mr. J. C. Sanborn superintendent, with office at Kneeland street station, Boston. The division includes the lines between Boston and Plymouth, via the South Shore and via Abington, and between South Braintree and Middleboro, and the Shawmut, Milton, West Quincy, Nantasket Beach, Hanover, Easton, Plymouth and Middleboro, and Bridgewater and Brockton branches.

The other divisions of the Old Colony system will be, the Providence, the Worcester, the Stonington, the Northern, the Taunton and the Cape Cod.

The Taunton division, Mr. A. L. Ackley superintendent, with office at Taunton, consists of the lines between South Braintree (Mayflower Park) and Newport, and between Mansfield and New Bedford; Middleboro and Somerset Junction, and the Fall River, Attleboro, Middleboro and Taunton, Stoughton (south of Stoughton Central) and Whitton branches.

Fair Play for Street Railway.

Editors of the Ledger:
Allow me to say a few words through the columns of your valuable paper in the interest of fair play and to express my opinion of the City Council which seems to have acted unfairly in the matter of the street railway. It seems that the Manet company desirous of accommodating the many who journey to the beach wish to extend its tracks so as to connect with those of the Quincy & Boston, that cars may be readily transferred from one line to another in case more are needed. In order to do this it will be necessary to build about 30 feet of track which will leave a triangular piece of road between the tracks. The statutes oblige the railway to pave between the tracks and eighteen inches outside, which I understand the company are willing to do, but what does the Council say? You must pave the whole of that triangular piece of road. To do this would require about 6000 pavers, and the chances are that the company will not do it. The point back of this unfair order seems to be to establish a precedent for future use, and in order to do this they will have to resort to might. This seems to be a question of good faith, honor and squareness, either of which is worth more to the city than the benefits to be derived by trying to compel the railway to do more than the statute requires.

We, as citizens, encouraged the building of this road, realizing that it is the one great developers of the nineteenth century. Business men feel the benefits of it as does the city by the increase of taxable property. This being the case, gentlemen of the Council, you are wrong and your action will not meet the approval of fair minded citizens. Instead of pushing them to the wall, let us encourage the railway to extend its tracks as fast as possible, that the public may have better facilities for travel and the poor man more opportunities to take his family on a pleasure trip at a small cost.

No one believes for an instant that the road was built for charitable purposes. They have their duties to perform for the public as well as earning a return for the money invested. Its officers and directors are interested in the development of the city many times more than in the railway, therefore let us instead of by our action discouraging every move that will benefit the public, try and encourage them in every possible way, and one of the first steps in that direction, gentlemen of the Council, will be for you to rescind your action of last Monday evening and grant the location without putting an anchor about it.

Mr. Joseph Adams lies ill at his home on Franklin street, the result of quite a serious accident Sunday at Braintree. Mr. Adams and Daniel Baxter were trying a horse, when the animal shied throwing the occupants violently to the ground. Mr. Adams struck on his stomach which was injured somewhat and he was also cut and bruised about the face and side. Mr. Adams has been confined to his bed since the accident and as his age is against him, it will be some weeks before he will be himself again.

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in a few days. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

better known locally perhaps as

HOUGH'S NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

ROBBERY THE MOTIVE.

New Developments Concerning the Murder of Dr. Chaput.

LOWELL, Mass., June 28.—On the evening when Dr. Henri A. Chaput was stabbed a great effort was made to induce him to tell who his assailant was, but in the excitement several of those who were nearest to the dying man at that time have since been forgotten.

The police, however, have been quietly working on the case, and one of Chaput's friends, who was at his bedside that night, gave important information yesterday. This man, Edmund J. Pinault, conversed with Dr. Chaput in French shortly after he was taken to the hospital and says that when he asked the doctor who his assailant was, a smile of satisfaction came over his face as he said: "They tried to get my money, but they didn't." Then he closed his eyes in pain.

The doctor also spoke to Pinault about the man with the light suit and the straw hat, and said he did not want to say anything because the young man's parents were respectable. Pinault thinks the police made a mistake in discharging young Chaput and LeClerc, the two men arrested in Boston, until a closer investigation had been made.

The police say that both LeClerc and Joseph A. Chaput have left Boston.

LIFE ON THE OCEAN

To Be Experienced by the Massachusetts Naval Reserve.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The commandant of the Massachusetts naval reserve has informed the navy department that the reserve of that state will, as proposed by the navy department, take their summer practice cruise on one of the United States cruisers. They will be ready to start by July 18 and expect to make 400 men. They will probably make the cruise in the San Francisco. The New York naval reserve, it is understood, will make their cruise in the vessel loaned them by the United States, the New Hampshire. This plan, however, is subject to change, and they may decide to accept the proposition of the department and use a United States cruiser. The navy department advocates the use of the modern cruisers, as it is thought a cruise on them away from home and land will prove more beneficial than the old method of cruising near shore.

Altgeld Not Worried.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 28.—A reporter of the United Press called on Governor Altgeld and inquired if he had anything to state as to the attacks made on him by the Chicago papers because of his action in pardoning the anarchists. The governor intimated that he was altogether indifferent as to their comments. "Let them pitch in and give me the devil if they want to," he said, "they could not cut through my hide in three weeks with an axe."

Prospect Is Brighter.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 28.—The Broadway bank opened its doors yesterday. The bank commissioners say the bank ought never to have been closed. The University, First National and Southern California National are still closed. They will be opened in a few days. Confidence seems restored, and the business outlook is improving.

Heavy Damage by a Tornado.

TOPPEKA, June 28.—Near Oakley a storm blew down several farmhouses, stables and outbuildings. It carried a school-house 50 rods and then dashed it to the ground, breaking it into kindling wood. Lightning killed Mrs. George Beak of Oakley. The rain that accompanied the storm is the greatest since the spring of 1892.

The Cowboy Racers.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The first of the cowboy racers, John Berry, on the chestnut Poiss n, reached here at 9:30 a. m. yesterday. He made the last 150 miles of the long race in just 24 hours. Mounted on his pony, Berry rode up to Buffalo Bill's grounds at the fair grounds on Sixty-third street and was greeted as the winner of the race from Chadron, Neb.

Unworthy the Name of "Mother." St. Louis, June 28.—A special to The Globe Democrat from the City of Mexico says a woman named Anita Sanchez became angry at her 8-year old daughter and forced her into a large baker's oven. She then lighted a fire and the child was roasted to death. She confessed the crime.

Excursion Company Assigns.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The Columbian Excursion company, which holds a leasehold on three World's fair hotels, has made an assignment in favor of M. V. C. Eames. The hotels are the Everett, 200 rooms; the Costello, 223 rooms; and the Boston, 200 rooms.

Terrible Domestic Tragedy.

OTTAWA, June 28.—Jacob L. Lyons of Greensburg (ownership) had a dispute with his wife over a trivial matter. He flew into a passion and shot her and then shot himself, dying instantly. His wife will not recover. They leave a small family.

Barber Takes All the Blame.

UPPER MERIDON, Me., June 28.—The negroes, Dan Barber and Willam Pinkney, who were convicted of murdering Mr. Bowie, will be hanged Friday. Pinkney has made his dying declaration that he killed Mr. Bowie alone.

SURPRISED THE BOSTONS.

Louisville Men Put Up a Remarkable Game and Win.

LOUISVILLE, June 28.—Louisville defeated the Boston by superior all-around playing. The Colonels ran bases like race horses and hit and fielded the ball in a way that the Boston men thought they were playing the leaders instead of the tailenders. The feature of the game was the pitching and hitting of Hemming and the fielding of Browning.

Harvard beaten.

NEW HAVEN, June 28.—Harvard lost the game yesterday in the wink of an eye.

After a nip and tuck fight of seven innings, two blue legs, Murphy and Carter, managed to get on bases. Beall flew out to Jack Highland. Then Case made a slight ground hit to Sullivan, who made a beautiful return to the home plate, and Mason dropped the ball, and both Carter and Murphy scored within a second of each other. Highland threw wild to Frothingham in trying to nail Case. While the ball was roaming over center field territory Case scored. The three runs were all that were made in the game. Harvard could do nothing in their remaining half, and they left the field beaten by a score of 3 to 0.

OUR NOBLE HEROES.

The Army of the Potomac Close Session With a Banquet.

WIT AND HUMOR REIGN.

Their Wives and Daughters
Grace the Scene.

Boston, June 29.—The members of the Society of the Army of the Potomac yesterday afternoon enjoyed a drive in the suburbs. The veterans assembled at the state house, and viewed the battle flags.

Under the direction of Lieutenant J. Payson Bradley, chairman of the sub-committee on excursions, about 100 carriages had been provided, and soon after 1:30 p. m. the column moved. After participation in the Farragut parade the visitors enjoyed a drive in the suburbs.

In the evening a banquet was held at the American House, and General Porter, the retiring president, was beside himself with wit; it flowed as freely as good fellowship, and it made, with laughter, by his keen comparisons the brightest spot in all that array of glory. He was the star of the evening.

The brave fighters were not alone to celebrate their glory. In that audience to listen were wives and daughters, and their presence added grace and beauty to the army's grand reunion banquet.

General Porter said, in opening the after-dinner speaking, that the chief difficulty in bringing the exercises to order, "I am like a herd of elephants in crossing a bridge; the smallest one is sent first to test it."

Proceeding, he said: "As iron is welded by the heat of fire, so is true friendship welded in the throes of battle. It is worth all it costs for us to come together for a period and dwell upon past times and to look forward to the future greatness of our country."

He then introduced General Miles, the new president, as follows: "The papers described him today as a great 'injun fighter,' but I noticed in Virginia in the sixties that he got in some pretty clever work on the white man."

General Miles said he would assume the position of the olive and occupy as little space as possible. He reviewed the cause of the war, saying it was no great thing to go to the war after a million men had already volunteered.

Speaking of the war, he said: "We recognized that the country must be held together by the young men who were patriotic and fearless. We believed that we had inherited a priceless jewel from our forefathers and we pledged ourselves that we would not forfeit it till the last effort had been made."

He paid a glowing tribute to Winfield S. Scott, saying that it was through him it was possible for Abraham Lincoln to be president. He said he rejoiced that today in his own city another son of Virginia, a man who was the noblest man in the navy, Admiral Farragut (cheers), had been honored by a grateful people. Not a star in the flag was more diminished, but on the contrary they have increased until now we have 44 to float over every ship that sails from American ports, and we realize that not a nation has developed so much of liberty and freedom as ours.

Commander Scudgill gave a brief history of his experience on the Mississippi river. The future must look to the navy for defense of the country, and we will undertake the contract, but we want the army to help us. The navy is only in embryo today, we have only 10 ships. (A voice: "They are good ones.") As Commander Scudgill sat down three cheers were given for the navy.

General Fitz John Porter said that there was no doubt that every man, no matter his age, enjoys the meeting again of old comrades, especially in this city—the best, and to the speaker, the happiest and loveliest in the United States.

Richard Watson Gilder said that he had taken a part in a battle of the Army of the Potomac and he did not know it till 25 years after, and that was at the battle of Gettysburg. He described the incident, and then R-tiring President Porter introduced Horatio King as one of the ex-postmaster generals of the United States, who said that he did not believe that the people could go in and fight against each other, and he suffered more during 1861 and 1862 than at any period in his life.

In introducing General Francis A. Walker General Porter said he was a gentleman who had twice taken our census and that some of us had not yet recovered them. General Walker spoke of the various battles of the rebellion in which Massachusetts soldiers had fought. Massachusetts has given to the armies of the Union no nobler man than the man who was yesterday made president of your order, and who, if spared for two years, will command the entire army of the United States.

At 11:30 General Porter yielded the gavel to General Walker, as he had to take the midnight train to New York. Colonel A. A. Pope and others followed in brief addresses. The banquet was one long to be remembered, and at the close cheers were given for the new president.

The New Haven youngsters finished with a clean lead over Harvard of about eight boat lengths, while Columbia crossed the line something like five boat lengths after the crimson crew.

HER FIRST LOVE.

A Kentucky Heiress Forfeits Her Fortune to a Poor Man.
LOUISVILLE, June 29.—Placing in jeopardy a fortune of upward of $1,000,000 Miss Blanche Culbertson, the beautiful daughter of the late W. S. Culbertson of New Albany, on Monday was united in marriage to Leigh Hill French of Minneapolis.

The marriage is the culmination of a long courtship. Shortly after the betrothal Miss Culbertson's father died, and in his will was a codicil by which his daughter Blanche was disinherited if she married Mr. French within a period of 10 years from the time of his death. It was further provided that she should marry no one without permission of the trustees of the will.

In the meantime Miss Culbertson apparently forgot her old lover and became engaged to Captain Donald McKay of the English army. Suit was brought to set aside the codicil of the will, and the family promised no opposition. A short time ago Miss Culbertson met her old lover in Chicago. The old flame was rekindled and she discarded her English lover. It is thought the codicil will be set aside at the October term of the circuit court.

FEW SMALL cities can boast of as many Harvard graduates this year as Quincy.

WITH THE city paying one-half the cost of the extension of Hall place and Walker street the assessment cannot be very large upon individual abutters.

WE FEEL like crawling into a hole every time a new resident or visitor speaks of our sidewalks or lack of sidewalks. Will not our city government adopt some equitable plan whereby continuous sidewalks shall be built; two or three miles a year. Assess, if necessary, but do brace up.

MALDEN HAS evidently determined to sit down on the bicycles, and as bells, gongs and whistles must be "loudly sounded" it is probable that they will have a Fourth of July noise every day. A more sensible restriction than some of those made would be to compel every bicycle to have a brake. The ordinance as passed reads:

No person shall run, drive or ride any bicycle, tricycle, velocipede or other vehicle in any public place at a rate of speed exceeding seven miles per hour, except in such places and under such restrictions as the board of aldermen shall designate and require. No person shall run, drive or ride any bicycle, tricycle, velocipede or other similar machine in any public way without having attached thereto a bell, gong or other suitable mechanical contrivance capable of giving audible and sufficient warning of the approach of the machine. Such warning shall be given by loudly sounding said bell, gong, whistle or other suitable mechanical contrivance, at a reasonable distance from and before passing any team, cart, carriage, wagon, horse, or other beast of burden, or any foot passenger then being upon or proceeding along or across the carriage way in any such public place. Not more than two persons shall ride abreast on any of said vehicles on any public place, but shall follow each other in longitudinal alignment.

The term "public place" in this ordinance shall include and be equivalent to the words county bridges, county ways, county roads, common roads, streets, highways, places and courts within the limits of the city of Malden.

Rich-Flowers.

Mr. Charles C. Rich and Miss Georgie A. Flowers, daughter of Mr. James Flowers, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents on Quincy street, the ceremony being performed in the presence of a large number of her friends and acquaintances by Rev. H. Evan Cotton. Miss Nellie H. Cottle of Egypt was bridesmaid and Mr. Alfred G. Flowers, a brother of the bride, was best man. The bride was becomingly attired in white satin with old gold trimmings cut en train with bengaline and old point lace.

The bridesmaid was attired in Chiffon and white lace, cut low neck with garniture of pearl trimming. Mr. William Wilson presided at the piano and played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

A wedding supper was served after the ceremony.

After a brief trip Mr. and Mrs. Rich will take up their residence at their new home on Bennington street and will be at home after July 5.

Among the many presents were a willow rocker, silver set, china chocolate pitcher, silver ladle inlaid with gold, and carved music stand.

He Took to the Woods.

Officer Ferguson had quite an experience summoning a witness to attend the District Court Wednesday. This witness who is a blacksmith for one of the leading firms on the common, had been on the lookout for Tom, and as Tom's shadow passed the window Jim took to the woods. Tom waited until most Court time and had to go without his man. But Tom knew Jim took to the woods once before on the occasion of a Republican victory and returned again, so about 11 o'clock Tom came to the shop through the woods and Jim will be at the District court Friday morning and will tell His Honor the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, like a little man.

SALUTATORY ADDRESS.

Delivered at High School Graduation by Miss Cassandana Thayer.

At last the day, long looked forward to, yet sometimes dreaded, has come—the day on which we leave the school with which we have so long been associated. How swiftly the time has flown! We can hardly believe that four years have passed since we entered upon our High School course, and that we have arrived at the point where we must sadly bid adieu to school life.

What season could be more fitting for this occasion than the present? The trees have arrayed themselves in their most beautiful vestures. Nestling under leafy canopies, the birds are singing their sweetest songs, and their music is blended with the balmy air of June. The summer breezes, laden with the breath of flowers, are wafting messages of love and joy to all mankind. On every hand we behold the beauties of Nature and tonight she joins us in extending our greetings to one and all.

Friends, City Officials, and Citizens of Quincy, who have assembled here tonight to listen to the graduation exercises of the Class of '93, and who have always taken such an interest in our school, it is my great pleasure as well as duty to bid you a cordial welcome.

Parents of the Class of '93, we extend to you a filial greeting. It is through your never tiring care and support that we are enabled to hold the position we do tonight. Your loving guidance and counsel have ever been with us, and for all this we can find no words sufficient to express our gratitude. As we are about to enter upon the broad field of life, it is our earnest desire to accomplish therein that which will be an honor to you, and which may perhaps repay you in part for your loving care.

We would now salute our school-committee and Superintendent, who so wisely and carefully supervise the Schools of our city, especially the High School. We know that you have always taken a great interest in us, and we highly appreciate your able and zealous efforts in our behalf.

Schoolmates, our greetings and best wishes. Though we shall no more be associated with you, day by day, and though we shall not meet with you when you again resume your studies, nevertheless, the friendships which we have formed among you will always remain. You have our best wishes for a successful course, and when you shall occupy our places, may you be able to look back upon highly profitable days. Ever be loyal to your school; neglect no "golden opportunity" and thus you will leave a glorious record.

And now to you, our esteemed teachers, we extend our heartiest greetings. You have labored long and earnestly for our instruction. Through your endeavors we have been able, honorably, to complete our course. Not only have you taught us the requisite branches of knowledge, but by your example and precepts you have ever held before us ideal manhood and womanhood, thus molding our characters and elevating our purposes—lessons far more important than any learned from books.

You have helped us over many rough places in the path of knowledge, and step by step, have led us up to higher planes from which we might obtain a broader view. Your patience has been never-ending; your assistance ever ready and willing. Words cannot express our gratitude for the many favors received from your hands. As we must part, we leave with you our best wishes, and we shall carry away many pleasant recollections of the days we have passed together.

Classmates, I extend to each of you a most cordial welcome. As we meet tonight we experience a feeling of joy mingled with sadness. Although we must sever the ties of companionship which have become stronger day by day, nevertheless, not one link of the "golden chain" that binds us in loving friendship can ever be broken. Tonight we stand on the threshold. Behind us is the "school life" we have just finished. Before us the portals of "life's school" are opened wide to receive us. Above the entrance I fancy I see the following words inscribed: "Something yet to be attained." Indeed, we feel that we have by no means reached the acme of knowledge, for there are more steps for us to climb, and Minerva stands waiting to offer us many things from the richness of her store. Though we reluctantly leave the school within whose walls we have received instruction and pleasure, let us enter upon our life work with a determination to succeed. May we at all times do our duty. Let us waste no opportunity for ennobling ourselves and shedding an influence for good around us. Classmates, let us

"Do noble things; not dream them all day long, And so make life, death, and that vast forever, One grand, sweet song."

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Communications concerning city and public matters are invited, and will receive space, although in views they may not coincide with those of the editors. They may be signed by initials or otherwise, but the editors must know the name of the writer.

Getting Out of It Cheap.

Editors of the Ledger:

Your correspondent "Fair Play" assumed considerable when he seeks to condemn the City Council for the citizens as a whole. I for one congratulate the city fathers for their back bone and don't hesitate to say that the street railway company is getting out of it cheap. There are instances where cities have made street railway pave a whole street through which it passed, and the time is coming when street railways, gas and water companies and other corporations using the public streets will have to pay for the privilege.

Quincy has been generous with its street railway companies. It has granted them locations on narrow street and is now going to great expense because of it, to widen them, and without any financial assistance from the company. If the grants in the vicinity of the Stone church are continued we may soon expect to see the cars in full possession of the square, to the great annoyance on Sundays to the churches, and to the safety and convenience of travel on all days. The streets in the vicinity have now been cut up by many tracks and in such a way that it is difficult to drain the streets and keep them in proper repair. I say it is not unreasonable to demand of the company the paving of the small triangle, or even more.

The Poor Wooden Horses.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

The member of the City Council who introduced the resolution to stop the flying horses of J. D. Taber must have had the tender feeling of a saint. He is right, for why should the poor wooden horses be compelled against their will to carry children Sundays though it is a harmless amusement. The electric motor that puts life into the horses works hard six days and should rest on the seventh. It makes no difference if it does amuse the poor man's children that cannot go to the beach week days. Why discriminate? Why protect a wooden horse by drunken men go to the beach? Why let the electric cars run? Why allow a boat to be sailed Sunday? It is just as cruel as to allow wooden horses to run. Stop bicycle riding; the poor, over-ridden bicycles ought to have a rest Sunday.

Talking Too Loud.

Bingo—Bobbie, there's mischief in your eye. What piece of cruelty have you devised for this evening?

Bobbie—I don't want to tell.

Bingo (firmly)—Out with it or I'll wallop you.

Bobbie—We've got two cats out in the barn, and we're going to tie the rockets to their tails.

Bingo—Keep still or your mother may hear you.

He Wanted Them Charged.

Willie—Mamma says to let me have a bunch of firecrackers.

Storekeeper—Yes, my little man. Does she want them charged?

Willie—Well, if they ain't you'll hear from me.

Keeping Up the Farce.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 29.—The Newport members of the house of representatives of Rhode Island, who have been meeting every two days since election week a month ago, assembled again yesterday and adjourned according to custom. They had with them one representative from up the river.

THE SILVER SCARE.

Congress Expected to Meet on the Fourth of September.

THE SHERMAN LAW DOOMED

Silverites Have Not Yet Given
Up the Battle.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The president, the secretary of the treasury and other members of the cabinet got many letters and telegrams from business men yesterday advocating the prompt repeal of the Sherman act. Some of them were worded as though the writers thought the president could repeal an act of congress by an executive order. Most of them, however, urged that congress should be called together immediately with a view to the action they desired.

Unfortunately, these letters and telegrams

Contained No Assurance

that the men who represent in the senate and house the states from which they came would pass the repealing act if congress were summoned here immediately. In fact, they told the president nothing that he did not know before, and it seems to members of the administration that the men who wrote them would have been better employed in presenting the waver-ing senators and representatives the arguments for repeal.

While the action of the government of India is recognized as of great assistance in the campaign of education looking to the repeal of the Sherman act, it is not regarded as decisive. The silverites, while temporarily demoralized, are not defeated, and if congress were in session this week would still be able, it is believed, to prevent the Repeal of the Sherman Act.

Two months more of experience with the act, however, will, it is believed, bring about the result desired. Monday, Sept.
4, is generally regarded now as the day upon which congress is most likely to meet.

Representative Wheeler of Alabama, who acts with the free coinage men, said that he thought a resolution would be passed as soon as congress met, giving the president power to suspend the purchase of silver for a limited time, so as to stop the operation of the Sherman act while legislation to take its place was being formulated. But the administration and the opponents of the Sherman act in congress would insist on the absolute repeal of the act.

AN ACTOR'S WEDDING.

De Wolf Hopper quietly married at Newark—The Bride an Actress.

NEWARK, N. J., June 29.—Comedian De Wolf Hopper visited Newark yesterday and met a party at the hotel, consisting of four ladies and one handsome young man.
Then the party drove to the residence of Rev. Nelson A. MacNichol, pastor of the Halsey Street Methodist Episcopal church.
A marriage ceremony was performed there and the clergyman was enjoined to keep the matter secret. The news of Hopper's presence in the city and his drive to the clergyman's residence was soon reported around.

The party boarded a train for New York within an hour from the time of their arrival. The clergyman refused to divulge the name of the bride, but admitted that the famous comedian was the groom.

It has since been learned that the bride is Miss Edna Wallace. This young lady was a member of one of Charlie Frohman's companies, and played the soprano part in "The Girl I Left Behind Me" at the Empire theater all last winter. She is a very pretty and charming little woman, and came from San Francisco only two years ago. She is almost a novice on the stage. The couple were married at the residence of Rev. Dr. McMichael in Newark. Mr. Hopper was married before.
His first wife was a member of the Mc-Caul company, where he met her.

Victoria's State Unveiled.

LONDON, June 29.—The statue of the queen, the work of Princess Beatrice, her majesty's youngest daughter, was unveiled in Kensington yesterday by the queen. The work has been highly commended for its artistic merit. The Duke of York, in whom great interest centers at present, owing to his approaching marriage to Princess May of Teck, was not present at the unveiling, owing to sickness. His physicians say his complaint is not a serious one.

A Valuable Horse Killed.

SHEPHERD BAY, June 29.—Catastrophe, the 2-year-old colt, was killed at this track yesterday. He was brought out to be worked, and as soon as his feet struck the ground he bolted and made a circuit of the track. When he reached his stable he blundered right into the fence, and a hasty examination showed that his back was broken. He was valued at $30,000.

A Titled Piano Manufacturer.

NEW YORK, June 29.—William Steinway, the piano manufacturer, is no longer a plain "Mr." In other words, Mr. Steinway is a knight of the Order of the Red Eagle. The news has just leaked out that the piano manufacturer and philanthropist had gained the recognition of the Prussian court.

The Machias to Be Commissioned.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Machias has started for the Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard, where she will be put into commission next week. As soon as she is commissioned she will be fitted out and sent to the Asiatic squadron for duty.
Captain C. J. Train will command her.

Mexican Silver Rumor.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A rumor was current at the treasury yesterday that Mexico contemplated stopping the free coinage of silver. It could not be traced, and is not generally credited. Mexico has a circulation of about $50,000,000 in silver, and most of it is good.

Prosperity of the South.

CHATTANOOGA, June 29.—The quarterly report of The Tradesman, compiled from 10,000 returns from every town in the south, shows continued development of the textile industry, 72 new cotton and woolen mills having been organized.

A Train Held Up by Robbers.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 28.—Three robbers held up a train here yesterday.
The fireman was killed and one robber captured.

WEYMOUTH.

Many Little Items of Interest from the Winthrop held a picnic at Lovell's grove Tuesday. Wednesday there was a union picnic of the Nonsectarian churches. They came by the barge Clifford.

The graduating exercises of the Athens school were held Wednesday evening at the Pilgrim church, and were largely at-

Wanderers Home will be at the Pilgrim church next Sunday evening.

The graduating class of the Athens school gave their teacher, Mr. Frank L.
Kelley, a surprise party at his residence on Curtis street Monday evening, and presented him with a handsome volume of Stoddard's views of the world. Ice cream and refreshments were served.

Postmaster Thomas has made quite a change in the interior of his office.

The North Weymouth Land Co. report
two sales this week; one, lot No. 95, to E.
H. Benson who is to erect a $3,000 house immediately, and lot No. 120, to James Delory of Manchester.

Mrs. Frank M. Aldrich is spending a few days this week with her brother at Dorchester.

Wednesday one of the electric cars was stalled on Grave's hill the power having given out. Frank and Harvey therefore had nothing to do but make faces at each other. While they were engaged in this occupation a Kings Daughter made her appearance and soon Frank and Harvey were regaling themselves with cake and ice cream. Hereafter when they get stalled they want to be near the same place.

The "Back Bay" residents of South Weymouth took an outing at Fort Point last Saturday.

Mathew Macaulay of Weymouth Landing has arrived at his cottage at Fort Point.

Mr. H. W. Bartlett has accepted a position on a daily newspaper at Malden.

tage at Rose Cliff.

taken a cottage on Vine street.

The King's Daughters held a lawn party at the residence of Miss Mabel Culley on Bridge street, Tuesday evening. There was vocal and instrumental music, boating, etc. Ice cream and cake were served.

The wills of Dr. C. C. Tower and Patrick Velch, late of this town, were at a cottage at Rose Cliff.

Postmaster Thomas proudly exhibits quarterly cards from the auditor for his four years' service as postmaster, setting forth that his returns have been audited and found correct no balance being due thereon, either to or from the United States. He may well feel proud of his record.

Mr. James O. Hollis and Miss Ida P.
Bunell were married at the residence of the bride's grandfather, Mr. William K.
Baker, Wednesday evening, by Rev. B. F.
Eaton.

Orphans' Hope lodge, A. F. A. M., held an interesting meeting Wednesday. The occasion was made noteworthy by the fact that Mr. Arthur M. Raymond, organist of the Mt. Vernon church, Boston, received his third degree. Visitors were present from Boston, Brockton, Cohasset, Brain-tree, Quincy and Hingham. The Temple quintette of Boston furnished music.

By the new adjustment of the salary of the postmaster at Weymouth Centre is increased $400 to $1500, and South and East Weymouth are decreased $100 to $1500 and $1800 respectively.

Mr. Frank B. Allen, the popular treasurer of the Allen Fan Co., and Miss Laura E.
Radcliffe were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's sister, the ceremony being performed by Rev. William Hyde. The wedding was a quiet one only the immediate family friends being present.

If anyone doubts that the electric railway in this village is not appreciated let them consider for a moment the number of passengers carried out of and into North Weymouth since the line was open. For the week ending June 24 an account was kept of the number that came from and went into North Weymouth and it reached the surprising number of 3390.

Before the Flag.

In a certain New York mission is a bright street fellow, who, if this incident may be taken as an indication, bids fair to develop the brains and the patriotic sentiment of a good American citizen.

A gentleman announced his intention of delivering an address on political reform in the neighborhood of the mission, a particularly disorderly district. He and his friends were informed on good authority that if the speech were made the speaker would be pelted with rotten eggs.

It seemed that the proposed address, which, it had been believed, would exert an important influence, must be given up. A small boy, between whom and the speaker a friendship had developed at the mission, solved the difficulty by an ingenious expedient.

"I tell you what to do," said he; "hang the American flag back of the platform, and you stand before the flag. The roughs won't throw eggs at the stars and stripes."

Think of the Fun

Of it—a fire full blast while you're winking
one. The cooking done—a fire out while you're winking again. No dust, no ashes—heat just where you want it, when you want it, as much as you want of it.
Oil stoves, no smoke, no odor, cooks the food, not the cook; one burner, 50 cents;
two burners, $1.31; three burners, $1.87.
Ovens and all the paraphernalia, the prices one-third cheaper than any other market price, Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

MILTON.

The twelfth and final account of A. K.
Teale, as trustee under the will of Jesse Benton of Milton, for $20,000, was allowed in the probate court at Hyde Park on Wednesday.

worst of all was that awful

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in a few days. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGH'S NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

ARE HIS ACTS LEGAL?

Question Raised as to Governor Altgeld's Citizenship.

WAS HIS SIRE A CITIZEN?

An Explanation In Order From the Anarchists' Friend.

CHICAGO, June 29.—A sensational sequel comes to Governor Altgeld's release of the Haymarket anarchists. The Journal raises the question whether he is legally governor of the state of Illinois or a citizen of the United States.

It is asked are his acts legal as governor, particularly the pardon of the anarchists? The opinion is expressed that the famous Governor Boyd case of Nebraska was re-enacted in Illinois with John P. Altgeld as the principal actor.

The Journal says: Governor Altgeld bases his claim to citizenship on the simple statement that his father was naturalized while the son was a minor child. John F. Altgeld was born in Prussia in 1848 and came to this country with his parents when a boy, his father settling on a farm near Mansfield, O. If the father of Altgeld was made a citizen while the latter was under 21, always providing that the father was Legally Naturalized, there can be no question as to the governor's title to citizenship; but if Mr. Altgeld, Sr., waited until his son was over 21 before taking out papers, then, most assuredly, the title of the governor to citizenship is badly clouded.

There is nothing to show when and where the father of Governor Altgeld was naturalized or by what act of congress the governor was made a citizen. In the case of Governor Boyd of Nebraska the courts decided that his claim to citizenship on the ground that his father was naturalized while he was a minor did not hold good, and so decided against him on that point. What saved Governor Boyd was that he was a resident of Nebraska when he was yet a territory and at the time of its admittance into the Union as a state, he thereby became a Citizen by Virtue of the Law, which provides that right resident of a territory at the time of its admittance is made a citizen. Governor Altgeld has no such law to fall back on. A section of the naturalization laws provides that any alien who has served in the armies of the United States may become a citizen upon petitioning for it. Governor Altgeld served for a few months during the war in Company C, One Hundred and Sixty-fourth infantry, but it is not shown that he ever petitioned to become a citizen, or that he was made a citizen under that section. Many leading men think that an explanation is in order from the governor just at this time.

Disbanded City Clerk Disappears.
CLEVELAND, June 29.—Palmer's officers are here in search of City Clerk Stage. The city council said $10,000 bonds to Mary A. Tinn. Instead of presenting the certificate of deposit at the First National bank, Stage endeavored to obtain cash on it at the Central National bank in this city. The cashier gave Stage checks instead. Stage left Palmer's Monday. Yesterday word was received from Columbus that Stage cashed a check for $180 in that city. No further trace of the missing man can be found.

Hawaiian Royalists Disappointed.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The steamer Australia brings the following news from Honolulu: "President Cleveland's reply to Mr. Thurston is very disappointing to the royalists. The annexationists regard it as implying a serious doubt as to the general propriety of annexing so remote a country as Hawaii and one of such heterogeneous population. President Cleveland's attitude is also considered to imply a doubt as to whether the wishes of the people of Hawaii are in favor of annexation."

Boston Lawyer Makes an Attachment.
NEW YORK, June 29.—An attachment has been obtained in this city for Herbert L. Harding, a Boston lawyer, against Angie C. Severance of Los Angeles, Cal., for $10,000 for professional services in connection with the will of the late Mrs. F. H. Seares. Mr. Harding claims that he was retained by Mrs. Severance and was instrumental in obtaining her share of the estate, which amounted to $250,000.

Pearry Not Superstitious.
NEW YORK, June 29.—Lieutenant R. E. Peary, U. S. N., is evidently not a superstitious man, for when he made the announcement of his plans on the eve of his expedition of Arctic exploration at the Hotel Barthold yesterday, he said he would set sail on the Falcon tomorrow and that the number of his party is 13.

Puddlers Quit Work.
PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Two hundred puddlers employed in Spang, Chaffin & Co.'s iron works at Edna went on strike yesterday. The trouble began two weeks ago, when several puddlers were discharged. The demand of the workman that their associates be reinstated was unheeded.

Iron Mine to Close Down.
ISPEMING, Mich., June 29.—The Winthrop Iron company, employing 400 men, will follow the Cleveland Cliffs company in closing down July 1. Three out of four mines of the district will close down July 1, and much hardship and suffering must ensue among the thousands of idle miners and their families.

A Farmer's Fatal Mistake.
CHASKA, Minn., June 29.—John Wojohn was shot by a farmer who lives near Waconia. Mr. Wojohn is supposed to have sat down in the road and fallen asleep. The farmer, thinking he saw a wolf or bear, fired. Wojohn lived long enough to tell his name and home.

Sad Drowning Accident.
CHICAGO, June 29.—Peter Demille was on the lake with a party of friends and accidentally fell overboard and was drowned. His body has not been discovered. He owned the glass works at Alpena, Mich., and was very wealthy.

Again a Raving Maniac.
PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—William Locke, who, in imitation of Abraham Lincoln, sacrificed his child, and who escaped the gallows on account of insanity, has been sent to the insane asylum again a raving maniac.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

Sentiment of the South Strongly in Favor of the Repeal of the Sherman Law.

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The News presents the results of a telegraphic canvass of the leading newspapers of the south, showing that public sentiment in that section is now overwhelmingly in favor of the repeal of the Sherman law.

Up to a few months ago the south had been considered a free silver section and the votes of a majority of the congressmen were relied upon to oppose the repeal of the Sherman act, and even to go further in the direction of enacting free silver legislation. In order to find out whether recent events had brought about a change in public sentiment The News sent to the editors of the leading newspapers in all southern states the following telegram:

Please wire us whether the sentiment in your section now favors repeal of the Sherman act, and whether congress should be assembled at once for that purpose.

The replies show a remarkable change in southern sentiment. One Mississippi editor thinks the Sherman law has not had a fair trial; every other editor addressed declares that the sentiment is decidedly in favor of repealing the law, and a very large majority are in favor of very prompt action.

THE DEAD ASTRONOMER.

Mr. Childs Intended That the Burial Should Be Simple and Without Delay.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—In the matter of the proposed interment of the body of the late distinguished astronomer, Richard A. Proctor, a misconception of the precise facts of the case appears to prevail. The remains of Professor Proctor have never received actual burial. Mr. Bok called the attention of Mr. George W. Childs to the matter. Mr. Childs, at once, with characteristic sympathy and public spirit, told Mr. Bok that he would willingly bear all the cost of a befitting burial for Professor Proctor's remains, and the erection of a suitable monument to his memory.

It was never intended, it is authoritatively stated, that the interment should be in the nature of a public display, or that formal addresses should be made, except such as are customary as a part of the religious ceremonial of a burial solemnly and reverentially conducted by a clergyman. It is stated that Mr. Childs has not had, nor has now, any knowledge of anything other than the removal of the remains from an undertaker's vaults and the simple ceremonies at the grave.

A BRAVE OFFICER GONE.

Lieutenant Munro Among the Number of the Victoria's Lost Heroes.

PARIS, June 29.—The Herald's European edition published the following yesterday: Lieutenant P. H. Munro, who is among those lost on the Victoria, entered the British navy in 1880. When midshipman of the Victoria in the West Indies he was ordered to free the crew of that vessel from some ropes which had become entangled in it. The regular divers would not go down for fear of sharks, of which there were a large number in those waters. He was accompanied by Sub-Lieutenant A. B. Purvis and a leading stoker.

In April, 1890, when Lieutenant of the ship, he jumped overboard from a steam launch to save the life of a man who had fallen overboard. The swim was a long and difficult one, owing to the high wind and sea current. For this most gallant act he received the Royal Humane society's medal.

Canada's Lottery Law.

OTTAWA, June 29.—The new Thompson criminal law goes into effect Saturday without notice or proclamation. The lottery law has been greatly altered. Hitherto those dealing in lotteries were subjected to small fines. Under the Thompson code the offenders will be liable to two years' imprisonment and $3000 fine. This law applies to all games of chance, except church fairs. The Credit Foncier Dubas and Credit Foncier France, two Quebec lotteries, are exempted from the act.

Floods in Mexico.

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—A special to The Chronicle from San Luis Potosi, Mex., says: The drought which has prevailed here for the past five years was broken yesterday by one of the greatest floods that ever visited this section of Mexico. The streets were converted into rivers, and all the lower part of the city along the Mexican National railroad is inundated. Many houses were swept away, and the loss to the poor people is heavy.

Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Davis Quite Friendly.

CRANSTON-THE-HUDSON, N. Y., June 29.—The disagreeable weather of the past two days has kept both Mrs. Jefferson Davis and Mrs. U. S. Grant confined to the hotel. Neither has been away from the house since Sunday until last evening, when Mrs. Grant went out for a drive. Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Davis meet frequently, and their intercourse has been of the most friendly character.

Chicago Claimed to Be the Metropolis.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The Evening Post claims that Chicago is the metropolis of America, and says: Within the legal limits of the city there lives at this moment a permanent resident population of nearly 2,000,000 souls. Chicago's population is about 400,000 larger than New York. The city's growth during the past two years has been extraordinary.

ALTGELD EXPLAINS.

Records Will Prove That He Is Legally Governor.

SAYS PARDONS WERE JUST.

The Governor Hanged in Effigy by Naperville Citizens.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Governor Altgeld has arrived in town. In reply to a reporter, who asked him if he had anything to say about his pardon of the anarchists and the criticism of the act since its announcement, the governor said: "My reasons for pardoning the anarchists stand, and abuse of the governor will not knock them down. In the comments I have seen there is only abuse. There is no argument. They do not mention the fact that the man who was chief of police at the time says that he has investigated the case thoroughly and he does not believe there was much in it. "They do not mention the fact that the juryman got up and said they could not give the case a fair and impartial trial. They do not mention the fact that the man who threw the bomb was not brought into court, and gave no evidence whatever at the trial."

About His Citizenship. Governor Altgeld has replied to the charge made since his pardon of the anarchists that he is not a citizen. In an interview he said: "The people who are uncertain as to the legality of my acts as governor need give themselves no uneasiness on that score. I have no time to go into details, but can assure you that my father was naturalized when I was very small boy. Indeed, I was but 3 months old when the family arrived in this country, and my father at once took the necessary steps to make him a citizen. He became fully naturalized, and I, being a minor, became a citizen on reaching my majority by virtue of the papers issued to my father. This occurred at Mansfield, O., and the records will show it."

Hanged in Effigy. Governor Altgeld has roused the residents of the town of Naperville to such a pitch that they gave expression to their feelings by hanging the governor in effigy. A large stuffed figure, surmounted by a counterfeit presentation of the governor's head and face, was swung across the principal street of the town. Hanging by the neck around the breast was painted two hands, clasped in a grasp of friendship. On one hand was the word "anarchy," and on the other "Altgeld." The effigy was hung in the moonlight and attracted a large crowd of people.

Junior Partner Missing. PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Executions aggregating $40,350 were issued against the firm of William H. Harrison & Bro. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Charles W. Dorland, the junior partner. The lawyer for the creditors insisted upon putting an expert to work upon the books. Dorland demurred, and as soon as the opportunity offered he disappeared. An expert found that all the important books have disappeared.

General Harrison's Opinion. NEW YORK, June 30.—Ex-President Harrison has arrived here. When asked whether he attributed the present financial crisis to the Sherman law, Mr. Harrison said that he thought a great deal more blame was laid at the door of the Sherman law than it deserved, but that its repeal might tend to restore public confidence if only by working upon the imagination of the public.

Freight Trains Astray. WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., June 30.—A freight, bound south with 50 loaded cars, collided with the rear of a way freight, which was on the main track and divided at the time to open a highway crossing at a station at Hartford. Two cars of the way freight and eight cars of the engine of the latter derailed, but not much damaged.

Teach Students Return. COTTAGE CITY, Mass., June 30.—The party of young men from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who went to the World's fair in the steam yacht Cadet have reached home on the return trip. The party reached Chicago June 6, and started on the return trip June 17, after the completion of the celebration of Banker Hill day.

Will Help the Reading. PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—At a conference held by the receivers of the Reading railroad and others interested in the road arrangements were made for underwriting the unexpired balance of the $2,000,000 Speyer loan. F. H. Price of Boston is here, and has agreed to take part of the loan, which falls due on Saturday.

Worried About the Future. BALLSTON, N. Y., June 31.—James H. Healy, a well-known farmer of Galway, committed suicide by hanging in his barn. He was 76 years old. He had become despondent over the prospects of poor crops and feared that his family would not yield enough to support his family next winter.

For Canadian Independence. MONTREAL, June 30.—Ex-Premier Meier will leave in a few days on a lecturing tour among the French-Canadians in the command of the French-Canadians in the "Independence of Canada."

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Thousands Flock Into Cleveland For the International Conference.

CLEVELAND, June 30.—Yesterday marked the beginning of the first international Epworth League conference to be held here. Before the conference is over it is thought that 10,000 delegates will be present. All day a constant stream poured into the city. Pretty girls with badges welcomed the visitors upon their arrival, gave them registration cards and directed them to headquarters at the Hollenden. William M. Day of the city called the conference to order in Music hall, and in a few words of hearty greeting welcomed the visitors to the city in which the Epworth league was founded. Mayor Blee was next introduced and in an appropriate address extended a cordial welcome in behalf of the city. Governor McKinley was received with prolonged applause as he advanced, and in his peculiarly happy manner welcomed the delegates in behalf of the state of Ohio.

Responses were made by Bishop A. W. Wilson of the M. E. Church, south; Dr. A. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church, Canada, and Bishop James N. Fitzgerald of the M. E. Church.

UNDERHAND METHODS.

Alleged Crookedness by a Bank In Connection With a Failure.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The affairs of Samuel B. Barker, the big lumber dealer who failed recently, were brought into court yesterday in a rather sensational manner. A bill was filed by the unsecured creditors to set aside the deed of trust made by Barker in favor of the Union National bank and other preferred creditors. Barker's real indebtedness to the Union National bank was said in court to be between $500,000 and $600,000, and the statement passed unchallenged by the bank's attorneys. It is alleged that the bank directors knew of Barker's insolvency when he borrowed large sums from the bank, and that they conspired to defraud unsecured creditors when the failure could not be longer averted. One of the attorneys for the creditors said: "Barker's liabilities will probably reach $1,000,000, but it is impossible to say much until all the creditors are heard from. The tangible assets consist of his homestead and two lumber yards, which will amount to $300,000."

THE RIPPER OUTDORE.

Wife of a 'Frisco Reporter Brutally Murdered In a Saloon.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Mrs. Kate Griffes, wife of a reporter, was murdered in a saloon here by Martin O'Neill. A wooden handle had been attached to a bouquet of flowers and had been thrust into her body and bent and twisted until a great gash had been torn into the flesh. Mrs. Griffes formerly lived in Philadelphia, but came here some years ago with her husband. They remained together several years, but recently she had become addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. O'Neill is 50 years of age, has a family and has been regarded as a respectable man. He invited Mrs. Griffes to a saloon, and there remained together several hours, during which time they drank a great deal. There is every reason to believe that O'Neill, frenzied by liquor, finally attempted to assault Mrs. Griffes, and when she resisted, he picked up the bouquet with the wooden handle and made the brutal attack.

A Prosperous Beggar. ATLANTIC CITY, June 30.—Neighbors recently made complaint against the hovel of Susan Smallwood as a nuisance. She is an old beggar, known as "Aunt Sukey." While health officers were going through the rubbish in her den they discovered deeds in her name for 750 acres on Seven Mile beach, estimated to be worth $100,000. With the deeds are receipts of Cape May county showing that the old mendicant has paid the taxes up to date.

At Death's Door. NEW YORK, June 30.—Helen Barry, the actress, lies hovering between life and death in her cottage on the cliffs at Bellport, L. I., where only a few days ago her friend and benefactor, Charles R. Palmer, passed away. Anxious physicians are doing everything that medical skill can suggest to relieve the sufferer, but they have no ray of hope.

Hot Shot For Royalty. LONDON, June 30.—Cantwell and Young were arrested last evening for posting placards alluding to the expensive appropriations for the wedding of the Duke of York and Princess May, while "thousands of families are starving in London." The placards call upon the working people to "protest against this senseless waste of wealth on royal vermin."

Something Wrong. NEW ORLEANS, June 30.—The burning of $25,000 worth of greenbacks in the vaults of the local mint has led to considerable speculation as to the cause of the fire. Vague rumors of underhand work are mooted.

Poor Fellow! LONDON, June 30.—The Duke of York's illness, which kept him from attending the unveiling of the queen's statue and excited considerable apprehension in London, was merely the toothache.

BROWNS BATTED WELL.

But Their Poor Fielding Gave the Game to Boston.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—Boston won the game in the sixth inning. Bannon's error gave Lowe a lift; successive hits by Duffy and McCarthy filled the bases. With two strikes on Nash, the Boston captain lined the ball safely to center and two runs were scored. Tucker's sacrifice advanced the runners; Carroll's outscored McCarthy. Bannon's second error allowed Nash to score. The Browns' outbatted their opponents, but their base running and fielding was poor. Bannon and Quinn cost St. Louis the game.

LATE JUNE NUPTIALS

The Crane-Zeigler Wedding at Christ's Church Last Evening.

A VERY BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

A Quincy Granite Manufacturer Weds a Fair Maid of Waltham.

There have been several church weddings in Quincy in recent years, but the Crane-Zeigler nuptials at Christ's church Thursday evening, will rank among the most brilliant. The whole church was reserved, much to the disappointment of many who were refused admission, but the edifice was well filled with the many friends of the young people. It was a fashionable summer wedding, and many society buds were richly gown.

The chancel looked beautiful, there being a fine display of hydrangeas and decorations of roses and wild flowers.

Mr. Emory Locke Crane, the groom, is chairman of the School Committee and is serving his fourth year. He is also a trustee of the Thomas Crane Public Library and a Past Master of Rural Lodge of Masons in business he is associated with Mr. J. H. Emery, under the firm name of Emery & Crane, leather merchants.

Miss Ada Pierce Zeigler, the bride, is a popular young lady of Milton, and has a large circle of friends in this city. Her gown was of white bengaline trimmed with Duchesse lace.

The maid of honor was Miss Ellen Farnam of Brooklyn, New York, who looked charming in a white mousseline de soie.

The pretty bridesmaids, gowned in white china silk, were Miss Anna French of Dedham, Miss Annie Wardsworth of Milton, Miss Carrie Crane of Quincy and Miss Emma Zeigler of Boston.

Mr. H. M. Faxon, Mr. W. B. Holden, Mr. H. L. Rice and Mr. A. F. Schenkelberger all of this city were the ushers.

The bridal party was met at the church entrance by the vested choir and escorted down the broad aisle while "Faithful and True" was sung. First in the party came the ushers, then the bridesmaids, the maid of honor, and the bride escorted by her sister, Miss Zeigler. At the altar they were met by the groom, and his best man, Mr. Howard M. Wing of Melrose Highlands.

Rev. H. Evan Cotton officiated and the full Episcopal ceremony was used, a prominent part being taken by the choir. The couple after pledging their troth advanced into the chancel attended by best man and maid of honor, where they were pronounced man and wife. The vested choir then escorted the bridal party to the door.

A reception followed at the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Crane, at 21 School street, from 8.30 to 10, and the house was crowded with those who came to extend congratulations and best wishes. Cook of Boston catered. There was a valuable display of presents, including a French marble clock from his partner, a case of silver spoons from Mr. Thomas A. Whitcher a former member of the firm, and a desk and spoons from business associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane will be absent about two weeks on their wedding trip.

Swingle, senior member of the well known firm of granite manufacturers, Swingle & Falconer, and Miss Nettie Rowley a well known young lady of Waltham. Mr. Arthur W. Stetson of this city, was best man and Miss Adelia Coffelt of Braintree, a cousin of the bride was bridesmaid.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at 198 Hancock street, the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Swingle, which was attended by a large number of the many friends of the happy couple. The bride was becomingly attired in a costume of stone blue bengaline.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Swingle's partner, the newly wedded couple will defer their honeymoon trip for a few weeks.

"Fair Play" Again.

Editors of the Ledger:

It actually made me smile when I read the communication from "M" who says "the railway is getting out of it cheap." Now that is just like some men who do not know a good thing when they see it, for when there comes a thing that is to be of an inestimable value to the city in the way of building it up and increasing its taxable property, it is to be granted no privileges unless it gives something in return. No doubt it would please "M" very much, if every time the street railway asked for a location to have the petition accompanied by a letter setting forth that if the petition was granted the railway would agree to supply so many of the city's poor with a ton of coal.

He speaks of instances where street railways have been made to pave whole streets. It would have been better if he had said instance for as far as I can learn there was only one instance and that was at Worcester. Now why was that done there? "M" does not explain but I will.

It seems that there was a foreign corporation who desired to connect two towns together by an electric railway and in order to do this it was necessary to pass through a small corner of Worcester. The city of Worcester had no interest in the electric railway and in order to allow said company to cross its territory the city built a new street which it obliged the railway to pave. Now if this was the West End railway who wished to cross a corner of Atlantic in order to reach Milton and a new street had to be built to accommodate it, I would hold up both hands to make them pave it.

The case in question, however, is entirely different. I took the trouble to leave my business early Wednesday to examine that triangular piece of street and I found what everybody else will find who takes the trouble to look, and that is there is not a better piece of road in the whole city than that small spot. It is hard as a rock and in the rainiest of weather is never muddy, as everybody will admit who drives a horse, it is much better and easier riding on a hard street than upon pavers.

Yes, Quincy has been generous with its street railway companies but have they not been more than rapid for all they ever gave? How many are there today who would consent to go back to the old method of transportation between the centre and the outlying districts? Echo answers none.

If the grants in the vicinity of the stone church are continued we may soon expect to see the cars in full possession of the square, the great annoyance on Sundays to the churches. Suppose the cars do have full possession of the square, what of it? Many of the people who ride in these very same cars come from other wards to attend church and if the cars did not run the chances are that the attendance would be diminished not a little. People who own carriages could drive to church but the poor man would be obliged to stay at home simply because some old Puritanite objected to anyone going out Sunday unless he went to church. I do not know, but it strikes me that the noise made by jumping the cars from one track to another would be much greater than if they were allowed to run on track.

Again he says "The streets in the vicinity have now been cut by many tracks in such a way that it is difficult to drain the streets and keep them in proper repair. If my friend will take the time to look into the matter he will find that there is no part of the streets of Quincy that are kept in better repair than that used by the railway which is made apparent by the way teamsters and others use their tracks in preference to the street. "FAIR PLAY."

CLASS POEM.

Delivered at High School Graduation by Miss Annie E. Burns.

Backward we look with ever lingering eyes,
And with reluctance close the schoolroom door,
While joyous memories in our minds arise,
Of by-gone times too lightly prized before.

We recollect our pride and keen delight,
When problems deep at last were fully solved,
Or Latin sentences were read aright,
Hard sentences, that patients great involve!

Sweet memories of our pleasant intercourse,
With dear familiar scenes for aye entwined,
Have now the mystic power to enforce Regrets that we must leave so much behind.

Still comes an impulse o'er us with the day
Bidding us hasten forward, thus to learn
What fortune has for us of grave or gay.
Our restless human hearts would fate discern.

What's'er our way, what's'er our fate may be,
With whatsoever dangers we may cope,
Whatever lot before us we may see
We will endure it while we still have hope.

Yes, Angel Hope our aid and stay shall be,
That Hope which through all ages has endured,
And through the world's long troubles ceaselessly
The timorous heart of man hath aye assured.

When fair Pandora could not overcome
The overpowering wish to ascertain
Of golden wealth within that box the sum,
Then first, on earth began misfortune's reign.

But, Hope came too, with her bright rainbow hue,
To assuage the sorrow and to heal the pain,
Of man, and more, she did his soul imbue
With thoughts of happiness he yet might gain.

And ever since, this varied world throughout,
Eternal Hope hath made her welcome way
Shedding on many a path her joy about,
On great and lowly with impartial ray.

Thus when the rich man, tired of soulless ease,
Doth loathe his aimless life, by Hope he can
For noble uses turn his treasure keys,
And gain reward by aiding fellow man.

And when the poor man, wearied by his toil,
Would murmur, Hope low whispers that he may Lay down his burdens, leaving labor's moil
For rest eternal; cheered he goes his way.

Great men with mighty works for them to do,
Of pause in dread, least they more strength should need,
Till Hope courageous sweeps before their view
And lo! the world is glad by some grand deed.

And humble men, in humble spheres, rejoicing
That 'tis not their's great actions to perform
By Hope are told that God is still assigning
All parts, with love and justice uniform.

So as we sadly close the schoolroom door,
And at the portal of Life's school we stand,
Dear Hope, we pray thee ever as before
Take our hands in thine own all helping hand.

Until Life's lessons all at last are done,
And golden light streams forth through
"Gates Ajar."
Until Life's graduation day is won,
Sweet Hope, be thou, we pray, our guiding star.

—Monday will also be observed by many Boston business houses as a holiday.

MEXICO SPEAKS UP.

Has No Intention of Suspending Free Coinage of Silver.

INCREASE OF FACILITIES

Will Result In Much Larger Exports of Dollars.

[Special Dispatch.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Herald this morning publishes the following item dated City of Mexico, June 24: Secretary of the Treasury Limantour wishes to announce to the world, through the New York Herald, that there is no truth in the rumor that Mexico contemplates suspending the free coinage of silver. On the contrary, all of the Mexican mints will be worked to their utmost capacity.

The mint in this city coins $14,000,000 this month. Machinery is now being erected which will increase the capacity to $18,000,000 a month. There are 10 other mints in the republic which have a smaller capacity. At present there exists a scarcity of circulating medium, due mainly to the heavy exportation of Mexican silver dollars.

This drain on the finances of the country must be met by increased coinage. Mexico has, furthermore, a certain and unfailing market in Asia for all of her dollars. The increasing exportation of fibers, coffee and other products will enable Mexico to export more dollars than ever before. Silver is produced in Mexico cheaper than in the United States, and the fall in price will be less acutely felt here than in the neighboring republic.

In view of the diminished importations of foreign goods and the consequent reduction in custom house receipts which will be caused by the high price of the change, the federal government has ordered a discount on the salaries to all federal officials and employees. Those who receive salaries of $800 a year or less will be reduced 5 per cent, all over, up to $1000, will be reduced 12 per cent and all above $1000 will suffer a 10 per cent, reduction. The Mexican government will take no further steps at present, but will await the developments of the panic.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE Against Two Chicago Men Who Are Charged With Kidnapping.

CHICAGO, June 30.—W. D. McAdams and William Colwell were each held in the criminal court in $1000 bonds for justice on charge of kidnapping Rose Geinzer of Pittsburgh. Miss Geinzer testified as to how she was lured away from her boarding place on Forest avenue and taken to the house of Mrs. Hayes on Austin avenue, where she was kept a prisoner and was not allowed to leave the house alone or even to look out of the windows leading into the street. Charles N. Porter of Pittsburgh, who swore the complaint against the two men and caused their arrest, stated that a check for $2000, which he gave to the men for a release of Rose Geinzer, was made payable to William Colwell.

Secret Is Now Public Property.
WASHINGTON, June 30.—Mr. Cleveland is in daily telegraphic communication with Buzzard's Bay. He has made all his arrangements to join Mrs. Cleveland July 17, unless a message from the family summons him earlier. Mrs. Cleveland is in excellent health. A complete little outfit has been purchased, and all who are in the secret look forward with pleasant anticipations to the middle of July.

Nice Sunday School Boys.
CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., June 30.—The African Methodist Episcopal Sunday school of Winchester, Va., held a picnic at Mont park, near here. Some of the excursionists engaged in a game of craps which ended in a fight, in which Joseph Hayes was seriously, and possibly fatally, injured, and William Priceau was painfully wounded.

Tumor Disposed Of.
DETROIT, June 30.—Manager Parent says there is no likelihood of the Pullman people leaving Detroit. There has been some talk about the company shutting down for a few weeks in the fall, owing to the large amount of work turned out during the last year, but for no longer.

Cashier Caccia Held Without Bail.
NEW YORK, June 30.—Charles W. Caccia, the cheating cashier of Son Bros, wholesale grocers, who is said to have embezzled $10,000, was brought here from Boston and arraigned at the Tombs police court. He was held without bail for examination.

To Make a Test Case of It.
PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—In the deposition case in which Lee Key is the defendant, an appeal from the decision of United States Commissioner Edmunds has been taken. The case will eventually reach the United States supreme court.

Talked of the Blue and the Gray.
CHATTANOOGA, N. Y., June 30.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis and Mrs. Grant enjoyed a long talk yesterday. It is said that the conversation was mainly upon reminiscences of their own and their husbands' active and eventful careers.

Santa Wasn't Hurt.
MADRID, June 30.—A dispatch from Cordova corrects the report that Count Santa Coloma was wounded in a duel fought with Santa Ardoz. The latter was wounded slightly. Santa Coloma was not injured.

Anxious to Go South.

Watch for the Great $100 PRIZE OFFER

We are going to make in a few days. You will have a chance to show your preference among the summer residents of Manet Beach, and the winner gets the prize.

Quincy People

Do not need to be told the many advantages of owning a summer cottage at one of the picturesque shore resorts in their own pleasant little city. They know more about it than we can tell them on a whole page of the LEDGER. But we come forward once more to call their attention to the many claims to pre-eminence as a summer resort possessed by

MANET BEACH

HOUGHS NECK.

The older residents of Quincy can remember—not so many years ago—when the total number of buildings beyond the old Willow House might have been counted on the fingers of one's two hands. It was always considered a pleasant place to go for a day's outing, and it needed only some means of quick communication with the rest of the world to develop it and make it what it now is—one of the most popular summer resorts for people of moderate means on the whole eastern coast of Massachusetts. Certain shrewd business men in Quincy and Boston foresaw this and provided the means of communication in the shape of an electric road.

THE RESULT

Every one who has visited the place during the past year knows. In less than three years' time the picturesque farms along the shores of Quincy Bay and the Weymouth River have been transformed into a thriving little summer village of over two hundred summer cottages, with hotels, stores, post office, telephone, fire alarm, electric cars every half hour all summer, city water from Quincy assured, a daily paper during the summer of 1893, a church to be built very soon—a desirable and slightly lot having been given outright for the purpose by a public-spirited citizen—a dozen new buildings now going up and as many more contracted for, with others contemplated, and the value of land advancing steadily year by year. All these things have been accomplished in a legitimate and permanent way, without any fictitious boom or unwarranted inflation of prices, and

THE END IS NOT YET.

Look ahead three years and consider the possibilities of this resort if the improvements continue at the same rate, and you will see a town rivaling Winthrop on the opposite side of the harbor.

We think we are safe in saying that we are offering

Better Lots at Lower Prices

Than can be had at any other seashore resort within the same distance from Boston and as easily accessible as this.

Quincy is now fast recovering from the serious setback occasioned by the great strikes of last year, and a new era of prosperity is dawning on the historic old town. Our many customers here will testify that during the shut down we did not crowd them at all for payments on the lots bought on easy terms. We waited for better times, confident that our forbearance would be appreciated, and are pleased to say that our confidence was not misplaced. We are anticipating a good business in Quincy during the coming season, and feel sure we shall not be disappointed.

We shall hold regular sales every Saturday afternoon all summer, and special sales on all holidays. Salesmen will also be on the property on Sunday to show the lots, and our terms will be the same as heretofore.

$5 Down and $5 a Month,

With liberal discount for cash. The chance for investment is still good, as our prices are still reasonable, and good lots can be had for anywhere from five to ten cents per foot or from $200 to $400 a lot.

Drop us a postal for circulars, plans and prices, and make an appointment to look the land over.

THE CARE OF HAWAII

A PLEA FOR ANNEXATION.

Ex-Minister Stevens Talks on Sandwich Island Affairs.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 30.—Citizens of Augusta turned out in force last night to listen to an address at the opera house by the ex-minister to Hawaii, John J. Stevens, on the condition of affairs on the islands while he was there, and the circumstances leading to the subsequent annexation. He assured his hearers that he went to his post of duty under the flag of a nation, not with the badge of a party. He claimed no special merit in maintaining, as a cardinal principle of his service, to recognize no home or domestic politics in his official action. Regarding the late troubles, he had this to say:

"The large increase of government revenues, the low and irresponsible character of the two last sovereigns, resulted in surrounding palace abuses, and the appointment to official places of foreign adventurers and unworthy natives, to a degree greatly adverse to public interests and to public and private morals. In the nature of things

It was impossible that the Hawaiian monarchy should continue. It died by its own revolutionary hand—a suicide of blindness, incompetence and corruption. The raising of the United States flag over the government buildings was not thoughtlessly nor hastily done. It was done with all the serious sense of responsibility that the United States minister and Captain Wiltse could command.

"The provisional government made the request that it be done, and these were its reasons: It had been created only two weeks before. There were no trained troops on the islands available for its use. Many of the men in official places on the different islands, selected under the monarchy from palace favorites, had not been removed and their future conduct was uncertain. Men from the business circles, from stores, banks, offices and workshops, had been on guard day and night for two weeks, and business was suffering from their absence.

"It was feared that the fallen queen and the lottery and opium ring around her would obtain the assistance of the Japanese and other foreigners

To Restore Her to the Throne, she compensated them by granting them the right of suffrage and other favors, which the queen in her desperation really would have promised to grant. Fear and panic began to gain headway in the city. A riot was feared. Millions of American property and life and order were in peril.

"In these circumstances the only sure hope of safety was in the American naval force at hand. It was the pressure of necessity which compelled the American representatives to act with promptness and vigor. These were the reasons which lead the provisional government to ask our assistance, and these reasons are known to the American public.

"But there were other potential reasons which pressed upon me. For nearly half a century our government had claimed rights and interests in the Hawaiian islands superior to any other foreign nation. Repeatedly there have been attempts to induce our government to agree to dual or tripartite responsibilities at Honolulu. There was one Japanese war vessel in the harbor, and another powerful iron-clad had been telegraphed for. I knew the English warship was soon expected. I had reason to think, and the provisional government had reason to fear, that these foreign representatives would insist upon the same right to land their naval forces which we had exercised.

"We knew that the English minister wished to have joint responsibility with the American minister as to the landing of troops and the maintenance of public order at Honolulu. I was therefore compelled to decide whether I would risk the danger of a practical abandonment of the long maintained American policy of non-joint responsibility in Hawaiian affairs. Here were difficulties which could be effectively and conclusively overcome only in one way, that was

By Raising the Flag over the government building as a symbol of our superior right to protect the Hawaiian government.

"Captain Wiltse saw this as soon and as clearly as I did. With an American heart loyal to the core, conscientious, firm, self-possessed, fully aware of the grave responsibility of the act, he was prompt to do his duty."

Mr. Stevens then quoted the proclamation to the Hawaiian people, issued by himself and Captain Wiltse, and denied that his acts were disapproved by President Harrison. He said that the essential objects to be accomplished by raising the flag were gained during the 75 days its starry folds were before the people of Hawaii. The provisional government had secured the necessary time to organize an efficient police and military force, substitute reliable officials in place of the unreliable and to consolidate the new government, with the approval of the best and responsible men of all the islands. In conclusion he said:

"The country has now the best government it ever had, administered by men of intelligence, education and character. And as Thoroughly American in sympathy and interest as we have at the head of any of our American states and territories.

"That government and those back of it—all the responsible and the best citizens of the islands—ask for the annexation of Hawaii as a territory of the United States. Now, this rich prize is freely offered us. I cannot think it possible that our people and our statesmen will refuse to accept it. "To spurn and reject this important and thoroughly American colony, planted by some of the most devoted of America's sons and daughters, fostered by America's benevolence and sympathy, aided by $1,500,000 of private contributions, encouraged for more than 60 years by the American government—to abandon them now at this critical period of their history would be co-ardice and inhumanity that I believe no self-respecting Christian nation will be guilty of, the least of all the great American nation, whose vast opportunities in the North Pacific it would be a great want of wisdom and patriotism to ignore.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

A Russian Almost Beaten to Death by Two Negroes.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., June 30.—Cornelius Lee, Charles Rogers, John Gilligan and Frank Johnson, all colored and all of Ashley Falls, were brought into court yesterday charged with disturbing the peace. They were all discharged. Lee and Johnson were at once rearrested charged with attempted murder.

The trouble took place in Lee's house Tuesday evening. The four men and an unknown Russian Jew returned from Cule's circus at Canaan, reaching Lee's house at 10:30. The party got to drinking, and in some way a row started. At 2 o'clock the next morning the Russian dragged himself on his hands and knees to Officer Cooper's house, half a mile distant. By shouting he aroused Cooper, and the latter put him to bed in the barn.

The next morning medical examination showed that every rib on the right side was severed from the spine by blows or kicks, and he received other internal injuries. The doctors say the man cannot survive. A hearing is set down for Thursday. There is hardly any evidence against Lee and Johnson. The Russian is now unconscious.

PETITION REFUSED.

Writ of Habeas Corpus May Now Be Asked For by Trefethen.

BOSTON, June 30.—James A. Trefethen's application to be tried on July 11 for the alleged murder of Belknap Davis has been denied by Chief Justice Mason of the superior court. The court refused to grant the petition because it did not care to urge the government to a trial with ex-District Attorney Cooney absent, since his doctor refuses to permit him to take part in the trial at this time. The government does not care to go ahead with the trial without Mr. Cooney, and to proceed without him would probably retard the trial as much as it will to retain him with a view to going to trial next fall.

The defendant is much vexed at the result of his last application and may resort to the writ of habeas corpus to enforce what he deems to be his right to a speedy trial. This proceeding will be tried on the ground that his determination should not be held in abeyance because of the physical inability of an ex-district attorney.

Resignation Accepted.

LEWISTON, Me., June 30.—At the meeting of Bates college trustees the committee appointed to consider President Cheney's resignation recommended that it be accepted. It was voted to continue his full salary for the current year and after that to pay him half salary and provide him a house during his life. His successor was not chosen.
